Sir/Ma'am,

I have a great concern for all the people that have to use Gulf Power. As I read the newspaper today, Gulf Power and their whining plea for hurricane surcharge. The article states that fees would increase residential power bills $8.21 per month per residential home for 5 years. Their reason is that Hurricane Michael depleted the reserve and partly due to "upfront costs of power restoration and rebuilding, including out-of-town crews, plus their housing, meals, and transportation, security and more. Costs also include fuel for trucks, tree trimming, poles, transformers and power lines and many other materials."

For one, I know FEMA was fueling trucks at no cost to them, meals were provided by FEMA and everyone across the state, and tent cities were set up. So, this is a total rip off to customers who can't afford another $8.21 a month extra. I have friends that work for Gulf Power and they make more than probably 1/3 of the state, get generous bonuses every year also.

This request should be denied because it is a trick to take the poor peoples money. FEMA is for these restorations during and after disasters.

Thank you for your time and interest in this matter. If you care to discuss further, please contact me at the number below.

Comments:

Since PSC doesn't seem to regulate anything else concerning Gulf Power, maybe you can keep them from receiving the surcharge that they are requesting due to hurricane Michael.
If they had planned the infrastructure properly, knowing that they were in a hurricane zone, there may not have been as much destruction.
The customers should not pay for their short sightedness.
