Dear Mr. Miscavage:

The Commission received the company's 2008 Regulatory Assessment Fee (RAF) return form with the handwritten note "company not in business any longer" written on it. There are two types of cancellation. One is voluntary, which is when a certificate is cancelled at a certificate holder's request and the company has paid all applicable fees. The other is involuntary and is when a certificate is cancelled on the Commission's own motion for a rule, statute, or order violation. If a certificate is cancelled on the Commission's own motion, any unpaid fees will be turned over to collections. Just as information, the RAF is applicable if a certificate is active for any day during a calendar year, whether or not it ever started operations.

If the company wants a voluntary cancellation, the 2008 minimum RAF of $100 needs to be paid (must be postmarked by January 30, 2009, to avoid late payment charges). Please review this information and let me know which type of cancellation you want.
