Subject: FW: FPL NUCLEAR UPDATE AND SITUATION SUMMARY

Commissioners:

Earlier today, we were asked to provide input to the Florida Division of Emergency Management regarding our nuclear facilities and a comparison to the current situation with Fukushima Daiichi in Japan. We provided the Situation Summary below this evening. I am providing it to you directly here as well. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Ken Hoffman

SITUATION SUMMARY

Florida Power & Light is closely monitoring the situation in Japan.

- Since the earthquake and subsequent tsunami, FPL executives have been coordinating with the Nuclear Energy Institute, the Institute of Nuclear Power Operations and the World Association of Nuclear Operators with regard to the impact of these events on the operation of the Fukushima Daiichi nuclear plant in Japan.
- At this time, all of the facts are not fully known. This is further complicated by the fact that emergency response officials in Japan are dealing with the situation at the Fukushima Daiichi nuclear plant in addition to the overall tsunami recovery efforts.

- It is important to note that because of location, the seismic activity in Japan is of a greater magnitude than what could likely happen in Florida.

As compared to Fukushima Daiichi, Florida's reactors are of a newer design and have additional safety systems as a result.

- The World Association of Nuclear Operators reports that the Unit 1 TEPCO Daiichi unit is an older Boiling Water Reactor (Florida has Pressurized Water Reactors only). Relative to the Japanese plant, FPL's Florida nuclear plants have additional safety systems because of their more recent design.
- The issue in Japan deals with the complete loss of power to run decay heat removal pumps (the pumps that circulate water in order to cool the reactor core). Both of our Florida plants only require one diesel generator to fully supply the power required to meet core cooling needs. Each station has four diesel generators installed for redundancy (four at Turkey Point; Four at St. Lucie).
- In addition, unlike the Japanese plant, FPL plants have an additional, separate steam-driven cooling pump system. This steam-driven cooling system can run the plant's cooling pumps without depending on any offsite power or the diesel generators.
- In essence this means that the FPL plants at St. Lucie and Turkey Point have multiple redundancies relative to the Fukushima Daiichi facility.

St. Lucie and Turkey Point are designed for severe events that could impact our state.

- FPL's nuclear power plants at Turkey Point and St. Lucie are outside of known "high hazard" earthquake zones (as defined by United States Geological Society and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission).
- Each plant has been specially designed to withstand a variety of natural events such as earthquakes, storm surges and flooding associated with hurricanes, tornadoes and high winds without losing capability to perform their safety functions. Both are elevated to deal with the storm surge of a Category 5 hurricane (20 feet above sea level).
- Even though an event like the Japanese earthquake is unlikely, all FPL plants have had additional safety margin added to the "worst case" scenario to ensure the plants can withstand events beyond their licensing basis.

Our nuclear plants have extensive emergency plans and rigorous operator training programs.

- All nuclear power plants are designed for and have emergency operating procedures to address worst-case scenarios, including earthquakes, loss of core cooling, and loss of all onsite and offsite power.
- The procedures used in emergencies are part of plant operator training. Plant Operators are required to undergo knowledge and performance testing one week out of every six weeks. That training involves the use of real life responses on a plant simulator.
- For conditions warranting public evacuation, dedicated communications systems linking emergency operations centers are in place; public alert systems (sirens) are in place; and, local emergency facilities that are staffed by state and local government emergency response agencies would be fully manned.
- The plant emergency response is tested quarterly via emergency drills involving both onsite and offsite emergency response teams.
- Even though an event of this nature is unlikely in Florida, similar natural emergency conditions are routinely exercised by reactor operators and emergency response agencies in Florida.

To all,

When I will be receiving a response with regard to processing my request for the ESR's for 2009, 2010 and 2011? I want to lay out the actual earned returns against the adjudicated level of operating income at the company on a monthly/yearly basis. I then want to compare this to the actual cash balances that are being maintained in the Utility 131 Account. I would like to receive a response before the Standard order is issued to see how 2009 and 2010 earnings compares to the actual cash balances that are being maintained at the company.

I requested a fee waiver based upon Federal Freedom of Information Act 5 U.S.C. § 552 and I have not received a legal response regarding the status of releasing this information based upon a fee waiver and/or minimal cost.

According to Chapter 119.01 of the Florida Public Records Statute, if the documents are available in an electronic format, then these should be made available electronically. Please let me know based upon the email logs at the Commission if there is electronic email correspondence between commission staff and/or the utility that would have this information in an electronic format. If so, then this information should be considered public information subject to Federal and State laws in which they should be made available by electronic means. This is supported by both the Freedom of Information Act 5 U.S.C. § 552 and Chapter 119.01 of the Florida Statutes.

If not, then please let me know if this is going to be processed based upon similar requests that have been honored at no charge. This information should be released based upon a fee waiver, "because furnishing the information can be considered as a primarily benefiting the general public".

What was very interesting today was that there was talk about the pending merger of Duke Energy and Progress Energy. There was a comment made during the meeting that if the company earned above the allowed rate of return that they would be subject to an over earnings review by the Commission. How would this be any different than the over earnings at FPL that exceeded their 11% allowed return on equity as indicated by the Stipulation and Settlement Agreement? Since the agreement has indicated that they are only allowed to earn up to 11%, there is no reason why the over earnings in 2010 has not been deferred for future disposition. Based upon the Stipulation and Settlement agreement, they are only allowed to earn up to the 11% return on equity. They are not allowed to earn over the 11% therefore it would appear that a deferral of these over earnings would have been warranted. This is similar to the comment made in the meeting today.

Please explain the actual rule of law that would support this exception to normal/typical Commission ratecase proceedings related to over earnings at a Utility. What rules would provide for the legal ruling to support the non-deferral of the $400 million of over earnings for Florida Power & Light? Why would this situation be different than any other deferral or requirement of another Utility to give back any over earnings that exceed an agreed upon return on equity? This would be for a standard rate order and/or any other type of agreement. Why was this handled differently? Will this have an impact on future ratecase rulings with regard to how other Utilities over earnings will be treated?

I noticed that the commission has been reorganized. Who on the legal staff will be responding to this request? I noticed that in the past Ms. Bennett has been providing the legal responses.

CHAPTER 119
PUBLIC RECORDS

119.01 General state policy on public records.--

(1) It is the policy of this state that all state, county, and municipal records shall be open for personal inspection by any person.

(2) The Legislature finds that, given advancements in technology, providing access to public records by remote electronic means is an additional method of access that agencies should strive to provide to the extent feasible. If an agency provides access to public records by remote electronic means, then such access should be provided in the most cost-effective and efficient manner available to the agency providing the information.

(3) The Legislature finds that providing access to public records is a duty of each agency and that automation of public records must not erode the right of access to those records. As each agency increases its use of and dependence on electronic recordkeeping, each agency must ensure reasonable access to records electronically maintained.

(4) Each agency shall establish a program for the disposal of records that do not have sufficient legal, fiscal, administrative, or archival value in accordance with retention schedules established by the records and information management program of the Division of Library and Information Services of the Department of State.

To all,

When I will be receiving a response with regard to processing my request for the ESR's for 2009, 2010 and 2011?

Dear Records Clerk,

Has the public record been updated with any additional emails since the last update?

Based upon the Public Docket file in Docket 100410 it has only been updated through the January 11th, 2011 email. It is January 20th, 2011 and the files have not been updated with the new information.

What about Docket 080677 and Docket 100009/110009?

Thanks,

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Here are samples from a FOIA request log from the Florida Public Service Commission site. I was taking a look at the request and the fees charged. It appears that a majority of the requests below have been completed at a nominal or no charge. How can the charges quoted be more than the charges for Documents + 2 CD's below?

Based upon one of the requests below it indicates that one of the requests asks for copies of internal memos communications between the Public Service Commission Staff and the Commissioner's. There is another one talking about all documents, letters, memorandum, e-mails and any other information related to a preliminary investigation of ex parte communications. Some of the responses have been made through emails and provided on CD's at no charge.

With the legal response please provide for why some of the fees below have been waived and if any of the Florida Public Service Commission Staff has received any email correspondence with PDF/Excel attachments for any of the Earnings Surveillance reports. These can be for Preliminary reports and/or final reports.

Does the Commission maintain an email database for communications between Commission Staff and Florida Power & Light? If so, then I am sure that the Commission could check the logs in order to see if the Earnings Surveillance reports (Preliminary and/or Final) have been sent electronically from the Utility.

Since this information should be made part of the public record, and it would be in the best interest of the public to monitor the cash balances at the company and the Actual Earned returns at the company I think that the fee should be waived based upon the Freedom of Information Act 5 U.S.C. § 552.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Here is a fee waiver that the US Treasury has honored based upon a Freedom of Information Act request for TARP with regard to Financial Regulatory reform.

A copy of the response for the fee waiver is below. This has been whited/redacted for any privacy related issues. I am using this letter to support a potential fee waiver for my Freedom of Information Act request that I have sent to the Commission.

I trust that the Commission understands my concern.

This information should be provided at a minimal cost or a fee waiver should be granted based upon Federal Preemption under 5 U.S.C. § 552 Section 1803.

This is a very important issue.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to give me a call.

Thanks,

Dear Mr. Smith:

This is the Department's third interim response to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request dated April 27, 2009, in which you requested accounting records relating to TARP transactions.

In response to the portion of your request for access to records reflecting cash outflows to banks, the Office of Financial Stability conducted a further search of its files and located an additional forty-eight pages that are responsive to your request.

In light of my email to you , and your subsequent response, I am waiving all fees assessed by the Office of Financial Stability

Please note that within the Department of the Treasury, the Office of the Executive Secretary is continuing to process your request.

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Since my request is under the Federal Freedom of information Act I trust that based upon Federal Preemption that a fee waiver should/would be considered with the processing of my request.

As per

"Such fees shall be limited to reasonable standard charges for document search and duplication and provide for recovery of only the direct costs of such search and duplication. Documents shall be furnished without charge or at a reduced charge where the agency determines that waiver or reduction of the fee is in the public interest because furnishing the information can be considered as primarily benefiting the general public."

The statement above would give rise to a reduced fee or a waiver of the fee "because furnishing the information can be considered as a primarily benefiting the general public".

This would give rise to providing this information at the least possible cost.

Please issue a legal opinion to support the position of the Commission.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Menasco,

The last time this was completed the charge was $.05 per page for 126 pgs. What is going on and technology is getting better therefore if this was scanned and sent it would be much cheaper than the original cost in the invoice below.

Are any of the 434 pages blank? If so, then I should not have to pay for any of these pages.

Even at 434 pages it would only come out to $21.70 as per the invoice below. This seems very expensive and does not make sense based upon the invoice below.

Please have legal answer the question about receiving this correspondence in an automated fashion to save time.

I need legal to sign off that no one at the Commission has received any electronic document regarding these reports. If these were received electronically then the electronic files would be part of the public docket and should be available in an electronic format.

Ms. Bennett,

I need a legal response that the Commission staff is not receiving any of these reports in an electronic fashion from any FPL staff and why the cost would be different than the last invoice.

If I recall correctly the cost charged for replication of the documents should be completed at the least cost.

This does not make sense and I am unemployed and need this information as soon as possible.

There is no reason for any of the cost to be more than the last invoice.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Mr. Smith,

I have been advised that there are an estimated 434 pages of ESRs. There will be a charge for the time it will take to copy the document. Please note that the estimated charges are $54.89 and is broken down as follows:

$43.40 (for 217 duplexed pages at .20 cents per page);
 + 11.29 (special service charge - staff's copying time);
 = $54.69 (estimated total)

Please provide confirmation of whether you would like us to make those copies. On verification that you would like us to make the copies, we will begin the copying process, and the documents will be mailed to you on receipt of your payment.

Dear Mr. Slemkewicz,

Here is a way that the cost can be minimized. Just like the Commission is scanning the documents for the rate case. These documents can be scanned and sent electronically as well. This will save time and money as well since if you are making a copy I am sure that the Commission is utilizing a high speed scanner to keep up with the electronic documents that are being made part of the record in any ratecase proceeding.

Is this correct?

I have a $150 printer, copier, scanner, fax machine that lets me scan to a PDF file very quickly. This information then can be attached to an email to be sent much quicker than a hard copy sent through the mail. As a CFO I used this type of printer to help with answering audit questions for my year end audits. I also used this technology to send information to the US Treasury and CMS regarding Healthcare and Financial Regulatory reform. This would work very well and save the Commission money.

Please let me know when I will be receiving a response to my full email below. If a legal response is needed, please have the legal staff at the commission sign off on the response. Since the cash balances are very low as indicated by the FERC form 1 my concerns are warranted therefore I would like a response as soon as possible.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Mr. Slemkewicz, Ms. Bennett and all Commissioners,

Thanks for the link to the FERC Form 1 reports. Is there a link to the ESR reports as well? According to one of the email responses there was. Was this a correct statement?

Just by taking a look at the FERC 1 for 2009 it appears that there was only $34.3 million in 2009 and $94.0 million in 2008 respectively in the FERC 131 Utility Cash account.

Where did all the over recovered money go? This would include the depreciation and excess earnings over recovery.

This is why I need access to the ledgers to see the accounting for the over recoveries.

According to the over earnings estimates there was $400 million dollars of overearnings. Where did the money go? This can be determined by looking at the Cash 131 Account Ledger.

My concerns based upon this page have merit therefore I want to make sure that I have all the appropriate information in order to complete my analysis.

Are the ESR's sent to you electronically? If so, just like in the rate case these were filed electronically therefore I would like these sent electronically to save money.

I am sure that you receive these by email from Florida Power & Light just like I received the forecasted ESR from the company. This will save postage costs and turnaround time.

There should be no reason why these reports cannot be sent this way when these reports are being filed electronically by the company.

Do you receive these reports electronically in a PDF file?

Attached is an invoice for the 2008 reports that were sent. This must include postage therefore if these reports are being sent electronically to the Commission the postage costs can be saved therefore reducing the cost below.

If they are being sent electronically when they file to any staff member then they should be available with a public records request. This is no different when FPL responded to my motion for the declassification to the classified forecasted ESR report. This report was sent in a PDF format in an automated email.

Please provide a response with regard to the ledgers of the company. Does the Commission receive any of these documents? Does the Commission receive these electronically? I am sure that these are being sent to the Commission Electronically as well for the Commission to conduct its due diligence. This is the normal current business practice.

If so, then this would be part of a public records request as well. These should be fully transparent from both a ratepayer's and a shareholder's perspective.

I also would like these reports electronically since I have a nerve issue that acts up at times therefore I would like to have access to this information electronically so that I can work with the information in an automated way and not have to rekey all the hard copy materials. I am unemployed therefore I want these costs kept to a minimum.

Due to the delicate nature of this information I would like to make sure that this correspondence request/communication does not have any impact on my current/future employment. I can only hope that this request is viewed as a public service request for the ratepayers of the Florida Power & Light and does not have any impact on my family's well being.

I know that when I dealt with the US Treasury with regard to the TARP programs when I was working on Financial Regulatory reform they accommodated me with sending me the information electronically. When I worked with CMS with regard to third party downstream billing they also sent me my information in an electronic format as well. They both accommodated me with regard to my nerve condition that I have in my elbow and with me having numbness in my two lower fingers at times.

Based upon my rights as a ratepayer and shareholder and Federal/State laws this information should be fully transparent therefore I trust that this information will be made available for me to complete my analysis.

Please respond to my email in full since I need to bring this to a resolution quickly so that I can start my analysis, since the cash balances in the FERC form 1 for 2009 are low.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask.

Dear all Commissioner's,

Based upon the cash balances my concerns have merit therefore my request should be fully accommodated in order for me to ascertain the accounting of the over recovered money.

This is my right as a shareholder and a ratepayer. Please expedite my request so that I am ready to go then the first ESR reports for 2011 become available. I have started to lay out an ESR summary that I have put together yesterday. This will track the adjudicated decision versus the actual earned returns that are being quoted in the monthly ESR reports. I am working on 2008 and I want to make sure that I can lay out 2009 and 2010 to track the Cash balances. I want to make sure that we are tracking the over recoveries as it relates to the cash balances that are being supported by the FERC form 1 reports.

This is very critical and if need be I will be seeking all avenues to ascertain the full accounting of all the over recovered monies. Just by taking a look at the year end balances in the FERC form 1 for 2010, where did the $400 million dollars go? This is why this is a very important issue to monitor. Now that the commission has not set aside the over recovered over earnings in a 253 account this analysis is even more critical. There is no reason why this information cannot be supplied to take a look at the accounting of the cash. This would be part of normal due diligence. This is just a check book reconciliation exercise which has to be completed considering the magnitude of the over recoveries.

I have cc'd the Governor's office since I know that there is a current legislative process in which commission members are put into place. There is the Public Service Commission Nominating Council and the Joint Committee on Public Counsel Oversight Committees in which these are legislative processes in which commission appointments are being made. In addition, the Joint Committee on Public Counsel Oversight is the Committee for the selection of Public Counsel. Since these are both legislative branches that govern the makeup of the Commission I have cc'd the Governor in order to keep them in the loop with regard to my concerns.

Joint Committee on Public Counsel Oversight Rules of Procedure

1.1 General Rules.

The committee shall be governed by the rules of the Senate in the even-numbered years and the rules of the House in odd-numbered years.

1.2 Selection of the Public Counsel.

(1) The term of the Public Counsel begins on the date the Public Counsel is appointed to office. The date of appointment is the date on which the letter of appointment is signed by the Chair. A copy of the letter must be filed with the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives. A vacancy occurs in the office of Public Counsel when the Public Counsel is not reconfirmed, resigns, or is removed by the committee by majority vote.

I also would like these reports electronically since I have a nerve issue that acts up at times therefore I would like to have access to this information electronically so that I can work with the information in an automated way and not have to rekey all the hard copy materials. I am unemployed therefore I want these costs kept to a minimum.

Due to the delicate nature of this information I would like to make sure that this correspondence request/communication does not have any impact on my current/future employment. I can only hope that this request is viewed as a public service request for the ratepayers of the Florida Power & Light and does not have any impact on my family's well being.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me. Please make sure that all these communications are being made available to all the parties with a legal interest..

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Menasco,

Thanks for the information and your response.

I am not sure that you would have the answers to the questions below. If you do not, please forward this email to the appropriate party for a response.

How does the Florida Public Service Commission tie out to any of the reports that are furnished to the commission for a rate case proceeding?

All reports that are supplied to the Commission (i.e. earnings surveillance reports, FERC Form 1 reports) would have to tie out to balance sheets, income statements and cash flows. Up North we would have to furnish a copy of Ledgers to the Commission in order for them to conduct their normal due diligence. This included subsidiary ledgers (i.e. Plant (Plant additions, Plant retirements etc.), Accumulated depreciation (Depreciation expense, Cost of Removal charges, Salvage), Balance sheet ledgers, income statement ledgers and cash flow statements to tie out to Utility FERC account 131.

How does the Commission test for compliance with the Public Utility Holding Act with regard to regulated versus non-regulated monies? Reviewing the ledgers would be a requirement to conduct prudence testing of costs at the Utility.

Is the company using a pooling of cash method or is the company keeping the cash between regulated and non-regulated entities separate? This is very important when a rate case proceeding is being ruled on since there must be a tie out to the cash on FERC Form 1 for the Utility 131 Account and to all other reports that are being utilized for any rate case proceeding.

My previous experience with these filings we made available all ledgers in order for the commission to be able to complete their normal due diligence with a rate case proceeding. This is going to be very critical information since when I start receiving the 2011 Earnings surveillance reports I would like to identify the cash balances at the Utility. As I have indicated in my initial FOIA request this information would be needed in order to take a look at what the potential cash balances should be with regard to any cash surpluses as a result of over recovery of costs.

I want to monitor the actual depreciation surplus amortization as well as any amortization that would be related to the $400 million dollars of over earnings that was identified at the company. If the company is not going to have to return the over earnings then these over earnings should be in the cash balance (FERC 131 account) at the Utility. If not, then a reconciliation of the cash flows of the over collection of these monies would be warranted. Between the Earnings Surveillance reports and the ledgers of the company I should be able to track the cash flow of any over earnings surplus at the company.

At the end of each rate year once we identify the actual depreciation surplus amortization that the company has recorded we can determine if some of the over collection of cash depreciation in rates has been returned to the customer. Does the company still have the $400 million dollars of over earnings in the cash 131 account?

Based upon my rights as both a ratepayer and shareholder I know that I would be entitled to this information.

Again, thanks for your help and response.

Please let me know if you will be able to answer the questions above or who would be able to answer these questions.

Mr. Slemkewicz,

Do you have electronic copies of 2009 and 2010 Earnings Surveillance reports? In the previous email there was mention that this information is available on the web site. Is this correct? If not, then please provide me with a copy of the Earnings Surveillance reports for 2009 and 2010. It appears that these would be filed electronically just like the ratecase proceeding so this should be readily available for me to receive in a electronic format.

I want to make sure that since there was approximately $1.4 billion dollars of over recovered dollars that if the money does not exist in the Utility Cash 131 there is appropriate backup to support that this money was kept in the Utility 131 Cash account. The only way that this can be determined is by looking at the balance sheets, income statements and cash flow statements at the company. I know that the FERC Form 1 would have this information in more detail. Has the company filed the 2008, 2009 and 2010 FERC Form 1 reports with the commission? If so, then please let me know if these were electronically filed so that I can obtain a copy to tie out to the Utility 131 cash account balance to cross reference to the Earnings Surveillance reports that are being furnished to the Commission. Has the commission conducted due diligence to tie out to the FERC Form 1 reports to the Earnings Surveillance reports? I need these reports in order from a Generally Accepted Accounting Principle basis to tie out the Earnings Surveillance reports to the balance sheets and income statements of the company. The cash flows would be needed to test for Cash in the regulated Utility Cash 131 Account.

I am not sure if the Records Clerk area is the area in which the above questions can be answered.

As a ratepayer and a shareholder I know that I would be entitled to this information.

Please let me know when this information can be made available.

I sent my original FOIA request early in order to make sure that this information would be made available when the first monthly earnings surveillance report is filed.

1/27/2011

Thanks in advance for your help.

Dear all Commissioner's,

This is very important to monitor the cash aspects of these over recoveries. Since the rates have not been changed, the cash collections for any depreciation items are the same in base rates therefore there is a continuation of the over recovery of depreciation in the current base rates. I want to make sure that after the term of the Stipulation and Settlement agreement that when they conduct their next depreciation study that the theoretical depreciation reserve does not reflect more over recovered depreciation. If so, then these cash over recoveries should be maintained in the Cash 131 Account for future disposition as the company would have to return any over recovered dollars. This would include any type of over recovery. I want to make sure that since there was an over recovery of $1.4 billion dollars that the cash for these over collections is being maintained or is given back to the customer. From the Public Utility Holding Act perspective this is very important and the only way to determine how the money has been used is to take a look at the cash flows at the company.

Based upon my rights as a ratepayer and shareholder and Federal/State laws this information should be fully transparent therefore I trust that this information will be made available for me to complete my analysis.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Mr. Smith:

The Florida Public Service Commission does not have any documents in response to your request to provide all accounting journal entries based upon Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, including a chronological record of accounting journal entries for the recording of all journal entries related to any regulated ratemaking assumptions; accounting entries supporting the actual earnings surveillance reports; and a cash flow statement to show the changes in cash balances as a result of these transactions. Staff has advised that this information would be found on the books of the company, of which the Florida Public Service Commission does not have copies.

For future surveillance report questions, please contact John Slemkewicz in the Division of Economic Regulation, Surveillance Section. The phone number for the Division of Economic Regulation is 850-413-6900. Mr. Slemkewicz's e-mail address is: JSlemkew@psc.state.fl.us.

I hope you find this information helpful.

Dear Ms. Menasco,

Are you indicating that these documents are available on the web site for 2009 and 2010 as well?

If so, please provide the link in which these documents are posted so that I can review and copy these documents for 2009 and 2010 respectively. Was 2008 available electronically as well?

Thanks for your response help.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Thank you for the confirmation that the same pleading was being filed in both dockets. As Docket 110009-EI has not been established in the Clerk's Office yet, and due to the fact that it is a roll-over docket, anything that is filed for 110009-EI will automatically be placed in 100009-EI. At such time as Docket 110009-EI is established, ECR or GCL will need to request that our office copy certain documents from Docket 100009-EI into Docket 110009-EI, with a copy remaining in Docket 100009-EI. We only need "one" e-filing even though there are "two docket numbers." I hope that helps. Please give me a call if you have any questions or concerns. Staff or attorneys on the docket may be able to help answer your questions regarding the unestablished Docket 110009-EI as well.

Dear Dorothy, please note that I filed the same pleading in two different dockets. OPC has issued discovery prior to the commencement of Docket No. 110009-EI, accordingly we decided to file the responses also in the prior Nuclear Cost Recovery Docket No. 100009-EI. Mr. Leon:

The attached e-filing appears to be a duplicate of an e-filing received from you at 2:20 p.m. today. It appears that you are filing the document twice so that a copy will be placed in Dockets 100009-EI and 110009-EI separately. Please note that Docket 110009-EI has not been established yet. However, even if it were established, the actual document being filed references both dockets and would have been entered in both dockets with one filing. Filing it twice would put the same filing in both dockets twice. As such, the filing received at 2:20 p.m. will not be accepted as a filing.

To all interested parties,

I am sending this information to all the interested parties to make sure that there is no "ex parte" communications.

I feel that I am within my rights to have all my email(s)/motion(s)/response(s) made part of the public record.

As per below this was allowed for ratepayers that called the Commission by telephone during a hearing.

I think that based upon my Federal/States laws I am within my rights.

"Based upon Chapter 350.042 of the Florida Statutes it appears that I would reserve the right to be fully heard on the public record. This would include all email(s)/motion(s)/response(s). There should be no reason why I would not be able to practice before the commission in order to protect my legal interests in these proceedings. Why would I be treated differently than these public speakers?"

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

P R O C E E D I N G S

(Transcript follows in sequence from Volume 8.)

CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: All right. We're back on, and we'll make sure everybody has come back in and is in the room. And I believe we have two people via telephone. I think it's Alex Larson and Sharon. Are you with us?

MS. WAITE: Yes, ma'am.

MS. LARSON: Yes.

CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Okay. Is that one -- are two people there? Was that Alex or Sharon?

MS. WAITE: It was both of us.

MS. LARSON: Both.

CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Both of you. Okay. All right. And I guess -- can we just go ahead? Hold on one second. Can we go ahead with the telephone -- are these ratepayers? Who are they?

MS. BENNETT: They -- I don't know who they are.

MS. HELTON: Madam Chairman, I'm not -- I just learned that a request, I guess, has been made to the Commission this morning that there are two people on the phone who would like to address the Commission.

CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Okay.

FLORIDA PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

1           MS. HELTON: This is irregular. The notice of
2 the proceeding did not contemplate public testimony. So
3 if there were other folks in the, in the, listening that
4 wanted to participate that didn't because the notice did
5 not contemplate it, that may create an issue, number
6 one.

7           Number two, to my knowledge, none of the 8 parties had notice that this would be happening. And 9 number three, if they speak, they would -- I'm not sure
10 where their testimony would fall as far as what to do
11 with it. Is it part of the record? Is it, is it -- for 12 what, for what purpose? So this is, this is a little 13 bit irregular, and I'm really not sure what it is that 14 they want to speak to.

15           CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Well, I'm not going to 16 deny the public speaking. Anybody else want to deny
17 them for speaking?

18           And, Commissioner Skop, did you have a 19 comment? If they want to call in and speak, I'm not 20 denying them.

21           COMMISSIONER SKOP: Not at this time, Madam
22 Chair.

23           CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Anybody else?

24           Okay. I don't know your last name. I know
25 Ms. Alex Larson. And then, Sharon, I don't know your

1 last name. I apologize. So whoever wants to go first.
2 If we can, if we can give it a few minutes, please, and 3 then we, we need to move on. Okay?

4 MS. WAITE: Yes, ma'am.

5 CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Who is speaking?

6 MS. WAITE: This is Sharon Waite.

7 CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Waite, is it?

8 MS. WAITE: Yes.

9 CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Okay. Good morning.

10 MS. WAITE: Good morning. Good morning,
11 Commissioners.

12 We are -- I am a ratepayer. I have followed 13 FP&L ever since the early 2000s when they were getting 14 ready to put in the West County Energy Center. I also 15 follow the fact that now they want to ask for money for 16 nuclear plants. And since ratepayers are supposed to 17 pay all of that upfront before they start building a 18 nuclear power plant, I think it's imperative that the 19 ratepayers know exactly what the figures are and that 20 they should be accurate.

21 And I think Mr. Olivera, from what I've 22 noticed about him here locally, he's a very slippery
23 character and he's hard to pin down. And I'm glad that 24 there's a subpoena there for him to make him appear and 25 make him speak the truth. It doesn't seem like anyone

1 else has been able to do that.

2 And as far as not knowing what to do with my 3 testimony, I feel that every effort has been made to 4 keep the public unaware. None of this became -- I
5 didn't become aware of any of this until Saturday,
6 August 28th, when it was in the Palm Beach Post.

7 I feel that Florida Power & Light has done
8 everything to sub, submit nothing for the public to see
9 or know about anything. And so the fact that 10 Commissioner Argenziano has issued a subpoena, and I 11 pray that that's been done, I hope he's there -- I was 12 packed and ready to drive up there last night. And so 13 not being able to see him face to face, I want him to 14 realize that as a ratepayer there are a great many 15 people that feel as I do, that their handling of the 16 West County Energy Center was deplorable, they built it
17 on a cert (phonetic) project, and now they're using the 18 water that's our drinking water for that cert project, 19 taxpayer funded, to cool their turbines, and I find that 20 deplorable. And the Sunshine Energy fraud. They don't 21 have a very good record, and I have a great many 22 concerns and that's why I called in today. Thank you
23 very much.

24 CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Thank you.

25 Ms. Larson.

FLORIDA PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

1768

1 MS. LARSON: Good morning, Commissioners.

2 I, I hear, I hear the doubt in our minds, but 3 we were, I mean, we are prepared. I mean, if, if 4 there's any doubt in the Chair's mind or the --

5 CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Ms. Larson, hang on one
6 second.

7 MS. LARSON: Okay.

8 CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Chris, can you bump up
9 the volume a little bit? We're just having a hard time

11 MS. LARSON: I apologize.

12 CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Are we there? Okay.
13 Try that.

14 MS. LARSON: Is that better?

15 CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: Yes. Yes, I think so.

16 MS. LARSON: Okay. If they have any doubts
17 about our testimony and if they needed 24 hours notice,
18 I can do that. I can drive up to Tallahassee and be 19 there tomorrow morning at 9:00, if they so desire, if 20 this is a problem to include our testimony or include
21 our thoughts. So I do want to offer that to the board 22 as an option because I did hear the serious doubts of 23 one of the members there saying that they didn't know
24 anything about this and there was no notice and 25 whatever. I mean, I'm willing to do that. Is that, is

1 that the option of the board that they'd rather we do
2 that?

3 CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: No. I think your
4 opportunity is now. So if you want --

5 MS. LARSON: Okay. Well, no. I just wanted
6 to be --

7 CHAIRMAN ARGENZIANO: No. I appreciate that.
8 Thank you.

9 MS. LARSON: Well, I was, I was ready to get 10 into my truck at noon yesterday, so.

11 We have, we are, we are the ratepayers and we 12 are really concerned. And I haven't slept in 24 hours
13 because I went back and read your transcripts of --
14 because it's true what Sharon had said, we weren't made 15 aware of some of the things, that you are not aware 16 until it comes out in the newspaper. And one particular 17 article did not come out until September 3rd, on Friday, 18 that gave me great pause. Because when I read that even 19 members of the board are being questioned with their 20 integrity, and then I go back and read your transcripts 21 and see that you guys have bent over backwards to 22 accommodate FPL when, when it comes to nuclear power, 23 because I think it's Statute 25-6.042 is the one that
24 covers costs, that they are allowed to recover costs
25 prior to building or even thinking about building a

Dear Ms. Bennett and Commissioner's,

Please make this email part of Dockets 080677-EI, 100009-EI and 100410-EI respectively. This is to insure that my communications are in compliance with Federal/State laws regarding "ex parte" communications.

I wanted to make sure that all of the Commissioner's have seen my emails to make sure that there is no "ex parte" communications on my end.

I can only hope that none of these communications regarding these rate cases will impact my prospects for current/future employment and the well being of my family.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: FW: SEC Disclosures / Shareholder's Rights to Inspection Chapter 607 of the Florida Statutes

Dear Mr. Butler,

Please pick this email up from rpjrb@yahoo.com. I need to have this correspondence linked to this email address since it corresponds to all three public dockets.

I only have one issue with the requirements of Section 607.1602.

The issue is that I try to limit my travel alone on long trips due to a medical condition with the fingers in my hand. I have a nerve condition in my elbow that sometimes acts up. Please see the email that I have sent that has been made part of the public record (Wednesday, July 22, 2009 11 :52 AM). This email has been made part of the public Docket in all three cases. This is primarily why I have been working on these proceedings through email.

I have travelled to the shareholders meeting since I feel that there are some very important issues that have to be looked into with these ratecase proceedings from both a ratepayer and shareholder perspective. At this meeting the time was limited for a person to ask pertinent questions. This is why I followed up with the emails asking the appropriate questions of investor relations.

If I really need to come to Juno I will, but I want to try and limit the amount of time of travel.

I think that my prior emails are very specific with regard to the questions that I have and I want to make sure that all the answers to the emails are going to be provided before I make a trip.

It does not appear that Chapter 607 provides for an exception for a person who might have a medical condition that might limit the ability of the person to travel to the corporation's principal office. I would think that there would be coverage for this type of situation under Federal Legislation. I would also think that since this type of correspondence can be made part of the public docket in a ratecase proceeding by e-filing, that the answers to my emails can also be completed this way. I have no problem with putting together the ask just like the previous motions that I have made. I know that you are working on one pending motion that I have filed in Docket 100410. I wanted to make sure that all the accounting data was made fully transparent to support the case since there have been numerous issues with this case.

Does Florida Power & Light provide any institutional investor(s) any electronic correspondence to support any questions that they have asked on behalf of their shareholder's to protect their legal interest? If so, then I think that I should be afforded the same type of courtesy.

If accommodations cannot be made to communicate through electronic means and/or through US mail to limit my travel, I will try and make the trip to your office since I feel that this information is very important for the current ratecase proceedings and for both the ratepayers and shareholders of the company. If the pending Stipulation and Settlement agreement is ruled upon before affording everyone with a legal interest to ask appropriate questions that might impact the current/future rates of the company then the case might be considered impartial since the proper due diligence might have not been completed.

My intent with reviewing this information is to make sure that there is proper disclosure under Regulation S-K and FAS131. This is very important since the 10K is disclosing the combined tax liability of the company. Without the ability to see that the tax liability on a segmented (Cash) basis between the regulated and non-regulated entities I feel that this type of disclosure is warranted under Regulation S-K and FAS131. Since I would have to inspect the books to see if this information is made available I would respectfully request that all my emails that I have sent to the Company Senior Management would be answered prior to me coming into to inspect the information. There are specific question in these emails that would have to be answered in order for me to have the ability to protect my legal interest as a ratepayer and a shareholder. I have sent these emails for a long time to the company since I thought that they would have been fully answered by now in order to see if another motion would be warranted to ask before there is approval of the pending Stipulation and Settlement agreement.

I am sure that my schedule breaking out the tax liability between regulated and non-regulated entities would be very easy to compile. I would then need to see the cancelled checks from each respective entity to see that there was an actual check cut or cash transfer made from the company to support each individual entities tax liability. You would have to see the cash entry back into the utility 131 account if this is where the consolidated tax liability payment for the consolidated tax return was cut. I have sent this schedule to the commission and it has been made part of the public docket. So far I have not heard back regarding the breakout of the tax liability on an individual (cash) basis. I would think that this information would be very easy to provide to tie out to the corporate tax return that is filed.

If a situation occurs in which there is a subsidization then based upon the Energy Policy Act of 2005 I would feel that answers to my questions would be warranted to protect both the ratepayers and shareholders of FPL. From a ratepayer perspective this will have an impact on the cash revenue requirements that might be needed currently or in the future. From a shareholder perspective this might have an impact on the dividend that the company is paying currently or in the future. This information would be pertinent for both parties of legal interest therefore I feel that my request has merit and an answer to my emails is warranted.

This reconciliation is very important from both a ratepayer and shareholder perspective. This type of reconciliation would be in the fiduciary duty of the Commission in order to provide the due diligence necessary to rule on the Stipulation and Settlement agreement.

This type of reconciliation would be very important to make sure that there is coverage under the Energy Policy Act of 2005. This reconciliation is very important to ensure that no regulated monies are being used to subsidize any non-regulated entities. I am not saying that this is actual happening but what I am saying is that the current 10K disclosures and the current testimony in these rate case proceedings is not transparent enough ensure that this issue is not occurring at the Company.

This would be the only way to make sure that there is full compliance with the Energy Policy Act of 2005. There should be no reason why this information cannot be provided.

When I was up North we would provide this type of analysis all the time to make sure that any ratecase could stand on the merits of the accounting data that was provided. This was a requirement at the Commission level as well as the Board of Directors level.

The schedule below is very specific as to the actual tax liability and tax payments that are being made from each entity.

Can the company accommodate the answers to my emails or does the information have to be put together?

Can something can be done with answering this information via electronically just like the ratecase proceedings?

If not, then I want to make sure that all the email correspondence has been fully answered in a question and answer format in order to facilitate and expedite the process. If I really have to travel to Juno I will, considering the importance of these proceedings.

I want to limit this travel.

If the pending Stipulation and Settlement Agreement is approved and an issue surfaces later on then it would be apparent that the proper due diligence might not have been completed to ensure that the proper ruling has been made.

If the Commission can take the position that they can review the progression of the Stipulation and Settlement agreement if approved then this would be OK as long as the merits of the agreements can be audited and monitored throughout the term of the agreement. I am not sure that these protections have been put into place since it appears that the cash base rates will be frozen for the term of the agreement.

I am not saying that there is a definitive subsidization problem with the tax payments. There is not enough information out in the public docket/10K in order to see if this is an issue. If based upon my schedule, an issue surfaces after there is approval of the agreement what recourse will a ratepayer/shareholder have for this type of exposure? The possibility exists that there might be a cross State ratepayer subsidization issue. If one of the non-regulated entities outside the state of Florida has taxable income without the ample cash flow to pay for its individual tax liability and the company makes the actual payment on a consolidated basis from the Utility 131 account then from a cash flow perspective a current Florida ratepayer possibly would have subsidized an out of State ratepayers tax liability. For example, If one of the Nextera Solar or Wind projects is servicing ratepayers that are outside the Florida service area located in another State and these non-regulated entities are not providing the cash transfer back to the regulated subsidiary (Florida Utility) (if the payment for the consolidated tax liability has been made from the Florida Utility 131 account) then the current Florida ratepayer might have subsidized another States ratepayer for tax liability that is the not the responsibility of the Florida Utility ratepayer. An intercompany transfer would not be an acceptable accounting entry unless there was a cash entry to make sure that any non-regulated entity would be paying its own tax liability. This would also be a requirement of any Holding company, Finance Company etc. Every entity would have to stand on its own and there should be a corresponding cash entry to support each entities tax liability.

Under regulation S-K and FAS131 this would be a disclosure requirement since this would be a situation in which segmented reporting would be required. FAS131 specifically talks about consolidated income tax liability. This the primary purpose of the Energy Policy Act of 2005.

Please keep the HTML formatting to make sure that the tax schedule below is intact for this communication.

I do not want to be perceived as a problem. My experience with these cases has always led to letting the accounting transparency be the guide to any decision that might or will be rendered in any ratecase proceeding. This accounting data would be pertinent to ensure that all parties with a legal interest would be afforded the transparency needed to protect their interests.

I trust considering the company's position with their concern with impartiality with these proceedings that the Board of Directors and Senior Management of the Company would feel the same way.

I can only hope that none of these communications regarding these rate cases will impact my prospects for current/future employment and the well being of my family.

Let me know if the answers can be provided electronically or my emails can be answered in a question and answer format so that all my pertinent questions can be answered in order for me to protect my legal interest from both a ratepayer and shareholder perspective.

If not, then let me know if all the questions will be answered and there will be documentation to support the answers to my questions before I have to travel to Juno.

This email can serve as what my intention is with regard to obtaining this information. I have been upfront with all of the pertinent agencies (Federal/State) with regard to my concerns and what questions I would like the company and commission to answer.

If you need a sign-off to this email I can sign and fax it to the company for it to serve as a request for the company to answer all my email correspondence that I have sent from a shareholder's perspective.

There have been other Federal Agencies in which I have dealt with an electronic filing (Freedom of information act request etc) to obtain answers to specific email correspondence. As long as the law was cited and the ask was signed off on there was never a problem.

Let me know what can be done.

