How far are we going to go on this. This is totally absurd. Everything has increased astronomically groceries, gas, cars housing and now FPL. Our electricity normally goes up due to the summer and our air conditioner runs non stop. And I work in the health care field, these poor patients who need oxygen 24/7 and on oxygen concentrator and run electricity how they are going to keep up. The are on fixed income. How are they going to pay these increases. Are they going have stop eating to keep on breathing. This is totally unfair. When gas prices went down a couple months ago FPL prices stayed the same. So how is it you increase the prices again!
