Knology of Florida, Inc.'s demonstration of complying with applicable service quality standards and consumer protection rules for voice and broadband services:

In establishing this certification in its 2005 ETC Order,¹ the FCC found that an ETC must make "a specific commitment to objective measures to protect consumers." ² The Commission found that for wireless ETCs, compliance with CTIA's Consumer Code for Wireless Service would satisfy this requirement" and that the sufficiency of other commitments would be considered on a case-by-case basis.³ In this context, the FCC stated, "to the extent a wireline or wireless ETC applicant is subject to consumer protection obligations under state law, compliance with such laws may meet our requirement."⁴

Knology of Florida, Inc. ("Knology") hereby certifies that it is in compliance with applicable service quality standards and consumer protection rules. Knology is subject to consumer protection obligations under state law. These obligations include, but are not limited to, the following: (1) Filing of Service Schedules pursuant to the requirements of Florida Administrative Code § 25-4.0341 and Florida Statutes, Title XXVII, Chapter 364 Telecommunications Companies, 364.04, which disclose rates to customers; (2) adherence to Florida state consumer protection requirements governing telephone providers for Compliance with Anti-Slamming Procedures as adopted in Florida Administrative Code § 25-4.118; and (3) compliance with CPNI as identified in Florida Statutes Title XXVII, Chapter 364, 364.24, Red

Knology is subject to consumer protection obligations for broadband services under federal law. These obligations include, but are not limited to, the following: public disclosure of accurate information regarding network management practices, performance, and commercial terms of broadband internet access services; as a means of providing sufficient information for consumers to make informed choices regarding use of such services, and for content, application, service and device providers to develop, market, and maintain internet offerings as specified in 47 CFR § 8.3. Knology of Florida's demonstration of ability to function in emergency situations for voice and broadband services:

Knology of Florida, Inc. ("Knology") hereby certifies that it is able to function in emergency situations as set forth in 47 C.F.R. § $54.202(a)(2)^1$. Knology's network is designed to remain functional in emergency situations without an external power source, is able to reroute traffic around damaged facilities, and is capable of managing traffic spikes resulting from emergency situations as required by Section 54.202(a)(2). Knology can change call routing translations as needed to reroute traffic around damaged facilities. Changing call routing translations will also allow Knology to manage traffic spikes throughout its network, as emergency situations require. In addition, Knology has redundancy for connectivity purposes via additional routes and electronic equipment for voice and broadband services.

Specifically, each central office building is supplied with standby generators and battery back-up that enable the central office to keep running until power is restored so long as fuel is available, or until system changes are made to reroute traffic. Knology has battery backup at all office locations and in its electronic equipment sites. Length of run time is determined by the equipment serving the area and the number of customers working out of the equipment. Generators are installed at all Central Office locations. They will continue to run as long as Knology has access to fuel.

¹ Section 54.202(a)(2) requires ETCs that are designated by the Commission to "demonstrate its ability to remain functional in emergency situations, including a demonstration that it has a reasonable amount of back-up power to ensure functionality without an external power source, is able to reroute traffic around damaged facilities, and is capable of managing traffic spikes resulting from emergency situations."