If you have any questions regarding this email be do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: RE: SEC Disclosures / Shareholder's Rights to Inspection Chapter 607 of the Florida Statutes

Mr. Smith, we have received your e-mail message.

To the extent that your e-mail references the provisions of Chapter 607, Florida Statutes (2010)(the "Act"), we would like to point out that Section 607.1602 of the Act has specific enumerated requirements. You should review that section carefully and, to the extent that you are a shareholder of NextEra Energy, Inc. (the "Company") that is eligible for and wishes to seek inspection rights, please comply with that section's requirements.

Once a shareholder contemplated by the Act has provided notice to the Company of his or her demand to inspect and copy records pursuant to and in accordance with the Act, the Company will review the request and respond accordingly.

We hope this information is of assistance and appreciate your interest.

Best regards, John Butler

Subject: SEC Disclosures / Shareholder's Rights to Inspection Chapter 607 of the Florida Statutes

To whom it may concern, Mr. Butler, Mr. Rubin, Mr. Bryan, Mr. Sieving and Mr. Hay,

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

Please provide me with the accounting records to support the consolidated tax liability that is currently being paid at the company. I have filed as a matter of public record a tax payment schedule (see email dated Thursday, April 01, 2010 10:28 PM) that I have asked from a ratepayer's/shareholder's perspective to be completed in order to verify that each regulated and non-regulated entity is paying for its own tax liability respectively. This is from a segmented cash flow approach and based upon Regulation FD, S-K, S-X and FAS131 the need for segmented reporting would require for "Situations may arise when information should be disclosed about a segment although the information in quantitative terms may not appear significant to the registrant's business taken as a whole". The current 10K disclosure does not provide segmented cash flows in order to see the impacts of these payments.

Based upon Regulation FD, S-K, S-X, FAS 131 and Title XXXVI Chapter 607 SEC 1601 to 1604 of the Florida Statutes my rights to this information should be fully made transparent by the company.

Has any of this information been furnished or requested by the Florida Public Service Commission?

Currently Mr. Butler is working on answering a motion regarding these issues that has been filed in Docket 100410-EI.

Considering the issues that keep surfacing with this ratecase, I trust that based upon the Company's concern about impartiality and my concern about full transparency to protect my legal interest in these proceedings from both a ratepayer/shareholder's perspective that the company would fully furnish the requested information about its cash tax payments by regulated/non-regulated entities in order to tie out to its consolidated tax liability that has been paid.

My recent concern was with the dialogue that took place in the internal affairs meeting yesterday. Apparently there was dialogue and a potential allegation that one of the Commissioner's was being partial to Florida Power & Light. Another issue that surfaced was that there was a concern about the communication between the council's of record. Apparently, there was a concern that other outside communications has been taking place. If this is occurring, I would think that the potential for "ex parte" communications might be another concern. This is why I feel that my question(s) from both a ratepayer/shareholder perspective should be answered fully in order to protect my legal interest(s) with these proceedings. This is why I have also made sure that everyone has received a copy of my email communication in order to keep my email correspondence fully transparent for any party with a legal interest to have access to information that might be pertinent to these proceedings.

This is of great cause of concern since the members of the Commission has changed throughout the term of the current ratecase proceeding.

There was also talk about a motion that is going to be filed in the District Court of Appeal (DCA) to regain jurisdiction over some of the items that were deferred at yesterday's agenda meeting. This motion is going to be put together and if it is unopposed by the Company it will be filed. If it is opposed by the Company the motion would be withdrawn.

I am sending this email to let investor relations know about my concern with the transparency that would be required under both Federal and State laws.

I trust that considering the past issues and the new issues that keep surfacing with this case that the Board of Directors and/or the Senior Management team would want to be proactive to provide the full transparency that would be needed for any party with a legal interest to protect their interest(s) in these proceedings.

I am looking forward to a response from the Company from both a ratepayer and shareholder perspective.

I can only hope that none of these communications regarding these rate cases will impact my prospects for current/future employment and the well being of my family.

If you have any questions regarding this email be do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

As per FAS 131 / Accounting Principles and Allocations

84. The Board decided not to require that segment information be provided in accordance with the same generally accepted accounting principles used to prepare the consolidated financial statements for several reasons. Preparing segment information in accordance with the generally accepted accounting principles used at the consolidated level would be difficult because some generally accepted accounting principles are not intended to apply at a segment level. Examples include allocation of the cost of an acquisition to individual assets and liabilities of a subsidiary using the purchase method of accounting, accounting for the cost of enterprise-wide employee benefit plans, accounting for income taxes in an enterprise that files a consolidated income tax return, and accounting for inventory on a last-in, first-out basis if the pools include items in more than one segment. In addition, there are no generally accepted accounting principles for allocating joint costs, jointly used assets, or jointly incurred liabilities to segments or for pricing intersegment transfers. As a consequence, it generally is not feasible to present segment profitability in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

87. The Board believes that the information required by this Statement meets the objective of reliability of which both representational faithfulness and verifiability are components. An auditor can determine whether the information reported in the notes to the financial statements came from the required source by reviewing management reports or minutes from meetings of the board of directors. The information is not required to be provided on a specified basis, but the enterprise is required to explain the basis on which it is provided and to reconcile the segment information to consolidated enterprise totals. Adequate explanation and an appropriate reconciliation will enable a user to understand the information and its limitations in the context of the enterprise's financial statements. The auditor can test both the explanation of segment amounts and the reconciliations to consolidated totals. Furthermore, because management uses that information in its decision-making processes, that information is likely to be highly reliable.

The information provided to comply with Statement 14 was more difficult to verify in many situations and was less reliable. Because it was prepared solely for external reporting purposes, it required allocations that may have been arbitrary, and it was based on accounting principles that may have been difficult to apply at the segment level.

Regulation S-K

§ 229.10 (Item 10) General.

Instructions to Item 101.

1. In determining what information about the segments is material to any understanding of the registrant's business taken as a whole and therefore required to be disclosed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this Item, the registrant should take into account both quantitative and qualitative factors such as the significance of the matter to the registrant (e.g., whether a matter with a relatively minor impact on the registrant's business is represented by management to be important to its future profitability), the pervasiveness of the matter (e.g., whether it affects or may affect numerous items in the segment information), and the impact of the matter (e.g., whether it distorts the trends reflected in the segment information). Situations may arise when information should be disclosed about a segment although the information in quantitative terms may not appear significant to the registrant's business taken as a whole.
2. Base the determination of whether information about segments is required for a particular year upon an evaluation of interperiod comparability. For instance, interperiod comparability would require a registrant to report segment information in the current period even if not material under the criteria for reportability of SFAS No. 131 if a segment has been significant in the immediately preceding period and the registrant expects it to be significant in the future.
3. The Commission, upon written request of the registrant and where consistent with the protection of investors, may permit the omission of any of the information required by this Item or the furnishing in substitution thereof of appropriate information of comparable character.

Subject: RE: Docket No. 080677-E1 / responses to Staffs Data Request No. 2 dated March 4,2010

Dear Commissioner's,

Here is some question that I have for these answers. Please see my reconciliation to support my questions below. Did anyone use my reconciliation? Did FPL fill out the reconciliation to help with this process? Did they prepare a segmented cash flow statement for the tax payments? Did we get copies of the cancelled checks? I think that this is a very good idea.

Florida Power & Light Company

Re: Docket No. 080677-EI – Petition for increase in rates by Florida Power & Light Company.

1. For the years 2007, 2008, and 2009, provide a detailed description of FPL's accounting treatment for the excess tax benefits received by FPL Group. By excess tax benefits staff means the dollar difference between actual tax payments made on behalf of FPL by FPL Group and the tax amounts for which the ratepayers would have been charged under the "stand-alone" method.

Response: There are no 'excess tax benefits' under the definition provided in this request. FPL Group makes a consolidated tax filing, in which it pays a single, consolidated tax liability. FPL Group does not make separate tax payments "on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary. The tax liability recorded by FPL is calculated on a stand-alone or "separate return" method. Under that method, the tax liability that FPL records, and charges to customers, is the same regardless of whether or not FPL is filing as part of a consolidated tax return. In other words, if FPL were not one of the consolidated FPL Group businesses, its tax liabilities would be exactly the same as they are recorded now.

As FPL's Vice President of Accounting and Chief Accounting Officer pointed out in his January 5, 2010 letter to the Commissioners on this topic, Florida utilities and the overwhelming majority of electric utilities around the country use the stand-alone basis to calculate income taxes for ratemaking purposes. This approach ensures that the income taxes for which an electric utility's customers are responsible through electric rates are determined only on the basis of electric utility operations, not on the basis of other, unrelated business activities in which unregulated affiliates may be engaged. To do otherwise would expose customers to constant shifts in the utility's tax obligations for reasons that would have nothing to do with providing electric service. This would be unfair, confusing and counterproductive to the Commission's goal of avoiding subsidies between utility and affiliate operations.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

12/1/2010

"The tax liability recorded by FPL is calculated on a stand-alone or "separate return" method. Under that method, the tax liability that FPL records, and charges to customers, is the same regardless of whether or not FPL is filing as part of a consolidated tax return. In other words, if FPL were not one of the consolidated FPL Group businesses, its tax liabilities would be exactly the same as they are recorded now".

"Florida utilities and the overwhelming majority of electric utilities around the country use the stand-alone basis to calculate income taxes for ratemaking purposes. This approach ensures that the income taxes for which an electric utility's customers are responsible through electric rates are determined only on the basis of electric utility operations, not on the basis of other, unrelated business activities in which unregulated affiliates may be engaged. To do otherwise would expose customers to constant shifts in the utility's tax obligations for reasons that would have nothing to do with providing electric service. This would be unfair, confusing and counterproductive to the Commission's goal of avoiding subsidies between utility and affiliate operations."

Based upon the response above it is only talking about the tax liability on an individual basis. This makes total sense since it would be correct that all tax liabilities should be recorded separately. If you take a look at my previous email you will notice that I have laid out each individual company which would show the current/deferred tax provisions. This would backup up by the FPL response that the tax liabilities are recorded separately. What it talks about is the fact that the tax liabilities are recorded separately. What it does not talk about is the segmented cash flow aspect of the actual payments that are being made.

We now have to switch to the cash aspect of the payments of these liabilities:

"FPL Group makes a consolidated tax filing, in which it pays a single, consolidated tax liability. FPL Group does not make separate tax payments "on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary."

By the nature of this statement it does not talk about the segmented cash flow aspect of the "consolidated tax filing, in which it pays a single, consolidated tax liability.

FPL Group does not make separate tax payments" on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary. By nature of paying a "single, consolidated tax liability" segmented cash flows would have to be provided to make sure that there was ample cash flow in each entity to cover their individual tax liability. FPL Group would have to show cancelled checks to support that there was ample cash flow in each entity to support each entities tax liability. This is supported by the reconciliation that I have sent in my previous email asking for a breakout of the tax liability by entity and supporting cancelled check to support that there is ample cash flow in each subsidiary to cover each entities liability. If there is not ample cash flow in each subsidiary then the possibility exists that there might be a subsidization by an entity that has ample cash flow to cover the tax liability.

Where is the actual check cut from? Is it an FPL Group cash account or does this come from a regulated subsidiary cash account (131)? We have to be careful that we look at the actual cash transactions and not just intercompany transactions.

When it pays its consolidated tax liability and does not make separate payments how does it make sure that the cash payment with regard to each entities tax liability is being charged to "FPL or any other subsidiary"?

In order to determine if there is ample cash flow in each entity, a segmented cash flow reconciliation would have to be completed to see if there was ample cash in FPL and its subsidiaries to cover each individual tax liability. There should be cancelled check from each individual entity to backup their respective tax liability. Based upon their response above it appears that they are only cutting one check as FPL Group. Where is the cash coming from?

Please see my email below/my reconciliation that I have sent previously.

2. For the years 2007, 2008, and 2009, provide a detailed description of the accounting treatment for the excess tax benefits that were derived from filing a consolidated tax return by FPL Group versus each subsidiary filing a separate tax return.

Response: As explained above, there are no "excess tax benefits" as Staff has defined that term.

The tax liability for each subsidiary, including FPL, is calculated based on the separate return method. Tax benefits, if any, that could not be used by a subsidiary on a separate return basis, but are used on the consolidated tax return, are recorded by the subsidiary that generated the tax benefits.

Questions/Response:

Based upon the response above it is only talking about the tax liability on an individual basis. This makes total sense since it would be correct that all tax liabilities should be recorded separately.

Again, this response does not talk about cash payments by each subsidiary since there is an individual tax liability. There can be no subsidization of cash payments between regulated and non-regulated entities. No exceptions! My reconciliation would be able to show this detail to support each entities individual tax liability and each entities separate tax payments.

Just because FPL Group "pays a single, consolidated tax liability. FPL Group does not make separate tax payments "on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary." This does not eliminate the requirement that each entity would be responsible to cover its own tax payments from a cash flow perspective. No exceptions!

The response above does not provide enough information to make sure that there is no subsidization of regulated to non-regulated payments and non-regulated to regulated payments. This would work both ways and can only be determined by segmented cash flows. No exceptions!

This is why there are issues with the holding company concept. There is no talk of segmented cash flows to make sure that the recorded individual tax liabilities are supported by individual tax payments.

3. For the years 2007, 2008, 2009, and 2010, provide a copy of FPL Group's tax-sharing agreement with its subsidiaries.

Response: Please see Attachment 1.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

"Pay" or "Payment" means the physical transfer of cash, cash equivalents, or an equivalent intercompany book entry.

Be careful here! An intercompany book entry can just be a book entry and if it does not have a corresponding cash entry it might not show that the individual subsidiary had ample cash to support its individual tax liability.

The only way that this can be determined is by a segmented cash flow statement to show that the intercompany book entry had a corresponding cash impact in the individual entity. If not, then there might be room for subsidization between the entities. This cannot happen. This agreement might have to be revised.

12/1/2010

There should be no room to share any NOL's to be allocated. Each individual entity should stand on its own. If an entity generates an NOL only the entity in which the NOL was generated should be able to use the NOL to use to offset its taxable income. There should be NO ALLOCATION's of NOL's.

For example:

The utility generates a large NOL for the abandonment of a plant. This would possibly create an NOL carry forward that might be used for a long time to shelter taxable income for the utility and to minimize its tax liability. No non-regulated subsidiary should benefit by the utilization of this NOL if it was generated by a regulated subsidiary. This is from both a liability perspective as well as a cash flow perspective. No exceptions!

If there was any allocation then the ratepayer would have to be made whole since if there was any type of allocation the possibility exists that a regulated subsidiary would have subsidized a non-regulated subsidiary. This would work in the same way if a non-regulated subsidiary generated an NOL if it went out of business at a loss.

There should be no allocations from a true tax perspective. Any allocation would give rise to a possible subsidization and this should not happen.

Segmented cash flows would be able to provide the proper details to make sure that this does not happen. There is no reason for any allocation methodology since if an entity filed its own tax return it would be required to keep all NOL's and tax credits individually. There should be no reason why this cannot be done with a FPL Group filing since as long as the tax liabilities and cash payments are being accounted for on an individual basis there really should be no issue.

Any allocation might lead to a subsidization issue which might require the ratepayer and/or subsidiary to be made whole.

When I was up North we had an issue with a large NOL due to a closure of a Nuclear Power Plant. This NOL' provides for minimum tax payments for the Electric business for at about 10 years (if I remember but it was a long time). Since we had a regulated gas entity with ample cash flow to pay its own tax liability from a consolidated basis the use of the NOL was OK. We tracked this NOL on the electric side of the business only. We did not provide for any allocation. If there was no ample cash flow in the Gas business to cover its individual tax liability and there was an allocation of NOL's this would have not been fair to the electric ratepayer since the Electric ratepayer had to absorb the loss on the closure of the plant therefore it should not lose the use of an NOL for its own tax liability due to some type of allocation.

This agreement should be amended to make sure that there are no allocations. Period!

4. For the years 2007, 2008, and 2009, would FPL Group have been able to take full advantage (each year without regard to tax carryforward or carryback) of the wind related production tax credits without the benefit of FPL regulated utility taxable income?

Response: FPL Group has not been able to take full advantage of the wind related production tax credits with, or without, the inclusion of the FPL regulated utility taxable income in the FPL Group consolidated tax return for the years 2007, 2008 or 2009.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

When will these credits be taken and what is holding up the use of these credits?

12/1/2010

Is this an indication where these credits are available there is not ample taxable income to use these credits? If so, then this might make sense but there is not enough information in this response to determine whether or not the wind related production tax credits can be utilized.

We know that each entity should be entitled to its own tax credits as generated on an individual basis. What we do not know by this response is why they cannot currently use these credits. The answer might be that there is not enough taxable income/liability in the subsidiary in which generated these credits. I am sure that if there was taxable income in a subsidiary the entity if it had wind related production tax credits and it was able to take it as a tax credit to minimize its liability it would. There has to be another reason why they are not using these credits where they have been earned.

It would make sense that you cannot utilize these if you included FPL regulated utility taxable income. Each entity generates its own tax credits. They can only utilize these credits for the respective individual tax liabilities only.

What I am concerned with is the cash implications of the utilization of these wind related production tax credits if they were generated by the regulated utility or a non-regulated subsidiary.

The cash flow impact is that the credit should be utilized against the cash payment by each individual entities tax liability only. There should be no benefit to any regulated entity for a tax credit generated by a non-regulated subsidiary and no benefit for a non-regulated subsidiary for a tax credit as generated by a regulated entity.

This can only be determined by a segmented cash flow breakout of the payments to match each entities individual tax liability. Any single payment will not provide enough information to determine if there is no subsidization between a regulated entity and non-regulated entity.

If my reconciliation was used to show cancelled checks to support each entities individual tax liability you would be able to determine if any entity (regulated/non-regulated) was subsidized.

I am going to send this out as a draft tonight to send what I have observed by the responses. I will be taking a look at this tomorrow. If I have any changes I will follow up since it is late and I am tired.

Hand is acting up a little. I want to make sure can take a look at the attachment a little longer since I am tired. Hopefully there are no typo(s). I will check.

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

Dear Ms. Menasco on behalf of the records clerk,

Here we go with the excel document embedded into the email.

Hopefully this works in conjunction with the file. Please let me know if you can print out the PDF to put on the record. The second page has been put on Legal paper and would have to be printed out of the PDF for backup and scan. There is a portrait version of the second page as well.

Thanks for all of your patience. This issue is a very important issue and I hope that this helps with the analysis.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

(1) Cash From Ratepayers Regulated by FERC/PSC - Full Current/Deferred Taxes Collected in Rates - 10K filed on Consolidated Basis. No separation of Cash Accounts. If current Taxes paid is less than the Full tax provision then surplus cash should be maintained as a balance in the Utility FERC 131 Account.

(2) Tax Accounts do not have to follow FERC Account Numbers. There will still be Current/Deferred Taxes Payments for Current Taxes must be paid out of the individual Non Reg. Company and not paid from Utility Operations (FERC Account 131 Account).
Deferred Tax Account numbers do not have to meet FERC account guidelines

(3) This is the total Current/Deferred Tax Provision filed with the Consolidated Tax Return for FPL Group. The Total Current Tax Provision (Cash) should have cash entries in each respective company to make sure that the cash disbursements are being made out of each Regulated and Non Regulated separately.

Since most companies are set up as Independent companies accountability must be controlled by the Public Service Commission since the Commission is responsible for the accountability of the ratepayer funds. All Management Agreement Negotiations should be over seen by the Public Service Commission to keep Control of the Regulated/Non-Regulated Cash Flow. Segmented Cash Flows would be required for a full Accounting. The Journal entries above are on a cash basis only. There may be accrual entries that would be recorded per Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. There may also be regulatory Accounting Journal Entries as required by FERC/PSC Accounting.

* All Non-Regulated Subsidiaries/Subsidiaries should generate enough cash flow to support the operations of the company. If there is Goodwill Acquisition Indebtedness, then it should be fully funded by the operations of the Non-Regulated Subsidiary.

Regulated Utility / Holding Company Cash Flow Issues:

- 1) Segmented Cash Flows would have to be prepared to properly account for Regulated versus Non-Regulated Cash Movement.
Public Utility Holding Company Act (PUHCA) (1935) Regulated by State Public Service Commissions/Federal Energy Regulatory Commission
- 2) Full Accounting for the funding of dividends/executive compensation plans at the Holding Company Level.
This should include the back up Cash Flow Accounting to support the level of dividends paid out.
- 3) Separate Cash Accounts (i.e. Utility cash account is 131 account)

12/1/2010

This has to be done to make sure that there is a separation of Regulated Cash from Non-Regulated Cash.

4) How is the company accounting for the intercompany cash transactions?

Assets transfers? Are these being made at historical cost or at market value?

If Financed by the Utility, is the ratepayer receiving a fair return on capital? What rate of return are they earning?

5) Separate billing systems/ Is the only billing system that is being maintained for the Utility?

If not, then are there separate billing systems for non-regulated subsidiaries/subsidiaries?

6) Separate work order systems

This is very critical since the work order system is probably used for capital expenditures/expenses. Usually there is utility coding for the type of capital expenditure that clears to the ledgers or utility accounts. These can be Plant, CWIP etc.

7) Separate Accounting Systems for each Entity

Is there a separate system for each entity? If not, what type of internal controls has been put into place to ensure that all capital expenditures/expenses are being cleared to the appropriate company accounts?

Dear Mr. Sieving,

Thank you for your response.

The public information that must be furnished has to meet the guidelines of very specific Federal laws. When Mr. Butler takes a look at the motion it specifically talks about public disclosure under FAS 131 with regard to segmented information reporting. There has been various emails regarding the consolidated tax liability at the company and this type of information under FAS 131 would have to be provided with segment reporting since it would be difficult to see the cash impacts of the payments by regulated and non-regulated entities at the company.

This is the reason why I am asking for information regarding the segmented reporting at the Company.

I have sent numerous information requests to the investor contact below and I have not heard back from them for over one year.

I trust that Mr. Butler will be answering the motion that was filed regarding the impacts of the Federal laws with regard to these proceedings.

Since the SEC and accounting regulations support the need for segmented tax payment reporting I would think that this information would be able to be provided.

Hopefully this will be addressed by the company. Between the answer to my pending motion that has been filed with the Public Service Commission this would have to be addressed in order for any party with a legal interest to be able to ask any pertinent questions regarding the current ratecase. This is from a ratepayer perspective.

From a shareholder perspective based upon Regulation FD, S-K, S-X and FAS 131 there is no reason why the company would not be able to provide the appropriate tax payment backup to the consolidated tax liability at the company. I need this to identify that the cash payments being made by each company to tie out to the consolidated tax liability at the company. It appears that the current SEC regulations would support this type of reporting therefore I do not understand why I did not receive a response from both the Florida Public Service Commission from a ratepayer perspective as well as from the company from a shareholder's perspective.

I am looking forward to the company's response to both the motion and the shareholder request.

You can contact me with your response through email at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks again for your response.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Mr. Smith:

We have received your communication, thank you.

We will take your suggestions and your offer into consideration and be in touch should we conclude that doing so would be in the best interests of Florida Power & Light Company and its stakeholders.

In the meantime, should you have the desire for further communications with FPL or NextEra Energy, Inc., we would appreciate it if you would please communicate directly with Mr. Butler on regulatory matters or, if the communication concerns shareholdings in NextEra Energy, Inc., to the appropriate contact listed here:

http://www.nexteraenergy.com/investors/contact\_relations.shtml. This would allow us to serve our stakeholders more efficiently. Please be assured that Mr. Butler and shareholder services will keep us informed appropriately, but please understand that we are restricted in the nonpublic information we furnish.

Thank you again for your interest.

Subject: FW: MOTION FOR FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT TO ANSWER QUESTION 3 TO STAFF'S DATA REQUEST NO.1 IN ORDER TO INSPECT AND EXAMINE THE ANSWER TO QUESTION 3

Dear Ms. Bennett and Commissioner's,

Please make this email part of Dockets 080677-EI, 100009-EI and 100410-EI respectively. This is to insure that my communications are in compliance with Federal/State laws regarding "ex parte" communications.

I wanted to make sure that all of the Commissioner's have seen my emails to make sure that there is no "ex parte" communications on my end.

Mr. Butler, Mr. Rubin, Mr. Bryan has picked up the motion/appeal filing email.

Mr. Hay has picked up the original email motion/appeal.

I have not received a read receipt from Mr. Sieving regarding the motion/appeal email. Mr. Sieving has indicated that he would be looking at my concerns that I have outlined in multiple emails regarding issues from a shareholder and ratepayer perspective.

As soon as I hear from Mr. Sieving I will sent the read receipt to the commission to put on the public record.

I can only hope that none of these communications regarding these rate cases will impact my prospects for current/future employment and the well being of my family.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Mr. Butler, Mr. Rubin, Mr. Bryan, Mr. Sieving and Mr. Hay,

I am sending this from my other email account to make sure that you all receive my motion that I had sent to the commission today at 4:15PM.

I trust that you understand that considering the issues with this case, that full transparency should be afforded with any information that is being asked of the company. Pending the approval of the Stipulation and Settlement agreement it appears that the cash base rates are going to be locked for the term of the agreement. I know that based upon my experience we have completed this type of analysis in order to support our position with any ratecase proceeding and/or Stipulation and Settlement agreement(s). We would furnish this information for the full term of a Stipulation and Settlement agreement in order to provide support to the Commission and all interested parties with a legal interest in the proceeding(s). This would include any overearnings tests for both historic (2010) and forecasted (2011 and 2012) rateyear(s).

I would think that the original filing made by the Company could be updated for the original order issued by the Commission and/or the pending Stipulation and Settlement agreement to see the impacts on the 2010, 2011 and 2012 rateyear(s) respectively.

This is to protect every party's legal interest with these proceedings.

If the company needs my help with regard to providing this information please let me know. As long as the Company is utilizing a detailed forecast model this process should be able to be automated. I have done this in the 90's and I know that the modeling technology should have improved.

Thanks for your patience with this matter.

Dear Ms. Bennett and Commissioner's,

I heard back from the Company and I had a conversation with Pat Bryan at FPL. Mr. Bryan had indicated that he will take a look at my email correspondence and get back to me with a response.

As per our conversation I have indicated that there should be full transparency with regard to this case with the release of any accounting data that might be pertinent with this case. Any normal operating reports should be fully made transparent. I have asked Mr. Bryan to take a look at the 10K reporting as it relates to Regulation FD, S-X and S-K. I specifically talked about FAS 131 reporting in which it talks about segmented reporting.

This would be related to the tax payment emails that I have sent to the commission. I have explained to Mr. Bryan about my past experience with these cases and I have indicated that I was concerned with the issues that have surfaced with this case.

Hopefully I will receive the information that I have outlined in my email request regarding the holding company structure and more information from a shareholders perspective.

I think that all information that might be pertinent to all these cases should be made fully transparent.

As of this email I have not received a read receipt from Mr. Pat Bryan.

I told Mr. Bryan that I would have spoke to them on Friday before noon but I had a phone interview for a CFO position.

I can only hope that none of these communications regarding these rate cases will impact my prospects for current/future employment and the well being of my family.

Hopefully there are no typo(s).

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett and Commissioner's,

Here is an email that I have sent to Florida Power & Light regarding the declassified Provisional Electric Forecasted Surveillance Report. The questions below are related to the assumptions that have been used in the report.

Florida Power & Light called me on Friday regarding this report. I left a voicemail as well as sent an email regarding the receipt of this report. I was on a phone call for a CFO position.

I am looking forward to hearing from the company regarding the assumptions that have been modeled in the report.

I can only hope that none of these communications regarding these rate cases will impact my prospects for current/future employment and the well being of my family.

Hopefully there are no typo(s).

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask.

Subject: Withdrawal of the Confidential Classification of Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report / Questions regarding the forecast assumptions

Dear Mr. Butler, Mr. Rubin and Mr. Brian,

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

I left a voicemail on Friday and sent quick email regarding this report (Docket 080677-EI Document number 09517-10). I am sorry I could not speak to you on Friday. I was in the middle of a phone interview for a CFO position.

Thank you for a copy of the Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance report. I noticed that the information contains the exact same pages that are in the normal operating report (Rate of Return Surveillance report 24 pages including the cover letter (12/31/2008)). The provisional report contains 7 pages. I would expect to see that these similar reports will be provided with the final order in this case.

Here are some preliminary questions regarding the Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report. Did the company prepare any 2011 and 2012 forecasted earnings surveillance reports? This would be needed to see if there would be further cost of service reductions in the years that the base rates would be set if the Settlement and Stipulation agreement was approved based upon the 2010 forecasted earnings surveillance report. If there are other reduction(s) in cost in the years in which the base rates are frozen then the customer might not see a benefit for these reduction since there is no forecast to show what will happen in 2011 and 2012. Will there be an excess earning test to keep track of any future over earnings?

How come the long term debt assumption is 5.8%? Is this assumption for 2010? If so, are there any plans to refinance the debt for 2011 and 2012? If so, and the cash rates are set will the customer receive the benefit of the refinancing of this debt through a cash rate reduction in base rates or will this reduction be returned through an excess earnings mechanism?

Are there any plans to refinance the debt to lower interest rates with the current economic climate? If so, then how come we do not see any reduction in the overall cost of Long term debt cost rate below? Is this due to not being able to refinance this during 2010 since we are already in November?

If there are no plans to refinance the Long term debt below did they ask the financial community if there was an opportunity to refinance any of their debt? Have they completed any economic analysis regarding the impacts of retiring higher cost long term debt with refinancing this debt at lower interest rates? This would include early retirement costs that the company would have to potentially pay with the refinancing and early retirement of the existing debt? Are there plans to refinance in 2011 and 2012? If so, then the customer would not see a reduction for this in their cash base rates since the rates will be set based upon the 2010 test year and the assumption that have been provided in the Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance report.

If the commission decides to use an Excess Earnings mechanism to return any cost reductions/interest savings to its customers what will be the annual rate of return (carrying charges) that will be recorded to FERC Account 253 (deferred credits)? This amount should equal the same rate of return as the actual overall cost of money or the customer might not receive the full benefit for the refinancing of the debt. If this was trued up into base rates then the customer would receive the full benefit therefore any carrying charges calculated on excess earnings should be at the overall cost of money.

There is an adjustment of $525,901 ($610,457-$84,556 ($000's)) to reduce the total long term debt outstanding. Do we know what this adjustment represents? Is this a normal retirement of debt? By the nature of this adjustment the debt to equity ratio will change. The equity component will increase therefore increasing the equity component. This will translate to increased revenue requirements. Are there any plans to issue new debt? What would be the targeted debt to equity ratio that the company would expect to maintain? Do we know what the interest rate impact for a ratings change at the company if the company issues more debt?

Any change in the debt to equity ratio will impact revenue requirements. If you just reduce the debt below without a change in interest rates then the equity component of the debt to equity ratio will increase therefore increasing revenue requirements. If the cash rates are set in 2010 without taking into account any future change in debt/equity ratio based upon any issuance or refinancing of debt then how will any potential cost savings be given back to the customer? Will this be refunded through an excess earnings test? If so, at what rate of return will the carrying charges be calculated at to refund this money?

With the depreciation reserve surplus amortization below, what would be the difference between the amortization below of $30,000 and the original amount as set by the Florida public Service Commission? According to note 3 it indicates that this "Assumes FPSC approval of the August 20, 2010 Stipulation and Settlement Agreement. Does this represent $30 million since there is no ($000's) on the top of the Forecast Assumption page. Is this an annual amount of amortization? If this is an annual amortization how come it is significantly lower than the original amount as set by the original order? The original order has indicated that there will be a base rate increase of $75 million but a depreciation amortization that is $500 million over 4 years or $125 million per year for 4 years. In addition, there was $394.6 million being amortized at $17.9 million over 22 years. If the $30,000 represents $30 million then does this replace the original amortization?

I noticed that the 30 day commercial paper rate of .5% has been put onto the assumption page. What specific items are being considered with this interest rate assumption?

What annual interest rate assumptions (carrying charges) are being used to calculate the carrying charges for the any recovery clause that is being collected in base rates but is being returned through a separate recovery clause? (i.e fuel recovery clause, nuclear uprate recovery clause etc.) Are these rates lower than the overall cost of money?

If I have any additional questions I will let you know.

I have sent prior emails to both Mr. Hay and Mr. Sieving regarding the holding company structure at the company as well as the same type of questions that has been asked in the email above.

Again thank you for sending me the information and I am looking forward to hearing from the company.

Hopefully there are no typo(s).

If you have any questions regarding this email please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or give me a call at 954-340-4956.

Thanks,

| Cape & Riviera Site | 44.9         | Are these going to be added to the new repowered generating units? If so then, then how is the new cost going to take into account the old book costs for ledger 3 purposes? Since they have been fully recovered by the surplus reserve is the new ledger 3 amounts only going to reflect the new costs only? How is the vintage year issues being addressed for the old costs? If it will reflect only the new costs then all old ledger 3 amounts will be removed. This might not follow GAAP since from a strict asset perspective these assets might still exist with the new repowered generating units. How will the going forward depreciation reflect this vintage year issue? |
| Nuclear Upgrades    | 166.2        | Removed from Base Rates. Recovered through Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause. Removed from RateBase? Calculated Carrying Charges? Will the cash recovery in Base rates equal the new recovery in cash rates based upon the new Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause? Is this a break even for cash recovery or has the amount of time to recover these costs changed?  |
| Obsolete Meters     | 101.1        | Retired. Is there any salvage money that can be recovered for the scrap sale or sale of these meters? Will there be any cost of removal or are these being left in place? If they are being left in place then and they will be considered fully recovered will ledger 10 be adjusted to match ledger 3 to keep track of these assets? Ledger 3 plant should match ledger 10 accumulated depreciation reserves. These should be kept on the books until they are removed/sold or scrapped. Any money should be credited to the ratepayers.  |
|                     | 314.2 |   |

Based upon the above reduction of the Depreciation Surplus/OverRecovery it appears that the Recovery Schedule items are being reduced against surplus refund immediately. What is going to be done with these plants? Are they being retired or sold? If they are going to be sold then if there is any gain on the sale of the plants then this would have to be refunded to the ratepayer. If these plants are not sold, what would be the new recovery period for these plants since it appears that they are being moved out of the normal depreciation recovery? Are they going to remain in Ledger 3 for book purposes since the normal depreciation recovery will be stopped?

Dear Mr. Butler, Mr. Rubin and Mr. Brian,

I have received your email regarding the release of the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance report.

I received both attachments and I noticed that these documents are going to be filed into Docket 080677-EI.

I am in the process of taking a look at the report and I know that I have a couple of questions regarding some of the assumptions in the report.

I have been working on a draft email to send with questions but I was on a phone call that I had scheduled this morning. I will be working on this information today and over the weekend to hopefully put together my final questions.

Thank you for sending me the report.

Mr. Rubin and Mr. Brian I am sorry I missed your call. I have left a voicemail at the office which was after 12:00PM. Please give me a call on Monday or I will follow up with a call and/or email on Monday.

Hopefully I have the proper email addresses.

I am going to take a look at the report and I am looking forward to speaking with you on Monday.

Regards,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

I was on a phone call with the company rescheduling my phone interview for a CFO position tomorrow.

I noticed a typo below.

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

I was waiting for a call for a phone interview for a CFO position. I am still waiting to hear from the company so I thought that I would send this since I want to make sure that the commission understands why based upon my appeal that I feel that the confidential earnings surveillance report(s) should be fully disclosed just like the 9/30/2010 10Q disclosure.

I was taking a look at the letter dated November 16th, 2010 from the Commission to FPL regarding the impact on the 10Q. According to the question 3 the 10 Q that the company filed for the period ended 9/30/2010 reflects the effects of the proposed, but not yet approved, stipulation and settlement agreement.

If this is being disclosed by the 10Q filed on 11/3/2010 for the period ended 9/30/2010, then why would a surveillance report be classified as confidential? The request for the classification of the surveillance report was asked for on the same date. This would contradict the reasons as to why a normal operating report would be considered confidential. The reasoning below was that the report "contains material, non-public financial forecast information, which unless kept confidential, would require disclosure to investors under the United States Securities and Exchange Commission Regulation FD.

Does the classified document contain information for a forecast period in the rate case? If so, then if the information that has been disclosed in a public document (10Q) for disclosure to shareholders contains impacts of the proposed Settlement and Stipulation agreement then the forecasted information should be disclosed as well. Any forecasted report would be considered a normal operating reporting that would provide information to show the impacts on the future rates that a ratepayer would expect to see. A final order that would be issued by the commission would have to provide a cost of service with the impacts of the settlement and stipulation agreement. If the agreement is signed before this information is disclosed then an interested party would not have the ability to see the impacts of the settlement and stipulation agreement before the cash rates have been set. My concerns in my appeal are very specific with regard to the disclosure of this normal operating report.

If they are disclosing the information in a public document for the shareholders then the classified normal operating report (surveillance report) should be released for disclosure to any interested party with a legal interest in these proceedings. This should be done before the cash rates are being set. I see that you are asking Florida Power & Light to refile the Earnings Surveillance reports without the impacts of the Settlement and Stipulation agreement. This will show what the company would earn without the agreement. This is why any party with a legal interest should have access to this information before any agreement is signed. This is a very critical piece to whether or not the Stipulation and Settlement agreement should be signed. If the agreement is signed before all parties with a legal interest sees this normal operating report then the cash rates might be set before any party would be able to ask any additional questioning that might be important to the decision to sign the agreement or not.

I have brought up issues with regard to forecast assumptions in this case (i.e. interest rates on refinancing etc.) If the forecast does not contain fully accurate assumptions to whether or not the company can lower its cost of service through cost reductions and this is not disclosed to a party with a legal interest then the cash base rates would have been set and they would not be subject to review through the end of 2012. The only way the commission would be able to review this is through an excess earnings test. If the cash base rates are set and there are future reductions to the cost of service and the agreement calls for no adjustments to base rates through 2012, will the Commission through an excess earnings test be able to require the company to refund any money to the ratepayers if the Settlement and Stipulation agreement is signed and base cash rates have been set through 2012?

How come it is OK for the company to disclose the proposed Settlement and Stipulation agreement in their earnings through 9/30/2010 but the commission through a normal operating report (Surveillance report) that will have to be represented the same exact way in a final order cannot disclose this information before the settlement and stipulation agreement is signed?

The Surveillance reports will have to be sent to the commission anyway whether or not the agreement is signed or not. This in itself would subject the report to be released under a normal Freedom of information request. The commission has provided this information in the past.

The final order is going to contain the same exact information that is being presented in the Earnings Surveillance report therefore it should be fully disclosed to all interested parties before any agreement is signed.

Balance between all interested parties must be maintained.

I am waiting to hear from Mr. Sieving regarding my emails that I have sent to Florida Power & Light from a shareholder perspective.

This is why I feel that my appeal for the right to inspect and examine the confidential report before the agreement is signed is warranted.

11/18/2010

I am looking forward to a response from both the company and the commission regarding my appeal.

I am waiting for hear from a company for a phone interview that I have scheduled for today for a CFO position.

I can only hope that none of these communications regarding these rate cases will impact my prospects for current/future employment and the well being of my family.

Hopefully there are no typo(s).

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

BEFORE ME, the undersigned authority, personally appeared Robert E. Barrett, Jr. who, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. My name is Robert E. Barrett, Jr. I am currently employed by Florida Power & Light Company ("FPL") as Vice President of Finance. I have personal knowledge of the matters stated in this affidavit.

2. I have reviewed the Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report (the "Report") that is included in Exhibit A to FPL's Request for Confidential Classification. The Report contains material, non-public financial forecast information, which unless kept confidential, would require disclosure to investors under United States Securities and Exchange Commission Regulation FD. Regulation FD is an issuer disclosure rule intended to avoid selective disclosure of material financial information by publicly traded companies such as FPL's parent, NextEra Energy, Inc. Since the information contained in the Report is provisional, and presents only one view of FPL's forecasted financial results for 2010, it is inappropriate to disclose this information to the investment community at the present time and such disclosure would adversely affect FPL's competitive interests in financial markets. Thus, filing the Report on a non-confidential basis would raise a different, and more significant, Regulation FD issue than the filing of a final forecasted earnings surveillance report pursuant to Rule 25-6.1353, which would represent the filer's consensus view of expected financial results and would be more appropriate for disclosure to the investment community.

3. The document should remain confidential until FPL files its final Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report. In addition, the document should be returned to FPL as soon as the information is no longer necessary for the Commission to conduct its business so that FPL can continue to maintain the confidentiality of the document.

The above-referenced confidential material was filed along with a request for confidential classification. Please check all applicable information and forward a copy to the attorney assigned to the topic, along with a brief memorandum supporting your recommendation. Copies of your recommendation should also be filed with the Office of Commission Clerk and the Office of General Counsel.

STAFF DATA REQUEST NO. 1

Re: Docket No. 100410-EI - Review of Florida Power & Light Company's earnings.

