Explanation of Dial-Tone Communications Service

It is very important to let the customer know about these things so that there are NO SURPRISES.

When a customer has service started, they will be able to make and receive unlimited local calls. Being able to dial 911 is also a standard feature on all line where available. The line is toll restricted though, which means that the customer can not make or receive any calls that are going to create a toll charge. This means that the customer:

- *Can not receive any collect calls, but they can call out collect using a toll free collect service such as 1-800-collect or 1-800-call ATT
- *Can not make any long distance calls. Actually, they can call long distance if they use a pre-paid calling card. WE DO NOT PROVIDE LONG DISTANCE.
- *Can not call directory assistance. They will receive a phone book from the local service provider when they are sent out in their area.
- *Can not call the operator.

The customer's bill is going to be the same amount each month (depending upon tax fluctuation). The monthly price is determined by how many additional options are on the customer's account.

Sales Tax Facts to Remember

 DR-11
R. 12/87

1. Every person conducting business in the State of Florida who is subject to sales and use tax is responsible for filing a "Sales and Use Tax Return" at the end of each assigned collection period
2. In the event that your preprinted sales tax return does not arrive in the mail, it is your responsibility to contact the Florida Department of Revenue and request that a form be sent to you.
3. Your sales tax return is due the 1st of the month following the collection period and late after the 20th. Example For the collection period ending March 31, the tax return is due on April 1 and late after April 20 (Returns postmarked on the 20th are not considered late.) When the 20th falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or a state or federal holiday, your return must be postmarked on the first working day following the 20th
4. If your return is filed timely, you are entitled to the specified collection allowance as your commission. If your return is filed late, you lose the collection allowance and will be charged a penalty and interest
5. You must register each location from which you do business and file a return for each location unless the Department has approved reporting in another manner
6. You are required to file a return even though you may have no sales tax to report. Late filing of a "zero sales" return will result in a penalty assessment.
7. It is your responsibility to notify the Florida Department of Revenue if you have any changes in your business (new location, mailing address, incorporation, change of partner in partnership, etc.)
8. In the event that your business is sold or closed, the law requires you to pay all taxes, penalty and/or interest due within 15 days. A final return form is included in the sales tax coupon book
9. You may extend your sales tax number to your suppliers when making purchases of items that will be resold, incorporated into an item of tangible personal property for sale, or exclusively rented as tangible personal property. All other purchases are taxable.
10. When accepting a tax number from another dealer instead of charging sales tax, you must keep on file a "Resale Certificate" which includes: business name, location address, reason for exempt purchase, signature of authorized agent, and tax number. Resale certificates are available at a nominal cost from your local office supply store, or if you prefer, you may have your printer prepare a form for your use. (The Department has a suggested format available upon request.)

Please contact your local Florida Department of Revenue Service Center if you require additional information or assistance regarding Florida Sales and Use Tax.

Statement of Financial Capability

Dial-Tone Communications Group Inc. is applying for authority to provide Alternative Local Exchange Service in the state of Florida

The initial financial backing provided by Dial-Tone Communications Group's founding partners combined with the company's projected profits will enable the corporation to continually provide and maintain a professional level of service to our Florida customers.

As a start up company with limited overhead expenses and a favorable debt ratio Dial-Tone Communications Group's office lease and operation obligations will certainly be manageable. In addition, the founding/working partners have opted to receive only reimbursement of travel and business related expenses and potential year end profit sharing as opposed to salaries for the first six months of operation. This will further enhance the company's positive cash flow situation
