Subject: recent rate increase requests from EMBARQ

This is written to ANYONE who is involved with the Public Service Commission -

I recently heard about the company that bought out SPRINT, EMBARQ was asking for another rate increase. This is on top of a rate increase they never should have been allowed to get due to the hurricanes several years ago. After all, we, as homeowners never got any relief to help pay OUR bills due to the hurricanes. So, as a company, they should be held responsible like everyone else. I would love the opportunity to be present during their hearing requests so I can ask them personally why, after they have taken over for SPRINT, a company which made promises that were never kept, why they feel another increase should be given to a company that has not been offering any NEW services for the money they are already receiving. I live in a city that voted to allow SPRINT to come in because of promises made. Those promises were never kept and now the company that has taken over for them are not keeping their promises either. Before a company should be allowed to even ask for increases, they should at least show SOME improvements and not just broken promises. And I do mean improvements for the majority of customers, not just isolated areas. Broken promises is what is expected from politicians, not from businesses that we pay for services from. Unless the politicians are getting pay offs to allow for these increases, the public should be allowed to be present and to get responses to their concerns. Or is there NO public in the Public Service Commission? I have lived in this house for over 10 years and in the ten plus years I have been here NO new services have been added. There is still NO high speed internet service in this area as promised and as continually being advertised on tv and in newspapers. Where is the money going if it is not going for new services? If the public is NOT allowed into these hearings/requests are we to assume that it is in your judgment that these decisions are made? If so, who is above the commission and who can override these decisions? thanks, Trent A. Dickson