Dear Mr. Butler:

By this letter, the Commission staff requests that Florida Power & Light Company (FPL or utility) provide responses to the following data requests.

1. Per FPL's Earnings Surveillance Reports (ESR), the reported annual FPSC Adjusted Depreciation & Amortization Expense was $767.8 million and $851.7 million for August and September 2010, respectively, an increase of $83.9 million. Please explain the reason(s) for the increase
2. For each month for the period March through September 2010, please provide the monthly and cumulative amount of the depreciation expense credit related to the amortization of the depreciation reserve surplus included in the ESRs.
3. Per pages 30 and 35 of the Company's Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 30, 2010, the condensed consolidated financial statements reflect the effects of the proposed, but not yet approved, stipulation and settlement in Docket No. 080677-EI. Has FPL included the effects of the proposed stipulation and settlement in any of its filed ESRs for 2010? If so, please identify which month(s) and refile the ESRs excluding the effects of the proposed stipulation and settlement.
4. Has FPL included the effects of the proposed stipulation and settlement in its actual results of operations in its books and records? If so, please identify which month(s) and provide the justification for recording the effects of the proposed stipulation and settlement as actual results of operations.

FPSC-CONV 100410-EI

On August 20, 2010, FPL, the State of Florida Office of Public Counsel, the Florida Attorney General's Office and all other principal parties in FPL's 2009 rate case signed a stipulation and settlement regarding FPL's retail base rates (2010 rate agreement). Key elements of the 2010 rate agreement are as follows:

- Subject to the provisions of the 2010 rate agreement, retail base rates will remain frozen through the end of 2012.
- Incremental cost recovery through FPL's capacity clause for the new combined-cycle natural gas unit at FPL's West County Energy Center (WCEC), which is expected to be placed in service by mid-2011, will be permitted up to the amount of the projected fuel savings for customers during the term of the 2010 rate agreement.
- Future storm restoration costs would be recoverable on an accelerated basis beginning 60 days from the filing of a petition but capped at an amount that produces no more than a $4 surcharge for every 1,000 kwh of usage on residential bills during the first 12 months. Any additional costs would be eligible for recovery in subsequent years. If storm restoration costs exceed $800 million in any given calendar year, FPL may request an increase to the $4 surcharge for the amount above $800 million.
- The midpoint of FPL's authorized regulatory ROE range will remain 10%. If the earned regulatory ROE falls below 9%, FPL may seek retail base rate relief. If the earned regulatory ROE rises above 11%, the parties to the 2010 rate agreement may seek a reduction in FPL's retail base rates.
- FPL can vary the amount of surplus depreciation taken in any one calendar year up to a maximum of $267 million (with any unused portion of the maximum rolling over to and available in subsequent years), provided its earned regulatory ROE remains within the range of 9% to 11%. In determining the regulatory ROE for all purposes under the 2010 rate agreement, earnings will be calculated using an actual, non-weather-adjusted basis. FPL may use up to a maximum of $776 million in surplus depreciation over the course of the 2010 rate agreement.
- All motions for reconsideration of the FPSC rate order, including FPL's motion, will be withdrawn, and all parties agree to not appeal that order.

The 2010 rate agreement is subject to, and will not become effective until, approval by the FPSC, and action by the FPSC is pending. If approved, the 2010 rate agreement will be effective through December 31, 2012, and will resolve all matters in FPL's 2009 rate case. NextEra Energy's and FPL's 2010 condensed consolidated financial statements contained herein reflect the effects of the 2010 rate agreement because management believes it is probable that the 2010 rate agreement will ultimately be approved by the FPSC. However, if the 2010 rate agreement is not approved by the FPSC, based on the terms of the FPSC rate order NextEra Energy's and FPL's depreciation and amortization expense as reflected in the 2010 condensed consolidated statements of income herein would have been reduced by approximately $168 million ($200 million assuming FPL's motion is granted) and NextEra Energy's and FPL's net income would have increased by approximately $103 million ($123 million assuming FPL's motion is granted) for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2010. FPL cannot predict with certainty whether or when the 2010 rate agreement will be approved by the FPSC, or if not approved, the outcome of the FPL motion proceedings, which could be different from that requested.

11. Segment Information

NextEra Energy's reportable segments include FPL, a rate-regulated utility, and NextEra Energy Resources, a competitive energy business. Beginning in 2010, NextEra Energy Resources' financial statements include non-utility interest expense on a deemed capital structure of 70% debt and allocated shared service costs. These changes were made to reflect an expected average capital structure at FPL Group Capital and more accurately reflect NextEra Energy Resources' operating costs. Corporate and Other represents other business activities, other segments that are not separately reportable and eliminating entries. NextEra Energy's segment information is as follows:

On April 1, 2010, FPL filed a motion asking the FPSC to correct the reconsideration errors and to clarify the depreciation inconsistency. Regardless of whether the FPSC ultimately concludes that revenue requirements should be higher or lower than the retail base rates implemented on March 1, 2010, the FPL motion requested that the FPSC resolve the reconsideration errors and depreciation inconsistency through an adjustment to depreciation expense which would keep retail base rates and revenues the same as set forth in the FPSC rate order and currently in effect. The FPSC's ruling on the FPL motion is pending. However, on August 20, 2010, FPL and all the principal parties in FPL's 2009 rate case signed a 2010 rate agreement which is subject to, and will not become effective until, approval by the FPSC, and action by the FPSC is pending. If approved, the 2010 rate agreement will be effective through December 31, 2012, and will resolve all matters in FPL's 2009 rate case. See Note 10 - Regulatory Proceedings. NextEra Energy's and FPL's 2010 condensed consolidated financial statements contained herein reflect the effects of the 2010 rate agreement because management believes it is probable that the 2010 rate agreement will ultimately be approved by the FPSC. However, if the 2010 rate agreement is not approved by the FPSC, based on the terms of the FPSC rate order NextEra Energy's and FPL's depreciation and amortization expense as reflected in the 2010 condensed consolidated statements of income herein would have been reduced by approximately $168 million ($200 million assuming FPL's motion is granted) and NextEra Energy's and FPL's net income would have increased by approximately $103 million ($123 million assuming FPL's motion is granted) for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2010. FPL cannot predict with certainty whether or when the 2010 rate agreement will be approved by the FPSC, or if not approved, the outcome of the FPL motion proceedings, which could be different from that requested.

FPL suspended activity on the modernization of its Cape Canaveral and Riviera Beach power plants in January 2010 in order to appropriately evaluate the impact of the FPSC's 2009 rate case decision, including its effect on FPL's credit quality and implications for the cost of capital. Following an in-depth analysis, FPL subsequently determined that it is appropriate to move ahead with the modernizations of its Cape Canaveral and Riviera Beach power plants. The units are expected to go into service in 2013 and 2014, respectively, as originally planned, and are expected to provide customers with substantial savings over the life of the plants. FPL had also suspended activity on its proposed natural gas pipeline. FPL believes Florida needs a third natural gas pipeline to enhance fuel security and give customers access to additional markets. However, given a revised load forecast, new natural gas transport capacity is not projected to be needed any sooner than 2015. As a result, FPL expects to evaluate options in 2011 for developing a third pipeline in the future. FPL expects to continue a stepwise approach to development activities regarding the two additional nuclear units at FPL's Turkey Point site with the focus on obtaining the combined operating license. The plan is not to proceed with construction of the two additional nuclear units until at least the combined operating license is obtained. If constructed, FPL expects the in-service dates of the two additional nuclear units to be 2022 and 2023. FPL is currently monitoring the federal government's loan guarantee program for the construction of new nuclear units to determine whether FPL might be able to pursue such a guarantee for the two additional nuclear units. The effect of the decisions discussed above and those regarding other infrastructure projects are reflected in FPL's estimated planned capital expenditures. See Note 10 - Commitments.

NextEra Energy Resources' results for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2010 increased primarily due to net unrealized after-tax gains from non-qualifying hedges in the current year compared to losses on such hedges in the prior year. See table below for details of NextEra Energy Resources' net unrealized after-tax gains and losses from non-qualifying hedges, after-tax OTTI losses on securities held in its nuclear decommissioning funds and after-tax OTTI reversals, all of which are included in NextEra Energy's and NextEra Energy Resources' net income.

The change in unrealized mark-to-market activity from non-qualifying hedges is primarily attributable to changes in forward power and natural gas prices, as well as the reversal of previously recognized unrealized mark-to-market gains or losses as the underlying transactions were realized. As a general rule, a gain (loss) in the non-qualifying hedge category is offset by decreases (increases) in the fair value of related physical asset positions in the portfolio or contracts, which are not marked to market under generally accepted accounting principles.

Dear Ms. Bennett and Commissioner's,

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

Here is a case in which a municipal Judge was cited for coaching in an "ex parte" communications. I am just trying to support my appeal since I feel that all communications with regard to this case has to be made part of the public record. Considering the issues that have surfaced with this case, I think that my appeal should be honored and the full release of a normal operating report is warranted.

I have not received a read receipt from Chairman Graham that he has taken a look at my emails. I am trying to make sure on my end that all my communications with the Commission is being made part of the public record and there is no "ex parte" communications.

There have been similar issues that have already surfaced with this ratecase and I want to make sure that everyone is being kept apprised of my concerns.

Any appearance of any "ex parte" communications might lead to potential impartiality with these proceedings. I feel my concerns are fully supported by all my email correspondence including this email.

Florida Power & Light has concerns with impartiality issues as well therefore I trust that all interested parties with a legal interest would share my same concerns.

I think that we have to be very careful with these proceedings.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON JUDICIAL CONDUCT

DOCKET NO. ACJC 2010-283

IN THE MATTER OF

GREGORY R. McCLOSKEY,
JUDGE OF THE MUNICIPAL COURT

FORMAL COMPLAINT

Code of Judicial Conduct.

17. By his conduct in denying the defendant in the Grabovich Matter his Constitutional right to a fair trial, demonstrating a partiality for the State, and displaying an interest in the outcome of the Grabovich Matter, as determined by the Burlington County Superior Court, Respondent has violated Canons 1, 2A, and 3C(1)(a) of the Code of Judicial Conduct and Rule 1:12-1(e) and (f) of the New Jersey Court Rules.

WHEREFORE, Complainant charges that Respondent, Municipal Court Judge Gregory R. McCloskey, has violated the following Canons of the Code of Judicial Conduct:

Complainant also charges that Respondent's conduct in failing to recuse himself from the Grabovich Matter despite his partiality for the State and his interest in the outcome of the case violated Rule 1:12-1(c) and (f), which precludes a judge from sitting in any matter in which the judge has an interest or in which there exists any reason that might preclude a fair and unbiased hearing and judgment of the matter.

Your electronic filing has been received by the Florida Public Service Commission, Office of Commission Clerk.

The filing date for an electronically transmitted document is the date that the Office of Commission Clerk receives the complete document. If the document is received on a non-business day, or after 5:00 p.m. (EST) on a business day, it will be considered filed as of 8:00 a.m. on the following business day.

E-filings are accepted in accordance with the Commission's Electronic Filing Requirements, which can be accessed on the Commission's Web Site at <http://www.floridapsc.com/dockets/e-filings/> or by contacting the Office of Commission Clerk at (850) 413-6770 during normal business hours. By electing to file electronically, you agree to abide by and accept the electronic filing requirements posted on the PSC's Web site.

Questions should be directed to the Office of Commission Clerk, Clerk@psc.state.fl.us, or call (850) 413-6770.

Dear Ms. Menasco,

It is understood that the email below is not considered but the attached PDF has been accepted by the following email address:

filings@psc.state.fl.us

According to the e-filing requirements this is acceptable.

I have received an email receipt from this address that the filing has been accepted.

Are you indicating that the attached PDF has to be sent directly to the filings@psc.state.fl.us email address and FPL only? If yes, I will send under a separate email addressed only to the two pertinent email addresses. If this is the case then make sure that this email chain is being made part of the public dockets.

Manner of Electronic Transmission

Filings submitted by electronic transmission must be attached to an e-mail sent to filings@psc.state.fl.us . Documents sent to any other Commission e-mail address will not be considered filed.

Rob Smith Response:

This has been completed since both parties are in the To: section of the email. Are you indicating that it can only be sent to the two email addresses? This would not make sense since I want to comply with the "ex parte" requirements that everyone has been made apprised of the filing. I can just send it with the two email addresses if you want, but I will send another email to be made part of the public record separately to make sure everyone receives the email..

The attachment containing the document to be filed must be in one of the following formats:

Adobe .PDF

Rob Smith response:

This has been completed with the attachment

Native word processing format (e.g., Word or WordPerfect) with numbered paragraphs. Use the document extension .doc for documents filed in Word format and .wpd for those in WordPerfect format.

Documents shall be signed by typing "s/" followed by the signatory:

s/ First M. Last

Rob Smith response:

This has been completed.

When an e-mail enters the mailbox, an acknowledgment e-mail will be generated automatically and sent to the address from which the filing originated. If the filer does not receive an acknowledgment, it is the filer's responsibility to contact the Office of Commission Clerk.

Rob Smith response:

I have received an email response that the email has been accepted into the system.

The acknowledgment indicates the document has been received, but does not confirm the document meets the requirements for electronic filing.

The Commission does not accept filings submitted by facsimile ("fax") transmission.

Documents Eligible for Electronic Filing

All documents permitted or required to be filed with the Commission shall be eligible for electronic filing, except those documents listed under "Documents Not Eligible."

All documents filed electronically must be capable of being printed as paper documents without loss of content or appearance. Documents must be prepared using a clearly readable font which, when printed, will fit on an 8.5 by 11-inch page.

Rob Smith response:

This has been completed with the attached document.

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

Attached is the PDF filing for the appeal email that I have sent on Wednesday, October 20th, 2010 at 12:52 PM. The attached PDF file is to serve as the electronically filed document based upon the E-Filing requirements as per Florida Public Service Commission Electronic Filing Requirements.

The PDF represents the electronic email that has been sent on October 20th, 2010. This document has only been updated to incorporate the accepted format as outlined by the sample that you have sent. I do not understand why the original email was not acceptable since the intent of the email has all the pertinent language to meet the requirements under the appeal request for the release of the Confidential Surveillance report. I understand that you would need a PDF file as part of your requirement but I know that based upon a Freedom of information act requirement you would only need to cite the law in which you are requiring the release of information as well as a sign off. In the email that was sent the appropriate citation was quoted in addition to the reasons why I am concerned that this information is not being released.

I am trying to make sure that all pertinent questions are asked before a ruling is made on the Settlement and Stipulation agreement. Since it appears that the lack of transparency might have an impact on the due process for a party with a legal interest in this proceeding I feel that this would have to be done to ensure that all parties are afforded the proper information in order to determine if their legal interest in this proceeding has been protected.

Considering that there is a potential $400 million dollars of excess earnings that is being held pending a decision in Docket 100410 I feel that full transparency should be afforded with the release of any document that might be considered a normal operating report. This would be the only way to make sure that there is no appearance that there might be "ex parte" communications with this proceeding and to make sure that everyone with a legal interest is afforded the same type of discovery (due process) to ask potential questions to ensure that their legal interest is protected.

I heard back from Mr. Sieving from Florida Power & Light in an email. They have received a copy of the same appeal email that I have sent to the commission dated October 20th, 2010. Mr. Sieving has informed me that they will be contacting me regarding my email after their review.

Considering the circumstances with this proceeding I feel that full transparency should be afforded to make sure that balance is being maintained between the ratepayers and shareholders with a legal interest in this proceeding. Since the company is worried about an impartial hearing I feel that it would be in the best interest of the Company and the Commission to be fully transparent. This is one reason why I am filing the appeal. As you are aware I have concerns with some of the technical accounting disclosures that have been made from a shareholder perspective with regard to certain Federal regulations. The only way that my questions will be able to be answered is for full transparency from both the Commission and/or Florida Power & Light Company. I trust that you understand my concerns and do not perceive this as a problem since I have experienced these types of issues in the past. In my past experience when problems of impartiality existed with our ratecase process we had always made sure that full transparency was afforded. This was to make sure that everyone with a legal interest in any of our rate proceedings were afforded full discovery to ask any question(s) that they felt was pertinent to protect their legal position in any rate proceeding.

I trust that all of the interested parties in this proceeding would feel the same.

I will send the attached PDF as an email to incorporate the filing into the Public Docket.

Hopefully the attached PDF file backups the email that I have sent on October 20th, 2010.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks,

Mr. Smith,

The email you sent with the subject matter noted as an appeal does not constitute a Petition to Inspect and Examine Material as contemplated by Rule 25-22.006(7)(a), F.A.C. I have taken the liberty of attaching two examples of such a petition filed in different dockets. The first sample petition is from the telecommunications industry and is governed by paragraph 5 of Rule 25-22.006, F.A.C., but paragraph 5 is similar to paragraph 7. The second sample was filed by the Office of Public Counsel under a prior rule.

You must file the petition in accordance with the procedures set out on the Commission's website for e-filing documents. A detailed explanation of E-Filing Requirements is found under the heading Agency Info. and Public Records.

Finally, you are required to serve a copy of the petition on the utility when you file with the clerk.

Dear Records Clerk,

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

Here an email that I did not cc the records clerk to enter into all three public Dockets. I just took a look at the files. They have been updated again today and I noticed that the appeal email dated October 20th, 2010 has made into Docket 100009 and 100410 but it did not make it into Docket 080677. I will be checking to see that my emails that I have sent today as well as the email below is entered into all three Dockets within the 24 hours. I will check later to see that the appeal email dated October 20th, 2010 has made it into Docket 080677 as well. I thought that this would have been completed within the 24 hour timeframe as indicated by the Commission.

I am sending this to make sure that the records clerk is kept in the loop to enter the information into the Public Docket.

I would like to see that this information is updated in Docket 080677.

Thanks for everyone help in this matter.

Subject: FW: Appeal to the Classification of the Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report ("Report") / Classification Document Number 08713-10

Dear Ms. Bennett and Mr. Butler,

When will I be receiving a direct response to my appeal email below dated October 20th, 2010?

How can this be correct when Federal Preemption would provide for the full transparency of this document under Title 5 of §557(d) (1), §557(a), §556, §553(c), §554(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act? How is this ruling in compliance with section 350.042 of the Florida Statutes?

How can a normal Earnings Surveillance report be considered "information concerning bids or other contractual data, the disclosure would impair the efforts the public utility or its affiliates to contract for goods or services on favorable terms"?

Is the information any different than a normal Surveillance report/final order that has been given to the commission? If not, then these documents would be considered normal operating reports that would be subject to normal FOIA requests. This information has been released in the past. Why would there be a change with the normal reporting disclosures by the Commission? How can a ruling on cash rates be decided without affording all parties with a legal interest the opportunity to ask pertinent questions regarding information that might impact their legal interest in a proceeding? If these document remains confidential and the cash rates are impacted by this information then how can this proceeding be considered impartial? This might be a violation of rights as a shareholder and as a ratepayer.

Does the memo from John Slemkewicz, Division of Economic Regulation serve as a legal opinion on this issue? Has the Legal Council of the Commission signed off on this response? Did the Commission take a look at Federal preemption issues with regard to this ruling?

I am waiting for a response from both the Commission and FPL with regard to my email dated October 20th, 2010. This appeal email has not been made part of the public record as of today. According to the Commission this information should have been made part of the public record within 24 hours of receipt. How come this information was not made part of the public record prior to the 11/03/2010 memo from the commission?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Commissioner's,

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

I have noticed that the following commissioner's have been picking up my email correspondence with regard to my hardcopy email correspondence and the appeal email with regard to the confidentiality of any Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Reports.

Mr. Brise, Mr. Skopp and Ms. Edgar have picked up the emails.

Chairman Graham has not picked up the appeal email and the hardcopy emails. Mr. Graham has picked up the emails in the past and I want to make sure that Mr. Graham has all my email correspondence with regard to these cases in order to make sure that every commissioner has seen the email correspondence. I want to make sure that everyone receives my emails in order to meet compliance with any potential "ex parte" communication issues.

Mr. Graham,

I just want to make sure that everyone has seen my emails with regard to my concerns with the Confidentiality of the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report. Since it is understood that FPL has overearnings that has to be held pending a decision by the Commission to return the overearnings to the ratepayers, I think that my concern with the Transparency of the Classification of the Provisional Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report(s) has merit. Full transparency should be afforded with the release of this document before any agreement is made with the Stipulation and Settlement agreement. I have not heard back from both the commission and FPL with regard to my appeal for the release of this report.

Knowing that there is approximately $400 million dollars of potential overearnings that might have to be refunded would support my stance with the appeal as well. The books have to be made fully transparent for any party with a legal interest in these proceedings. This would include both ratepayers and shareholders.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com. I will have no problem with sharing any of my email correspondence with any party in this case that has a legal interest in any of these proceedings. I want to make sure that there is full compliance with Federal and State laws regarding "ex parte" communications.

Thanks,

11/4/2010

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett, Ms. Pena and Mr. Butler,

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

When will this information be available? Will I be receiving an answer to the questions to the appeal below? At times this information is posted as the date below without the memo. How come there would be a delay with adding the memo when the posting is dated 11/03/2010? What is the ETA on the 11/03/2010 posting of the memo?

I have not received a response back from Mr. Butler at FPL and or the Commission regarding the answer to the questions in my appeal below.

Are DNS 08713-10 and 08743-10 duplicates or are they different filings. If they are different then I would request that both be made available based upon my appeal request below. There should be no reason for duplicate provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings reports to be made part of the record. I would appeal any classified provisional earnings report that would be classified as confidential if it is related to any of the three Dockets.

Subject: Appeal to the Classification of the Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report ("Report") / Classification Document Number 08713-10

Dear Ms. Bennett, Ms. Pena and Mr. Butler,

I am concerned that the lack of transparency with the release of this Surveillance report might not allow for the proper questioning that might give rise to making sure that balance is being maintained between the shareholder's and ratepayers of this rate case proceeding. My prior experience with these types of proceedings up North has been that full transparency was always afforded to make sure that all potential questions were being allowed to be asked to ensure that the interests of all parties of this proceeding are being balanced, maintained and protected. Any lack of transparency might lead to a ruling that might not take into account additional pertinent questions that might benefit ratepayers and/or shareholders. Balance in this proceeding should be fully afforded by full transparency.

I would respectfully request a copy of the forecasted provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report. I feel that as an interested party with a legal interest in these proceedings from both a ratepayer and shareholder perspective that I would have legal basis to be afforded full transparency with the release of this document prior to the ruling. There are prior emails that have not been answered in its entirety regarding forecast assumptions in this case. If there is any future cost reductions to the cost of service of the company (i.e. interest savings etc.) that have not been modeled in this classified report then there might be additional adjustments that would have to be taken into account before a ruling can be made

Why would this information be hidden from a person with a legal interest in this proceeding? This is both from a ratepayer and shareholder perspective.

This email is to serve as the appeal under 25-22.006 (7) (a) of the Florida Administrative Code based upon the concerns that have been outlined in the email(s) below. Under Section 119.07(1) of the Florida Statutes access to this information by an inspection should be granted.

Furthermore I am requesting this information under Title 5 of §557(d) (1), §557(a), §556, §553(c), §554(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act.

§557(d) (1) prohibits ex parte communication in any agency proceeding that is subject to the Administrative Procedure Act

§557(a). This section applies "when a hearing is required to be conducted in accordance with §556 of this title

§556 applies "to hearings required by §553 and §554 of the Administrative Procedure Act

§553(c) makes §556 and §557 applicable to a rulemaking proceeding "when rules are required by statute to be made on the record after opportunity for an agency hearing".

§554(a) makes §556 and §557 applicable "in every case of adjudication required by statute to be determined by an agency hearing

The Administrative Procedure prohibition of ex parte communications applies only when a statute requires an agency to issue a rule or to resolve an adjudicatory dispute "on the record after opportunity for agency hearing. The two cases of agency proceedings are often referred to as formal rulemaking and formal adjudication.

Any rate case that the Florida Public Service Commission is hearing would be considered a formal rulemaking and formal adjudication therefore "ex parte communications would be prohibited based upon Title 5 of the Administrative Procedure Act.

The following question(s) have to be answered by both the Utility and the Public Service Commission:

- (1) Did any of the interveners in the ratecase proceeding have access to the information that Florida Power & Light has furnished to the Commission which was classified as confidential?

If so, then this would be "ex parte" communications as outlined for the reasons under Title 5 of the Administrative Procedure Act. This information not being made part of the public record as required for a formal rulemaking and formal adjudication.

- (2) Does the document that has been classified as confidential contain similar information as provided with the normal monthly accounting Surveillance reports that have been submitted to the Public Service Commission in the past?

If so, then the documents submitted does not constitute a report that should be classified as confidential since under normal reporting procedures to the Commission these reports would be made available through a typical Freedom of Information Act request. This type of information has been fully released in the past with this type of request therefore if the information in the confidential report contains the same exact information then there would be no reason to classify this document as confidential before a ruling is made on the Stipulation and Settlement agreement and then declassify the document after the ruling in the proceeding. This in its self can lead to "ex parte" communications. This information might be pertinent for any person with a legal interest in the proceeding.

- (3) Does a rate order that is issued by the Commission contain similar information that is being furnished by this confidential report?

If so, then the documents submitted does not constitute a report that should be classified as confidential since a typical rate order that has been issued by the Commission would require full disclosure of the same type of information. This has already happened once in this proceeding in which a standard order was issued and there was ample time for intervenor's and/or parties with a legal interest to ask pertinent questions regarding the standard order.

- (4) Why is the Surveillance report being classified as confidential prior to the ruling on the Stipulation and Settlement agreement and being declassified after the ruling? If the information is released after the ruling, how would a person with a legal interest have the ability to potentially ask pertinent questions about the information that has been classified after the commission has already ruled on the Stipulation and Settlement agreement?

The cash rates would have been set and there would be no recourse for a person with a legal interest to be able to question the information before a ruling. Once the cash rates are set for the duration of time in the Stipulation and Settlement agreement, how will the commission address any future cost reductions to the cost of service of the company (i.e. interest savings etc.) that would potentially have to be given back to the ratepayer? Will this be taken care of with an excess earnings test or will the Stipulation and Settlement agreement lock the cash rates in place for a set period of time even though there might be future cost reductions to the cost of service of the company?

Full transparency should be afforded for any party that would have a legal interest in this proceeding. Is there something to hide?

- (5) Does the lake of transparency (whited/redacted) with the confidential classification of this report meet the requirements under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), 5 U.S.C. § 552?

If not, then based upon the Office of the Attorney General's memorandum regarding the release of this information should be "administered with clear presumption: In the case of doubt, openness prevails". "This memorandum is meant to underscore that commitment and to ensure that it is realized in practice".

On March 19th, 2009, The Office of the Attorney General has issued a memorandum regarding the release of information under The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), 5 U.S.C. § 552.

This indicates "The Freedom of Information Act should be administered with clear presumption: In the case of doubt, openness prevails". "This memorandum is meant to underscore that commitment and to ensure that it is realized in practice"

I can email you a Freedom of Information request to ask for this information as well. If this is a normal type of accounting report that is similar to the normal monthly accounting surveillance reports and/or rate orders that are issued by the Commission then there would be no reason for this type of information to be classified as confidential before a ruling is made on the Stipulation and Settlement agreement and then declassified after the ruling in the proceeding. This type of information should be made fully transparent based upon the rules in the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), 5 U.S.C. § 552

The above question(s) would have to be answered to support why both the Utility and Commission feel that full transparency should not be afforded with release of the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report Document Number 08713-10 that has been classified.

If you have any question regarding this appeal please feel free to contact me through email at rpjrb@yahoo.com or give me a call.

Sincerely,

Robert H. Smith

(7)(a) Any person may file a petition to inspect and examine any material which the Commission has ruled exempt from Section 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, or which is exempted under paragraph (3)(d) pending the Commission's ruling or as the result of the filing of a notice of intent to request confidentiality. A copy of the petition must be served on the affected utility or person which shall have 10 days to file a response as to why the material should remain exempt. The petitioner shall have 7 days to file a reply to the filed response. The Commission may set the matter for hearing or issue a ruling on the pleadings. Material obtained by the Commission in connection with an inquiry shall not be subject to requests for inspection and examination until after the inquiry is terminated.

(b) A finding of confidentiality notwithstanding, a source may consent to inspection or examination by any person. Such consent shall not constitute a waiver of confidentiality and only the person specified in the consent may inspect or examine the material. The Commission may be requested to issue a protective order to recognize the terms and conditions of the consent. All persons are urged to seek mutual agreement regarding access prior to bringing a controversy to the Commission.

119.07 Inspection, examination, and duplication of records; exemptions.--

(1)(a) Every person who has custody of a public record shall permit the record to be inspected and examined by any person desiring to do so, at any reasonable time, under reasonable conditions, and under supervision by the custodian of the public record or the custodian's designee. The custodian shall furnish a copy or a certified copy of the record upon payment of the fee prescribed by law or, if a fee is not prescribed by law, for duplicated copies of not more than 14 inches by 8 1/2 inches, upon payment of not more than 15 cents per one-sided copy, and for all other copies, upon payment of the actual cost of duplication of the record. An agency may charge no more than an additional 5 cents for each two-sided duplicated copy. For purposes of this section, duplicated copies shall mean new copies produced by duplicating, as defined in s. 283.30. The phrase "actual cost of duplication" means the cost of the material and supplies used to duplicate the record, but it does not include the labor cost or overhead cost associated with such duplication. However, the charge for copies of county maps or aerial photographs supplied by county constitutional officers may also include a reasonable charge for the labor and overhead associated with their duplication. Unless otherwise provided by law, the fees to be charged for duplication of public records shall be collected, deposited, and accounted for in the manner prescribed for other operating funds of the agency. An agency may charge up to $1 per copy for a certified copy of a public record.

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Thanks for the information. I will take a look at the attached regulations. If (7)(a) works I will ask for an appeal for the declassification of this information based upon making sure that both the Florida and PSC regulations are in compliance with the Federal regulation as I have indicated in my previous email. There really is no reason for the making a normal accounting report confidential when the final order would have to disclose this information anyway. The only difference here is that it is confidential for the decision making process and then not confidential after the agreement has been signed. This has the appearance of "ex parte" communications based upon the Federal regulation as outlined below.

It just seems strange that normal accounting reports that are used in final orders and normal business is being made confidential when it appears that this type of information has been made public in the past.

Do you know off hand if the whited/redacted out email correspondence has been made part of the public docket for all the cases that I am an interested party?

I will get back to the Commission tomorrow once I am able to review the two files that you have sent.

As part of the appeal I would want the commission to rule on the compliance perspective with the Federal law as indicated in the emails below.

Again, thanks for the information.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: RE: Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report ("Report") / Classification

Mr. Smith,

Florida Power & Light Company has filed a Request for Confidential Classification of its Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report, Document Number 08713-10, filed in Docket No. 080677-EI. As you are aware, all documents filed with public agencies are public records pursuant to Section 119.07, Florida Statutes, unless the legislature provides an exemption for those records. The legislature did provide for confidential classification of certain documents filed with the Public Service Commission. The process for requesting confidential classification is found in Section 366.093, Florida Statutes. I am attaching a copy of that statute for your review. In compliance with Chapter 120 Florida Statutes, and Section 366.093, Florida Statutes, the Public Service Commission adopted a rule for handling confidential documents, Rule 25-22.006, Florida Administrative Code. I am attaching a copy of that rule for your reference. Paragraph (3)(d) of the rule exempts the document from disclosure pending a ruling by the Commission. Currently, the document in question is pending review at the Commission and therefore is confidential.

You may wish to pay particular attention to paragraph (7)(a) of the rule as it provides you with an avenue to request inspection of the document in question.

Subject: FW: Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report ("Report") / Classification

Dear Ms. Pena,

I would respectfully request a copy of the forecasted provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report. I feel that as an interested party with a legal interest in these proceedings from both a ratepayer and shareholder perspective that I would have legal basis to be afforded full transparency with the release of this document.

This document is a document that would be no different than prior Surveillance reports that have been issued in the past (made part of the public record ) and/or any final orders in which the Commission has provided full disclosure of the calculated returns on equity based upon an adjudicated level of rate relief.

Since this information would normally be provided with a final order before the case is closed there would be no reason to classify this document before agreeing to the Stipulation and Settlement agreement and then declassify the document after the Stipulation and Settlement agreement is signed. This would not allow for the full transparency that would be afforded to any party with a legal interest in this proceeding.

Base upon the Federal Law Title 5 Administrative Procedures Act USC 551 to USC 559 and 350.042 of the Florida Statutes this might be "ex parte" communications since the document might be furnished to specific interested parties in this case and not furnished to other parties with a legal interest in these proceedings. If these documents are being utilized by Commission personnel I am sure that the interveners in this case would potentially consider this "ex parte" communications and ask for the immediate release of this information if it might have an impact on their fiduciary duty to protect their legal interests in this case. This might also be considered "ex parte" communications since this type of information would be information that would normally made available in all rate case proceedings.

In the past I have requested through a FOIA request the historic Surveillance Reports. This request was granted.

In the past the Commission issued a final order before closing the case with the same type of disclosures that would be furnished in the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report.

What has changed?

If your response is to deny my request please support your answer on how this would not be a violation of Federal law Title 5 USC 551 to 559 of the Administrative Procedures Act and Section 350.042 of the Florida Statutes. The Federal law might preempt the Florida State Law. Before the Commission rules on this issue I think that a full legal review of compliance with both Federal/State laws is warranted.

Please let me know if you need a hard copy of this email so that when this is added to the public docket all the images will be made part of the public record.

An expedited answer would be very important considering that these issues might be taken up on 10/26/2010.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

Sorry for the typo.

Both Regulation FD and SX would impact information that should be made available to the public. If this forecast contains material information to its shareholders then there would be no reason for the company to seek classification of the surveillance report based upon Regulation FD and Based upon Regulation SX they would be required to report segmented information when the need for this information is warranted.

Thanks,

Subject: Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report ("Report") / Classification

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

According to this classification there is another part of Regulation FD/SX that would require this information to be not classified as confidential since this would "Situations may arise when information should be disclosed about a segment although the information in quantitative terms may not appear significant to the registrant's business taken as a whole."

This is why from both a shareholder and ratepayer perspective this is a critical piece of information when deciding both the issues in a ratecase as well for an investor to understand the regulatory impacts on the earnings of the company.

With item number 5 below, why would the company after a determination in the case declassify the documents? This may be construed as "ex parte" communication. Will the interveners have access to this information? If so, then as a ratepayer under 350.042 of the Florida Statutes and as per the SEC requirements below as a shareholder there should be no reason why the Company would classify this before the decision and declassify it after there is an agreement on the Stipulation and Settlement agreement. You have to remember that the over earnings of the company is also to test the rates that would be required therefore if the forecasted surveillance reports show that the company is over earning all interested parties should have access to this information in order to have the ability to ask any other pertinent questions that might impact a decision on agreeing to the Stipulation and Settlement agreement.

I would be very careful here since any lack of transparency from both the ratepayer and shareholder perspective might give rise to an impartial process which the Company has gone on the record that they are very concerned about. It has to be a two way street therefore I do not see the point of why they would want to classify this document as confidential when all the other actual surveillance reports have been made public?

This type of reporting is used to determine if the cash rates are ample enough to support the cost of service of the company. Without this type of disclosure in a ratecase proceeding, this might be construed as "ex parte" communication under section 350.042 of the Florida Statutes. Another issue to take a look at is any potential issues with "ex parte" communication under Title 5 Administrative Procedures Act USC 551 to USC 559. This is at the Federal level. Any Federal law would preempt any of the State Statutes and any State Statute would preempt any PSC administrative procedure.

This makes no sense since the original cost of service as filed in the case was made public therefore why would this surveillance report be made confidential when this type of information has been published in the past?

If you take a look at a typical surveillance report you will notice that none of the schedules would include confidential and proprietary information since this is the type of accounting schedule that is primarily used in a ratecase proceeding to set rates. Take a look at the final order that was issued by the Public Service Commission. You will notice that earned returns on equity are made available to the public therefore it does not make sense that they feel that this is a forecasted surveillance report that would require confidential classification. If this is considered classified then how would this not be considered "ex parte" communication since only certain interested parties are being able to see this information?

I know that from a shareholders perspective as well as a ratepayers perspective I would need this information to be able to determine what my rates are going to be as a customer and what any future stock price impacts would be on my ownership of common stock.

This lack of transparency might be considered "ex parte" communications under Title 5 of the Administrative Procedures act since this might be construed as "one sided" transparency.

How could only certain parties with a legal interest be allowed to see this information and others are not?

I am waiting to hear from Mr. Hay and Mr. Sieving regarding my shareholder questions that based upon the SEC regulations below would be in their purview to answer a shareholder.

If I cannot rely on the transparency of information from a ratecase proceeding to see how the Stipulation and Settlement agreement will impact my rates as a customer then how is the ratecase process protecting the customers from a ratepayer perspective?

If I do not receive the appropriate information from Mr. Hay and Mr. Sieving regarding segmented cash flows from a shareholder perspective then how can I have assurance based upon the SEC regulation below that this ratecase will not have an impact on my future value of my stock.

Full transparency should be afforded with this case. Are any of the interveners in the case going to have access to the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Reports? If so, then any party with a legal interest should be able to see this information as well.

Did staff publish my whited/redacted out information that was missing from my emails? I have provided hardcopy through a PDF file for them to append to the Public Service Commission file.

If you need a hardcopy of this email so when this email is added to the consumer file it is put into the public record with all of its images intact. I have no problem with providing this information.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

Special Requirements as to Public Utility Holding Companies

Reg. § 210.3A-05.

There shall be shown in the consolidated balance sheet of a public utility holding company the difference between the amount at which the parent's investment is carried and the underlying book equity of subsidiaries as at the respective dates of acquisition.

Instructions to Item 101.

1. In determining what information about the segments is material to any understanding of the registrant's business taken as a whole and therefore required to be disclosed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this Item, the registrant should take into account both quantitative and qualitative factors such as the significance of the matter to the registrant (e.g., whether a matter with a relatively minor impact on the registrant's business is represented by management to be important to its future profitability), the pervasiveness of the matter (e.g., whether it affects or may affect numerous items in the segment information), and the impact of the matter (e.g., whether it distorts the trends reflected in the segment information). Situations may arise when information should be disclosed about a segment although the information in quantitative terms may not appear significant to the registrant's business taken as a whole.
2. Base the determination of whether information about segments is required for a particular year upon an evaluation of interperiod comparability. For instance, interperiod comparability would require a registrant to report segment information in the current period even if not material under the criteria for reportability of SFAS No. 131 if a segment has been significant in the immediately preceding period and the registrant expects it to be significant in the future.
3. The Commission, upon written request of the registrant and where consistent with the protection of investors, may permit the omission of any of the information required by this Item or the furnishing in substitution thereof of appropriate information of comparable character.

4. As the affidavit included in Exhibit D indicates, the information provided by FPL contains material, non-public financial forecast information, which unless kept confidential, would require disclosure to investors under United States Securities and Exchange Commission Regulation FD. Regulation FD is an issuer disclosure rule intended to avoid selective disclosure of material financial information by publicly traded companies such as FPL's parent, NextEra Energy, Inc. Since the information contained in the Report is provisional, and presents only one view of FPL's forecasted financial results for 2010, it is inappropriate to disclose this information to the investment community at the present time and such disclosure would adversely affect FPL's competitive interests in financial markets.<sup>1</sup> Such information is proprietary confidential business information under Section 366.093, including subsection (3)(e) thereof.

5. Upon a finding by the Commission that the information highlighted in Exhibit A, and referenced in Exhibit C, is proprietary confidential business information, the information should not be declassified until FPL files its final Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report, which FPL has committed to filing within 30 days of the Commission's approval of the Stipulation and Settlement that FPL and the major intervenors filed on August 20, 2010 or, if the settlement agreement is not approved, the Commission's decision on pending motions for reconsideration. Additionally, the Report should be returned to FPL as soon as the information is no longer necessary for the Commission to conduct its business. See § 366.093(4), F.S.

Subject: FW: Will high profit margin for FPL mean refund for customers? / Docket 100410 Review of Florida Power & Light Company's earnings.

Dear Ms. Cibula,

This is for your information regarding some of my email correspondence being whited/redacted out and not being added to the public record.

The fact that some of my images in my emails are not being made part of the record might be considered "ex parte" communications in that some of the people at the commission are receiving technical accounting that might have an impact on the decision's made in a rate case. My technical accounting and any correspondence questioning any of the testimony in the case should be made fully transparent to all parties of a rate proceeding.

This information should be being fully shared in the public record since other people (other parties with a legal interest in a rate proceeding) might be able to benefit from my email communications and give rise to additional questioning with regard to any rate proceeding.

This is why full transparency/full disclosure should be a requirement for any rate proceeding. This would provide full due process/discovery with any proceeding.

