ORDER SETTING DOCKET FOR HEARING

BY THE COMMISSION:

Following the divestiture of American Telephone and Telegraph Company (AT&T) and the advent of toll competition on both federal and state levels, interLATA (local access transport area) presubscription for interexchange carriers (IXCs) has been provided by local exchange companies (LECs). Presently in Florida, as in most states, when an end user dials a 1+ or 0+ call, the LEC serving end office translates the digits dialed to determine whether the call is intraLATA or interLATA. If the call is intraLATA, it is routed over LEC facilities. If it is interLATA, the primary interexchange carrier (PIC) number is secured from the equal access database field, and the call is routed to that IXC's point of presence (POP) for handling.

This docket was initiated to investigate whether presubscription for intraLATA calls is in the public interest and, if so, what the terms and conditions for implementation should be. Thus far, our staff has held a technical workshop, as well as conducted extensive discovery on this matter. At our November 9, 1993, Agenda Conference, we considered whether we should issue a notice of proposed agency action to require implementation of intraLATA presubscription. However, after reviewing the issues associated with this proposal, we believe such action on our part would be premature. Accordingly, we find it appropriate to set this docket for hearing in order to more fully explore the concerns raised by this matter.

Based on the foregoing, it is
