Subject: Duke Energy increase

Why are we always expected to pay more for Duke Energy? First paying for a power plant that never happened. Now they want us to pay for crews that had to get ready for a hurricane that never came. They should plan for this and build it into their structure. $6 more a month. I'm on Social Security. I live alone and my electric bill is $204 a month. I live paycheck to paycheck and can't afford any more increases. I only do laundry twice a month. I do everything I can to save on my power bill, turning lights off, etc. There's nothing more I can do on my end to save that I'm already doing. Yet you'll approve this and screw the consumers. How about no huge raises for the top brass at the company? I'm sure that will more than make up for the cost of readying crews for the storm that never came.