Without this approach the possibility exists that "ex parte" communication might exist. This might lead to the possibility of an impartial proceeding and/or lack of due process to protect the interests of both the ratepayers and/or shareholders of the Utility in the proceeding. This might also create an "ex parte" communication situation for other parties with a legal interest in a rate proceeding as well. If they are not afforded the same type of discovery as members of the Commission staff and/or Commissioner's this might lead to an impartial proceeding.

I understand that the company is concerned with impartiality with these proceedings. If it is a concern for the Company, then the same concerns for impartiality should also be a concern for ratepayers and/or shareholders of the company as well as any other party that might have a legal interest in any rate proceeding.

I know that based upon 350.042 of the Florida Statutes I have this right as a ratepayer and based upon my rights as a shareholder I would have the right to ask these questions as well.

Full transparency/discovery should be afforded.

Just a thought on making sure that the new administrative procedure provides for full due process and transparency and meets the test of compliance with the Florida Statutes since preemption would provide that any administrative procedure has to meet the State Statutes in order for it to meet compliance with current Florida State Laws.

This is a very important issue since the Company has made it very clear that they are concerned with partiality in the proceeding. This has to be a two way street.

Subject: RE: Communication Between Commission Employees and Parties

Dear Ms. Cibula,

Thank you for the information and I am looking forward to receiving a copy of the transcript from the workshop on rule 25-22.033. I noticed that during the workshop there was limited discussion on to how the proposed legislation was derived. Most outside people (ratepayers and/or shareholders) would need clear and concise language as to what would be acceptable communication with the Commission. I noticed that a ratepayer is still allowed to communicate with the Commissioner's under section 350.042 of the Florida Statutes. Here are some comments but I will continue to take a look at the rule.

Section (1) of 25-22.033 reads "Legal interest in the proceeding"?

What does this mean in plain language? Any ratepayer of any regulated entity would have a legal interest in a proceeding therefore they would be in a position to have communications with Commission staff and/or the Commissioner's based upon 350.042. A shareholder would also have a legal interest in a proceeding with regard to any ratemaking matters that might have an impact on the earnings of the Utility therefore they would also be in a position to have communications with Commission staff and/or the Commissioner's just like the Senior Management of the Utility. Since both a ratepayer and/or shareholder would have a legal interest in a rate case proceeding then any communication between Commission staff and/or the Commissioner's should be fully made part of the public record and available to all parties and interested parties. There should be no exception(s) as to what communications are being made part of the public record or not.

This would provide for full transparency which would be a requirement under 350.042. How come all of my correspondence with the Commission has not been fully made part of the public record? This is a very critical issue since if some of the communication is made part of the record and some is excluded it might lead to an "ex parte" communication in that some of the communication was made part of the public record and some was not. If you look at some of my communication that has not been made part of the public record you will notice that only certain emails have not been made part of the public record. If some are excluded and some are included then the person must be notified by the Commission as to why some of the communication (written and/or oral) was excluded from the public record.

I also noticed that an interested person's communication is made part of a Docket correspondence - Parties and Interested Persons. This file is often kept in the same chronological spot as the previous communications that have been populated in this file. A lot of the communications that I have sent had a chronological importance with regard to the testimony that was made by the Utility and/or Expert Witnesses. In order for there to be full transparency the communications or the file should be moved to most recent date of information that is placed into these files or the parties and/or interested parties might not be made fully aware of this information that might be pertinent to the rate case proceeding. This is very important since some of my email correspondence provided technical accounting responses to direct testimony. Some of it was excluded from these files and some was included. In order for there to be no "ex parte" communications all information has to be made part of the public record so that all parties and/or interested parties would have access to the information. Since these files are not being moved to the top Docket index the average party and/or interested party might not know where this pertinent information resides therefore they might not be made aware of an issue that might be pertinent to the rate case that they should have been made aware of.

How come some of my communications was made part of the public record and some was not?

Section (2)(c) of 25-22.033 reads:

11/4/2010

(c) "Impermissible Communication" means any communication with a party or interested person, if written, is not served on all parties, or, if oral, is made without notice to all parties or interested persons.

Rob. Smith Comments

Under this rule all written communications from an interested party has to be made available to all parties or interested parties. Correct? If the information received is made part of the public record then it would be permissible communication. If a Commissioner received written or oral Communication then this information should be made part of the public record so that all parties or interested parties have been made aware of the Communication. What happens if a Commissioner receives a written or oral communication and it is not shared with all parties? Does it become "impermissible Communication"? This should not happen since this might lead to information that might be pertinent to the rate case proceeding. I know that some of my email correspondence has been made part of the public record and some as of today has not been made part of the public record. Some of the email correspondence is very pertinent to some of the technical aspects of the Holding company concept at the Utility as it pertains to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (PUHCA) or Public Utility Holding Company Act of 2005 ("PUHCA 2005"). This act is governed under FERC (Federal Energy Regulatory Commission). In order for there to be full transparency and to make sure that all parties and/or interested parties are provided full notice, all written and/or oral communication should be fully made part of the record. There should be no instance in which certain information would be excluded as part of the public record or not. Since some of my email correspondence has not been made part of the public record, what would be the Commission rule as to why some was made part of the public record and some was not? This in itself might lead to "ex parte" communication since all of my information has not been made part of the public record.

I am going to continue to look at the rule but I think that all communications should be made part of the public record and if not the Commission should provide a response as to why certain information was excluded. This would be needed to make sure that there was no "ex parte" communications. If some information was excluded then some of the Commission staff and/or Commissioner's might be exposed to an "ex parte" communications issue since the information was not made fully transparent and disclosed. All parties, interested parties and any other party that has a "legal interest" in any rate case proceeding should have full access to all information that was made available to both the Commission staff and/or Commissioner's in any rate proceeding that is being administered by the Florida Public Service Commission. Without this approach the possibility exists that "ex parte" communication might exist. This might lead to the possibility of an impartial proceeding and/or lack of due process to protect the interests of both the ratepayers and/or shareholders of the Utility in the proceeding.

Please let me know if the information that I have provided that has not been made part of the public record is going to be part of the public record. If it is not going to be made part of the public record please let me know why it has not been made part of the public record. Please provide me with the rule that would support why some of the information was not made part of the public record. If you need copies of the emails that I have sent with regard to what is currently missing from the public record please do not hesitate to ask.

I will continue to look at the proposed rule.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rjrb@yahoo.com or give me a call.

As per SB 1034 of the Florida Statutes with regard to communication with a ratepayer:

Fasano
(Identical H 565)

Section 350.042, F. S., provides for ex parte communications. The term "ex parte" is not defined in the statute but according to Black's Law Dictionary means "on one side only, by or for one party, done for, in behalf of, or on the application of, one party only." According to the American Heritage Dictionary, the term means "from or on one side only; one sided, partisan." Subsection (1) provides that a commissioner should accord to every person who is legally interested in a proceeding full right to be heard according to law, and except as authorized by law, shall neither initiate nor consider ex parte communications concerning the merits, threat, or offer of reward in any proceeding other than a proceeding under s. 120.54, F. S., (rulemaking) or 120.565, F.S., (declaratory statements by agencies), workshops, or internal affairs meetings. No individual shall discuss ex parte with a commissioner the merits of any issue that he or she knows will be filed with the commission within 90 days. The subsection does not apply to commission staff.

Individual residential ratepayers are allowed to communicate with a commissioner, provided that the ratepayer is representing only himself or herself, without compensation. In addition, the section does not apply to oral communications or discussions in scheduled and noticed open public meetings of educational programs of a conference or other meeting of an association of regulatory agencies.

Dear Ms. Cole,

I noticed that Docket 100410 was updated with the last email correspondence. I do not think that Docket 080677 and 100009 has been updated with the email below. I was just checking and I noticed that Docket 100410 appears to be the only one that was updated.

Is there an ETA on the update to Docket 080677 and Docket 100009?

Your Friday, October 29, 2010, 6:28 PM e-mail and this response will be added to Docket Correspondence - Parties and Interested Persons, in Docket No. 080677-EI.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Cole and Ms. Menasco,

I noticed that this morning that the file has been updated this morning.

I will check to see if the update has been made for my email correspondence that I have sent on October 29th, 2010 at 6:28PM.

Thanks for your help with this matter.

Thanks,

Dear Records Clerk, Ms. Bennett, Ms. Edgar, Mr. Skop, Mr. Graham and Mr. Brise,

I have looked at the file again. Please see the 10/29/2010 5:29PM file. The file still has not been updated. Where are the evaluation pages from the attached email correspondence to show my experience to support the email correspondence that I have sent? These are not currently in the file. Will these appear when the file is updated?

These evaluations show the following:

That I have worked with the CFO and Public Service Commission on very technical matters as it pertains to the ratecase process. These evaluations are very important to support my email correspondence in that it shows that I have worked on these matters for a long time and I had over a decade of experience with preparing these cases and consulting directly with Senior Management and the Public Service Commission on these matters.

Where is the email regarding the Telephone call on May 11th, 2010? This is not currently in the file.

According to the email below the file has not been updated yet. The only reason why there are duplicate pages is due to that I had to trace to see what information has been missing from the Docket correspondence files. I have resent the emails that with the information that has been missing.

If I search the above attachments in the Docket 080677 10741-08 file I do not see the above attached emails with the appropriate correspondence. Some of the information in the email is only a duplicate since I am trying to let you know about the information that is not currently in Docket 080677 10741-08 file.

This email is only a 4 MB file. The Docket 080677 10741-08 file is 47.6 MB's without being updated. Using a PDF Join Utility would not make this an issue to add the four files above (4 MB). This would not take very long at all. I do not understand why this file has not been updated for over a week. This is a very simple thing to do and I have not had any issues with any of my prior correspondence to the commission in the past. What has changed? These emails above are the emails that I did not see added to the Docket 080677 10741-08 file. I do not think that this 4 MB file will impact the processing since the PSC has files in this Docket that are over 200 MB's.

The redundancy is only due to trying to make sure that the information has been added to this Docket file. It has been over 1 week since and this information has not been added. I am sending a PDF of the most current email in order to provide the commission hard copy as has been previously instructed in a previous email.

If a PDF join utility was used this would have been completed with the initial emails. This would have been very easy to complete.

Until I see that all the attached correspondence is in Docket 080677 10741-08 file with a search of the email headers or a search of the information that is contained in the attached documents I will keep sending an email updated to ensure that these emails are added before any ruling is made on the Stipulation and Settlement agreement.

This is part of my rights from both a Federal/State perspective. This is also a right under 350.0402.

Why would the Commission delay the adding of the attached correspondence? There really is no reason when in the past this was not the case.

Why is there an issue? This makes no sense. Is there a legal issue that Ms. Bennett or the PSC council has to address since this information is being delayed to be put into the file?

Some of this information is in Docket 100009 and Docket 100410. The evaluations are in Docket 100410. How come these emails have not been added to Docket 080677 and/or Docket 100009 file? I would think that this information should be shared with all of the parties that have a legal interest in these cases. This would include the interveners as well.

I will check on Monday to see if the file has been updated. If not, I will follow up with an email to make sure that this information is updated to be in conformity with 350.042. I do not want to have any information considered "ex parte" communications. If some of the information is omitted then this may be a possibility.

Again, thanks for your continued help with resolving this matter.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Menasco,

Is this email going to be put into all three records as well? I have attached the hardcopy PDF to the attached list.

Thanks for your response.

The emails should be put into the following Dockets, 080677, 100009, 100410. The first one is the main FPL case with the proposed Stipulation and Settlement Agreement, The second one is related to the Nuclear Uprates Case and the third case is related to the Excess earnings case.

I thought that all of these cases should have been combined since some of the issues would overlap and/or might impact the other.

The Dockets are listed in the previous email. This email should probably be added to the other links for:

Subject: Past emails sent to the Commission, Governor and Office of Public Council

Dear Ms. Menasco,

10/21/2010

Thanks for your help with updating the public docket files.

Attached you will find hardcopy copies of the emails in PDF format that I have sent to the Commission in the past. In addition, I have attached hardcopies of emails in a PDF format to make sure that these emails get added to the public files since I feel that these are pertinent to the case as well. There is one based upon a conversation with the Governor's office as well as the Office of Public Council. These emails were back in 2009.

I resent an email about the May 11th, 2010 in which I was told that it was a staff meeting and that since I was an interested party and not an intervener that my questioning might not be appropriate.

I sent an email indicating that based upon section 350.042 (1) that I would have the legal right to do so. You have to understand that as a shareholder I am legally interested in a proceeding and as a ratepayer I am not prohibited as an individual residential ratepayer from communicating with a commissioner as well.

350.042 Ex parte communications.--

- (1) A commissioner should accord to every person who is legally interested in a proceeding, or the person's lawyer, full right to be heard according to law, and, except as authorized by law, shall neither initiate nor consider ex parte communications concerning the merits, threat, or offer of reward in any proceeding other than a proceeding under s. 120.54 or s. 120.565, workshops, or internal affairs meetings. No individual shall discuss ex parte with a commissioner the merits of any issue that he or she knows will be filed with the commission within 90 days. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to commission staff.
- (2) The provisions of this section shall not prohibit an individual residential ratepayer from communicating with a commissioner, provided that the ratepayer is representing only himself or herself, without compensation.

Some of the attached emails when printed had images that might have been whited out /redacted. This might have just been related to the ability to print images but I have resent these to make sure that the attached emails were added in hardcopy. These are issues that are very pertinent to the case.

I have sent an appeal email for the release of the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report. I did not see that this email has been scanned and put on the public record. I am extremely concerned that if some of the interveners have access to this report and other parties with a legal interest does not have access to the same information that this might be construed as "ex parte" communications since only certain parties with a legal interest in the proceeding would have seen this information. This might be a one sided approach which I feel might be covered under both Federal/State law.

Under 350.042 above it supports that there should be no "ex parte" communications. If other parties with a legal interest have seen the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance report then I know that based upon my legal interest as a shareholder/ratepayer I should be afforded the same privilege. This is why full discovery should be afforded with this proceeding to make sure that the accounting behind any case is supporting any decisions/rulings in any rate case proceeding.

You will notice that my concerns about this case were brought up back in April 2009.

This email should probably be added to the other links for:

(1) Cash From Ratepayers Regulated by FERC/PSC - Full Current/Deferred Taxes Collected in Rates - 10K filed on Consolidated Basis. No separation of Cash Accounts. If current Taxes paid is less than the Full tax provision then surplus cash should be maintained as a balance in the Utility FERC 131 Account.

(2) Tax Accounts do not have to follow FERC Account Numbers. There will still be Current/Deferred Taxes Payments for Current Taxes must be paid out of the individual Non Reg. Company and not paid from Utility Operations (FERC Account 131 Account). Deferred Tax Account numbers do not have to meet FERC account guidelines

(3) This is the total Current/Deferred Tax Provision filed with the Consolidated Tax Return for FPL Group. The Total Current Tax Provision (Cash) should have cash entries in each respective company to make sure that the cash disbursements are being made out of each Regulated and Non Regulated separately.

Since most companies are set up as independent companies accountability must be controlled by the Public Service Commission since the Commission is responsible for the accountability of the ratepayer funds. All Management Agreement Negotiations should be over seen by the Public Service Commission to keep Control of the Regulated/Non-Regulated Cash Flow. Segmented Cash Flows would be required for a full Accounting. The Journal entries above are on a cash basis only. There may be accrual entries that would be recorded per Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. There may also be regulatory Accounting Journal Entries as required by FERC/PSC Accounting.

* All Non-Regulated Subsidiaries/Subsidiaries should generate enough cash flow to support the operations of the company. If there is Goodwill Acquisition Indebtedness, then it should be fully funded by the operations of the Non-Regulated Subsidiary.

Regulated Utility / Holding Company Cash Flow Issues:

- Segmented Cash Flows would have to be prepared to properly account for Regulated versus Non-Regulated Cash Movement.
Public Utility Holding Company Act (PUHCA) (1935) Regulated by State Public Service Commissions/Federal Energy Regulatory Commission
- Full Accounting for the funding of dividends/executive compensation plans at the Holding Company Level.
This should include the back up Cash Flow Accounting to support the level of dividends paid out.
- Separate Cash Accounts (i.e. Utility cash account is 131 account)
This has to be done to make sure that there is a separation of Regulated Cash from Non-Regulated Cash.
- How is the company accounting for the intercompany cash transactions?
Assets transfers? Are these being made at historical cost or at market value?
If Financed by the Utility, is the ratepayer receiving a fair return on capital? What rate of return are they earning?
- Separate billing systems Is the only billing system that is being maintained for the Utility?
If not, then are there separate billing systems for non-regulated subsidiaries/subsidiaries?
- Separate work order systems
This is very critical since the work order system is probably used for capital expenditures/expenses. Usually there is utility coding for the type of capital expenditure that clears to the ledgers or utility accounts. These can be Plant, CWIP etc.
- Separate Accounting Systems for each Entity
Is there a separate system for each entity? If not, what type of Internal controls has been put into place to ensure that all capital expenditures/expenses are being cleared to the appropriate company accounts?

Since most companies are set up as Independent companies accountability must be controlled by the Public Service Commission since the Commission is responsible for the accountability of the ratepayer funds. All Management Agreement Negotiations should be over seen by the Public Service Commission to keep Control of the Regulated/Non-Regulated Cash Flow. Segmented Cash Flows would be required for a full Accounting. The journal entries above are on a cash basis only. There may be accrual entries that would be recorded per Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. There may also be regulatory Accounting Journal Entries as required by FERC/PSC Accounting.

* All Non-Regulated Subsidiaries/Subsidiaries should generate enough cash flow to support the operations of the company. If there is Goodwill Acquisition Indebtedness, then it should be fully funded by the operations of the Non-Regulated Subsidiary.

Regulated Utility / Holding Company Cash Flow Issues:

- 1) Segmented Cash Flows would have to be prepared to properly account for Regulated versus Non-Regulated Cash Movement.
Public Utility Holding Company Act (PUHCA) (1935) Regulated by State Public Service Commissions/Federal Energy Regulatory Commission
- 2) Full Accounting for the funding of dividends/executive compensation plans at the Holding Company Level.
This should include the back up Cash Flow Accounting to support the level of dividends paid out.
- 3) Separate Cash Accounts (i.e. Utility cash account is 131 account)
This has to be done to make sure that there is a separation of Regulated Cash from Non-Regulated Cash.
- 4) How is the company accounting for the intercompany cash transactions?
Assets transfers? Are these being made at historical cost or at market value?
If Financed by the Utility, is the ratepayer receiving a fair return on capital? What rate of return are they earning?
- 5) Separate billing systems Is the only billing system that is being maintained for the Utility?
If not, then are there separate billing systems for non-regulated subsidiaries/subsidiaries?
- 6) Separate work order systems
This is very critical since the work order system is probably used for capital expenditures/expenses. Usually there is utility coding for the type of capital expenditure that clears to the ledgers or utility accounts. These can be Plant, CWIP etc.
- 7) Separate Accounting Systems for each Entity
Is there a separate system for each entity? If not, what type of internal controls has been put into place to ensure that all capital expenditures/expenses are being cleared to the appropriate company accounts?

Dear Commissioner's,

Here is some question that I have for these answers. Please see my reconciliation to support my questions below. Did anyone use my reconciliation? Did FPL fill out the reconciliation to help with this process? Did they prepare a segmented cash flow statement for the tax payments? Did we get copies of the cancelled checks? I think that this is a very good idea.

Florida Power & Light Company

Re: Docket No. 080677-EI – Petition for increase in rates by Florida Power & Light Company.

1. For the years 2007, 2008, and 2009, provide a detailed description of FPL's accounting treatment for the excess tax benefits received by FPL Group. By excess tax benefits staff means the dollar difference between actual tax payments made on behalf of FPL by FPL Group and the tax amounts for which the ratepayers would have been charged under the "stand-alone" method.

Response: There are no 'excess tax benefits' under the definition provided in this request. FPL Group makes a consolidated tax filing, in which it pays a single, consolidated tax liability. FPL Group does not make separate tax payments "on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary. The tax liability recorded by FPL is calculated on a stand-alone or "separate return" method. Under that method, the tax liability that FPL records, and charges to customers, is the same regardless of whether or not FPL is filing as part of a consolidated tax return. In other words, if FPL were not one of the consolidated FPL Group businesses, its tax liabilities would be exactly the same as they are recorded now.

As FPL's Vice President of Accounting and Chief Accounting Officer pointed out in his January 5, 2010 letter to the Commissioners on this topic, Florida utilities and the overwhelming majority of electric utilities around the country use the stand-alone basis to calculate income taxes for ratemaking purposes. This approach ensures that the income taxes for which an electric utility's customers are responsible through electric rates are determined only on the basis of electric utility operations, not on the basis of other, unrelated business activities in which unregulated affiliates may be engaged. To do otherwise would expose customers to constant shifts in the utility's tax obligations for reasons that would have nothing to do with providing electric service. This would be unfair, confusing and counterproductive to the Commission's goal of avoiding subsidies between utility and affiliate operations.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

"The tax liability recorded by FPL is calculated on a stand-alone or "separate return" method. Based upon the response above it is only talking about the tax liability on an individual basis. This makes total sense since it would be correct that all tax liabilities should be recorded separately. If you take a look at my previous email you will notice that I have laid out each individual company which would show the current/deferred tax provisions. This would backup up by the FPL response that the tax liabilities are recorded separately. What it talks about is the fact that the tax liabilities are recorded separately. What it does not talk about is the segmented cash flow aspect of the actual payments that are being made.

We now have to switch to the cash aspect of the payments of these liabilities:

"FPL Group makes a consolidated tax filing, in which it pays a single, consolidated tax liability. FPL Group does not make separate tax payments "on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary."

By the nature of this statement it does not talk about the segmented cash flow aspect of the "consolidated tax filing, in which it pays a single, consolidated tax liability.

FPL Group does not make separate tax payments" on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary. By nature of paying a "single , consolidated tax liability" segmented cash flows would have to be provided to make sure that there was ample cash flow in each entity to cover their individual tax liability. FPL Group would have to show cancelled checks to support that there was ample cash flow in each entity to support each entities tax liability. This is supported by the reconciliation that I have sent in my previous email asking for a breakout of the tax liability by entity and supporting cancelled check to support that there is ample cash flow in each subsidiary to cover each entities liability. If there is not ample cash flow in each subsidiary then the possibility exists that there might be a subsidization by an entity that has ample cash flow to cover the tax liability.

Where is the actual check cut from? Is it an FPL Group cash account or does this come from a regulated subsidiary cash account (131)? We have to be careful that we look at the actual cash transactions and not just intercompany transactions.

When it pays its consolidated tax liability and does not make separate payments how does it make sure that the cash payment with regard to each entities tax liability is being charged to "FPL or any other subsidiary"?

In order to determine if there is ample cash flow in each entity, a segmented cash flow reconciliation would have to be completed to see if there was ample cash in FPL and its subsidiaries to cover each individual tax liability. There should be cancelled check from each individual entity to backup their respective tax liability. Based upon their response above it appears that they are only cutting one check as FPL Group. Where is the cash coming from?

Please see my email below/my reconciliation that I have sent previously.

2. For the years 2007, 2008, and 2009, provide a detailed description of the accounting treatment for the excess tax benefits that were derived from filing a consolidated tax return by FPL Group versus each subsidiary filing a separate tax return.

Response: As explained above, there are no "excess tax benefits" as Staff has defined that term. The tax liability for each subsidiary, including FPL, is calculated based on the separate return method. Tax benefits, if any, that could not be used by a subsidiary on a separate return basis, but are used on the consolidated tax return, are recorded by the subsidiary that generated the tax benefits.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

Based upon the response above it is only talking about the tax liability on an individual basis. This makes total sense since it would be correct that all tax liabilities should be recorded separately.

Again, this response does not talk about cash payments by each subsidiary since there is an individual tax liability. There can be no subsidization of cash payments between regulated and non-regulated entities. No exceptions! My reconciliation would be able to show this detail to support each entities individual tax liability and each entities separate tax payments.

Just because FPL Group "pays a single, consolidated tax liability. FPL Group does not make separate tax payments "on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary." This does not eliminate the requirement that each entity would be responsible to cover its own tax payments from a cash flow perspective. No exceptions!

The response above does not provide enough information to make sure that there is no subsidization of regulated to non-regulated payments and non-regulated to regulated payments. This would work both ways and can only be determined by segmented cash flows. No exceptions!

This is why there are issues with the holding company concept. There is no talk of segmented cash flows to make sure that the recorded individual tax liabilities are supported by individual tax payments.

3. For the years 2007, 2008, 2009, and 2010, provide a copy of FPL Group's tax-sharing agreement with its subsidiaries.

Response: Please see Attachment 1.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

"Pay" or "Payment" means the physical transfer of cash, cash equivalents, or an equivalent intercompany book entry.

Be careful here! An intercompany book entry can just be a book entry and if it does not have a corresponding cash entry it might not show that the individual subsidiary had ample cash to support its individual tax liability.

The only way that this can be determined is by a segmented cash flow statement to show that the intercompany book entry had a corresponding cash impact in the individual entity. If not, then there might be room for subsidization between the entities. This cannot happen. This agreement might have to be revised.

There should be no room to share any NOL's to be allocated. Each individual entity should stand on its own. If an entity generates an NOL only the entity in which the NOL was generated should be able to use the NOL to use to offset its taxable income. There should be NO ALLOCATION's of NOL's.

For example:

The utility generates a large NOL for the abandonment of a plant. This would possibly create an NOL carry forward that might be used for a long time to shelter taxable income for the utility and to minimize its tax liability. No non-regulated subsidiary should benefit by the utilization of this NOL if it was generated by a regulated subsidiary. This is from both a liability perspective as well as a cash flow perspective. No exceptions!

If there was any allocation then the ratepayer would have to be made whole since if there was any type of allocation the possibility exists that a regulated subsidiary would have subsidized a non-regulated subsidiary. This would work in the same way if a non-regulated subsidiary generated an NOL if it went out of business at a loss.

There should be no allocations from a true tax perspective. Any allocation would give rise to a possible subsidization and this should not happen.

Segmented cash flows would be able to provide the proper details to make sure that this does not happen. There is no reason for any allocation methodology since if an entity filed its own tax return it would be required to keep all NOL's and tax credits individually. There should be no reason why this cannot be done with a FPL Group filing since as long as the tax liabilities and cash payments are being accounted for on an individual basis there really should be no issue.

Any allocation might lead to a subsidization issue which might require the ratepayer and/or subsidiary to be made whole.

When I was up North we had an issue with a large NOL due to a closure of a Nuclear Power Plant. This NOL provides for minimum tax payments for the Electric business for at about 10 years (if I remember but it was a long time). Since we had a regulated gas entity with ample cash flow to pay its own tax liability from a consolidated basis the use of the NOL was OK. We tracked this NOL on the electric side of the business only. We did not provide for any allocation. If there was no ample cash flow in the Gas business to cover its individual tax liability and there was an allocation of NOL's this would have not been fair to the electric ratepayer since the Electric ratepayer had to absorb the loss on the closure of the plant therefore it should not lose the use of an NOL for its own tax liability due to some type of allocation.

This agreement should be amended to make sure that there are no allocations. Period!

4. For the years 2007, 2008, and 2009, would FPL Group have been able to take full advantage (each year without regard to tax carryforward or carryback) of the wind related production tax credits without the benefit of FPL regulated utility taxable income?

Response: FPL Group has not been able to take full advantage of the wind related production tax credits with, or without, the inclusion of the FPL regulated utility taxable income in the FPL Group consolidated tax return for the years 2007,2008 or 2009.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

When will these credits be taken and what is holding up the use of these credits?

Is this an indication where these credits are available there is not ample taxable income to use these credits? If so, then this might make sense but there is not enough information in this response to determine whether or not the wind related production tax credits can be utilized.

We know that each entity should be entitled to its own tax credits as generated on an individual basis. What we do not know by this response is why they cannot currently use these credits. The answer might be that there is not enough taxable income/liability in the subsidiary in which generated these credits. I am sure that if there was taxable income in a subsidiary the entity if it had wind related production tax credits and it was able to take it as a tax credit to minimize its liability it would. There has to be another reason why they are not using these credits where they have been earned.

It would make sense that you cannot utilize these if you included FPL regulated utility taxable income. Each entity generates its own tax credits. They can only utilize these credits for the respective individual tax liabilities only.

What I am concerned with is the cash implications of the utilization of these wind related production tax credits if they were generated by the regulated utility or a non-regulated subsidiary.

The cash flow impact is that the credit should be utilized against the cash payment by each individual entities tax liability only. There should be no benefit to any regulated entity for a tax credit generated by a non-regulated subsidiary and no benefit for a non-regulated subsidiary for a tax credit as generated by a regulated entity.

This can only be determined by a segmented cash flow breakout of the payments to match each entities individual tax liability. Any single payment will not provide enough information to determine if there is no subsidization between a regulated entity and non-regulated entity.

If my reconciliation was used to show cancelled checks to support each entities individual tax liability you would be able to determine if any entity (regulated/non-regulated) was subsidized.

I am going to send this out as a draft tonight to send what I have observed by the responses. I will be taking a look at this tomorrow. If I have any changes I will follow up since it is late and I am tired.

Hand is acting up a little. I want to make sure can take a look at the attachment a little longer since I am tired. Hopefully there are no typo(s). I will check.

Dear Ms. Menasco on behalf of the records clerk,

Here we go with the excel document embedded into the email.

Hopefully this works in conjunction with the file. Please let me know if you can print out the PDF to put on the record. The second page has been put on Legal paper and would have to be printed out of the PDF for backup and scan. There is a portrait version of the second page as well.

Thanks for all of your patience. This issue is a very important issue and I hope that this helps with the analysis.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpirb@yahoo.com.

(1) Cash From Ratepayers Regulated by FERC/PSC - Full Current/Deferred Taxes Collected in Rates - 10K filed on Consolidated Basis. No separation of Cash Accounts. If current Taxes paid is less than the Full tax provision then surplus cash should be maintained as a balance in the Utility FERC 131 Account.

(2) Tax Accounts do not have to follow FERC Account Numbers. There will still be Current/Deferred Taxes Payments for Current Taxes must be paid out of the individual Non Reg. Company and not paid from Utility Operations (FERC Account 131 Account).
Deferred Tax Account numbers do not have to meet FERC account guidelines

(3) This is the total Current/Deferred Tax Provision filed with the Consolidated Tax Return for FPL Group. The Total Current Tax Provision (Cash) should have cash entries in each respective company to make sure that the cash disbursements are being made out of each Regulated and Non Regulated separately.

Since most companies are set up as independent companies accountability must be controlled by the Public Service Commission since the Commission is responsible for the accountability of the ratepayer funds. All Management Agreement Negotiations should be over seen by the Public Service Commission to keep Control of the Regulated/Non-Regulated Cash Flow. Segmented Cash Flows would be required for a full Accounting. The Journal entries above are on a cash basis only. There may be accrual entries that would be recorded per Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. There may also be regulatory Accounting Journal Entries as required by FERC/PSC Accounting.

* All Non-Regulated Subsidiaries/Subsidiaries should generate enough cash flow to support the operations of the company. If there is Goodwill Acquisition Indebtedness, then it should be fully funded by the operations of the Non-Regulated Subsidiary.

Regulated Utility / Holding Company Cash Flow Issues:

- 1) Segmented Cash Flows would have to be prepared to properly account for Regulated versus Non-Regulated Cash Movement.
Public Utility Holding Company Act (PUHCA) (1935) Regulated by State Public Service Commissions/Federal Energy Regulatory Commission
- 2) Full Accounting for the funding of dividends/executive compensation plans at the Holding Company Level.
This should include the back up Cash Flow Accounting to support the level of dividends paid out.
- 3) Separate Cash Accounts (i.e. Utility cash account is 131 account)
This has to be done to make sure that there is a separation of Regulated Cash from Non-Regulated Cash.
- 4) How is the company accounting for the Intercompany cash transactions?
Assets transfers? Are these being made at historical cost or at market value?
If Financed by the Utility, is the ratepayer receiving a fair return on capital? What rate of return are they earning?
- 5) Separate billing systems Is the only billing system that is being maintained for the Utility?
If not, then are there separate billing systems for non-regulated subsidiaries/subsidiaries?
- 6) Separate work order systems
This is very critical since the work order system is probably used for capital expenditures/expenses. Usually there is utility coding for the type of capital expenditure that clears to the ledgers or utility accounts. These can be Plant, CWIP etc.
- 7) Separate Accounting Systems for each Entity
Is there a separate system for each entity? If not, what type of internal controls has been put into place to ensure that all capital expenditures/expenses are being cleared to the appropriate company accounts?

Since most companies are set up as independent companies accountability must be controlled by the Public Service Commission since the Commission is responsible for the accountability of the ratepayer funds. All Management Agreement Negotiations should be over seen by the Public Service Commission to keep Control of the Regulated/Non-Regulated Cash Flow. Segmented Cash Flows would be required for a full Accounting. The journal entries above are on a cash basis only. There may be accrual entries that would be recorded per Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. There may also be regulatory Accounting Journal Entries as required by FERC/PSC Accounting.

* All Non-Regulated Subsidiaries/Subsidiaries should generate enough cash flow to support the operations of the company. If there is Goodwill Acquisition indebtedness, then it should be fully funded by the operations of the Non-Regulated Subsidiary.

Regulated Utility / Holding Company Cash Flow Issues:

- 1) Segmented Cash Flows would have to be prepared to properly account for Regulated versus Non-Regulated Cash Movement.
Public Utility Holding Company Act (PUHCA) (1935) Regulated by State Public Service Commissions/Federal Energy Regulatory Commission
- 2) Full Accounting for the funding of dividends/executive compensation plans at the Holding Company Level.
This should include the back up Cash Flow Accounting to support the level of dividends paid out.
- 3) Separate Cash Accounts (i.e. Utility cash account is 131 account)
This has to be done to make sure that there is a separation of Regulated Cash from Non-Regulated Cash.
- 4) How is the company accounting for the intercompany cash transactions?
Assets transfers? Are these being made at historical cost or at market value?
If Financed by the Utility, is the ratepayer receiving a fair return on capital? What rate of return are they earning?
- 5) Separate billing systems. Is the only billing system that is being maintained for the Utility?
If not, then are there separate billing systems for non-regulated subsidiaries/subsidiaries?
- 6) Separate work order systems
This is very critical since the work order system is probably used for capital expenditures/expenses. Usually there is utility coding for the type of capital expenditure that clears to the ledgers or utility accounts. These can be Plant, CWIP etc.
- 7) Separate Accounting Systems for each Entity
Is there a separate system for each entity? If not, what type of internal controls has been put into place to ensure that all capital expenditures/expenses are being cleared to the appropriate company accounts?

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Attached you will find my Summary that I have put together from the 08-0677-EI standard order as the source of information. I have added the calculation of the revenue requirements for the Nuclear Uprates as if they were being transferred out of ledger 3 and into the Nuclear Cost Recovery accounts. Of course if all these costs are going to be offset against the surplus depreciation then the net assets (rate base) should be zero with no revenue impact. The only issue I have is if the assets still exist and new costs will be put into this clause. If there are new costs that have to be recovered in this clause then I would like to know if the carrying charges are going to be trued up for the new overall cost of money.

I was taking a look at the specifics of the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause. I notice that it talks about the carrying charges that would be recorded. It indicates that the pretax AFUDC rate in effect at June 12th, 2007 will be used for the carrying charges associated with the removal of these plant assets from rate base. Is the current rate 7.41 (effective 1/1/09 as per Docket No. 090009-EI)? Based upon the new case and the new approved ROE of 10.00% (12.50% Company as filed versus 10.00% as approved) the overall cost of money decreases from the as filed 8.0% to 6.65% respectively. If the carrying charges on the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause is not reduced to the new overall cost of money or AFUDC rate then the customer would pay more in revenue requirements. Since this amount was offset by the depreciation surplus will this not trued up since it will be considered fully recovered?

If these assets are still in existence then the customer might lose the benefit for the reduction in the overall cost of money.

Here is the revised calculation that I have put together based upon the Schedules from the order. Based upon this calculation it would yield an approximate $2.1 million dollar additional revenue requirement to the customers if the carrying charges are not trued up for the reduction in the ROE or if these assets still exist.

How come this agreement is not being looked at? Can the terms of this agreement be changed for the reduced overall cost of money? It appears that the agreement as it stands would not provide for this true up. Is this correct? Unless these assets are going to be considered fully recovered since they were offset against the depreciation surplus.

It has been a while since I have put together cost of money calculations and revenue requirements. Please let me know if there will be a true up or if these assets are going to be considered fully recovered.

If these assets still exist then they should probably remain in ledger 3 and have an offset for the application of some of the reserve surplus to yield a net rate base of zero. This way this would cover the true up issue. What will be the impact going forward for any new costs that are put into the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause? Will the carrying charges be accrued at the old rate or will they be trued up at the new overall cost of money/AFUDC rate?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Nuclear Upates

In Order No. PSC-09-0783-FOF-EI, issued on November 19, 2009, we approved FPL's Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause amounts for 2010.<sup>107</sup> All costs that FPL removed from its base rate revenue requirements were allowed in the NCRC for 2010. We approve FPL's proposal to transfer revenue, expenses and investments associated with nuclear upates from base rates to the NCRC for the 2010 projected test year.

establishing a carrying cost rate to be applied to the nuclear projects, and this carrying cost shall be recovered pursuant to Rule 25-6.0423(2), F.A.C., no more and no less.

Moreover, since the enactment of Section 366.93, F.S., we have consistently distinguished the carrying cost associated with the nuclear projects (e.g., TP67 project) from the carrying cost associated with all other utility projects. By Order No. PSC-08-0265-PAA-EI, issued April 28, 2008, in Docket No. 080088-EI, In re: Request for approval of change in rate used to capitalize allowance for funds used during construction (AFUDC) from 7.42% to 7.65%, effective January 1, 2008, by Florida Power & Light Company, we specifically held that the revised AFUDC rate shall be effective as of January 1, 2008, for all purposes except for Rule 25-6.0423, F.A.C. Similarly, in Order No. 09-0377-PAA-EI, issued May 28, 2009, in Docket No. 090108-EI, In re: Request for approval of change in rate used to capitalize allowance for funds used during construction (AFUDC) from 7.65% to 7.41%, effective January 1, 2009, by Florida Power & Light Company, we held that the revised AFUDC rate shall be effective as of January 1, 2009, for all purposes except for Rule 25-6.0423, F.A.C. This emphasizes the point that Section 366.93(2)(b), F.S., establishes a fixed project carrying cost to be applied to all nuclear construction projects with need petitions filed prior to December 31, 2010. We find that any other interpretation of Section 366.93(2)(b), F.S., is incorrect.

Dear Ms. Bennett,

I noticed that the change in expenses formula for OPC is incorrect as well. This should probably be OPC estimated expense – current rate expense.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Last week I was working on Financial Regulatory reform accounting issues. This is why I had asked for some information last week. I have been working on various aspects of Healthcare/Financial regulatory reform from an Accounting perspective with regard to holding company structures. This is similar to of the issues with the tax payments. I have been working on all of these issues for the past 1 ½ year's full time. I have been working on holding company concepts from an accounting perspective for over 10 years on a full/part time basis.

Normally I would have gone through the whole order, but I have been balancing all of the initiatives and at times there can be a lot of information to digest.

I appreciate that you have sent me the information. This was very useful and let me know if you have the updated schedules that were fixed.

Please feel free to share this information with FPL as well.

I noticed a quick typo(s).

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Please forward this information to all interested parties if they have the schedules that do not reflect the proper calculations for OPC. Maybe this is just the file that I was sent but let me know. Feel free to share this with everyone that was at the last meeting if it would be useful.

Attached you will find a summary that I have put together to gain an understanding of the order. I have not had a lot of time to take a look at the full order since I felt that when the standard order was released for a $75 million dollar increase that this was the final decision of the Florida Public Service Commission. Since I saw that there is a date for another standard order I wanted to be kept in the loop from both a ratepayer perspective as well as a shareholder perspective. If the potential exists that there is a possibility that the recovery of ledger 3 assets are going to be recovered outside of normal ledger 3 depreciation, then I am concerned to the future/current disposition of these assets from book gain and tax gain perspective. If they are removed then the ratepayer has to be made whole if there are any sales of these assets in the future.

I see that there is accelerated recovery with taking the $314.2 million against the surplus reserve. I am still reviewing this. I think that we still have to maintain any of these assets on ledger 3 since there are vintage year assets that would need to be tracked. Are these going to be removed? If so, then how is the commission going to track any potential proceeds from the sale of these assets?

