OPC: The factor should be effective beginning with the specified fuel cycle and thereafter for the period October 1996 through March 1997. Billing cycles may start before October 1, 1996, and the last cycle may be read after March 31, 1997, so that each customer is billed for six months regardless of when the adjustment factor became effective.

OPC ISSUE: Should an electric utility be permitted to include, for retail fuel cost recovery purposes, fuel costs of generation at any of its units which exceed, on a cents-per-kilowatt-hour basis, the average fuel cost of total generation (wholesale plus retail) out of those same units?

OPC: No. The fuel cost assigned to the retail jurisdiction from any generating unit should never exceed the average cost of fuel actually burned at the unit to meet both wholesale and retail loads times the amount of energy allocable to the retail jurisdiction. Stated differently, a utility's decision to offer a wholesale customer less-than-average fuel costs out of a single or multiple generating units should not cause the fuel cost responsibility of the retail jurisdiction to be greater than the average.