If they are not maintained in ledger 3 and there is a sale then this might have an impact on the gain on sale calculation with regard to any sale. We would need to track the vintage year data to carve out any potential sales of these plant assets. If there is a theoretical reserves versus any remaining net book values this might have an impact on the book gain on sale. If you are taking the position that all these assets are fully recovered from a regulatory perspective then any gain on the sale of these assets would have to be fully refunded to the ratepayer. The vintage year issue might have an impact on the tax depreciation side of the house since what is depreciated for tax purposes is different than what is recorded for book purposes. This will impact any calculated gain on sale for tax purposes since the tax basis might be different than the book basis. This will also be an issue with the removal of the Nuclear Upgrades. If these are removed from base rates and being treated similar to a fuel adjustment clause the vintage year data must be maintained if these assets are sold in the future. This would be for similar reasons just like the Cape & Riviera Site.

I noticed that the OPC Recommended Rate Formulas to calculate the estimated expenses have to be divided by 100 to calculate the proper estimated expense amount for OPC. This is probably a result of typing in the staff rate as a number and not a percentage. The rates to the left of the estimated expenses are incorrect as well. I will be fixing these on my end as I continue to look at what has been sent to me.

For example:

You will notice below that the Estimated Expenses of $10,155,632 should be divided by 100 to get the same amount as the Staff Recommended rates of $101,556.

The rate percentages are incorrect as well due to this calculation error. They should be estimated expenses/by estimated investment to yield the same 1.7% as the Staff rate column or estimated investment x OPC rates (if they are the same as staff's) or the OPC rates would have to be updated in the spreadsheet.

I do not know if this is important on your end but I am changing these calculations on a copy of the worksheet that you have sent to me so that I can summarize each recommendation to tie into the summary schedule that I have put together. I am going through the formulas and fixing these. Please let me know if there is a corrected version. Are the OPC rates that same as Staff's or do these have to change in both D Need and D Need(2).

This is why I put the summary together. I wanted to compare the old approved rates versus OPC and Staff recommendation to see how the full depreciation accrual has changed. The summary below compares each of the scenarios so I was trying to tie in D Need to my summary to make sure that it matches what has been completed.

Please let me know if you have an updated file.

Here are some initial observations that I noticed:

Cape & Riviera Site

| Sites to Recovery Sched. | Plant in Service | Reserve Balance | Rem Plant |
|--------------------------|------------------|-----------------|-----------|
| Cape Canaveral Site      | 187.5            | (152.2)         | 35.3      |
| Riviera Site             | 103.7            | (94.1)          | 9.6       |
|                          | 291.2            | (246.3)         | 44.9      |

Are these going to be added to the new repowered generating units? If so then, then how is the new cost going to take into account the old book costs for ledger 3 purposes? Since they have been fully recovered by the surplus reserve are the new ledger 3 amounts only going to reflect the new costs only? How are the vintage year issues being addressed for the old costs? If it will reflect only the new costs then all old ledger 3 amounts will be removed? This might not follow GAAP since from a strict asset perspective these assets might still exist with the new repowered generating units. How will the going forward depreciation reflect this vintage year issue?

Nuclear Upgrades

$168.2 million

Removed from Base Rates. Recovered through Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause. Removed from RateBase? Calculated Carrying Charges? Will the cash recovery in Base rates equal the new recovery in cash rates based upon the new Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause? Is this a break even for cash recovery or has the amount of time to recover these costs changed?

Obsolete Meters

Retired. Is there any salvage money that can be recovered for the scrap sale or sale of these meters? Will there be any cost of removal or are these being left in place? If they are being left in place then and they will be considered fully recovered will ledger 10 be adjusted to match ledger 3 to keep track of these assets? Ledger 3 plant should match ledger 10 accumulated depreciation reserves. These should be kept on the books until they are removed/sold or scrapped. Any money should be credited to the ratepayers.

Based upon the above reduction of the Depreciation Surplus/Over Recovery it appears that the Recovery Schedule items are being reduced against surplus refund immediately. What is going to be done with these plant assets? Are they being retired or sold? If they are going to be sold then if there is any gain on the sale of the plants then this would have to be refunded to the ratepayer. If these plants are not sold, what would be the new recovery period for these plants since it appears that they are being moved out of the normal depreciation recovery? Are they going to remain in Ledger 3 for book purposes since the normal depreciation recovery will be stopped?

Thanks for sending me this information this has been very helpful. I wish that I would have seen this information before the meeting to be informed. A lot of the issues that I have been submitting in my email correspondence were similar with regard to some of the outcome(s) of this case. I am going to fix the spreadsheets that have been sent and I will follow up with any other questions.

Thanks again for the information. It is greatly appreciated.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Mr. Crist,

I spoke to Jennifer from your office today. I have indicated to Jennifer that I am concerned for the Florida ratepayers/taxpayers and the shareholders of FPL with regard to the proposed 30% rate increase. I have indicated to Jennifer that I have not received a response from FPL with regard to my questions regarding the proposed rate increase. I told her that I was extremely concerned that my communication with regard to these matters might have an impact on me being gainfully employed in the future and the well being of my family.

I have told Jennifer that I have been in contact with US Federal Agencies with regard to this matter from a shareholder perspective and Public Utility Holding Act. So far I received some letters from the Florida Senators but I have not received any response from my local legislators with regard to specific email correspondence that I have forwarded to them regarding multiple issues.

I have been told from the SEC that my shareholder rights issue is a State issue therefore I need to make sure that the Financial Regulation department at the State makes sure that the Senior Executives at FPL honors my shareholder's rights with regard to my email questions that I have sent to them as a shareholder. There is no reason why there is no transparency from both the Florida Public Service Commission perspective as well as the Senior Executives of FPL. I know that this would be my ratepayer/taxpayer right as well as my shareholder right.

Jennifer asked me why I have been emailing this information to your office. There are a couple of reasons for this:

1. I think that a 30% rate increase during this time might cause a problem in the business sector and for taxpayers. If the cost to business increases this might lead to additional unemployment. In addition, this might lead to businesses relocating out of the State.
2. Back in 2005 as the Attorney General you signed off on the FPL rate agreement. I felt that I needed to keep you in the loop regarding some questions that should be asked before any rate increase is granted to FPL under the new rate case. I was concerned with the rate making design that was in the old signed off order.
3. I kept you in the loop regarding my FPL rate increase questions since I know that I have started this back in April/May of 2009. Since the Office of Public Counsel went out that they feel that there should be a rate decrease for some of the questions that I have raised I wanted to make sure that if my questioning gave rise to minimizing the rate increase to help both the ratepayers/taxpayers that I receive some recognition for my efforts. In addition, I want to make sure that from a shareholder perspective that if there is any exposure to liability with regarding to the current/proposed rate design at the company that if my questioning gave rise to safeguard some of this exposure that I receive some recognition for my efforts.

4. I have brought up the issue indirectly to Jennifer that I was concerned that all my correspondence might be related to an alleged speed camera infraction in the Town of Juno Beach. This is where FPL is located, and I thought that the Town would be able to fully support the allegation immediately with the appropriate backup. I did not indicate to Jennifer that this was related to a speed camera issue since I did not feel this was an issue for her to take a look at. I have sent numerous emails regarding this issue that I know that you have picked up. I know that there are a lot of State regulation issues with regard to the use of these cameras. I want to make sure that if the Town of Juno Beach can support the notice of infraction that they would send me the appropriate information so that I can minimize my cost with regard to this matter. In addition, as I have indicated in my email correspondence that sometimes a medical condition in my elbow acts up that prevents me from traveling alone. I have sent all my appropriate correspondence to the Town of Juno Beach and so far I have not heard back regarding these matters.

If you have any questions regarding this email in addition to the clarification of my conversation with Jennifer, please contact me through email at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-340-4956. I know that the White House and other Federal Agencies that I have been communicating with about these matters has no problem with communicating through email. I have received direct email communication from the White House with regard to some of these issues. There are very important issues that are at the Federal Level as well as the State Level that must be addressed to make sure that during these tuff economic times that we balance the needs of our Businesses, ratepayers/taxpayers and shareholders.

I am here to help. I am unemployed and I feel that my accounting expertise/ industry experience can be put to good use to help out during these tuff economic times.

Please thank Jennifer for her time. I did not get Jennifer's last name.

I hope that there is no typo(s) since my lower two right fingers sometimes numb up. I will check later to see if there is any typo(s).

I will continue to keep your office in the loop regarding these matters. I will contact the Financial Regulation department to forward my concerns about my shareholder rights.

Feel free to contact me if you need my help.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: RE: OPC Web Site - Unresolved Utilities Complaint Filed with PSC

Dear Mr. Kelly,

I think that the email below was the second email (7/16/2009) that I have posted to the OPC web site. I have been keeping the Governor, Chairman of the FPSC and the Staff at the PSC in the loop since April and May of 2009. I have sent my May 7th, 2009 FOIA request and my May 6th, 2009 FPSC email to the SEC on 6/15/2009 since I am extremely concerned that I have not received a response from FPL Executives regarding a request for information to take a look at their holding company structure. This might be a violation of my shareholders rights. I am still waiting for a response from Mr. Lew Hay and Mr. Sieving. The email that you have answered below was not the original email that has been sent (see below dated 7/7/2009). I have been keeping everyone in the loop from inception and I was concerned that my email correspondence triggered the questioning that I have seen in the newspaper regarding a potential request for a rate decrease. In my SEC correspondence I have indicated that I am extremely concerned with the impact on the ratepayers/taxpayer/shareholders of FPL since a delicate balance must be maintained in order to meet the Public Utility Holding Act requirements. My emails are quite specific and now that I have a direct email address you can take a look at the email below. I have over 10 years experience with the preparation of rate cases and rate case testimony interrogatory responses.

I am extremely concerned for my future employment prospects and the well being of my family but I feel that my questioning is very important to be entered into the current rate case.

Please see the original email that I have sent to the FPSC as a FOIA request as well as questions to the FPSC regarding the 2005 agreement with FPL.

The Governor and Chairman of the FPSC have been kept in the loop from the inception of my questioning . I will not accept that if my questioning has given rise to this questioning that it is going to be deflected to the PSC since my questioning is very specific and very important.

My questioning to the SEC is very specific with regard to the Public Utility Holding Act. I am extremely concerned that there is a multitude of non-regulated subsidiaries at FPL. We have to take a look at the holding company setup of this company to ensure that the proper balance is being maintained for all interested parties.

I have sent an email to the Chairman as well to be delivered to the General Counsel at the FPSC since I think that there are a lot of questions that have to be answered before a rate increase is granted. See email below as well.

I have been dealing with these issues for a decade.

There are a lot of other issues with this situation that I cannot get into right now but I wanted to put on the record that I have started this email chain and I wanted to make sure that for the record that any of this correspondence is not causing me to not be gainfully employed or impacted my family's well being.

All Federal Agencies have been kept in the loop with regard to my concerns.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-340-4956.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

To whom it may concern:

I have sent this email correspondence to the FPSC regarding the pending Florida Power & Light rate increase. I received a response from Mr. Barron L. Boster INHOF. What is very important is that the ratepayers of Florida are a very significant contributor to the cash flow of Florida Power & Light therefore there are questions that are very important to be answered before any rate increase is granted. The Florida Public Service Commission has indicated in their letter that all the appropriate information has been provided. The problem with FOIA requests is that there is no ability for the ratepayers to be able to ask appropriate questions in order to ensure that the current/future rate-making design with regard to the ratepayers rates is warranted. This is very important and since the ratepayers have very limited resources the only way this can be

Subject: Letter Received by General Counsel Patrick L. "Booter" IMHOF

Dear Ms. Edgar and Mr. Crist,

Please forward this email to Mr. Patrick L. "Booter" Imhof. I do not have his email address.

I have received the letter dated July 2nd, 2009 from Patrick L. "Booter" Imhof on July 6th, 2009. What is very alarming is that the Florida Public Service Commission is indicating that the Freedom of Information act request is only a request for public records and that the questions that are being asked in the request do not constitute a public records request.

What is very important here is that whether or not a person becomes an intervener in this proceeding, all pertinent questions should be reviewed in their entirety before any rate increase is granted.

The sheer fact that the Florida Public Service Commission is indicating that they can only provide public records may give rise to the possibility that information might be omitted from the proceeding that might give rise to better questioning with regard to the pending rate increase.

Yes, individual parties often do not have the financial resources to intervene in some proceedings but they might have the knowledge with regard to these matters to ask the appropriate questions before any rate increase is granted. If the questions that I have asked in my original FOIA request have not been answered, then how can the public have assurance that the Florida Public Service Commission has asked the appropriate questions of Florida Power & Light with regard to its pending rate increase filing?

All the questions that I have asked in the original FOIA request and as well with the follow up email correspondence would be very pertinent with regard to the pending rate increase request. These questions should have already been asked by the Florida Public Service Commission in order to determine if the accounting at the Utility is accurately supporting the existing and future utility rates that the company is charging its ratepayers. The possibility exists that the shareholder's of the company could have exposure as well.

I have sent an email to the Office of Public Counsel as per the letter in order to shed some light on the additional questions that should be answered before a final decision is made by the commission staff. All the questions are in the original FOIA request that I have submitted to the Florida Public Service Commission in addition to the email correspondence.

The questions are very specific in nature and in order for the Commission to complete its audit procedures of Florida Power & Light it should have in its possession public information that would be able to answer all the questions appropriately in a clear and concise manner.

The Florida Public Service Commission is being supported by the taxpayers/ratepayers of Florida, therefore all of the questioning in the FOIA request and email correspondence should have been answered by the Florida Power & Light and already be available to be released through the Freedom of Information request.

What I do not understand is how this information is not available under the normal due diligence that the Florida Public Service Commission would have to complete to ensure compliance with the Public Utility Holding Act's laws and regulations.

I am waiting for a response from the Office of Public Counsel but I think that all my questions should be presented in this case to make sure that every question is answered before any rate increase is granted. The Freedom of Information Act should bring the transparency needed to ensure that the ratepayers/shareholders best interests are being protected.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-340-4956 / 954-798-6127.

What do you think?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

To whom it may concern:

I am resending this email since I am trying to obtain information regarding holding company accounting. I have sent to FPL a request for information regarding the breakout of regulated and non-regulated entities. In addition, I have asked for segmented cash flow in order to determine the impacts of an old rate case agreement that was approved back in 2005. I am a ratepayer and a shareholder of FPL Group. I have asked a couple of times for a request of information regarding my concerns and I have not even received a response or acknowledgment that the email was received.

I just received a read receipt for a previous email and I was wondering if this email was received as well.

This is extremely important due to the proposed 30% pending rate increase that FPL has pending. I need to know from my shareholder rights that all my specific questions are being answered by the company.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-798-6127 / 954-340-4956.

I am forwarding this email since I have not heard back from FPL with regard to my request for information as an investor. I have sent 6 emails for a request for information and I have not heard back from the investor email address as well as Mr. Lew Hay and Mr. Sieving.

This information is very important as well since it will deal with the third party issues with regard to the holding company concept as it relates to regulated versus un-regulated entities at the Utility.

I hope that there is no defamation of character issues with regard to all of this correspondence. I am continuing to seek employment that matches my experience as outlined on my resume.

There should be at least an acknowledgement for the request for information.

I need a response with regard to this correspondence.

Thanks,

Dear Ms. Cole,

Has my FOIA request been submitted based upon the email below? I went to the Shareholders meeting yesterday and I wanted to ask about the annualized rates for Excess earnings. The forum at the shareholders meeting for this type of questioning is not conducive since some of these questions would need specific answers from the executives at FPL.

I feel at this point that the shareholders forum is not the place to ask this type of questioning and I would like to enter my questions into the rate case as an intervener. In addition I will be putting together a company list for FPL Group. With this I would like to know which companies the PSC regulates versus the non-regulated entities. I saw a presentation at the shareholder's meeting yesterday that showed a breakout of the Utility revenues versus NextEra Energy resources. I will be trying to put together a full entity list for FPL Group so that I can breakout the companies by regulated and non-regulated entities. I will be drafting an email to FPL executives regarding these breakouts. It appears that from 2007 to 2008 the mix of contributed earnings from Florida Power & Light versus NextEra Resources has changed. In 2008 NextEra Energy Resources earnings per share is larger than Florida Power & Light's. Do we know why this mix has changed? Of course I know that if the FPSC does not regulate the NextEra Energy Resources business entities that it would not be able to explain these issues but what I really need to know is that since the earnings contributions has changed from 2007 to 2008 I would need to see a segmented cash flow showing the cash coming into the regulated entities and then being utilized by the regulated entities. I know from past experience that since the Florida Power & Light business entity would be regulated for the Florida ratepayer that the accounting for these cash transactions would be very important. When the FOIA request is answered this would shed some light on the accounting for regulated versus non-regulated monies.

If need be I would like to schedule a meeting with FPL executives regarding some of these issues once I get up to speed on the entity relationships (i.e. regulated versus non-regulated entities).

Please let me know the status of the FOIA request.

I received the surveillance reports and I am taking a look at these. What I do not see on the surveillance reports is the full P&L to support the operating income on the reports. In addition, I do not see the over/under earnings calculations as I have asked for in my previous emails. I was very specific with regard to my questions and I feel that these can be answered specifically in a question and answer format.

My concern is the cash flow coming into the company. Regulated versus Non-regulated cash flows are very important when talking about revenue sharing mechanisms. If need be once I get up to speed I can do a lot of the work on my own. I would only need access to various ledgers at the company. I know that from a shareholder perspective that this information should be available. As I analyze the information I will put together an information request for the FPL executives. I did not think that the shareholder's meeting forum was the place to ask these specific questions since there was only a 2 minute time frame to speak. There was talk at the meeting regarding executive compensation. I need to see the cash transactions between the holding company and the regulated versus non-regulated entities to identify the major contributor of cash flow to the company.

I am going to be upfront with my concern that I hope that nothing being discussed through my FOIA request is having an impact on my current job search since I am unemployed. In addition, I want to make sure that this does not have any impact on my family.

I hope that there is no typo(s). If I find any I will fix them and resend the email.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-798-6127.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Mr. Maurey,

Please send me all twelve months of the Rateyear surveillance reports at .05 x 20 pages or $1 per report. This should be no more than $15. Since this is in the best interest of the ratepayers there should be no charge for the copies of this information since I am paying for this in my taxes and my utility rates. If there is a need to charge me for this information then please let me know where to mail the payment. I am currently unemployed therefore I would like to keep the cost of this correspondence to the minimum. Electronic production of these documents would keep both the cost to ratepayers and me to a minimum from a postage/labor perspective. Email would also save a lot of money with the turnaround of this information. When I worked on these types of proceedings in the past we used electronic documents to both answer and email interrogatory responses. This included using spreadsheets when the source information was prepared in a spreadsheet format. If the surveillance reports are being prepared this way then forwarding this information would be the least cost approach since no work would be required to provide me with this information. Since there is an indication that there is limited resources this would be a way to keep both the labor/cost down.

Do you agree?

Please see comments below. In the event specifics answers to the questions below cannot be answered let this email serve as a FOIA request.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Re: Request for specific answers to the questions below including the impact of traditional ratemaking versus revenue sharing plans

To whom it may concern:

Pursuant to the Freedom of Information Law, I request a copy of all accounting information related to the specific answers to all questions below.

Please provide all accounting journal entries based upon Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. This should include a chronological record of accounting journal entries for the recording of all journal entries related to any regulated ratemaking assumptions below.

All accounting entries should be able to support any revenue sharing mechanisms.

Please provide a cash flow statement to show the changes in cash balances as a result of these transactions. This should be completed on a segmented cash flow basis to potentially show the movement of cash to holding/affiliated companies of FPL. These cash flows should lay out how dividends are being paid out of the holding company of FPL. They should include the accounting for the funding of the dividends/executive compensation plans at the holding company level. If there is an accrual at the holding company level for executive compensation then please provide the source funding of this compensation as it relates to regulated versus non-regulated monies.

In the event that this FOIA request is not going to yield specific answers to the questions below then I would propose to include the questioning below in an interrogatory format for the new proposed rate case that FPL is filing. In this forum all specific questions would have to be answered. I understand that the resources at the commission is limited but since I have extensive experience with these type of proceedings as long as the specific information is provided I would be able calculate the appropriate studies on my own which would not require help from the commission staff. Since I am both a ratepayer and a shareholder there should be no problem with the release of all specific information in order for me to complete my own analysis. This will ensure from both a ratepayer and shareholder perspective I am receiving the best possible rates and return on my investment.

Please provide a reconciliation of the PSC annual report to the FPL 10K reported numbers. The capitalization does not match and I was wondering why.

On March 19th, 2009, The Office of the Attorney General has issued a memorandum regarding the release of information under The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), 5 U.S.C. § 552.

This indicates "The Freedom of Information Act should be administered with clear presumption: In the case of doubt, openness prevails".

"This memorandum is meant to underscore that commitment and to ensure that it is realized in practice"

Due to the new nature of this program a need to clarify some of the underlying assumptions under this request might be required.

Due to the delicate nature of this information I would like to make sure that this correspondence request/communication does not have any impact on my current/future employment. I can only hope that this request is viewed as a public service request for the ratepayers of the Florida Power & Light and does not have any impact on my family's well being.

Please respect my family and myself in that this needs to be kept confidential since I do not need any more defamation to occur. I do not want to be out of work any longer or subject to these issues anymore. I try to do the best job possible and bring up issues that I think might be important to the ratepayer's of Florida Power & Light Company.

Please forward this information to the following address:

Robert H. Smith
11340 Heron Bay Blvd.
Coral Springs, Florida 33076

Or email this information to rpjrb@yahoo.com.

If you have any questions about this request please do not hesitate to ask.

Thank you for your consideration and cooperation.

Very truly yours,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: RE: Questions to consider in the New Case being filed for a $1 billion Base Rate Increase

Mr. Smith:

You have requested several documents. FPL's annual report can be found on our website. The depreciation study is available on-line via the PSC's docket system, Docket No. 090130, and the document numbers for the depreciation study are 02279-09 through 02282-09. Finally, we do not maintain earnings surveillance reports in an electronic format. We can provide any of those reports at $.05 a page. A typical surveillance report is about 20 pages.

In addition, the following responses relate to your latest email and various questions:

1-We only maintain earnings surveillance reports as hard copies and we can fax you the 2008 reports.

Rob Smith response: Please provide all rateyear surveillance earnings cost at $.05 per page no more than $15. Please provide the annualized 30 day commercial rates that have been used in the past for each month provided.

2-We have not conducted a study of the difference between revenue sharing and traditional regulation.

Rob Smith response: Please provide this analysis as it relates to making sure that in the best interest of the ratepayers that the revenue sharing mechanism is not costing the ratepayers more money than under a traditional ratemaking plan.

3-The fuel adjustment clause is a separate process from base rate cases and we conduct annual fuel proceedings with hearings each November.

Rob Smith response: The only issue with this is when they are filing for a base rate increase they will be using test year data in which there might be an adjustment in base rate fuel. Are you indicating that all fuel is being excluded from base rates? If not, then the fuel adjustment clause should not be considered separately when the fuel costs that might be included in the test year data for the RateCase might be higher and not reflect the reduction in fuel costs.

Is any fuel adjustment clause fuel charges are going to be rolled into base rates?

4-Revenue sharing only involves regulated revenue from FPL, not any of FPL's affiliates or parent company. Incremental revenue from non-regulated sources are not included.

Rob Smith response: Again please support the position that no regulated cash is being used to finance any of the non-regulated sources of incremental revenue.

If there is subsidization then the ratepayer might have recourse to revenue sharing if they have not been paid an adequate return for financing these initiatives.

5-Ratepayers are not charged for any cost associated with revenue sharing.

Rob Smith response: This is understood but how are you making sure that the ratepayer is not being charged for costs associated with the production of these revenues? If there is base rate recovery for costs and some of the base rate recovery is for O&M, Fuel etc. then any revenue sharing should take into account that the possibility exists that the cost might exceed the revenue generation which would lead to the potential that the sharing of revenues might have needed to be maintained to potential costs that exceed the revenue generation. From a traditional ratemaking perspective this would automatically accounted for by using an operating income approach. This takes into account revenue's less expenses which translates to operating income at the utility.

6-In 2005, the PSC conducted a full rate case which resulted in the current Stipulation.

Rob Smith response: Please provide all interrogatory responses with regard to accepting the current stipulation.

7-In the event there is a refund under revenue sharing, interest would be applied at the 30-day commercial paper rate.

Rob Smith response: Please provide the annualized 30 day commercial paper rate for the rateyear. These rates should be for the same period of the surveillance reports.

8-The Commission looks at storm repair costs in any storm recovery proceedings to ensure the costs are reasonable, relate to storms, and are not recovered in base rates. Any storm cost recovery is independent of revenue sharing.

Rob Smith response: Is there any base rate recovery of storm recovery currently in base rates? If so is FPL recording a regulatory receivable for the recovery of these monies in base rates? Remember if the company was under traditional ratemaking before the revenue sharing then I am sure that there was a base rate recovery of these costs prior to the change. This is very important from a cash flow perspective. If there is an amount collected in base rates for previous storm recoveries where is this cash being utilized currently? You would not be able to indicate that the company is not collecting in base rates cash related to storm costs if prior to the change there was a base rate recovery for storm costs.

9-The S&P methodology considers Purchase Power Agreements as a debt equivalent in the evaluation of capital structure. Recognizing that equity costs more than debt, the Commission ensures equity in the capital structure is not overstated.

Rob Smith response: Based upon the response above in which there was an indication that there was no study conducted to compare a traditional ratemaking plan versus the revenue sharing plan how the commission ensure that the capital structure is not being overstated. If under traditional ratemaking the overall cost of money is lower than the current revenue sharing mechanism this might translate to higher rates to the ratepayers. Unless a comparison is made and an overall cost of money is being maintained by the commission/company I would need a detail response to support that the current revenue sharing plan if converted to a traditional ratemaking plan would not be costing the customer more in their rates.

How are you determining that the capital structure is not being overstated lacking the study?

10-The 11.75% ROE was agreed to by the parties as part of the Stipulation approved in 2005. Recently, in 2009, as the result of a full evidentiary hearing the Commission authorized an ROE of 11.25% for Tampa Electric Company.

Rob Smith response: The ROE is only one side of the story since the revenue sharing is not under a traditional ratemaking methodology. It appears that the ROE under the current financial market scenarios is too high. If the traditional ratemaking methodology supports a lower overall cost of money and we are in agreement that debt is usually cheaper than equity then a study to compare the current revenue sharing mechanism versus a traditional ratemaking would be warranted. This would more evident if the traditional ratemaking plan translates to higher over earnings as compared to the current revenue sharing mechanism.

11-Both revenue sharing and the concept of a Generation Base Rate Adjustment were part of the Stipulation agreed to by the Office of Public Counsel and the Attorney General. The Stipulation terminates at the end of 2009 and we are currently involved in a full rate case. The schedule for this case can be accessed from our website.

Rob Smith response: Since there is a full rate case then a study should be conducted to compare the two types of ratemaking design. I think that this study should be included in the new rate case to compare the overall cost of money under a traditional ratemaking plan versus the current revenue sharing plan. If it is in the best interest of the ratepayers then this would be a fiduciary duty of the PSC to ensure that the proposed rate design in the new rate case yield's the best cost savings to the ratepayers of Florida.

The current rate case workload at the Commission is extensive, perhaps the highest level ever, and we have limited staff resources. Any future requests for documents should be directed to Ms. Ann Cole as a public records request. Her contact information is as follows:

Subject: Questions to consider in the New Case being filed for a $1 billion Base Rate Increase

Dear Mr. Maurey and Mr. Devlin,

I took a look at the 2005 Petition for rate increase by Florida Power & Light Company. Please let me know if you can send me the PDF files for the surveillance reports.

Is this an option? If no, what would be the reason for this? I would like to keep the cost/time to a minimum with these requests so that I can review quickly.

I am still reviewing this agreement but I understand that this is what is currently in place. I would like to answer these questions for the new case that is being presented to staff.

Has any studies being conducted for the revenue sharing plan as stipulated below versus the traditional ratemaking excess earnings test? I would be curious to see if FPL is maintaining the money cost of money reports based upon its current capitalization at the company. If so, I would like to see these studies to see the cost/benefit impacts to the ratepayers for this type of revenue sharing plan.

Does the FPSC complete a FCA (fuel cost adjustment) reconciliation? If so, is this available? It would be very interesting to see what the proposal for FPL is to move some of these costs into base rate recoveries. I think that there is an existing rate increase in the fuel adjustment clause that is being currently collected in rates. I think that this might be the first 8% etc. If the fuel costs have gone down are we now giving this benefit back to the customer? Why would we want to roll the existing rate increases into base rates to find out the cost of fuel as gone down? We should be very careful here since this case is being done when the fuel costs were high. This might be reflected in the test year data for the RateCase. Is this true?

I am still reviewing some of the information. If I have any additional questions I will send an email.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

I have a couple of questions:

How can the Revenue Sharing Incentive Plan exclude incremental revenues attributed to a business combination or acquisition involving FPL, its parent, or its affiliates whether inside or outside the state of Florida?

We would have to take a look at the holding company structure in which some of these incremental revenues might have been financed with ratepayer money. The primary contributor of cash flow to a utility is the ratepayer therefore it would be very possible that the customer might have subsidized these incremental revenues therefore the customer should share in the benefits of some of these incremental revenue if there is proof that they have financed/subsidized the costs associated with the generation of the incremental revenues.

Years ago when I worked up north for a major utility there was incremental revenues generated at our utility and the commission would review how these revenues were generated or financed. If the ratepayer financed/subsidized any of the costs the commission would determine a sharing mechanism for the ratepayer to share in the revenues generated.

Another issue here is that since the revenue sharing mechanism is only looking retail base revenues another question comes into play with regard to cost:

What if the ratepayer is being charged for costs associated with these incremental revenues? FPL would share in the revenue aspect of the incremental revenues and the ratepayer might be paying for extra costs associated with the generation of these revenues.

Again when I was up North we had to take a look at the definition of Utility revenues versus non-utility revenues. We have to remember that from a cash flow perspective most of the cash flow is generated by the ratepayers of Florida. If they are Financing/Subsidizing the costs to generate these incremental revenues then FPL should not exclude the costs associated with the generation of these incremental revenues.

Up North we usually did a full blown ROE excess earnings test to make sure that the commission had the opportunity to exclude items from RateBase to calculate the overall ROE if they deemed that the costs were not a benefit to the customers.

If the costs associated with the generation of these incremental revenues are being Financed/Subsidized by the ratepayer, is the ratepayer receiving a rate of return to make them whole? The first answer to this would be that if there is a holding company structure at FPL and most of the cash is generated by the ratepayer then the probability that the ratepayer is Financing/Subsidizing the generation of the incremental revenue is very high.

c. Revenue exclusions - The Revenue Sharing Incentive Plan and the corresponding revenue sharing thresholds and revenue caps are intended to relate only to retail base rate revenues of FPL based on its current structure and regulatory framework. Thus, for example, incremental revenues attributable to a business combination or acquisition involving FPL, its parent, or its affiliates, whether inside or outside the state of Florida, or revenues from any clause, surcharge or other recovery mechanism other than retail base rates, shall be excluded in determining retail base rate revenues for purposes of revenue sharing under this Stipulation and Settlement.

Please explain what the overall rate of return is for the cost of money versus the commercial paper rate to retail customers of record. If the commercial rate of interest is lower than the overall rate of return why should the customer not receive credit at the overall cost of money?

Remember the ratepayers have an overall cost of money associated with paying for the cost of service for the company.

Up North we used to calculate carrying charges on the excess earnings on a monthly basis to increase the deferred credit (253 FERC Account) that was being returned to the customer. This made the ratepayer/customer whole since they were paying for the overall cost of money in their rates.

7. All revenue-sharing refunds will be paid with interest at the 30-day commercial paper rate to retail customers of record during the last three months of each applicable refund period based on their proportionate share of base rate revenues for the refund period. For purposes of calculating interest only, it will be assumed that revenues to be refunded were collected evenly throughout the preceding refund period. All refunds with interest will be in the form of a credit on the customers' bills beginning with the first day of the first billing cycle of the second month after the end of the applicable refund period (or, in the case of a partial calendar year refund, after the end of that calendar year). Refunds to former customers will be completed as expeditiously as reasonably possible.

How is the commission taking a look at this account for work order costs associated with property insurance costs? Is this account capturing the costs associated with Hurricane repairs? What is interesting below if that "no revenues contemplated by this Section 10 shall be included in the computation of retail base rate revenues for purposes of revenue sharing under this Stipulation and Settlement", this would appear to be making sure that we are looking at cost less recoveries as total costs. This is a contradiction of the Revenue Incentive Sharing Plan in which the costs are not even being considered.

10. No Party to this Stipulation and Settlement shall appeal the FPSC's Final Order in Docket No. 041291-EL. Further, Parties agree to the following provisions relative to the target level and funding of Account No. 228.1 and recovery of any deficits in such Account:

228.1 Accumulated provision for property insurance.

c. No revenues contemplated by this Section 10 shall be included in the computation of retail base rate revenues for purposes of revenue sharing under this Stipulation and Settlement.

How does Standard and Poor's methodology compare to using the overall cost of money? Why would you cap the equity ratio when this can be adjusted or recomputed based upon the borrowing of the company?

Up North we recalculated the overall cost of capital (cost of money) every month to compute our monthly excess earnings. We found that at times debt was cheaper than equity which if the debt/equity ratio changed we would true up the excess earnings calculation based upon this monthly change. Remember FPL is retiring and issuing new bonds which if issued at a lower rate than equity could cause a reduction in the overall cost of money. In most rate proceedings we found that it was cheaper for the ratepayer when we issued debt therefore we used to recalculate the overall debt to equity ratio to benefit the ratepayer if the overall cost of money was declining as a result of the retiring of debt and issuing new debt at a lower cost (interest rate).

15. For surveillance reporting requirements and all regulatory purposes, FPL's ROE will be calculated based upon an adjusted equity ratio as follows. FPL's adjusted equity ratio will be capped at 55.83% as included in FPL's projected 1998 Rate of Return Report for surveillance purposes. The adjusted equity ratio equals common equity divided by the sum of common equity, preferred equity, debt and off-balance sheet obligations. The amount used for off-balance sheet obligations will be calculated per the Standard & Poor's methodology.

How does the ROE of 11.75% compare to other company returns excluding utilities? I know that FPL is paying a dividend therefore what is the overall return a shareholder is earning with dividends and a ROE of 11.75%?

I am sure that in this business environment it is quite high? Is this correct?

16. Effective on the Implementation Date, FPL will continue to operate without an authorized Return on Equity (ROE) range for the purpose of addressing earnings levels, and the revenue sharing mechanism herein described will be the appropriate and exclusive mechanism to address earnings levels, but an ROE of 11.75% shall be used for all other regulatory purposes.

How come these are not included in Ratebase with an earned return? Remember if the costs associated with the new plant exceed the base rate recovery and the Revenue incentive sharing plan only takes a look at the revenues excluding the costs associated with the operation of the new plant the ratepayer might be sharing in too much revenue which might be needed to pay for the new plant that has been placed in service.

Up North we calculated AFUDC until the plant was placed into service. Then all associated plant in service costs were placed into Ratebase and costs of maintaining the plant (payroll, taxes etc.) were included in the cost of service. This methodology was then applied to the excess earnings test which was:

RateBase x Allowed rate of return (overall cost of money) = Earned level of operating income

If the actual earnings exceeded the earned level of operating income then the excess earnings were deferred in a 253 account and given back to the customer in the following year. A carry charge was calculated on these amounts at the overall cost of money. This way both revenues and costs associated with placing the plant in service were captured. How come the traditional approach is not being used to calculate the revenue sharing at the company?

This included RateBase and Cost of Service accounting to make sure that both revenue from the operations of the plant and costs associated with the operations of the plant were captured. Of course you would also have to look at depreciation reserves related to the life studies of the plant in service. At times cost of removal became an issue with the under/over recovery of depreciation in rates.

17. For any power plant that is approved pursuant to the Florida Power Plant Siting Act (PPSA) and achieves commercial operation within the term of this Stipulation and Settlement, the costs of which are not recovered fully through a clause or clauses, FPL's base rates will be increased by the annualized base revenue requirement for the first 12 months of operation, reflecting the costs upon which the cumulative present value revenue requirements (CPVRR) were or are predicated, and pursuant to which a need determination was granted by the FPSC, such adjustment to be reflected on FPL's customer bills by increasing base charges, and non-clause recoverable credits, by an equal percentage. FPL will begin applying the incremental base rate charges required by this Stipulation and Settlement to meter readings made on and after the commercial in service date of any such power plant. Such adjustment shall be referred to as a Generation Base Rate Adjustment (GBRA). The GBRA will be calculated using an 11.75% ROE and the capital structure as per Section 15 above. FPL will calculate and submit for

Mr. Maurey,

I have left a voicemail at your office on Friday to respond to this email quickly.

I will have to make arrangements for a fax time for you to send this information. I do not however understand why you cannot print the documents to a PDF file. Sometimes you cannot use the information from a fax in an electronic format since OCR software may have a difficulty with recognizing the document. Most of the correspondence on the FPSC site is in a PDF format therefore I do not understand why this would be a problem. If this is the only way I will have to make some time for you to call so that I can receive this information.

I will let you know schedule permitting when we can move this forward.

My fax number is my phone number (954) 340-4956 and I will have to make sure that my fax machine is on to receive this information.

How can you send the previous information in a PDF format and not this new information? Is there any reason why this cannot happen?

I will send you an email to set up a time.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Florida has a very broad open records law. An FIA request would not affect the availability of information that is already available to you through your present inquiry.

Thank you for your interest in the FPL case.

Are the Earnings Surveillance reports in an excel format or word format? If so, you can print these to a PDF file and email. This will save time and money. If you need to fax this information to me I would have to be at home to receive the fax. It is very simple to scan or print to a PDF file and email. Please let me know if this is an option.

I will take a look at the FPL's 2005 Stipulation and let you know if I have any questions.

I am looking forward to hearing from the depreciation person.

Did you contact the tax person to see if I can speak to them regarding the current/deferred tax issues with regard to ratemaking versus GAAP accounting?

I would like to speak to someone regarding this issue as well.

I will be working on looking at all the correspondence and put together an email to send so that I can receive direct answers to my questions.

If you would like I can send a formal Freedom of Information Act request if this is much easier but I thought that an email would work.

Thanks for your time yesterday.

Dear Commissioner Edgar and Mr. Crist,

FYI

I have sent these questions to staff so that I can gain a better understanding of the current ratemaking policies at FPL. Since there is a new RateCase pending, I thought that I would familiarize myself with the current and proposed ratemaking issues that the ratepayers might face with this new case. I am looking for some PDF files with regard to the surveillance reports. I thought that this would be the easiest way in terms of cost for me to obtain this information. Since all other documents are being published on the FPSC site using this method and the cost of a PDF writer to print the documents to PDF is free or inexpensive I thought that this would be the easiest method for me to receive any of my information requests. I am unemployed and I want to keep my cost to a minimum.

Mr. Crist,

Did you sign the order below?

Thanks,

Subject: Questions to consider in the New Case being filed for a $1 billion Base Rate Increase

Dear Mr. Maurey and Mr. Devlin,

I took a look at the 2005 Petition for rate increase by Florida Power & Light Company. Please let me know if you can send me the PDF files for the surveillance reports.

Is this an option? If no, what would be the reason for this? I would like to keep the cost/time to a minimum with these requests so that I can review quickly.

I am still reviewing this agreement but I understand that this is what is currently in place. I would like to answer these questions for the new case that is being presented to staff.

Has any studies being conducted for the revenue sharing plan as stipulated below versus the traditional ratemaking excess earnings test? I would be curious to see if FPL is maintaining the money cost of money reports based upon its current capitalization at the company. If so, I would like to see these studies to see the cost/benefit impacts to the ratepayers for this type of revenue sharing plan.

Does the FPSC complete a FCA (fuel cost adjustment) reconciliation? If so, is this available? It would be very interesting to see what the proposal for FPL is to move some of these costs into base rate recoveries. I think that there is an existing rate increase in the fuel adjustment clause that is being currently collected in rates. I think that this might be the first 8% etc. If the fuel costs have gone down are we now giving this benefit back to the customer? Why would we want to roll the existing rate increases into base rates to find out the cost of fuel as gone down? We should be very careful here since this case is being done when the fuel costs were high. This might be reflected in the test year data for the RateCase. Is this true?

I am still reviewing some of the information. If I have any additional questions I will send an email.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

I have a couple of questions:

How can the Revenue Sharing Incentive Plan exclude incremental revenues attributed to a business combination or acquisition involving FPL, its parent, or its affiliates whether inside or outside the state of Florida?

We would have to take a look at the holding company structure in which some of these incremental revenues might have been financed with ratepayer money. The primary contributor of cash flow to a utility is the ratepayer therefore it would be very possible that the customer might have subsidized these incremental revenues therefore the customer should share in the benefits of some of these incremental revenue if there is proof that they have financed/subsidized the costs associated with the generation of the incremental revenues.

Years ago when I worked up north for a major utility there was incremental revenues generated at our utility and the commission would review how these revenues were generated or financed. If the ratepayer financed/subsidized any of the costs the commission would determine a sharing mechanism for the ratepayer to share in the revenues generated. Another issue here is that since the revenue sharing mechanism is only looking retail base revenues another question comes into play with regard to cost:

What if the ratepayer is being charged for costs associated with these incremental revenues? FPL would share in the revenue aspect of the incremental revenues and the ratepayer might be paying for extra costs associated with the generation of these revenues.

Again when I was up North we had to take a look at the definition of Utility revenues versus non-utility revenues. We have to remember that from a cash flow perspective most of the cash flow is generated by the ratepayers of Florida. If they are Financing/Subsidizing the costs to generate these incremental revenues then FPL should not exclude the costs associated with the generation of these incremental revenues.

Up North we usually did a full blown ROE excess earnings test to make sure that the commission had the opportunity to exclude items from RateBase to calculate the overall ROE if they deemed that the costs were not a benefit to the customers.

If the costs associated with the generation of these incremental revenues are being Financed/Subsidized by the ratepayer, is the ratepayer receiving a rate of return to make them whole? The first answer to this would be that if there is a holding company structure at FPL and most of the cash is generated by the ratepayer then the probability that the ratepayer is Financing/Subsidizing the generation of the incremental revenue is very high.

c. Revenue exclusions - The Revenue Sharing Incentive Plan and the corresponding revenue sharing thresholds and revenue caps are intended to relate only to retail base rate revenues of FPL based on its current structure and regulatory framework. Thus, for example, incremental revenues attributable to a business combination or acquisition involving FPL, its parent, or its affiliates, whether inside or outside the state of Florida, or revenues from any clause, surcharge or other recovery mechanism other than retail base rates, shall be excluded in determining retail base rate revenues for purposes of revenue sharing under this Stipulation and Settlement.

Please explain what the overall rate of return is for the cost of money versus the commercial paper rate to retail customers of record. If the commercial rate of interest is lower than the overall rate of return why should the customer not receive credit at the overall cost of money?

Remember the ratepayers have an overall cost of money associated with paying for the cost of service for the company.

Up North we used to calculate carrying charges on the excess earnings on a monthly basis to increase the deferred credit (253 FERC Account) that was being returned to the customer. This made the ratepayer/customer whole since they were paying for the overall cost of money in their rates.

7. All revenue-sharing refunds will be paid with interest at the 30-day commercial paper rate to retail customers of record during the last three months of each applicable refund period based on their proportionate share of base rate revenues for the refund period. For purposes of calculating interest only, it will be assumed that revenues to be refunded were collected evenly throughout the preceding refund period. All refunds with interest will be in the form of a credit on the customers' bills beginning with the first day of the first billing cycle of the second month after the end of the applicable refund period (or, in the case of a partial calendar year refund, after the end of that calendar year). Refunds to former customers will be completed as expeditiously as reasonably possible.

How is the commission taking a look at this account for work order costs associated with property insurance costs? Is this account capturing the costs associated with Hurricane repairs? What is interesting below is that "no revenues contemplated by this Section 10 shall be included in the computation of retail base rate revenues for purposes of revenue sharing under this Stipulation and Settlement", this would appear to be making sure that we are looking at cost less recoveries as total costs. This is a contradiction of the Revenue Incentive Sharing Plan in which the costs are not even being considered.

10. No Party to this Stipulation and Settlement shall appeal the FPSC's Final Order in Docket No. 041291-El. Further, Parties agree to the following provisions relative to the target level and funding of Account No. 228.1 and recovery of any deficits in such Account:

228.1 Accumulated provision for property insurance.

c. No revenues contemplated by this Section 10 shall be included in the computation of retail base rate revenues for purposes of revenue sharing under this Stipulation and Settlement.

How does Standard and Poor's methodology compare to using the overall cost of money? Why would you cap the equity ratio when this can be adjusted or recomputed based upon the borrowing of the company?

Up North we recalculated the overall cost of capital (cost of money) every month to compute our monthly excess earnings. Dear Ms. Menasco,

Thanks for your response. I know that my emails were delivered to Mr. Klement and I will follow through with getting the email correspondence to Mr. Stevens when his email address is set up at the Commission.

Do all the parties of record and interested parties have access to this information and are they aware that the 11/18/2008 correspondence file exists?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Mr. Smith:

I can not confirm whether or not Commissioner Klement or Commissioner Stevens have reviewed the correspondence. I am in the Clerk's office and only deal with document filings.

Docket 080677 was opened in 2008. The correspondence file was documented on 11/18/08. All correspondence is appened to existing correspondence files. When the correspondence files are opened, the most recent entries are closest to the top of the document.

Dear Ms. Menasco,

Thanks for your response.

Did Mr. Klement receive the correspondence as well and when will Mr. Stevens be able to review this email correspondence or when will I be able to forward this correspondence to Mr. Stevens? I would like to know that they have received this information as well since this is a very important aspect of this case.

Is there a reason why the record is being recorded as 11/18/2008 and not as a 2009? It appears that this docket is at the bottom of the document index as filed as a 2008 item.

Thanks in advance and again thanks for your help.

Dear Ms. Cole,

What about the October 23rd 1:25PM email? Has this been added to the public record? I sent this when I had to take my son for an MRI and I wanted to make sure that this was made part of the public record as well. This email was a summary of what I thought the issues were with regard to any surplus the company might have from over recoveries. The follow up email October 29th, 2009 was the details to back up the October 23rd 1:25PM email. I sent the October 23rd email to for a heads up with regard to the cash flow issues with over recoveries at the company. My October 29th email went through the detailed testimony to backup the October 23rd email.

Will this be added to the public record?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: Depreciation Recovery

Dear Commissioner's,

K Michael Davis – Depreciation Testimony

Where is the over collection of the depreciation money? Is this still residing in the company's cash account (131 Account) or where has this money been spent? The fact is that this money was collected in cash rates therefore if the cash is not available then where did the money go? How come there were no proactive adjustments to compensate over time the return of these over collections? How many depreciation studies were conducted from the 2005 case versus the current case to see how these over recoveries grew over time?

This is very important since all cost of service items have the possibility for an over collection mode. It is very important to account for these over collections since this is real cash money being collected from the customer. If there was an under recovery in rates it would be very natural for the company to make the expenditures out of the cash reserves. Conversely the money that is over collected should be accumulated in the company's cash account (131).

If there is significant over recoveries then it is very important to know the magnitude of the surplus cash that the company has or should have.

If the money has not been accumulated then where did it go? Did it go to regulated entities or does the possibility exist that it went to non-regulated subsidiaries?

This is a very important concept in this case from both the shareholders perspective and ratepayer perspective.

The shareholders would want to know this information from an investment perspective as well as for due diligence/compliance for ratepayer.

The possibility exists that there might be exposure for the accounting of this cash.

Who is the primary contributor to the cash flow of the company? If it is the ratepayers, then this type of review is very important.

If the company had this money in surplus in the 131 account then the current rate increase request might be able to be minimized for a period of time. What is the annual over collection amount for this over recovery? This annual over recovery might be able to be given back as a reduction to minimize some of the requested rate increase.

All recoveries have to be looked this way and this is what I have been concerned about with the initial FOIA request and my request for information from the Senior Executives of the Company.

Again I have not heard back from the Senior Executives as of today.

The answers to these questions from a cash perspective should be very easy to answer from an accounting perspective. They should be able to show the flow of cash for the over recovery to where the money has been spent.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Cole,

Thanks for the information. I would think that this information would be available as a download like all other correspondence on the Docket.

I just received an email from the SEC with regard to archived web cast files as it relates to SEC matters. Apparently they make all web casts available as a download from their web site at no cost.

Initially I would like to purchase the video of the 23rd hearing.

I have to go through my correspondence to see if this would be enough.

I will let you know.

I would think that all interested parties in this matter would want to have this information made available on the web site. This should be a no cost option that the commission provides for interested parties that need to review testimony. Will the testimony be made available on the docket?

Do you know off hand if my last email regarding the over recoveries has been place in the docket just like my other correspondence?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

Based upon section 350.042(1) and 350.042(2), I would think that all of my questions would be allowed to be asked. Is this the case? I would also think that based upon the public announcement of the hearing and the ability for the public to hear the meeting that this would not be considered an informal conference call. I thought that moving the communications into a public forum would make sure that all communications between the Utility and the Florida Public Service Commission would be open to the public. Is this the case?

I would also think that based upon 350.042 (1) and (2) that I would not be considered a non-party. I am a residential ratepayer and a shareholder of the company as well. I would think that based upon my ratepayer rights I would be afforded to ask the Commissioner's/Commission Staff any type of question regarding this rate proceeding. In addition, as a shareholder of FPL I should be able to ask any of FPL's staff any type of question regarding this rate proceeding. Based upon the Statutes below as well as my legal rights as a shareholder I should be covered from both perspectives.

I am sending this since I am confused as to why I would not be able to ask a question in a public meeting that was made available to the public. Please clarify this based upon the Florida Statutes. I know that FPL staff would have to be able to explain why I would not be able to ask these questions from a shareholder's perspective as well since it would be my legal right to do so. I have asked these same questions of Mr. Lew Hay and Mr. Sieving and I have not heard back from them regarding some of the same type of questioning. Since I have not heard back this would be a good forum to ask them the same type of questions.

Please let me know if I can send another Freedom of Information request requesting the backup to the $78 million and the accounting treatment of this adjustment. This is why I have asked this question. I do not understand why I would not be able based upon 350.042 (1) and (2) from a ratepayer perspective.

I have tried to ask the questions in the meeting since I thought that this would be the forum to do so. Please let me know why 350.042 (1) and (2) would not cover my type of questioning.

Thanks in advance for your help.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

CHAPTER 350

FLORIDA PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

C00081

350.042 Ex parte communications.--

- (1) A commissioner should accord to every person who is legally interested in a proceeding, or the person's lawyer, full right to be heard according to law, and, except as authorized by law, shall neither initiate nor consider ex parte communications concerning the merits, threat, or offer of reward in any proceeding other than a proceeding under s. 120.54 or s. 120.565, workshops, or internal affairs meetings. No individual shall discuss ex parte with a commissioner the merits of any issue that he or she knows will be filed with the commission within 90 days. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to commission staff.
- (2) The provisions of this section shall not prohibit an individual residential ratepayer from communicating with a commissioner, provided that the ratepayer is representing only himself or herself, without compensation.
- (3) This section shall not apply to oral communications or discussions in scheduled and noticed open public meetings of educational programs or of a conference or other meeting of an association of regulatory agencies.
- (4) If a commissioner knowingly receives an ex parte communication relative to a proceeding other than as set forth in subsection (1), to which he or she is assigned, he or she must place on the record of the proceeding copies of all written communications received, all written responses to the communications, and a memorandum stating the substance of all oral communications received and all oral responses made, and shall give written notice to all parties to the communication that such matters have been placed on the record. Any party who desires to respond to an ex parte communication may do so. The response must be received by the commission within 10 days after receiving notice that the ex parte communication has been placed on the record. The commissioner may, if he or she deems it necessary to eliminate the effect of an ex parte communication received by him or her, withdraw from the proceeding, in which case the chair shall substitute another commissioner for the proceeding.
- (5) Any individual who makes an ex parte communication shall submit to the commission a written statement describing the nature of such communication, to include the name of the person making the communication, the name of the commissioner or commissioners receiving the communication, copies of all written communications made, all written responses to such communications, and a memorandum stating the substance of all oral communications received and all oral responses made. The commission shall place on the record of a proceeding all such communications.
- (6) Any commissioner who knowingly fails to place on the record any such communications, in violation of the section, within 15 days of the date of such communication is subject to removal and may be assessed a civil penalty not to exceed $5,000.
- (7)(a) It shall be the duty of the Commission on Ethics to receive and investigate sworn complaints of violations of this section pursuant to the procedures contained in ss. 112.322-112.3241.
- (b) If the Commission on Ethics finds that there has been a violation of this section by a public service commissioner, it shall provide the Governor and the Florida Public Service Commission Nominating Council with a report of its findings and recommendations. The Governor is authorized to enforce the findings and recommendations of the Commission on Ethics, pursuant to part III of chapter 112.

Dear Ms. Bennett,

I thought that some of my correspondence was made part of the public record. If this is the case, then it would be part of the record. Is this correct?

I know that a lot of my information has been made part of record and there were similar questions that I have asked with the email correspondence that was sent.

Please let me know if my information was not made part of the public record.

Here is the link with my updated information. I know that my last correspondence related to the tax payments were not made part of this record as of today.

<http://www.floridapsc.com/dockets/cms/ShowDocket.aspx?docket=H:\LIBRARY\FILINGS\08\10741-08>

Please let me know if only the party's of record information is made part of the public record/evidentiary record.

Does the interested party have access to my public information? If so, then it would make sense for any pertinent information to made part of the evidentiary record if it might be pertinent to the case.

I would think that all relevant information should be made part of the record if it can have an impact on the case. This is what transparency is about.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Mr. Smith,

Because of the legal posture of this proceeding, today's informal conference call was a very limited discussion between Commission staff, parties who have been granted intervention by the prehearing officer, and FPL regarding FPL's Motion for Clarification. Only the mathematical computation of evidence from the hearing record was discussed. While an intervenor of record might have participated, it would not be appropriate for you or any other non-party to participate and ask questions because of the risk of including information outside of the evidentiary record.

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Thanks for affording me with the opportunity to participate in the meeting.

Here are some follow up questions that were not answered in the meeting since it was indicated in the meeting was to discuss the reconciliation of the order and not the specific questions below.

Is there any information available regarding the nature of the early retirements/additional capital recovery items that are in the $78 million? Usually early retirements are completed based upon the FERC accounting below. Is there any cost of removal/salvage costs associated with the additional capital recovery amounts as indicated in the meeting? If there are early retirements, what type of plant has been early retired and why was it retired early?

As per the meeting I think that they are taking this as an offset to the surplus. Is this correct?

Would this have a current cash impact on rates? Based upon the offset to the amortization it appears that it might. I was wondering if they recorded the retirements as per the FERC accounting below if there would be no cash impact related to the transaction versus going against the surplus. Usually these types of impacts are looked at in a theoretical study to determine if there is a need for a change in the composite depreciation rates (including cost of removal and salvage rates). If the composite rates for depreciation is staying the same and the over recover is being given back through an amortization then does the possibility exist that the existing cash composite depreciation rates would cover any early retirements of plant in service?

This is why I asked if the information that was going to be discussed in the meeting would be available to take a look at before the meeting. I would have asked this question directly before the meeting for clarification.

These meetings are good as long as there is information available for discussion for all the interested parties.

The $78 million might be a small adjustment but I was interested in the nature of the dollars and not so much on the amount of the dollars.

I would appreciate if someone could get back to me with regard to my question(s) that were not answered in the meeting.

Thanks in advance.

I am looking forward to participating in these types of meetings in the future.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

PART 101—UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS PRESCRIBED FOR PUBLIC UTILITIES AND LICENSEES SUBJECT TO THE PROVISIONS OF THE FEDERAL POWER ACT

109 [Reserved] 110 Accumulated provision for depreciation and amortization of electric utility plant (Nonmajor only).

A. This account shall be credited with the following:

(1) Amounts charged to account 403 Depreciation Expense, to account 404 Amortization of Limited-Term Electric Plant, to account 405, Amortization of Other Electric Plant, to account 413, Expenses of Electric Plant Leased to Others, to account 416, Costs and Expenses of Merchandising, Jobbing and Contract Work, or to clearing accounts for currently accruing depreciation and amortization.

(2) Amounts charged to account 403.1, Depreciation expense for asset retirement costs, in electric utility plant in service in a separate subaccount.

(3) Amounts of depreciation applicable to electric properties acquired as operating units or systems.
(See electric plant instruction 4.)

(4) Amounts chargeable to account 182, Extraordinary Property Losses, when authorized by the Commission.

(5) Amounts of depreciation applicable to electric plant donated to the utility.

B. At the time of retirement of electric plant, this account shall be charged with the book cost of the property retired and the cost of removal, and shall be credited with the salvage value and any other amounts recovered, such as insurance. When retirements, cost of removal and salvage are entered originally in retirement work orders, the net total of such work orders may be included in a separate subaccount hereunder. Upon completion of the work order, the proper distribution to subdivisions of this account shall be made as provided in the following paragraph.

Lisa,

I listened to the call since I was working on something else while the meeting was in progress.

Is there any information that was discussed at the meeting that will be published in the record?

Based upon what I have heard it appears that both FPL and the FPSC have to go back and review some of the documents that were discussed in the meeting. This is to reconcile depreciation rate impacts?

I understand that the discussion was only about depreciation. Is there going to be any impact on the 3/17/2010 Standard order that was released due to these reconciliations?

Will there be a discussion on the tax payments with one of these meetings?

Will there be a new meeting on Tuesday at 10:00AM as discussed?

If some of the information was made part of the public record prior to the meeting this would be useful for people who want to listen to the meeting and maybe contribute. For the theory issues I am very well versed. If there are specific discussions about details then it would be very useful to have the actual information available prior to the meeting to review to ask questions.

Is this a possibility?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Commissioner's,

Here is some question that I have for these answers. Please see my reconciliation to support my questions below. Did anyone use my reconciliation? Did FPL fill out the reconciliation to help with this process? Did they prepare a segmented cash flow statement for the tax payments? Did we get copies of the cancelled checks? I think that this is a very good idea.

Florida Power & Light Company

Re: Docket No. 080677-EI – Petition for increase in rates by Florida Power & Light Company.

1. For the years 2007, 2008, and 2009, provide a detailed description of FPL's accounting treatment for the excess tax benefits received by FPL Group. By excess tax benefits staff means the dollar difference between actual tax payments made on behalf of FPL by FPL Group and the tax amounts for which the ratepayers would have been charged under the "stand-alone" method.

Response: There are no 'excess tax benefits' under the definition provided in this request. FPL Group makes a consolidated tax filing, in which it pays a single, consolidated tax liability. FPL Group does not make separate tax payments "on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary. The tax liability recorded by FPL is calculated on a stand-alone or "separate return" method. Under that method, the tax liability that FPL records, and charges to customers, is the same regardless of whether or not FPL is filing as part of a consolidated tax return. In other words, if FPL were not one of the consolidated FPL Group businesses, its tax liabilities would be exactly the same as they are recorded now.

As FPL's Vice President of Accounting and Chief Accounting Officer pointed out in his January 5, 2010 letter to the Commissioners on this topic, Florida utilities and the overwhelming majority of electric utilities around the country use the stand-alone basis to calculate income taxes for ratemaking purposes. This approach ensures that the income taxes for which an electric utility's customers are responsible through electric rates are determined only on the basis of electric utility operations, not on the basis of other, unrelated business activities in which unregulated affiliates may be engaged. To do otherwise would expose customers to constant shifts in the utility's tax obligations for reasons that would have nothing to do with providing electric service. This would be unfair, confusing and counterproductive to the Commission's goal of avoiding subsidies between utility and affiliate operations.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

"The tax liability recorded by FPL is calculated on a stand-alone or "separate return" method. Under that method, the tax liability that FPL records, and charges to customers, is the same regardless of whether or not FPL is filing as part of a consolidated tax return. In other words, if FPL were not one of the consolidated FPL Group businesses, its tax liabilities would be exactly the same as they are recorded now".

"Florida utilities and the overwhelming majority of electric utilities around the country use the stand-alone basis to calculate income taxes for ratemaking purposes. To do otherwise would expose customers to constant shifts in the utility's tax obligations for reasons that would have nothing to do with providing electric service. This would be unfair, confusing and counterproductive to the Commission's goal of avoiding subsidies between utility and affiliate operations."

Based upon the response above it is only talking about the tax liability on an individual basis. This makes total sense since it would be correct that all tax liabilities should be recorded separately. If you take a look at my previous email you will notice that I have laid out each individual company which would show the current/deferred tax provisions. This would backup up by the FPL response that the tax liabilities are recorded separately. What it talks about is the fact that the tax liabilities are recorded separately. What it does not talk about is the segmented cash flow aspect of the actual payments that are being made.

We now have to switch to the cash aspect of the payments of these liabilities:

"FPL Group makes a consolidated tax filing, in which it pays a single, consolidated tax liability. FPL

Group does not make separate tax payments "on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary."

By the nature of this statement it does not talk about the segmented cash flow aspect of the "consolidated tax filing, in which it pays a single, consolidated tax liability.

FPL Group does not make separate tax payments" on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary. By nature of paying a "single , consolidated tax liability" segmented cash flows would have to be provided to make sure that there was ample cash flow in each entity to cover their individual tax liability. FPL Group would have to show cancelled checks to support that there was ample cash flow in each entity to support each entities tax liability. This is supported by the reconciliation that I have sent in my previous email asking for a breakout of the tax liability by entity and supporting cancelled check to support that there is ample cash flow in each subsidiary to cover each entities liability. If there is not ample cash flow in each subsidiary then the possibility exists that there might be a subsidization by an entity that has ample cash flow to cover the tax liability.

Where is the actual check cut from? Is it an FPL Group cash account or does this come from a regulated subsidiary cash account (131)? We have to be careful that we look at the actual cash transactions and not just intercompany transactions.

When it pays its consolidated tax liability and does not make separate payments how does it make sure that the cash payment with regard to each entities tax liability is being charged to "FPL or any other subsidiary"?

In order to determine if there is ample cash flow in each entity, a segmented cash flow reconciliation would have to be completed to see if there was ample cash in FPL and its subsidiaries to cover each individual tax liability. There should be cancelled check from each individual entity to backup their respective tax liability. Based upon their response above it appears that they are only cutting one check as FPL Group. Where is the cash coming from?

Please see my email below/my reconciliation that I have sent previously.

2. For the years 2007, 2008, and 2009, provide a detailed description of the accounting treatment for the excess tax benefits that were derived from filing a consolidated tax return by FPL Group versus each subsidiary filing a separate tax return.

Response: As explained above, there are no "excess tax benefits" as Staff has defined that term.

The tax liability for each subsidiary, including FPL, is calculated based on the separate return method. Tax benefits, if any, that could not be used by a subsidiary on a separate return basis, but are used on the consolidated tax return, are recorded by the subsidiary that generated the tax benefits.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

Based upon the response above it is only talking about the tax liability on an individual basis. This makes total sense since it would be correct that all tax liabilities should be recorded separately.

Again, this response does not talk about cash payments by each subsidiary since there is an individual tax liability. There can be no subsidization of cash payments between regulated and non-regulated entities. No exceptions! My reconciliation would be able to show this detail to support each entities individual tax liability and each entities separate tax payments.

Just because FPL Group "pays a single, consolidated tax liability. FPL Group does not make separate tax payments "on behalf of" FPL or any other subsidiary." This does not eliminate the requirement that each entity would be responsible to cover its own tax payments from a cash flow perspective. No exceptions!

The response above does not provide enough information to make sure that there is no subsidization of regulated to non-regulated payments and non-regulated to regulated payments. This would work both ways and can only be determined by segmented cash flows. No exceptions!

This is why there are issues with the holding company concept. There is no talk of segmented cash flows to make sure that the recorded individual tax liabilities are supported by individual tax payments.

3. For the years 2007, 2008, 2009, and 2010, provide a copy of FPL Group's tax-sharing agreement with its subsidiaries.

Response: Please see Attachment 1.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

“Pay” or “Payment” means the physical transfer of cash, cash equivalents, or an equivalent intercompany book entry.

Be careful here! An intercompany book entry can just be a book entry and if it does not have a corresponding cash entry it might not show that the individual subsidiary had ample cash to support its individual tax liability.

The only way that this can be determined is by a segmented cash flow statement to show that the intercompany book entry had a corresponding cash impact in the individual entity. If not, then there might be room for subsidization between the entities. This cannot happen. This agreement might have to be revised.

There should be no room to share any NOL's to be allocated. Each individual entity should stand on its own. If an entity generates an NOL only the entity in which the NOL was generated should be able to use the NOL to use to offset its taxable income. There should be NO ALLOCATION's of NOL's.

For example:

The utility generates a large NOL for the abandonment of a plant. This would possibly create an NOL carry forward that might be used for a long time to shelter taxable income for the utility and to minimize its tax liability. No non-regulated subsidiary should benefit by the utilization of this NOL if it was generated by a regulated subsidiary. This is from both a liability perspective as well as a cash flow perspective. No exceptions!

If there was any allocation then the ratepayer would have to be made whole since if there was any type of allocation the possibility exists that a regulated subsidiary would have subsidized a non-regulated subsidiary. This would work in the same way if a non-regulated subsidiary generated an NOL if it went out of business at a loss.

There should be no allocations from a true tax perspective. Any allocation would give rise to a possible subsidization and this should not happen.

Segmented cash flows would be able to provide the proper details to make sure that this does not happen. There is no reason for any allocation methodology since if an entity filed its own tax return it would be required to keep all NOL's and tax credits individually. There should be no reason why this cannot be done with a FPL Group filing since as long as the tax liabilities and cash payments are being accounted for on an individual basis there really should be no issue.

Any allocation might lead to a subsidization issue which might require the ratepayer and/or subsidiary to be made whole.

When I was up North we had an issue with a large NOL due to a closure of a Nuclear Power Plant. This NOL' provides for minimum tax payments for the Electric business for at about 10 years (if I remember but it was a long time). Since we had a regulated gas entity with ample cash flow to pay its own tax liability from a consolidated basis the use of the NOL was OK. We tracked this NOL on the electric side of the business only. We did not provide for any allocation. If there was no ample cash flow in the Gas business to cover its individual tax liability and there was an allocation of NOL's this would have not been fair to the electric ratepayer since the Electric ratepayer had to absorb the loss on the closure of the plant therefore it should not lose the use of an NOL for its own tax liability due to some type of allocation.

This agreement should be amended to make sure that there are no allocations. Period!

4. For the years 2007, 2008, and 2009, would FPL Group have been able to take full advantage (each year without regard to tax carryforward or carryback) of the wind related production tax credits without the benefit of FPL regulated utility taxable income?

Response: FPL Group has not been able to take full advantage of the wind related production tax credits with, or without, the inclusion of the FPL regulated utility taxable income in the FPL Group consolidated tax return for the years 2007,2008 or 2009.

Rob Smith Questions/Response:

When will these credits be taken and what is holding up the use of these credits?

Is this an indication where these credits are available there is not ample taxable income to use these credits? If so, then this might make sense but there is not enough information in this response to determine whether or not the wind related production tax credits can be utilized.

We know that each entity should be entitled to its own tax credits as generated on an individual basis. What we do not know by this response is why they cannot currently use these credits. The answer might be that there is not enough taxable income/liability in the subsidiary in which generated these credits. I am sure that if there was taxable income in a subsidiary the entity if it had wind related production tax credits and it was able to take it as a tax credit to minimize its liability it would. There has to be another reason why they are not using these credits where they have been earned.

It would make sense that you cannot utilize these if you included FPL regulated utility taxable income. Each entity generates its own tax credits. They can only utilize these credits for the respective individual tax liabilities only.

What I am concerned with is the cash implications of the utilization of these wind related production tax credits if they were generated by the regulated utility or a non-regulated subsidiary.

The cash flow impact is that the credit should be utilized against the cash payment by each individual entities tax liability only. There should be no benefit to any regulated entity for a tax credit generated by a non-regulated subsidiary and no benefit for a non-regulated subsidiary for a tax credit as generated by a regulated entity.

This can only be determined by a segmented cash flow breakout of the payments to match each entities individual tax liability. Any single payment will not provide enough information to determine if there is no subsidization between a regulated entity and non-regulated entity.

If my reconciliation was used to show cancelled checks to support each entities individual tax liability you would be able to determine if any entity (regulated/non-regulated) was subsidized.

I am going to send this out as a draft tonight to send what I have observed by the responses. I will be taking a look at this tomorrow. If I have any changes I will follow up since it is late and I am tired.

Hand is acting up a little. I want to make sure can take a look at the attachment a little longer since I am tired. Hopefully there are no typo(s). I will check.

Since most companies are set up as independent companies accountability must be controlled by the Public Service Commission since the Commission is the ratepayer funds. All Management Agreement Negotiations should be over seen by the Public Service Commission to keep Control of the Regulated/Non Flows would be required for a full Accounting. The journal entries above are on a cash basis only. There may be accrual entries that would be recorded per There may also be regulatory Accounting Journal Entries as required by FERC/PSC Accounting.

Regulated Utility / Holding Company Cash Flow Issues:

- 1) Segmented Cash Flows would have to be prepared to properly account for Regulated versus Non-Regulated Cash Movement.
Public Utility Holding Company Act (PUHCA) (1935) Regulated by State Public Service Commissions/Federal Energy Regulatory Commission
- 2) Full Accounting for the funding of dividends/executive compensation plans at the Holding Company Level.
This should include the back up Cash Flow Accounting to support the level of dividends paid out.
- 3) Separate Cash Accounts (i.e. Utility cash account is 131 account)
This has to be done to make sure that there is a separation of Regulated Cash from Non-Regulated Cash.
- 4) How is the company accounting for the intercompany cash transactions?

Assets transfers? Are these being made at historical cost or at market value?

If Financed by the Utility, is the ratepayer receiving a fair return on capital? What rate of return are they earning?

5) Separate billing systems/ Is the only billing system that is being maintained for the Utility?

If not, then are there separate billing systems for non-regulated subsidiaries/subsidiaries?

6) Separate work order systems

This is very critical since the work order system is probably used for capital expenditures/expenses. Usually there is utility coding for the type of capital expenditure that clears to the ledgers or utility accounts. These can be Plant, CWIP etc.

7) Separate Accounting Systems for each Entity

Is there a separate system for each entity? If not, what type of internal controls has been put into place to ensure that all capital expenditures/expenses are being cleared to the appropriate company accounts?

Dear Mr. Graham and Mr. Brise,

Here is what I have forwarded regarding the Seabrook Asset Transfer. I do not know if the previous email as well as this email has been made of the public record. I think that it should.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: Seabrook Asset Transfer

Dear Ms. Bennett and Commissioner's,

I noticed that the journal entries below are at book cost.

I think that the following questions have to be answered for this sale:

What is the market value/appraisal of these assets? This can have a very significant impact on the gain on sale to the customer. The Florida ratepayer should be able to receive the current market value on the sale of these assets.

What is the Net Book Value of these assets? This must include any over/under recoveries of Theoretical Depreciation. This will have an impact on the book gain for ratemaking purposes since if these assets are over recovered then the book gain would be larger therefore creating a larger benefit to the ratepayer. (Market Value – Net Book Value (including Theoretical analysis) = Gain on Sale for ratemaking purposes.

How much tax basis is remaining on this plant? If these are fully depreciated for tax purposes, then there would be a full gain on sale for tax purposes since all the tax benefits associated with this plant have already been deducted. This will create a large tax gain on sale for tax purposes (Market Price – Remaining tax basis = Gain on Sale for tax purposes). There should be depreciation recapture for any amounts that have been deducted for tax purposes that exceed the depreciation recovery for book purposes.

These issues are very important to take into consideration with any sale. I wanted to write a quick email regarding this pending sale. If something, else comes up or needs to be changed I will let you know.

When I worked at LILCO/KeySpan Energy this became a very important issue when we transfer the Shoreham Nuclear Power Plant/Distribution Plants to the Long Island Power Authority.

Market Value, Remaining Book Value (Rate Making Book Value) and remaining tax basis is very important with any sale of any asset at the company.

Did anyone audit the work orders for any of the plant additions that FPL was charged for this plant?

We have to be very careful with these sales. If need be I will send another FOIA request for information to take a look of how this sale is being completed.

I have personally prepared these calculations from both a book perspective as well as a tax perspective including working on the Shoreham Nuclear Plant Asset /Distribution Asset transfers to the Long Island Power Authority. This is a very important issue for both FPL and the ratepayers.

I know that the FERC form 1 reports do not disclose the net book values of specific plants but only the net book values based upon the normal book depreciation recovery that is being recorded. A theoretical study would have to be calculated to look at the over/under recovery of depreciation on the sale of these plants. Maybe some of the reserve surplus has some of this plant as over recovered.

This information is being sent to help out. Will this email be made part of the public record? I would like this to be made part of the public record since this is a very significant process for the ratepayers of Florida.

I wanted to send a quick email but I will follow up if I can think of something else.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpirb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-340-4956/954-798-6127.

Thanks,

Section 33.5 - Proposed Accounting Entries

FPL and NHT are or will be required to maintain their books of account in accordance with the Commission's Uniform System of Accounts in 18 C.F.R. Part 101. The proposed accounting entries that FPL and NHT will use to account for the proposed Transaction in accordance with the Commission's Uniform System of Accounts are provided below. Upon purchase, the plant assets acquired by NHT will be recorded at original cost in Account 102, Electric Plant Purchased or Sold, and all other accounts will be recorded at book value in the same accounts as recorded by FPL. These proposed entries, estimated as of May 31, 2010, represent FPL's 88.22889% undivided interest in the Seabrook Substation facilities. Actual amounts recorded will be based on book values at the acquisition date.

Subject: Issue 46 / Adjustment to the Working Capital item to increase ratebase/revenue requirements.

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

I took a look at this very quickly. I have brought this concern up with a prior email with regard to fuel reconciliation filings in a prior email dated April 28th, 2009. See email below.

I was taking a look at the schedule below. I noticed that there was an increase in revenue requirements due to taking a 13 month average based upon a ratable refund versus the full refund in January 2010.

What actually happened? Was this refund returned in January 2010? If so, then how will the actual refund be reflected in the case? I understand that based upon a prior order and the fuel recovery mechanism that refunds are ratably given back. Here is where I see a problem. If the full refund was actually returned in January 2010, then the base rate increase related to this item will be reflecting a permanent rate increase (earned return) in base rates for an item that should be adjusted based upon the fuel adjustment clause. The true up for what actually happened would only yield an earned return based upon the interest provision calculation as per below versus the overall cost of money (earned return) that was used to true up the revenue requirements based upon the refund being given back ratably. Why should the base rate increase (permanent) be based upon an earned return that is much higher than the give back through the fuel adjustment clause?

The fuel adjustment over recovery is being removed from ratebase due to eliminating a double return on the deferred 186 account (under collection)/253 account (over collection). This is supported by the testimony in the case. Is the interest calculation on the excel spreadsheet based upon the interest provision calculation below?

If this adjustment stands then the earned return might be overstated in base rates, which is a permanent rate increase. The customer would only receive a cash refund based upon the interest provision calculation below which is much lower than the earned return that is being calculated in base rates.

What is the annual rate that is being used for the interest calculation that is being done on the excel spreadsheet? The annual return that is being used for the base rate revenue requirements is the 6.65%. The rate below for the interest provision is much lower. Do we have an explanation as to why the interest provision rate is much lower than the base rate revenue requirement rate?

Is there a compliance filing for the company after the base rates are set? If the actual over recovery was given back in January 2010, then how will the customer get back the difference in the earned return?

We have to remember once base rates are set then usually they are not refunded unless there is a reconciliation/compliance filing. Are these being completed?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Appendix I

Issue 46: Should the net over-recovery/under-recovery of fuel, capacity, conservation, and environmental cost recovery clause expenses be included in the calculation of working capital allowance for FPL?

Commission Order: The net over-recovery of fuel, capacity, conservation, and environmental cost recovery clause expenses should be included in the calculation of FPL's working capital allowance.

Implementation error: The Commission's order on this issue ignored a recent Commission decision in the 2009 fuel adjustment proceeding (Docket No. 090001-EI) that substantially overstates the impact on test year working capital of the projected 2010 fuel cost over-recovery. In Order No. PSC-09-0795-FOF-EI, Docket No. 090001-EI, dated December 2, 2009, at 20, the Commission directed FPL to refund the entire amount of its 2009 net true-up over-recovery as a one-time credit in January 2010. The Commission's direction was contrary to established fuel adjustment practice and inconsistent with FPL's test year projections.

Subject: Questions to consider in the New Case being filed for a $1 billion Base Rate Increase

Dear Mr. Maurey and Mr. Devlin,

I took a look at the 2005 Petition for rate increase by Florida Power & Light Company. Please let me know if you can send me the PDF files for the surveillance reports.

Is this an option? If no, what would be the reason for this? I would like to keep the cost/time to a minimum with these requests so that I can review quickly.

I am still reviewing this agreement but I understand that this is what is currently in place. I would like to answer these questions for the new case that is being presented to staff.

Has any studies being conducted for the revenue sharing plan as stipulated below versus the traditional ratemaking excess earnings test? I would be curious to see if FPL is maintaining the money cost of money reports based upon its current capitalization at the company. If so, I would like to see these studies to see the cost/benefit impacts to the ratepayers for this type of revenue sharing plan.

Does the FPSC complete a FCA (fuel cost adjustment) reconciliation? If so, is this available? It would be very interesting to see what the proposal for FPL is to move some of these costs into base rate recoveries. I think that there is an existing rate increase in the fuel adjustment clause that is being currently collected in rates. I think that this might be the first 8% etc. If the fuel costs have gone down are we now giving this benefit back to the customer? Why would we want to roll the existing rate increases into base rates to find out the cost of fuel as gone down? We should be very careful here since this case is being done when the fuel costs were high. This might be reflected in the test year data for the RateCase. Is this true?

I am still reviewing some of the information. If I have any additional questions I will send an email.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

I have a couple of questions:

How can the Revenue Sharing Incentive Plan exclude incremental revenues attributed to a business combination or acquisition involving FPL, its parent, or its affiliates whether inside or outside the state of Florida?

We would have to take a look at the holding company structure in which some of these incremental revenues might have been financed with ratepayer money. The primary contributor of cash flow to a utility is the ratepayer therefore it would be very possible that the customer might have subsidized these incremental revenues therefore the customer should share in the benefits of some of these incremental revenue if there is proof that they have financed/subsidized the costs associated with the generation of the incremental revenues.

Years ago when I worked up north for a major utility there was incremental revenues generated at our utility and the commission would review how these revenues were generated or financed. If the ratepayer financed/subsidized any of the costs the commission would determine a sharing mechanism for the ratepayer to share in the revenues generated. Another issue here is that since the revenue sharing mechanism is only looking retail base revenues another question comes into play with regard to cost:

What if the ratepayer is being charged for costs associated with these incremental revenues? FPL would share in the revenue aspect of the incremental revenues and the ratepayer might be paying for extra costs associated with the generation of these revenues.

Again when I was up North we had to take a look at the definition of Utility revenues versus non-utility revenues. We have to remember that from a cash flow perspective most of the cash flow is generated by the ratepayers of Florida. If they are Financing/Subsidizing the costs to generate these incremental revenues then FPL should not exclude the costs associated with the generation of these incremental revenues.

Up North we usually did a full blown ROE excess earnings test to make sure that the commission had the opportunity to exclude items from RateBase to calculate the overall ROE if they deemed that the costs were not a benefit to the customers.

If the costs associated with the generation of these incremental revenues are being Financed/Subsidized by the ratepayer, is the ratepayer receiving a rate of return to make them whole? The first answer to this would be that if there is a holding company structure at FPL and most of the cash is generated by the ratepayer then the probability that the ratepayer is Financing/Subsidizing the generation of the incremental revenue is very high.

c. Revenue exclusions - The Revenue Sharing Incentive Plan and the corresponding revenue sharing thresholds and revenue caps are intended to relate only to retail base rate revenues of FPL based on its current structure and regulatory framework. Thus, for example, incremental revenues attributable to a business combination or acquisition involving FPL, its parent, or its affiliates, whether inside or outside the state of Florida, or revenues from any clause, surcharge or other recovery mechanism other than retail base rates, shall be excluded in determining retail base rate revenues for purposes of revenue sharing under this Stipulation and Settlement.

Please explain what the overall rate of return is for the cost of money versus the commercial paper rate to retail customers of record. If the commercial rate of interest is lower than the overall rate of return why should the customer not receive credit at the overall cost of money?

Remember the ratepayers have an overall cost of money associated with paying for the cost of service for the company.

Up North we used to calculate carrying charges on the excess earnings on a monthly basis to increase the deferred credit (253 FERC Account) that was being returned to the customer. This made the ratepayer/customer whole since they were paying for the overall cost of money in their rates.

7. All revenue-sharing refunds will be paid with interest at the 30-day commercial paper rate to retail customers of record during the last three months of each applicable refund period based on their proportionate share of base rate revenues for the refund period. For purposes of calculating interest only, it will be assumed that revenues to be refunded were collected evenly throughout the preceding refund period. All refunds with interest will be in the form of a credit on the customers' bills beginning with the first day of the first billing cycle of the second month after the end of the applicable refund period (or, in the case of a partial calendar year refund, after the end of that calendar year). Refunds to former customers will be completed as expeditiously as reasonably possible.

How is the commission taking a look at this account for work order costs associated with property insurance costs? Is this account capturing the costs associated with Hurricane repairs? What is interesting below is that "no revenues contemplated by this Section 10 shall be included in the computation of retail base rate revenues for purposes of revenue sharing under this Stipulation and Settlement", this would appear to be making sure that we are looking at cost less recoveries as total costs. This is a contradiction of the Revenue Incentive Sharing Plan in which the costs are not even being considered.

10. No Party to this Stipulation and Settlement shall appeal the FPSC's Final Order in Docket No. 041291-El. Further, Parties agree to the following provisions relative to the target level and funding of Account No. 228.1 and recovery of any deficits in such Account:

228.1 Accumulated provision for property insurance.

c. No revenues contemplated by this Section 10 shall be included in the computation of retail base rate revenues for purposes of revenue sharing under this Stipulation and Settlement.

How does Standard and Poor's methodology compare to using the overall cost of money? Why would you cap the equity ratio when this can be adjusted or recomputed based upon the borrowing of the company?

Up North we recalculated the overall cost of capital (cost of money) every month to compute our monthly excess earnings. We found that at times debt was cheaper than equity which if the debt/equity ratio changed we would true up the excess earnings calculation based upon this monthly change. Remember FPL is retiring and issuing new bonds which if issued at a lower rate than equity could cause a reduction in the overall cost of money. In most rate proceedings we found that it was cheaper for the ratepayer when we issued debt therefore we used to recalculate the overall debt to equity ratio to benefit the ratepayer if the overall cost of money was declining as a result of the retiring of debt and issuing new debt at a lower cost (interest rate).

15. For surveillance reporting requirements and all regulatory purposes, FPL's ROE will be calculated based upon an adjusted equity ratio as follows. FPL's adjusted equity ratio will be capped at 55.83% as included in FPL's projected 1998 Rate of Return Report for surveillance purposes. The adjusted equity ratio equals common equity divided by the sum of common equity, preferred equity, debt and off-balance sheet obligations. The amount used for off-balance sheet obligations will be calculated per the Standard & Poor's methodology.

How does the ROE of 11.75% compare to other company returns excluding utilities? I know that FPL is paying a dividend therefore what is the overall return a shareholder is earning with dividends and a ROE of 11.75%?

I am sure that in this business environment it is quite high? Is this correct?

16. Effective on the Implementation Date, FPL will continue to operate without an authorized Return on Equity (ROE) range for the purpose of addressing earnings levels, and the revenue sharing mechanism herein described will be the appropriate and exclusive mechanism to address earnings levels, but an ROE of 11.75% shall be used for all other regulatory purposes.

How come these are not included in Ratebase with an earned return? Remember if the costs associated with the new plant exceed the base rate recovery and the Revenue incentive sharing plan only takes a look at the revenues excluding the costs associated with the operation of the new plant the ratepayer might be sharing in too much revenue which might be needed to pay for the new plant that has been placed in service.

Up North we calculated AFUDC until the plant was placed into service. Then all associated plant in service costs were placed into Ratebase and costs of maintaining the plant (payroll, taxes etc.) were included in the cost of service. This methodology was then applied to the excess earnings test which was:

If the actual earnings exceeded the earned level of operating income then the excess earnings were deferred in a 253 account and given back to the customer in the following year. A carry charge was calculated on these amounts at the overall cost of money. This way both revenues and costs associated with placing the plant in service were captured. How come the traditional approach is not being used to calculate the revenue sharing at the company?

This included RateBase and Cost of Service accounting to make sure that both revenue from the operations of the plant and costs associated with the operations of the plant were captured. Of course you would also have to look at depreciation reserves related to the life studies of the plant in service. At times cost of removal became an issue with the under/over recovery of depreciation in rates.

17. For any power plant that is approved pursuant to the Florida Power Plant Siting Act (PPSA) and achieves commercial operation within the term of this Stipulation and Settlement, the costs of which are not recovered fully through a clause or clauses, FPL's base rates will be increased by the annualized base revenue requirement for the first 12 months of operation, reflecting the costs upon which the cumulative present value revenue requirements (CPVRR) were or are predicated, and pursuant to which a need determination was granted by the FPSC, such adjustment to be reflected on FPL's customer bills by increasing base charges, and non-clause recoverable credits, by an equal percentage. FPL will begin applying the incremental base rate charges required by this Stipulation and Settlement to meter readings made on and after the commercial in service date of any such power plant. Such adjustment shall be referred to as a Generation Base Rate Adjustment (GBRA). The GBRA will be calculated using an 11.75% ROE and the capital structure as per Section 15 above. FPL will calculate and submit for

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

This is for your information

Hopefully we can get back to the real issues at hand and resolve these issues based upon the merits of the accounting data and cost/economic analysis of what is being presented to the Commission.

I think that my email correspondence should be made part of the public record. This would be just like the courtesy that was provided to the public speakers at the September 7th hearing. There is no difference between email correspondence and public speaking correspondence. Remember all briefs and testimony is summarized in writing therefore my email correspondence can be made part of the public record as well. All testimony from interrogatories is made in writing and the testimony that is being heard at the rate case proceedings are being put together in writing prior to the actual hearings. This testimony is being worked on through electronic correspondence therefore email from an interested party would be no different than the Commission allowing two public speakers to speak at a hearing.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

To all,

I saw the papers regarding the appeal hearing regarding the disqualification. It talked about the comments made by both the commissioner's regarding the campaign money that was being paid to lawmakers. We have to remember that if the money is coming from the Utility we have to identify where the money is really coming from. Nextera (formerly FPL Group) is the holding company and it probably gets paid fees from the Utility from a management services agreement. It would have to determine whether or not the ratepayer or the company is the primary contributor of cash flow to both Nextera and the FPL Utility. Remember the company only files an annual report on a consolidated basis therefore to really see the flow of cash at the company one would have to take a look at segmented cash flows at the company not a consolidated cash flow that is in the 10K. With the consolidated cash flow statements there are elimination entries. These elimination entries might not give the proper transparency to determine who the primary cash flow contributors to the company.

The issue with campaign contributions is a very large issue and this has come up with the Citizens case at the Supreme Court level. There are real impacts with this case and it was evident with the Presidential address a while back in which a Supreme Court justice reacted to a comment made by the President.

There should be no political influence with any decision made in this case as I have indicated in numerous emails that I have been sending to the Press and the Commission for a long time. I have always approached this from a neutral and balanced perspective. I do not know what has been talked about off the record regarding my email correspondence but it might be apparent that there might be a reason why my correspondence is being kept off the record. Why were two public speakers allowed to address the Commission and my email correspondence was not entered into the public record as well? There really is no reason why since emails or public speaking would be acceptable communications. As a matter of fact the Commissioner's at times have been allowed through a phone connection to be present at the hearings if they could not physically make it to the hearings. I know that my communications if very important to both cases and there is no reason why my communications have not been made part of the public record. I was correct with regard to the debt/equity issues and other issues that I am still waiting to hear about with regard to segmented cash flow reporting.

If the possibility exists that the appearance that campaign money is going to influence a decision made by a Commission, then this is just not good for the both the ratepayers and/or shareholders of this company.

Let full transparency be the guide as to the decisions that are being made in this case. If one determines that it is the ratepayers that are the primary contributors to the cash flow of this company then let the ratepayers decide to contribute campaign money just like Nextera (holding company) to keep the contributions balanced so that a government body that is appointing commissioner's is not influenced by politics. The merits of any ratecase proceeding should just be based upon the facts in the case.

If it requires full discovery then it should be so.

If it requires that you have to scrutinize the full accounting to understand why the prior forecasts were incorrect then let it be so.

If it requires that you submit into testimony that would be bring transparency to the ratecase proceedings then let it be so.

The only question that has to be answered in any of these proceedings is the proposed rate increase the most cost/economic way of providing electric service to the customer while maintaining some balance to the shareholders of the company.

The only way that this will happen is if there is full transparency. If there is and the perception of bias is removed then I am sure that a lot of these proceedings can be resolved very quickly with the balancing the interests of all the interested parties.

Without it the argument of impartiality might always exist.

I know that this is the way I have approached all my email correspondence that was sent to the Commission.

How come I was not afforded the same public courtesy for my email correspondence to be made part of the public record? I know that I have the same or higher level of experience to talk about these matters with the Commission. I have put these cases together for over a decade therefore I would think that I would be able to provide very good insight to what the Commission should be looking for with any of the matters that have been brought up.

If there is nothing to hide then let my email correspondence be made part of the record.

It is a shame that it appears that time is being wasted on these matters when the real objective of the Commission is to ensure that any decision made on these cases are in the best interest of the public (ratepayers).

There is no difference if there is a party of record or a party of interest. Both can give insight to issues that are being raised with these proceedings. If the answer comes from a person who has put these cases together then there should be no reason for the information not to be made part of the public record through email correspondence just like they allowed the testimony from the two public speakers.

If there is nothing to hide then it would have been done.

I will continue to chime in on all of these issues. I know that my knowledge can be applied to all the Utilities in the State and/or any other regulated type of entity that the Commission hears to make decisions on rate increases. My accounting knowledge in this arena would apply to all types of regulated entities and not just Florida Power & Light.

To keep on changing the Commissioner's with the perception that they are being impartial would give rise to specific questioning to the why's they are being considered impartial and to the specific examples of the cause and effect of impartiality. What is really going on when the Commission goes off the record during a hearing? Are these conversations documented?

Maybe this is why there is so much trouble?

I know that I have approached this from in impartial manner. If they feel I have not I am willing to openly discuss this with both the Commission and any of the Utilities Executive management since this is what I have done when I prepared the cases for over a decade.

What gives?

Hopefully there are no typo(s).

If you have any question please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

I saw the FPL filing with regard to asking for a disqualification of a Florida Public Service Commissioner. I cannot believe what is going on. It is amazing how a person could work for the company, they are let go for Company-wide staff reduction, then they are rehired for a Public Commissioner position and now they may be disqualified for reasons of impartiality.

Let's define impartiality:

not partial or biased; fair; just: an impartial judge.

The only way you can achieve this level of impartiality is to have full transparency with this case. I have been providing technical accounting with the issues below.

I have approached this case from a ratepayer, shareholder and Utility perspective.

If there was full transparency there really would be no issue with making a quick decision with this case. As long as the costs are prudent, and the recovery periods and rate of returns are providing the customers and the shareholders a fair return there really should be no issue with any of the questioning that is being asked.

What is very troubling is that since a lot of the information is being made confidential or whited/redacted information, is this causing some of the issues with Florida Power & Light and the Commission? If there is nothing to hide then all information/people(s) testimony would be available for this proceeding. Any reluctance to provide full transparency and/or testimony of Florida Power & Light personnel who are responsible for the operations of the Utility might also be an indication of impartiality. We have to be careful here.

There should be no issue and the accounting facts should present the case as to the merits of all the concerns of all parties. What I am concerned with is that since a lot of the information is being classified as confidential/whited/redacted information this might be causing the issues that are currently surfacing. As I watched the hearings regarding the Nuclear Uprates filing I could not believe that all the exhibits and testimony that was being talked about was being referenced with confidentiality. The average ratepayer/shareholder watching the proceedings would not be able to follow the issues without full transparency. It is understood that some of the information as it relates to employee information might be subject to confidentiality but when it comes to the actual accounting information with regard to cost prudence, recovery periods and rates of return there should be no classification of confidentiality since this information would be needed to balance the needs of all the interested parties in this case.

When I worked up North full transparency was afforded by the Commission to ensure that all the checks and balances were being met to provide the proper balance of all the interested parties. There was no excuse for lack of transparency since the Company just went through a major public perception that some of the costs associated with a Nuclear Power Plant were imprudent. The Nuclear Plant was closed and the litigation regarding the prudence of these costs went on for years until a settlement agreement was reached. We have to be very careful here. If the prudence of the costs is not fully scrutinized up front the possibility exists that this might cause a cost/prudence issue down the road. This is why I feel that these assets should keep their identity with regular Utility accounting to make sure that the assets are being maintained in ledger 3 of the Utility. If they are going to be recovered through a Nuclear recovery clause then we have to make sure that the reimbursement of these costs if they are accelerated does not become an issue down the road if there is a finding that some of the costs were not prudently incurred. The only way that this can happen is if there is full transparency with regard to all the accounting issues as it pertains to any issue that might impact the rates of the Utility to recover cost. We have to remember that the primary job of the Commission is to ensure that any rate increase granted to a Utility has to be in the best economic interest of the ratepayer. It is understood that there is a shareholder component to these cases and the concerns of the shareholders would have to be met as well, but we have to remember that this is a delicate balance, therefore transparency is of utmost importance.

This is why I have contacted Florida Power & Light from a shareholder perspective as well since I needed information from the Companies Executive Management to clarify some of the 10K disclosures as it would pertain to the interests of the shareholders. I have not heard back from Mr. Lew Hay and Mr. Sieving as of today. I have sent you a previous email regarding my concern with this issue in that I have asked specific questions last year that I thought might have an impact on this case. This appears to be lack of transparency.

Why would all of a sudden the Utility trying to disqualify a person who at one time worked for the company and is now in the capacity of a Commissioner indicating that they are not impartial. Did this person complete their job in a prudent/ethical manner while working at the Utility? If so, then there should be no reason why this would all of a sudden surface unless it is really about the issues of the scrutiny of the costs and the reason why the original estimates were not accurate. We all know that forecasts might not be correct all the time but unless we scrutinize the reasons as to the why's they were not accurate with full transparency there is no sure way from a checks and balance stand point to provide for better forecasting in the future. If you take a look at all my email correspondence I have always talked about the cash impacts of any of the accounting issues. This would require full transparency and would require that any information regarding the prudence of costs, recovery periods and rates of returns to be fully disclosed. There should be no reason to hide any information. Full transparency would provide for the proper checks and balance to make sure that interests of all parties in this case are being protected and balanced.

Here it is from a Utility perspective I have been indicating all along that debt will be cheaper than equity therefore based upon the $400 Million dollar issuance below FPL Utility should be able to reduce its interest costs. If they continue to refinance their debt then I know there will be additional savings at the company.

This is very concerning that this late in this proceeding this is going on. I know that my email correspondence has not been talked about in any of the proceedings. Some of my email information regarding the technical accounting issues in this case has been made part of the public record yet no one has talked about the straight accounting transparency that would be required to maintain the balance to protect all of the party's interests in this case. Feel free to reference my emails in the proceedings since I feel that my approach from a true accounting/economic approach would be the best approach at this point in these proceedings.

I can only hope that my email correspondence has helped. I know that based upon the fact that FPL issued debt at a much cheaper rate that my email correspondence would help with these proceedings.

Maybe my email correspondence should be made part of the public record in the proceedings to ensure that we remain on track of the ultimate goal of protecting all of the party's interests.

Until this occurs that there will always be an argument of impartiality from both sides. Let the Accounting speak for itself. The only way this can occur is if there is full transparency. All whited/redacted information if it pertains to accounting information should be disclosed since this is what would be needed to be scrutinized to make a proper decision with all of these cases.

It was apparent that the NPV analysis as it related to the increase of $300 Million of cost would have impacted the cost/benefit analysis of the Nuclear Uprates program. What would be interesting to take a look at is the impact of this NPV analysis if the rate of returns does not take into account any benefits of a reduced cost of money by the refinancing of the company's debt. This is my primary concern with not keeping the assets as part of regular rate base accounting.

This is why I have indicated in my Nuclear Uprates email that the issues that I am concerned with is the period of recovery and rate of returns on the recovery of the Nuclear Uprates assets.

The Prudence of the costs is always understood by any Utility rate proceeding therefore full transparency should be warranted. If there is a concern that the original estimates are a concern then the costs have to be fully scrutinized to make sure that any future forecasts going forward are accurate.

Of course issues may arise that might be out of control of the company but we have to remember that full transparency would provide the proper checks and balances to cover all of the party's interests. If not, then impartiality would be argued from both perspectives.

Let full transparency be the guide to resolve all the issues in these cases. This could eliminate all the current issues that are going on.

Until the full transparency is afforded the possibility exists that there will be always an argument that someone is not impartial.

What is there to hide?

I know from my previous experience with the accounting for a former Nuclear Power Plant up North that unless there is full transparency issues might arise later on that might have a significant impact on the shareholders/ratepayers and the Company. Take a look at my email correspondence to see some of the potential issues that can surface if there is a lack of full transparency.

Hopefully there are no typo(s).

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Here is from a Utility/Company/Shareholder/ratepayer perspective.

I have been providing technical accounting with regard to the issues below. This is from an accounting approach to take a look at the costs, recovery periods and rate of returns on these issues.

I have provided insight in the original rate of return testimony with regard to the debt to equity issues. I am sure that you are aware that the company has just issued the debentures below.

JUNO BEACH, Fla. (AP) -- Power-plant operator FPL Group Capital Inc. said Friday it sold $400 million in debentures.

The debentures bear interest at 2.6 percent per year and will mature Sept. 1, 2015. The debentures will be guaranteed by FPL Group Capital's parent company, NextEra Energy Inc.

The debentures were offered to the public at 99.967 percent of face value to yield 2.607 percent when held to maturity.

Net proceeds will be added to FPL Group Capital's general funds, which the company expects to use to repay debt.

Shares of FPL Group Capital rose 84 cents to close at $53.89.

The following technical accounting has been sent regarding the case with regard to:

Here it is from a Utility/Ratepayer/Shareholder perspective

FW: Seabrook Asset Transfer / This one there is very specific accounting that must be followed. If this is made part of the public record you can take a look at the technical accounting that I have talked about with regard to this potential sale/transfer.

Here it is from a Utility/Ratepayer/Shareholder perspective.

FW: Docket No. 080677, FPL Reconsideration Request Nuclear Uprates / Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause I have been added as an interested party in this new case.

Here it is from a Utility/Ratepayer/Shareholder perspective

Cost of Debt versus Equity issues / See email below. If they make this information part of the public record then you will see the cost of service updates with the potential savings that might be realized under two different potential scenarios. The savings can change based upon the mix of what they do but if you look at some of my email correspondence with regard to my discussion of the Cost of money issue you will notice that there might be potential savings that might be significant to the ratecase. Based upon my original concern with the return on Common Equity this will validate my approach with these types of cost of capital issues.

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

The need for full transparency with any of these transactions is of the utmost importance. If you recall I have asked about the spin-off of the Fiber Net Business in my original emails. What happened to this valuation when they moved the assets? Were these moved from the Utility to FPL FiberNet? Was the market values disclosed on these assets on the transfer if they came from the Utility?

Transparency should be fully afforded since if there are very large gains with the market values of these assets then they should be disclosed.

I will send the email that I have sent to the newspapers in a separate email since these emails have been appended below the emails that I have sent to Mr. Lew Hay and Mr. Sieving.

Here is the email below that I have sent to Mr. Lew Hay and Mr. Sieving back in May and June 2009.

To whom it may concern:

I am a shareholder at FPL Group and I was taking a look at the 10K. I am in the process of becoming familiar with the financial statements of FPL Group.

If you could be so kind I would like a couple of preliminary questions answered regarding the 10K.

I would like a break out of the Corporate & Other that is on Page 97 in Section 16. Segment Information. Please describe the revenue inflow and expense outflows with detailed descriptions.

It shows operating revenues of $191 million and operating expenses of $190 million.

Please provide me with a list of regulated and non-regulated entities at FPL Group. Please provide the governing body of each entity. I have put together a preliminary list of what I could determine from the 10K.

| Company                           | Incorporation | Regulated (Yes or No) | Primary Business Descrip.                                     |

Does FPL have a schedule of segmented cash flows for each entity?

Does FPL have a schedule of approved vendors? I know that the utility must put these contracts out to competitive bid.

Is FPL utilizing outside placement agencies for temporary personnel? If so, is this part of the competitive bidding process and is this list available?

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-798-6127.

To all,

Here is the latest post. Let's see the market values that get published. The total market values of these assets should not be classified as confidential. There is a need for transparency of the calculation of the Gain on sale for both book/tax purposes.

How would the customer receive the transparency with regard to how much they should benefit from the sale of these assets if the market value exceeds its net book value? There should be no confidential treatment for this since any gain on Utility asset sales should be owed to the ratepayers.

This is for your information. I am sharing this information since this is a very important issue for both the ratepayers and shareholders of this company.

Transparency is very important as well considering what has been going on with this case. There is no reason why this type of information should be confidential since once the sale is completed this would have to be disclosed to both the ratepayers and shareholders (i.e. 10K).

I want to make sure that if any of the newspapers uses any of this information in any of their reporting that my email correspondence is referenced as per the disclosures below. This includes all attachments and email correspondence.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or contact me at 954-340-4956.

Dear Mr. Graham and Mr. Brise,

Here is what I have forwarded regarding the Seabrook Asset Transfer. I do not know if the previous email as well as this email has been made of the public record. I think that it should.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: Seabrook Asset Transfer

Dear Ms. Bennett and Commissioner's,

I noticed that the journal entries below are at book cost.

I think that the following questions have to be answered for this sale:

What is the market value/appraisal of these assets? This can have a very significant impact on the gain on sale to the customer. The Florida ratepayer should be able to receive the current market value on the sale of these assets.

What is the Net Book Value of these assets? This must include any over/under recoveries of Theoretical Depreciation. This will have an impact on the book gain for ratemaking purposes since if these assets are over recovered then the book gain would be larger therefore creating a larger benefit to the ratepayer. (Market Value – Net Book Value (including Theoretical analysis) = Gain on Sale for ratemaking purposes.

How much tax basis is remaining on this plant? If these are fully depreciated for tax purposes, then there would be a full gain on sale for tax purposes since all the tax benefits associated with this plant have already been deducted. This will create a large tax gain on sale for tax purposes (Market Price – Remaining tax basis = Gain on Sale for tax purposes). There should be depreciation recapture for any amounts that have been deducted for tax purposes that exceed the depreciation recovery for book purposes.

These issues are very important to take into consideration with any sale. I wanted to write a quick email regarding this pending sale. If something, else comes up or needs to be changed I will let you know.

When I worked at LILCO/KeySpan Energy this became a very important issue when we transfer the Shoreham Nuclear Power Plant/Distribution Plants to the Long Island Power Authority.

Market Value, Remaining Book Value (Rate Making Book Value) and remaining tax basis is very important with any sale of any asset at the company.

Did anyone audit the work orders for any of the plant additions that FPL was charged for this plant?

We have to be very careful with these sales. If need be I will send another FOIA request for information to take a look of how this sale is being completed.

I have personally prepared these calculations from both a book perspective as well as a tax perspective including working on the Shoreham Nuclear Plant Asset /Distribution Asset transfers to the Long Island Power Authority. This is a very important issue for both FPL and the ratepayers.

I know that the FERC form 1 reports do not disclose the net book values of specific plants but only the net book values based upon the normal book depreciation recovery that is being recorded. A theoretical study would have to be calculated to look at the over/under recovery of depreciation on the sale of these plants. Maybe some of the reserve surplus has some of this plant as over recovered.

This information is being sent to help out. Will this email be made part of the public record? I would like this to be made part of the public record since this is a very significant process for the ratepayers of Florida.

I wanted to send a quick email but I will follow up if I can think of something else.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-340-4956/954-798-6127.

Thanks,

Section 33.5 - Proposed Accounting Entries

FPL and NHT are or will be required to maintain their books of account in accordance with the Commission's Uniform System of Accounts in 18 C.F.R. Part 101. The proposed accounting entries that FPL and NHT will use to account for the proposed Transaction in accordance with the Commission's Uniform System of Accounts are provided below. Upon purchase, the plant assets acquired by NHT will be recorded at original cost in Account 102, Electric Plant Purchased or Sold, and all other accounts will be recorded at book value in the same accounts as recorded by FPL. These proposed entries, estimated as of May 31, 2010, represent FPL's 88.22889% undivided interest in the Seabrook Substation facilities. Actual amounts recorded will be based on book values at the acquisition date.

Subject: Depreciation Testimony / Theoretical Depreciation Reserve

Dear Commissioner's,

K Michael Davis indicates that Depreciation is not a cash account in which money can be disbursed but what about the over collection of the money in the 131 cash account? This is a contradictory statement since it is OK for the Cash to be collected in rates (131 cash account) yet not returned due to the over collection in the company's reserve. The depreciation expense account in the cost of service is directly an offset of the revenue line on the cost of service. Remember under traditional ratemaking design RateBase X Allowed Rate of Return = Level of Operating income allowed by the cost of money. All things being equal if we were zero based at the operating income level the level of depreciation expense should equal the cash collection in rates except for the return on investment component.

The cost of service at the operating income line includes both revenues and depreciation expense therefore Mr. Davis's response that the depreciation reserve is not an account in which cash money can be disbursed is true from a literal aspect but not from a buildup of a cash reserve in the cash account (131 Account). The reason for this is that if cash rates are an indication of the revenues in the cost of service and the depreciation expense is the level of expense for recovery of the cash in the revenue line then how can he indicate that the reserve is not an account that there is a inherent cash buildup if we are in agreement that there is an over recovery in the reserve?

If you reverse out the reserve this would translate to a reduction in depreciation expense which might cause an over earning at the company. Yes the actual reserve account is a balance sheet account that unless it is reversed out it would be an accumulated account in which the over collected dollars would be collected in this reserve account which Mr. Davis has indicated is a direct reduction to ratebase. A reduction of ratebase translates to a reduction of the revenue requirements for the return on investment under traditional ratemaking design. The fact that the accumulated depreciation account has a surplus would have to have a corresponding debit account from Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. If the company is over collecting in its rates then the corresponding debit account would be the Cash account (131) for the over collection of the money.

Very simple:

Journal Entry #1

Debit Cash (Depreciation Recovery) / 131 Account

Credit Revenue (Sales Revenue for Depreciation) 400 account

To record the cash receipts from our customers as it pertains to depreciation. There is a real cash impact with this entry. This is a net entry in which Customer Accounts receivable (regulatory asset) 142 account would be accrued and reversed based upon cash collections.

Journal Entry #2

Debit Depreciation Expense 403 account

Credit Accumulated Depreciation 108 account

To record Depreciation Expense for the period X. This is a normal accrual entry based upon the depreciation rates (cash rates) as established by the prior rate case. This would not be a cash entry for GAAP but there is an inherent assumption of cash collection in this entry based upon the old cost of service as filed to support the rates that were established with the 2005 case

P&L Impact

Revenue / This is from Journal Entry #1 / This translates to cash recovery based upon the depreciation rates that have been set with the old rate case

Depreciation Expense / This is from Journal Entry #2 / This entry can be adjusted by ledger 3 additions and retirements of plant.

If there is no over recover or under recovery then both of these would be exactly the same amount to be revenue neutral to the cost of service for the cash collection of depreciation in rates. This assumes that there are no additions and retirements. There might be a difference for the return on ratebase (return on investment/equity) from a traditional ratemaking perspective but the concept of the recovery of the depreciation in rates should match if the cash rates have been set properly.

If the revenue above is greater than the required depreciation based upon the theoretical study if the depreciation expense entry is not reduced the accumulated depreciation will show a greater reduction to rate base and accumulate in this account until the company corrects for the return of the over recovery. It might be very simple to ignore the over collection of cash that should be available as a surplus.

According to Mr. Davis a snap shot is a starting point for the measurement of over/under recovery of depreciation. This might be correct from at looking at the theoretical versus the actual reserve in total but it appears that there is no mention that they are automatically collecting in cash rates an amount in excess of the annual recovery that would be needed to match the depreciation expense if it was adjusted to match the new remaining lives. If there was an adjustment then there would be a direct reduction to depreciation expense which might cause over earnings. If there is a sharing mechanism for over earnings then the customer would be penalized through cash rates since the over collection is being currently collected in rates.

The remaining life methodology would work if the surplus cash was remaining in the 131 cash account. This is what is the real problem is. The company has over collected the cash in its rates and until there is an accounting of where the surplus cash is the potential exists for the company to ask for another rate increase in the future if they need more cash. This is probably why Mr. Davis wants to make sure that the over collection is not returned quickly. What happens if the company uses the money for other items (regulatory/potential non-regulatory (so far there has been no discussion of this issue)? The possibility exists that there would be a quick cash revenue requirement if the surplus cash is no longer available for future plant additions.

Again where is the surplus cash and how was this spent? It is very important to gain an understanding on where the surplus cash was spent. This is very important from a regulatory and non-regulatory approach. Remember there was a swing in earnings for NextEra (non-regulated) entities. The change in earnings from a P&L aspect would not be an issue but we have to take a look at the cash financing of these entities and to see if any cash flow has been used to support any of the capital spending to put these plants into service. The only way that this can be determined is if we take a look at the segmented cash flows of the company as it relates to its holding company concept.

Since Mr. Davis is indicating that the remaining lives are greater than the existing lives due to the plant in service lasting longer then are these assumptions being used in their new ratecase to show a reduction to depreciation expense in their current cost of service for the rate case? This would show that the revenue requirements should be going down.

I know that this might not show up since they are always adding new plant in service. We must make sure that the new plant additions are using the new extended lives for book depreciation if Mr. Davis's argument is that the existing plant remaining lives are greater than the existing lives due to the plant in service lasting longer. If FPL is using the old plant service lives for forecasting purposes on new plant in service this might cause the same issue with regard to creating another surplus for the new additions in the case. Is this the case?

Mr. Davis indicates that the benefit of a Steam unit now is lower than the benefit that it produced in the earlier years even though the lives of the units have been extended. I would think that it would be up to FPL to complete economic analysis to determine if the extended lives of the existing steam units outweigh the benefits of putting in new units that are much more efficient and provide a better benefit to the ratepayer. Does FPL model for their new Steam production plant in service for the new ratecase a life that is in line with the current Steam unit lives that have been extended? You would have to take a look at the capital forecast that FPL put together for the rate case to determine what type of lives are being used for new Steam generation. I would think that we do not want to model shorter lives in this case if in fact the theoretical reserve is indicating that the remaining lives are being extended. This methodology should be used for all new plant in service that the theoretical lives have been extended. If the forecast does not take this into account then there will always be an over recovery since the models might be using shorter lives than the theoretical studies suggest in which the lives have been extended.

Where is there talk of cost of removal costs with regard to charges to the accumulated depreciation reserves (108 accounts)? Have these costs been looked at as they related to charges that are being recorded to ledger 10? How much of these costs reduced the amount of over funding and has an audit been performed with regard to the audit of these costs?

If FPL is going to potentially complete a depreciation study every 4 years then it would probably make sense to return a majority of the over recovery over 4 years and revisit the over/under recovery in a 4 year timeframe. There should be no problem with this approach since this will monitor the over/under recovery to make sure that the surplus does not continue to climb. What about letting the company complete a study every year to monitor this issue? I would think that this should not be a problem. I know that at times up North we prepared the theoretical studies every year/six months to watch for both over/under recoveries as well as cost of removal costs that were being charged to the depreciation reserves.

The argument with regard GAAP versus Regulatory perspective of recording the return of the $125 million per year is a very simple thing to address. If there is an over recover of the money in rates you can record a regulatory asset/liability (not an asset for the over recovery of the money). Mr. Davis has indicated that with the reversal of the depreciation expense that the ratebase will go up for this adjustment. The argument to give back the depreciation over recovery over the remaining life might be OK as long as the surplus cash is still in the 131 Cash Account. If not, then where did this money go? Where is the GAAP aspect of the cash reserve and if the money still exists for the over recovery? If they are over collecting for the depreciation yet the amount of expense required is less then this money should be accumulated as a cash surplus as per GAAP and Regulatory purposes. So far there has been no talk of cash flow.

Debit Cash 131 account

Credit Deferred Credits 253 account

To record over recovery of money from the ratepayers for depreciation expense.

The theoretical reserve can then be isolated for ratemaking purposes and as I have indicated above we can make sure that we see the pure number of over collection excluding cost of removal/salvage adjustments to the depreciation reserve accounts. If you revisit the theoretical reserve on an annual/six month basis then you can then adjust the regulatory asset/liability to adjust for the new theoretically study. This would make the most sense since it would allow for a quicker adjustment to compensate for these over/under recoveries. This is no different than the Fuel Adjustment Clause. This clause is being adjusted as the fuel costs are going up or down allowing for a smoother rate design. If fuel costs are higher than the recovery it would create a regulatory asset (186 account) if the recovery is higher than the actual fuel costs it would create a regulatory liability (253 account). During these economic times this would probably make the most sense.

You do not want to go down the road and find out that the possibility exists that there is not adequate cash reserves for a large item such as depreciation. If the cash surplus related to these over recoveries are not being maintained as a surplus and the company needs the cash for plant maintenance of existing/future plant then the company would have to either ask for another rate increase or finance the cost of maintenance in the future. This is why it is very important to know where the cash surplus of this money has been spent or if it is being maintained in the cash 131 account.

I can only hope that we do not see that this surplus cash reserve has been spent and this is really the reason why they are asking for the return of the surplus over the remaining lives. There would be no harm in creating a cash give back to the customer and revisiting and monitoring this surplus every six months to a year. I think that yearly would be appropriate to tighten the cash flow related to this item to make sure that the surplus cash is being maintained by the company to mitigate some of the requested rate increase by the company.

This is why we have to take a look at the segmented cash flows of the money in and out of the 131 cash account at the Utility. Is there separate cash accounts being maintained at each subsidiary company? If yes, then we should be able to trace the trail of the movement of the cash. If not, then we need to know if there is separate billing/work order systems being maintained by the company to make sure that the ratepayers cash surplus is being kept intact. Where is the talk about the cash flow of the company in the testimony?

Listening to Mr. Deason's testimony with regard to making the argument that the surplus cash should be given back over the remaining useful lives versus a 4 year period is a very interesting. His testimony might be valid as long as there can be quantification of the surplus cash and that this cash is being maintained in the Utility 131 account. We have to remember that Generally Accepted Accounting Principles indicates that there are Debit's and Credits to a journal entry and that in order for them to balance in this case there would have to be surplus cash (131) (Debit) to match the Accumulated Depreciation Reserves (108) (Credit). There has been no talk about the surplus cash existing in the 131 account. If the cash does not exist then the possibility exists that the Credit (Accumulated Depreciation 108) is a lot larger than the Debit (Cash 131 ). Where is the cash going to come from to potentially give the customer a refund if the cash is not being maintained in the Cash 131 Account? How come there was no talk about this cash surplus?

Mr. Deason indicates that he feels that the company probably did not under earn during the years 2002 to 2005 and might have either over earned or earned its allowed rate of return. If there was a sharing mechanism there is no reason why the company should benefit from a surplus of depreciation as a contribution to over earnings. This would be considered an over collection due to extending the asset lives therefore the customer should receive full benefit for this type of surplus. There should be no sharing of this surplus if it resulted in over earnings. We have to be very careful here especially from a cash flow perspective.

Please make sure that all the new capital forecasts and assumptions are accounting for extended live of the assets that are creating this surplus. This should be the assumption in the new case and if it is not, you can be assured that the surplus will continue to grow for the same reasons that the company now has a surplus. This should not be a one way street. If FPL feels that the extended lives have contributed to this surplus then from a GAAP and Regulatory perspective their estimate for useful lives in their forecasting methodology should account for these extended lives to mitigate this type of surplus in the future. If the case is approved with the forecast using the same useful lives that has generated the surplus then the surplus will continue therefore a temporary surplus give back might be warranted. It is very easy to indicate that since there is an over recovery of cash that you want to give it back over the remaining useful lives but conversely it would be just as important to make sure that the forecast methodology is addressing the surplus issues in their new estimates for setting depreciation rates in the new ratecase.

Mr. Deason has indicated that if you reverse out the over collection that you would be adding to ratebase plant that would have to be re-recovered. From a GAAP perspective this makes sense since the useful lives of existing plant have been extended. There is no indication that the customer would not pay for recovery of the added assets to ratebase. It is only that the customer has paid for the asset recovery in advance (Prepaid) from a Cash/GAAP perspective. There really should be no problem with this since the company will receive recovery based upon the calculated extended lives of the assets that have caused the over recovery. Conversely, the ratepayer/customer has already prepaid for the recovery of this asset and there should be a surplus in the Cash 131 account. There has been no talk about this issue.

There really would be no harm to mitigate some of the rate increase with giving back some of this surplus and monitoring this on an annual basis. Why not give back some of the surplus in year 1 and monitor the surplus every year to determine how much should be given back each year? This should not be a problem since I think that the Fuel Cost Adjustment has this type of accounting in place. I am sure that if fuel costs go up significantly that the company would want to increase their cash rates very quickly. Why not for the give back of the Depreciation Surplus? During these tough economic times the Commission should use every avenue to make sure that this is a two way street. If the full rate increase is approved and FPL's argument is that the customer's bill will be going down after the fuel cost adjustments what happens if the fuel costs go up? I am sure that FPL would be adjusting the fuel adjustment clause to recover the cash very quickly for this issue. So if the fuel costs go up after the decision in this case, the ratepayers of Florida are not only going to see a cash increase for base rates but an immediate increase in their rates for an increase of fuel costs. Why is it OK to immediately adjust rates for fuel but not give back some of the depreciation surplus currently to mitigate some of the increase to help the ratepayers during these economic times?

Unless the cash surplus related to depreciation does not exist?

Where is the testimony regarding the cash surplus related to depreciation at the company? If it does not exist then where did it go? These are the real questions.

With today's technology it should be very easy for the company to automate the calculation of the depreciation studies. I know that I have prepared these myself including net book value calculations for plant by location. When I was up North this became a very important issue since we had a concurrent merger and a transfer of assets to a State entity. When it came down to transferring these assets we had to determine our Net Book Values from a book perspective versus a tax perspective since this could have an impact on any gain on sale transactions. I personally prepared the book depreciation studies/entries for the company as well as work on the tax issues related to tax depreciation issues.

I started in financial planning preparing all these forecasts (5 year plans) including interrogatory responses and then when we worked on the concurrent merger and transfer of assets they utilized my computer/accounting expertise to work on the automation of the depreciation process and studies. I automated this process with 3 months in the Fixed Asset department and then I went to the tax department to work on the tax depreciation aspect of this process. Since I was able to come up with the automation of this process we were then able to complete calculations of net book values of plant and complete gain on sale analysis from a tax perspective. I know that the company through its FERC filings does not disclose these numbers for competitive reasons but in the future when these plants are sold this will become a very large issue for the company in terms of the gains that are calculated on the potential sale of the assets.

I know that I can help with this initiative if the company indicates that it cannot complete these theoretical studies on a timely basis. There really is no excuse since there is a huge surplus and the ratepayers need to hold the line on rates during these tough times.

I appreciate the opportunity to hear the testimony and that it was made available on line to review. There is a lot of material and I can only hope that I have contributed to this case.

People in the State of Florida are hurting and I think that we really have to do whatever is necessary to balance both the needs of the ratepayers and shareholders during these tough economic times.

If I can be of assistance please do not hesitate to ask. Please let me know if the previous email and this one will be included in the testimony and available on the public site.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Menasco,

Thanks. I have sent an appeal email regarding the release of the confidential Docket Number 08713-10. Has this been added to all files as well?

What about the other correspondence regarding the tax payments as well as the email asking questions about the depreciation surplus testimony?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Pena,

I think that there are emails that have been fully excluded as well. I heard back from Ms. Menasco regarding the Docket 100140-EI but I have not heard back about the two other Dockets.

Docket 100009 and Docket 080677. I know that my information would be pertinent to all of the Dockets and I was concerned that just like the commission was providing for docket correspondence being posted into any docket that the information was pertinent to that my information would be posted to all three dockets as well.

All of the three dockets are related to the ratemaking at Florida Power & Light. Each docket would benefit from my information that has been posted in each docket since my email correspondence has always addressed the regulated Utility as a whole. When I worked up North we did not separate Dockets for specific issues if the impacts of one might impact another. I am sure that my email correspondence with regard to the technical accounting aspects of ratecase proceedings can be used in all of the dockets.

I do not understand why the commission would post all the information that would be pertinent to all three dockets but would not do the same for my email correspondence that has information that would be related from a technical accounting perspective.

I found it strange that two more dockets were created when the issues are related.

Thanks for your help.

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Pena,

When I talked about the whited/redacted out information I was talking about my email correspondence in which the images that are in the public Docket file are whited/redacted out so that they cannot be seen in the Docket file. This was related to all the cases in which I sent my email correspondence to be made part of the record. I was wondering if the Commission has accepted the PDF as hardcopy files that I have sent in my previous email (s) to incorporate into the public docket so that the images are not whited/redacted?

The document that you are talking about below appears to be the document that FPL has asked to be classified as confidential. Is this correct? There are two different questions with my email below. I have been waiting for an answer that my hard copy PDF files will be used to be scanned into the public docket file. This is related to all of the cases involved since the Commission has decided to breakout some of the issues into other Dockets. A lot of the email correspondence that I have submitted would address multiple dockets therefore I wanted to make sure that all my email correspondence has been made part of the public docket without being whited/redacted.

Do you know if this is the case?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Thanks for the information. I will take a look at the attached regulations. If (7)(a) works I will ask for an appeal for the declassification of this information based upon making sure that both the Florida and PSC regulations are in compliance with the Federal regulation as I have indicated in my previous email. There really is no reason for the making a normal accounting report confidential when the final order would have to disclose this information anyway. The only difference here is that it is confidential for the decision making process and then not confidential after the agreement has been signed. This has the appearance of "ex parte" communications based upon the Federal regulation as outlined below.

It just seems strange that normal accounting reports that are used in final orders and normal business is being made confidential when it appears that this type of information has been made public in the past.

Do you know off hand if the whited/redacted out email correspondence has been made part of the public docket for all the cases that I am an interested party?

I will get back to the Commission tomorrow once I am able to review the two files that you have sent.

As part of the appeal I would want the commission to rule on the compliance perspective with the Federal law as indicated in the emails below.

Again, thanks for the information.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Mr. Smith,

Florida Power & Light Company has filed a Request for Confidential Classification of its Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report, Document Number 08713-10, filed in Docket No. 080677-EI. As you are aware, all documents filed with public agencies are public records pursuant to Section 119.07, Florida Statutes, unless the legislature provides an exemption for those records. The legislature did provide for confidential classification of certain documents filed with the Public Service Commission. The process for requesting confidential classification is found in Section 366.093, Florida Statutes. I am attaching a copy of that statute for your review. In compliance with Chapter 120 Florida Statutes, and Section 366.093, Florida Statutes, the Public Service Commission adopted a rule for handling confidential documents, Rule 25-22.006, Florida Administrative Code. I am attaching a copy of that rule for your reference. Paragraph (3)(d) of the rule exempts the document from disclosure pending a ruling by the Commission. Currently, the document in question is pending review at the Commission and therefore is confidential.

You may wish to pay particular attention to paragraph (7)(a) of the rule as it provides you with an avenue to request inspection of the document in question.

Subject: FW: Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report ("Report") / Classification

Dear Ms. Pena,

I would respectfully request a copy of the forecasted provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report. I feel that as an interested party with a legal interest in these proceedings from both a ratepayer and shareholder perspective that I would have legal basis to be afforded full transparency with the release of this document.

This document is a document that would be no different than prior Surveillance reports that have been issued in the past (made part of the public record ) and/or any final orders in which the Commission has provided full disclosure of the calculated returns on equity based upon an adjudicated level of rate relief.

Since this information would normally be provided with a final order before the case is closed there would be no reason to classify this document before agreeing to the Stipulation and Settlement agreement and then declassify the document after the Stipulation and Settlement agreement is signed. This would not allow for the full transparency that would be afforded to any party with a legal interest in this proceeding.

Base upon the Federal Law Title 5 Administrative Procedures Act USC 551 to USC 559 and 350.042 of the Florida Statutes this might be "ex parte" communications since the document might be furnished to specific interested parties in this case and not furnished to other parties with a legal interest in these proceedings. If these documents are being utilized by Commission personnel I am sure that the interveners in this case would potentially consider this "ex parte" communications and ask for the immediate release of this information if it might have an impact on their fiduciary duty to protect their legal interests in this case. This might also be considered "ex parte" communications since this type of information would be information that would normally made available in all rate case proceedings.

In the past I have requested through a FOIA request the historic Surveillance Reports. This request was granted.

In the past the Commission issued a final order before closing the case with the same type of disclosures that would be furnished in the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report.

What has changed?

If your response is to deny my request please support your answer on how this would not be a violation of Federal law Title 5 USC 551 to 559 of the Administrative Procedures Act and Section 350.042 of the Florida Statutes. The Federal law might preempt the Florida State Law. Before the Commission rules on this issue I think that a full legal review of compliance with both Federal/State laws is warranted.

Please let me know if you need a hard copy of this email so that when this is added to the public docket all the images will be made part of the public record.

An expedited answer would be very important considering that these issues might be taken up on 10/26/2010.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

Sorry for the typo.

Both Regulation FD and SX would impact information that should be made available to the public. If this forecast contains material information to its shareholders then there would be no reason for the company to seek classification of the surveillance report based upon Regulation FD and Based upon Regulation SX they would be required to report segmented information when the need for this information is warranted.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report ("Report") / Classification

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

According to this classification there is another part of Regulation FD/SX that would require this information to be not classified as confidential since this would "Situations may arise when information should be disclosed about a segment although the information in quantitative terms may not appear significant to the registrant's business taken as a whole."

This is why from both a shareholder and ratepayer perspective this is a critical piece of information when deciding both the issues in a ratecase as well for an investor to understand the regulatory impacts on the earnings of the company.

With item number 5 below, why would the company after a determination in the case declassify the documents? This may be construed as "ex parte" communication. Will the interveners have access to this information? If so, then as a ratepayer under 350.042 of the Florida Statutes and as per the SEC requirements below as a shareholder there should be no reason why the Company would classify this before the decision and declassify it after there is an agreement on the Stipulation and Settlement agreement. You have to remember that the over earnings of the company is also to test the rates that would be required therefore if the forecasted surveillance reports show that the company is over earning all interested parties should have access to this information in order to have the ability to ask any other pertinent questions that might impact a decision on agreeing to the Stipulation and Settlement agreement.

I would be very careful here since any lack of transparency from both the ratepayer and shareholder perspective might give rise to an impartial process which the Company has gone on the record that they are very concerned about. It has to be a two way street therefore I do not see the point of why they would want to classify this document as confidential when all the other actual surveillance reports have been made public?

This type of reporting is used to determine if the cash rates are ample enough to support the cost of service of the company. Without this type of disclosure in a ratecase proceeding, this might be construed as "ex parte" communication under section 350.042 of the Florida Statutes. Another issue to take a look at is any potential issues with "ex parte" communication under Title 5

Administrative Procedures Act USC 551 to USC 559. This is at the Federal level. Any Federal law would preempt any of the State Statutes and any State Statute would preempt any PSC administrative procedure.

This makes no sense since the original cost of service as filed in the case was made public therefore why would this surveillance report be made confidential when this type of information has been published in the past?

If you take a look at a typical surveillance report you will notice that none of the schedules would include confidential and proprietary information since this is the type of accounting schedule that is primarily used in a ratecase proceeding to set rates. Take a look at the final order that was issued by the Public Service Commission. You will notice that earned returns on equity are made available to the public therefore it does not make sense that they feel that this is a forecasted surveillance report that would require confidential classification. If this is considered classified then how would this not be considered "ex parte" communication since only certain interested parties are being able to see this information?

I know that from a shareholders perspective as well as a ratepayers perspective I would need this information to be able to determine what my rates are going to be as a customer and what any future stock price impacts would be on my ownership of common stock.

This lack of transparency might be considered "ex parte" communications under Title 5 of the Administrative Procedures act since this might be construed as "one sided" transparency.

How could only certain parties with a legal interest be allowed to see this information and others are not?

I am waiting to hear from Mr. Hay and Mr. Sieving regarding my shareholder questions that based upon the SEC regulations below would be in their purview to answer a shareholder.

If I cannot rely on the transparency of information from a ratecase proceeding to see how the Stipulation and Settlement agreement will impact my rates as a customer then how is the ratecase process protecting the customers from a ratepayer perspective?

If I do not receive the appropriate information from Mr. Hay and Mr. Sieving regarding segmented cash flows from a shareholder perspective then how can I have assurance based upon the SEC regulation below that this ratecase will not have an impact on my future value of my stock.

Full transparency should be afforded with this case. Are any of the interveners in the case going to have access to the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Reports? If so, then any party with a legal interest should be able to see this information as well.

Did staff publish my whited/redacted out information that was missing from my emails? I have provided hardcopy through a PDF file for them to append to the Public Service Commission file.

If you need a hardcopy of this email so when this email is added to the consumer file it is put into the public record with all of its images intact. I have no problem with providing this information.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

Special Requirements as to Public Utility Holding Companies*Reg. § 210.3A-05.

There shall be shown in the consolidated balance sheet of a public utility holding company the difference between the amount at which the parent's investment is carried and the underlying book equity of subsidiaries as at the respective dates of acquisition.

1. In determining what information about the segments is material to any understanding of the registrant's business taken as a whole and therefore required to be disclosed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this Item, the registrant should take into account both quantitative and qualitative factors such as the significance of the matter to the registrant (e.g., whether a matter with a relatively minor impact on the registrant's business is represented by management to be important to its future profitability), the pervasiveness of the matter (e.g., whether it affects or may affect numerous items in the segment information), and the impact of the matter (e.g., whether it distorts the trends reflected in the segment information). Situations may arise when information should be disclosed about a segment although the information in quantitative terms may not appear significant to the registrant's business taken as a whole.
2. Base the determination of whether information about segments is required for a particular year upon an evaluation of interperiod comparability. For instance, interperiod comparability would require a registrant to report segment information in the current period even if not material under the criteria for reportability of SFAS No. 131 if a segment has been significant in the immediately preceding period and the registrant expects it to be significant in the future.
3. The Commission, upon written request of the registrant and where consistent with the protection of investors, may permit the omission of any of the information required by this Item or the furnishing in substitution thereof of appropriate information of comparable character.

4. As the affidavit included in Exhibit D indicates, the information provided by FPL contains material, non-public financial forecast information, which unless kept confidential, would require disclosure to investors under United States Securities and Exchange Commission Regulation FD. Regulation FD is an issuer disclosure rule intended to avoid selective disclosure of material financial information by publicly traded companies such as FPL's parent, NextEra Energy, Inc. Since the information contained in the Report is provisional, and presents only one view of FPL's forecasted financial results for 2010, it is inappropriate to disclose this information to the investment community at the present time and such disclosure would adversely affect FPL's competitive interests in financial markets.<sup>1</sup> Such information is proprietary confidential business information under Section 366.093, including subsection (3)(e) thereof.

5. Upon a finding by the Commission that the information highlighted in Exhibit A, and referenced in Exhibit C, is proprietary confidential business information, the information should not be declassified until FPL files its final Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report, which FPL has committed to filing within 30 days of the Commission's approval of the Stipulation and Settlement that FPL and the major intervenors filed on August 20, 2010 or, if the settlement agreement is not approved, the Commission's decision on pending motions for reconsideration. Additionally, the Report should be returned to FPL as soon as the information is no longer necessary for the Commission to conduct its business. See § 366.093(4), F.S.

Subject: FW: Will high profit margin for FPL mean refund for customers? / Docket 100410 Review of Florida Power & Light Company's earnings.

Dear Ms. Cibula,

This is for your information regarding some of my email correspondence being whited/redacted out and not being added to the public record.

The fact that some of my images in my emails are not being made part of the record might be considered "ex parte" communications in that some of the people at the commission are receiving technical accounting that might have an impact on the decision's made in a rate case. My technical accounting and any correspondence questioning any of the testimony in the case should be made fully transparent to all parties of a rate proceeding.

This information should be being fully shared in the public record since other people (other parties with a legal interest in a rate proceeding) might be able to benefit from my email communications and give rise to additional questioning with regard to any rate proceeding.

This is why full transparency/full disclosure should be a requirement for any rate proceeding. This would provide full due process/discovery with any proceeding.

Without this approach the possibility exists that "ex parte" communication might exist. This might lead to the possibility of an impartial proceeding and/or lack of due process to protect the interests of both the ratepayers and/or shareholders of the Utility in the proceeding. This might also create an "ex parte" communication situation for other parties with a legal interest in a rate proceeding as well. If they are not afforded the same type of discovery as members of the Commission staff and/or Commissioner's this might lead to an impartial proceeding.

I understand that the company is concerned with impartiality with these proceedings. If it is a concern for the Company, then the same concerns for impartiality should also be a concern for ratepayers and/or shareholders of the company as well as any other party that might have a legal interest in any rate proceeding.

I know that based upon 350.042 of the Florida Statutes I have this right as a ratepayer and based upon my rights as a shareholder I would have the right to ask these questions as well.

Full transparency/discovery should be afforded.

Just a thought on making sure that the new administrative procedure provides for full due process and transparency and meets the test of compliance with the Florida Statutes since preemption would provide that any administrative procedure has to meet the State Statutes in order for it to meet compliance with current Florida State Laws.

This is a very important issue since the Company has made it very clear that they are concerned with partiality in the proceeding. This has to be a two way street.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or give me a call.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: RE: Communication Between Commission Employees and Parties

Dear Ms. Cibula,

Thank you for the information and I am looking forward to receiving a copy of the transcript from the workshop on rule 25-22.033. I noticed that during the workshop there was limited discussion on to how the proposed legislation was derived. Most outside people (ratepayers and/or shareholders) would need clear and concise language as to what would be acceptable communication with the Commission. I noticed that a ratepayer is still allowed to communicate with the Commissioner's under section 350.042 of the Florida Statutes. Here are some comments but I will continue to take a look at the rule.

Section (1) of 25-22.033 reads "Legal interest in the proceeding"?

What does this mean in plain language? Any ratepayer of any regulated entity would have a legal interest in a proceeding therefore they would be in a position to have communications with Commission staff and/or the Commissioner's based upon 350.042. A shareholder would also have a legal interest in a proceeding with regard to any ratemaking matters that might have an impact on the earnings of the Utility therefore they would also be in a position to have communications with Commission staff and/or the Commissioner's just like the Senior Management of the Utility. Since both a ratepayer and/or shareholder would have a legal interest in a rate case proceeding then any communication between Commission staff and/or the Commissioner's should be fully made part of the public record and available to all parties and interested parties. There should be no exception(s) as to what communications are being made part of the public record or not.

This would provide for full transparency which would be a requirement under 350.042. How come all of my correspondence with the Commission has not been fully made part of the public record? This is a very critical issue since if some of the communication is made part of the record and some is excluded it might lead to an "ex parte" communication in that some of the communication was made part of the public record and some was not. If you look at some of my communication that has not been made part of the public record you will notice that only certain emails have not been made part of the public record. If some are excluded and some are included then the person must be notified by the Commission as to why some of the communication (written and/or oral) was excluded from the public record.

I also noticed that an interested person's communication is made part of a Docket correspondence - Parties and Interested Persons. This file is often kept in the same chronological spot as the previous communications that have been populated in this file. A lot of the communications that I have sent had a chronological importance with regard to the testimony that was made by the Utility and/or Expert Witnesses. In order for there to be full transparency the communications or the file should be moved to most recent date of information that is placed into these files or the parties and/or interested parties might not be made fully aware of this information that might be pertinent to the rate case proceeding. This is very important since some of my email correspondence provided technical accounting responses to direct testimony. Some of it was excluded from these files and some was included. In order for there to be no "ex parte" communications all information has to be made part of the public record so that all parties and/or interested parties would have access to the information. Since these files are not being moved to the top Docket index the average party and/or interested party might not know where this pertinent information resides therefore they might not be made aware of an issue that might be pertinent to the rate case that they should have been made aware of.

How come some of my communications was made part of the public record and some was not?

Section (2)(c) of 25-22.033 reads:

(c) "Impermissible Communication" means any communication with a party or interested person, if written, is not served on all parties, or, if oral, is made without notice to all parties or interested persons.

Rob Smith Comments

Under this rule all written communications from an interested party has to be made available to all parties or interested parties. Correct? If the information received is made part of the public record then it would be permissible communication. If a Commissioner received written or oral Communication then this information should be made part of the public record so that all parties or interested parties have been made aware of the Communication. What happens if a Commissioner receives a written or oral communication and it is not shared with all parties? Does it become "impermissible Communication"? This should not happen since this might lead to information that might be pertinent to the rate case proceeding. I know that some of my email correspondence has been made part of the public record and some as of today has not been made part of the public record. Some of the email correspondence is very pertinent to some of the technical aspects of the Holding company concept at the Utility as it pertains to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (PUHCA) or Public Utility Holding Company Act of 2005 ("PUHCA 2005"). This act is governed under FERC (Federal Energy Regulatory Commission). In order for there to be full transparency and to make sure that all parties and/or interested parties are provided full notice, all written and/or oral communication should be fully made part of the record. There should be no instance in which certain information would be excluded as part of the public record or not. Since some of my email correspondence has not been made part of the public record, what would be the Commission rule as to why some was made part of the public record and some was not? This in itself might lead to "ex parte" communication since all of my information has not been made part of the public record.

I am going to continue to look at the rule but I think that all communications should be made part of the public record and if not the Commission should provide a response as to why certain information was excluded. This would be needed to make sure that there was no "ex parte" communications. If some information was excluded then some of the Commission staff and/or Commissioner's might be exposed to an "ex parte" communications issue since the information was not made fully transparent and disclosed. All parties, interested parties and any other party that has a "legal interest" in any rate case proceeding should have full access to all information that was made available to both the Commission staff and/or Commissioner's in any rate proceeding that is administered by the Florida Public Service Commission. Without this approach the possibility exists that "ex parte" communication might exist. This might lead to the possibility of an impartial proceeding and/or lack of due process to protect the interests of both the ratepayers and/or shareholders of the Utility in the proceeding.

Please let me know if the information that I have provided that has not been made part of the public record is going to be part of the public record. If it is not going to be made part of the public record please let me know why it has not been made part of the public record. Please provide me with the rule that would support why some of the information was not made part of the public record. If you need copies of the emails that I have sent with regard to what is currently missing from the public record please do not hesitate to ask.

I will continue to look at the proposed rule.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or give me a call.

As per SB 1034 of the Florida Statutes with regard to communication with a ratepayer:

4 SB 1034
Fasano
(Identical H 565)

Section 350.042, F. S., provides for ex parte communications. The term "ex parte" is not defined in the statute but according to Black's Law Dictionary means "on one side only, by or for one party, done for, in behalf of, or on the application of, one party only." According to the American Heritage Dictionary, the term means "from or on one side only; one sided, partisan." Subsection (1) provides that a commissioner should accord to every person who is legally interested in a proceeding full right to be heard according to law, and except as authorized by law, shall neither initiate nor consider ex parte communications concerning the merits, threat, or offer of reward in any proceeding other than a proceeding under s. 120.54, F. S., (rulemaking) or 120.565, F.S., (declaratory statements by agencies), workshops, or internal affairs meetings. No individual shall discuss ex parte with a commissioner the merits of any issue that he or she knows will be filed with the commission within 90 days. The subsection does not apply to commission staff.

Individual residential ratepayers are allowed to communicate with a commissioner, provided that the ratepayer is representing only himself or herself, without compensation. In addition, the section does not apply to oral communications or discussions in scheduled and noticed open public meetings of educational programs of a conference or other meeting of an association of regulatory agencies.

Dear Ms. Pena,

I think that there are emails that have been fully excluded as well. I heard back from Ms. Menasco regarding the Docket 100140-EI but I have not heard back about the two other Dockets.

Docket 100009 and Docket 080677. I know that my information would be pertinent to all of the Dockets and I was concerned that just like the commission was providing for docket correspondence being posted into any docket that the information was pertinent to that my information would be posted to all three dockets as well.

All of the three dockets are related to the ratemaking at Florida Power & Light. Each docket would benefit from my information that has been posted in each docket since my email correspondence has always addressed the regulated Utility as a whole. When I worked up North we did not separate Dockets for specific issues if the impacts of one might impact another. I am sure that my email correspondence with regard to the technical accounting aspects of ratecase proceedings can be used in all of the dockets.

I do not understand why the commission would post all the information that would be pertinent to all three dockets but would not do the same for my email correspondence that has information that would be related from a technical accounting perspective.

I found it strange that two more dockets were created when the issues are related.

Thanks for your help.

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Pena,

When I talked about the whited/redacted out information I was talking about my email correspondence in which the images that are in the public Docket file are whited/redacted out so that they cannot be seen in the Docket file. This was related to all the cases in which I sent my email correspondence to be made part of the record. I was wondering if the Commission has accepted the PDF as hardcopy files that I have sent in my previous email (s)to incorporate into the public docket so that the images are not whited/redacted?

The document that you are talking about below appears to be the document that FPL has asked to be classified as confidential. Is this correct? There are two different questions with my email below. I have been waiting for an answer that my hard copy PDF files will be used to be scanned into the public docket file. This is related to all of the cases involved since the Commission has decided to breakout some of the issues into other Dockets. A lot of the email correspondence that I have submitted would address multiple dockets therefore I wanted to make sure that all my email correspondence has been made part of the public docket without being whited/redacted.

Do you know if this is the case?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Thanks for the information. I will take a look at the attached regulations. If (7)(a) works I will ask for an appeal for the declassification of this information based upon making sure that both the Florida and PSC regulations are in compliance with the Federal regulation as I have indicated in my previous email. There really is no reason for the making a normal accounting report confidential when the final order would have to disclose this information anyway. The only difference here is that it is confidential for the decision making process and then not confidential after the agreement has been signed. This has the appearance of "ex parte" communications based upon the Federal regulation as outlined below.

It just seems strange that normal accounting reports that are used in final orders and normal business is being made confidential when it appears that this type of information has been made public in the past.

Do you know off hand if the whited/redacted out email correspondence has been made part of the public docket for all the cases that I am an interested party?

I will get back to the Commission tomorrow once I am able to review the two files that you have sent.

As part of the appeal I would want the commission to rule on the compliance perspective with the Federal law as indicated in the emails below.

Again, thanks for the information.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Mr. Smith,

Florida Power & Light Company has filed a Request for Confidential Classification of its Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report, Document Number 08713-10, filed in Docket No. 080677-EI. As you are aware, all documents filed with public agencies are public records pursuant to Section 119.07, Florida Statutes, unless the legislature provides an exemption for those records. The legislature did provide for confidential classification of certain documents filed with the Public Service Commission. The process for requesting confidential classification is found in Section 366.093, Florida Statutes. I am attaching a copy of that statute for your review. In compliance with Chapter 120 Florida Statutes, and Section 366.093, Florida Statutes, the Public Service Commission adopted a rule for handling confidential documents, Rule 25-22.006, Florida Administrative Code. I am attaching a copy of that rule for your reference. Paragraph (3)(d) of the rule exempts the document from disclosure pending a ruling by the Commission. Currently, the document in question is pending review at the Commission and therefore is confidential.

You may wish to pay particular attention to paragraph (7)(a) of the rule as it provides you with an avenue to request inspection of the document in question.

Subject: FW: Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report ("Report") / Classification

Dear Ms. Pena,

I would respectfully request a copy of the forecasted provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report. I feel that as an interested party with a legal interest in these proceedings from both a ratepayer and shareholder perspective that I would have legal basis to be afforded full transparency with the release of this document.

This document is a document that would be no different than prior Surveillance reports that have been issued in the past (made part of the public record ) and/or any final orders in which the Commission has provided full disclosure of the calculated returns on equity based upon an adjudicated level of rate relief.

Since this information would normally be provided with a final order before the case is closed there would be no reason to classify this document before agreeing to the Stipulation and Settlement agreement and then declassify the document after the Stipulation and Settlement agreement is signed. This would not allow for the full transparency that would be afforded to any party with a legal interest in this proceeding.

Base upon the Federal Law Title 5 Administrative Procedures Act USC 551 to USC 559 and 350.042 of the Florida Statutes this might be "ex parte" communications since the document might be furnished to specific interested parties in this case and not furnished to other parties with a legal interest in these proceedings. If these documents are being utilized by Commission personnel I am sure that the interveners in this case would potentially consider this "ex parte" communications and ask for the immediate release of this information if it might have an impact on their fiduciary duty to protect their legal interests in this case. This might also be considered "ex parte" communications since this type of information would be information that would normally made available in all rate case proceedings.

In the past I have requested through a FOIA request the historic Surveillance Reports. This request was granted.

In the past the Commission issued a final order before closing the case with the same type of disclosures that would be furnished in the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report.

What has changed?

If your response is to deny my request please support your answer on how this would not be a violation of Federal law Title 5 USC 551 to 559 of the Administrative Procedures Act and Section 350.042 of the Florida Statutes. The Federal law might preempt the Florida State Law. Before the Commission rules on this issue I think that a full legal review of compliance with both Federal/State laws is warranted.

Please let me know if you need a hard copy of this email so that when this is added to the public docket all the images will be made part of the public record.

An expedited answer would be very important considering that these issues might be taken up on 10/26/2010.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Sorry for the typo.

Both Regulation FD and SX would impact information that should be made available to the public. If this forecast contains material information to its shareholders then there would be no reason for the company to seek classification of the surveillance report based upon Regulation FD and Based upon Regulation SX they would be required to report segmented information when the need for this information is warranted.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: Provisional Electric Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report ("Report") / Classification

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

According to this classification there is another part of Regulation FD/SX that would require this information to be not classified as confidential since this would "Situations may arise when information should be disclosed about a segment although the information in quantitative terms may not appear significant to the registrant's business taken as a whole."

This is why from both a shareholder and ratepayer perspective this is a critical piece of information when deciding both the issues in a ratecase as well for an investor to understand the regulatory impacts on the earnings of the company.

With item number 5 below, why would the company after a determination in the case declassify the documents? This may be construed as "ex parte" communication. Will the interveners have access to this information? If so, then as a ratepayer under 350.042 of the Florida Statutes and as per the SEC requirements below as a shareholder there should be no reason why the Company would classify this before the decision and declassify it after there is an agreement on the Stipulation and Settlement agreement. You have to remember that the over earnings of the company is also to test the rates that would be required therefore if the forecasted surveillance reports show that the company is over earning all interested parties should have access to this information in order to have the ability to ask any other pertinent questions that might impact a decision on agreeing to the Stipulation and Settlement agreement.

I would be very careful here since any lack of transparency from both the ratepayer and shareholder perspective might give rise to an impartial process which the Company has gone on the record that they are very concerned about. It has to be a two way street therefore I do not see the point of why they would want to classify this document as confidential when all the other actual surveillance reports have been made public?

This type of reporting is used to determine if the cash rates are ample enough to support the cost of service of the company. Without this type of disclosure in a ratecase proceeding, this might be construed as "ex parte" communication under section 350.042 of the Florida Statutes. Another issue to take a look at is any potential issues with "ex parte" communication under Title 5

Administrative Procedures Act USC 551 to USC 559. This is at the Federal level. Any Federal law would preempt any of the State Statutes and any State Statute would preempt any PSC administrative procedure.

This makes no sense since the original cost of service as filed in the case was made public therefore why would this surveillance report be made confidential when this type of information has been published in the past?

If you take a look at a typical surveillance report you will notice that none of the schedules would include confidential and proprietary information since this is the type of accounting schedule that is primarily used in a ratecase proceeding to set rates. Take a look at the final order that was issued by the Public Service Commission. You will notice that earned returns on equity are made available to the public therefore it does not make sense that they feel that this is a forecasted surveillance report that would require confidential classification. If this is considered classified then how would this not be considered "ex parte" communication since only certain interested parties are being able to see this information?

I know that from a shareholders perspective as well as a ratepayers perspective I would need this information to be able to determine what my rates are going to be as a customer and what any future stock price impacts would be on my ownership of common stock.

This lack of transparency might be considered "ex parte" communications under Title 5 of the Administrative Procedures act since this might be construed as "one sided" transparency.

How could only certain parties with a legal interest be allowed to see this information and others are not?

I am waiting to hear from Mr. Hay and Mr. Sieving regarding my shareholder questions that based upon the SEC regulations below would be in their purview to answer a shareholder.

If I cannot rely on the transparency of information from a ratecase proceeding to see how the Stipulation and Settlement agreement will impact my rates as a customer then how is the ratecase process protecting the customers from a ratepayer perspective?

If I do not receive the appropriate information from Mr. Hay and Mr. Sieving regarding segmented cash flows from a shareholder perspective then how can I have assurance based upon the SEC regulation below that this ratecase will not have an impact on my future value of my stock.

Full transparency should be afforded with this case. Are any of the interveners in the case going to have access to the Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Reports? If so, then any party with a legal interest should be able to see this information as well.

Did staff publish my whited/redacted out information that was missing from my emails? I have provided hardcopy through a PDF file for them to append to the Public Service Commission file.

If you need a hardcopy of this email so when this email is added to the consumer file it is put into the public record with all of its images intact. I have no problem with providing this information.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks for your patience in this matter.

PART 210—FORM AND CONTENT OF AND REQUIREMENTS FOR FINANCIAL STATEMENTS, SECURITIES ACT OF 1933, SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934, PUBLIC UTILITY HOLDING COMPANY ACT OF 1935, INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT OF 1940, INVESTMENT ADVISERS ACT OF 1940, AND ENERGY POLICY AND CONSERVATION ACT OF 1975

Special Requirements as to Public Utility Holding Companies*Reg. § 210.3A-05.

There shall be shown in the consolidated balance sheet of a public utility holding company the difference between the amount at which the parent's investment is carried and the underlying book equity of subsidiaries as at the respective dates of acquisition.

§ 229.10 (Item 10) General.

Instructions to Item 101.

1. In determining what information about the segments is material to any understanding of the registrant's business taken as a whole and therefore required to be disclosed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this Item, the registrant should take into account both quantitative and qualitative factors such as the significance of the matter to the registrant (e.g., whether a matter with a relatively minor impact on the registrant's business is represented by management to be important to its future profitability), the pervasiveness of the matter (e.g., whether it affects or may affect numerous items in the segment information), and the impact of the matter (e.g., whether it distorts the trends reflected in the segment information). Situations may arise when information should be disclosed about a segment although the information in quantitative terms may not appear significant to the registrant's business taken as a whole.
2. Base the determination of whether information about segments is required for a particular year upon an evaluation of interperiod comparability. For instance, interperiod comparability would require a registrant to report segment information in the current period even if not material under the criteria for reportability of SFAS No. 131 if a segment has been significant in the immediately preceding period and the registrant expects it to be significant in the future.
3. The Commission, upon written request of the registrant and where consistent with the protection of investors, may permit the omission of any of the information required by this Item or the furnishing in substitution thereof of appropriate information of comparable character.

4. As the affidavit included in Exhibit D indicates, the information provided by FPL contains material, non-public financial forecast information, which unless kept confidential, would require disclosure to investors under United States Securities and Exchange Commission Regulation FD. Regulation FD is an issuer disclosure rule intended to avoid selective disclosure of material financial information by publicly traded companies such as FPL's parent, NextEra Energy, Inc. Since the information contained in the Report is provisional, and presents only one view of FPL's forecasted financial results for 2010, it is inappropriate to disclose this information to the investment community at the present time and such disclosure would adversely affect FPL's competitive interests in financial markets.<sup>1</sup> Such information is proprietary confidential business information under Section 366.093, including subsection (3)(e) thereof.

5. Upon a finding by the Commission that the information highlighted in Exhibit A, and referenced in Exhibit C, is proprietary confidential business information, the information should not be declassified until FPL files its final Forecasted Earnings Surveillance Report, which FPL has committed to filing within 30 days of the Commission's approval of the Stipulation and Settlement that FPL and the major intervenors filed on August 20, 2010 or, if the settlement agreement is not approved, the Commission's decision on pending motions for reconsideration. Additionally, the Report should be returned to FPL as soon as the information is no longer necessary for the Commission to conduct its business. See § 366.093(4), F.S.

Subject: FW: Will high profit margin for FPL mean refund for customers? / Docket 100410 Review of Florida Power & Light Company's earnings.

Dear Ms. Cibula,

This is for your information regarding some of my email correspondence being whited/redacted out and not being added to the public record.

The fact that some of my images in my emails are not being made part of the record might be considered "ex parte" communications in that some of the people at the commission are receiving technical accounting that might have an impact on the decision's made in a rate case. My technical accounting and any correspondence questioning any of the testimony in the case should be made fully transparent to all parties of a rate proceeding.

This information should be being fully shared in the public record since other people (other parties with a legal interest in a rate proceeding) might be able to benefit from my email communications and give rise to additional questioning with regard to any rate proceeding.

This is why full transparency/full disclosure should be a requirement for any rate proceeding. This would provide full due process/discovery with any proceeding.

Without this approach the possibility exists that "ex parte" communication might exist. This might lead to the possibility of an impartial proceeding and/or lack of due process to protect the interests of both the ratepayers and/or shareholders of the Utility in the proceeding. This might also create an "ex parte" communication situation for other parties with a legal interest in a rate proceeding as well. If they are not afforded the same type of discovery as members of the Commission staff and/or Commissioner's this might lead to an impartial proceeding.

I understand that the company is concerned with impartiality with these proceedings. If it is a concern for the Company, then the same concerns for impartiality should also be a concern for ratepayers and/or shareholders of the company as well as any other party that might have a legal interest in any rate proceeding.

I know that based upon 350.042 of the Florida Statutes I have this right as a ratepayer and based upon my rights as a shareholder I would have the right to ask these questions as well.

Full transparency/discovery should be afforded.

Just a thought on making sure that the new administrative procedure provides for full due process and transparency and meets the test of compliance with the Florida Statutes since preemption would provide that any administrative procedure has to meet the State Statutes in order for it to meet compliance with current Florida State Laws.

This is a very important issue since the Company has made it very clear that they are concerned with partiality in the proceeding. This has to be a two way street.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or give me a call.

Subject: RE: Communication Between Commission Employees and Parties

Dear Ms. Cibula,

Thank you for the information and I am looking forward to receiving a copy of the transcript from the workshop on rule 25-22.033. I noticed that during the workshop there was limited discussion on to how the proposed legislation was derived. Most outside people (ratepayers and/or shareholders) would need clear and concise language as to what would be acceptable communication with the Commission. I noticed that a ratepayer is still allowed to communicate with the Commissioner's under section 350.042 of the Florida Statutes. Here are some comments but I will continue to take a look at the rule.

Section (1) of 25-22.033 reads "Legal interest in the proceeding"?

What does this mean in plain language? Any ratepayer of any regulated entity would have a legal interest in a proceeding therefore they would be in a position to have communications with Commission staff and/or the Commissioner's based upon 350.042. A shareholder would also have a legal interest in a proceeding with regard to any ratemaking matters that might have an impact on the earnings of the Utility therefore they would also be in a position to have communications with Commission staff and/or the Commissioner's just like the Senior Management of the Utility. Since both a ratepayer and/or shareholder would have a legal interest in a rate case proceeding then any communication between Commission staff and/or the Commissioner's should be fully made part of the public record and available to all parties and interested parties. There should be no exception(s) as to what communications are being made part of the public record or not.

This would provide for full transparency which would be a requirement under 350.042. How come all of my correspondence with the Commission has not been fully made part of the public record? This is a very critical issue since if some of the communication is made part of the record and some is excluded it might lead to an "ex parte" communication in that some of the communication was made part of the public record and some was not. If you look at some of my communication that has not been made part of the public record you will notice that only certain emails have not been made part of the public record. If some are excluded and some are included then the person must be notified by the Commission as to why some of the communication (written and/or oral) was excluded from the public record.

I also noticed that an interested person's communication is made part of a Docket correspondence - Parties and Interested Persons. This file is often kept in the same chronological spot as the previous communications that have been populated in this file. A lot of the communications that I have sent had a chronological importance with regard to the testimony that was made by the Utility and/or Expert Witnesses. In order for there to be full transparency the communications or the file should be moved to most recent date of information that is placed into these files or the parties and/or interested parties might not be made fully aware of this information that might be pertinent to the rate case proceeding. This is very important since some of my email correspondence provided technical accounting responses to direct testimony. Some of it was excluded from these files and some was included. In order for there to be no "ex parte" communications all information has to be made part of the public record so that all parties and/or interested parties would have access to the information. Since these files are not being moved to the top Docket index the average party and/or interested party might not know where this pertinent information resides therefore they might not be made aware of an issue that might be pertinent to the rate case that they should have been made aware of.

How come some of my communications was made part of the public record and some was not?

Section (2)(c) of 25-22.033 reads:

(c) "Impermissible Communication" means any communication with a party or interested person, if written, is not served on all parties, or, if oral, is made without notice to all parties or interested persons.

Rob Smith Comments

Under this rule all written communications from an interested party has to be made available to all parties or interested parties. Correct? If the information received is made part of the public record then it would be permissible communication. If a Commissioner received written or oral Communication then this information should be made part of the public record so that all parties or interested parties have been made aware of the Communication. What happens if a Commissioner receives a written or oral communication and it is not shared with all parties? Does it become "impermissible Communication"? This should not happen since this might lead to information that might be pertinent to the rate case proceeding. I know that some of my email correspondence has been made part of the public record and some as of today has not been made part of the public record. Some of the email correspondence is very pertinent to some of the technical aspects of the Holding company concept at the Utility as it pertains to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (PUHCA) or Public Utility Holding Company Act of 2005 ("PUHCA 2005"). This act is governed under FERC (Federal Energy Regulatory Commission). In order for there to be full transparency and to make sure that all parties and/or interested parties are provided full notice, all written and/or oral communication should be fully made part of the record. There should be no instance in which certain information would be excluded as part of the public record or not. Since some of my email correspondence has not been made part of the public record, what would be the Commission rule as to why some was made part of the public record and some was not? This in itself might lead to "ex parte" communication since all of my information has not been made part of the public record.

I am going to continue to look at the rule but I think that all communications should be made part of the public record and if not the Commission should provide a response as to why certain information was excluded. This would be needed to make sure that there was no "ex parte" communications. If some information was excluded then some of the Commission staff and/or Commissioner's might be exposed to an "ex parte" communications issue since the information was not made fully transparent and disclosed. All parties, interested parties and any other party that has a "legal interest" in any rate case proceeding should have full access to all information that was made available to both the Commission staff and/or Commissioner's in any rate proceeding that is being administered by the Florida Public Service Commission. Without this approach the possibility exists that "ex parte" communication might exist. This might lead to the possibility of an impartial proceeding and/or lack of due process to protect the interests of both the ratepayers and/or shareholders of the Utility in the proceeding.

Please let me know if the information that I have provided that has not been made part of the public record is going to be part of the public record. If it is not going to be made part of the public record please let me know why it has not been made part of the public record. Please provide me with the rule that would support why some of the information was not made part of the public record. If you need copies of the emails that I have sent with regard to what is currently missing from the public record please do not hesitate to ask.

I will continue to look at the proposed rule.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rjrb@yahoo.com or give me a call.

As per SB 1034 of the Florida Statutes with regard to communication with a ratepayer:

4 SB 1034
Fasano
(Identical H 565)

Section 350.042, F. S., provides for ex parte communications. The term "ex parte" is not defined in the statute but according to Black's Law Dictionary means "on one side only, by or for one party, done for, in behalf of, or on the application of, one party only." According to the American Heritage Dictionary, the term means "from or on one side only; one sided, partisan." Subsection (1) provides that a commissioner should accord to every person who is legally interested in a proceeding full right to be heard according to law, and except as authorized by law, shall neither initiate nor consider ex parte communications concerning the merits, threat, or offer of reward in any proceeding other than a proceeding under s. 120.54, F. S., (rulemaking) or 120.565, F.S., (declaratory statements by agencies), workshops, or internal affairs meetings. No individual shall discuss ex parte with a commissioner the merits of any issue that he or she knows will be filed with the commission within 90 days. The subsection does not apply to commission staff.

Individual residential ratepayers are allowed to communicate with a commissioner, provided that the ratepayer is representing only himself or herself, without compensation. In addition, the section does not apply to oral communications or discussions in scheduled and noticed open public meetings of educational programs of a conference or other meeting of an association of regulatory agencies.

Dorothy,

I write to request that the name and address of Rajiv Kundalkar be removed from the "Interested Persons" section of the PSC's website in the captioned docket.

On September 3, I filed a notice of appearance on behalf of Mr. Kundalkar in the case. As his attorney, I should receive all pleadings and orders on his behalf, and there is no need for Mr. Kundalkar's name and address to be posted, since he has not requested that it be so posted.

Thank you.

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

I saw the FPL filing with regard to asking for a disqualification of a Florida Public Service Commissioner. I cannot believe what is going on. It is amazing how a person could work for the company, they are let go for Company-wide staff reduction, then they are rehired for a Public Commissioner position and now they may be disqualified for reasons of impartiality.

Let's define impartiality:

not partial or biased; fair; just: an impartial judge.

The only way you can achieve this level of impartiality is to have full transparency with this case. I have been providing technical accounting with the issues below.

I have approached this case from a ratepayer, shareholder and Utility perspective.

If there was full transparency there really would be no issue with making a quick decision with this case. As long as the costs are prudent, and the recovery periods and rate of returns are providing the customers and the shareholders a fair return there really should be no issue with any of the questioning that is being asked.

What is very troubling is that since a lot of the information is being made confidential or whited/redacted information, is this causing some of the issues with Florida Power & Light and the Commission? If there is nothing to hide then all information/people(s) testimony would be available for this proceeding. Any reluctance to provide full transparency and/or testimony of Florida Power & Light personnel who are responsible for the operations of the Utility might also be an indication of impartiality. We have to be careful here.

There should be no issue and the accounting facts should present the case as to the merits of all the concerns of all parties. What I am concerned with is that since a lot of the information is being classified as confidential/whited/redacted information this might be causing the issues that are currently surfacing. As I watched the hearings regarding the Nuclear Uprates filing I could not believe that all the exhibits and testimony that was being talked about was being referenced with confidentiality. The average ratepayer/shareholder watching the proceedings would not be able to follow the issues with full transparency. It is understood that some of the information as it relates to employee information might be subject to confidentiality but when it comes to the actual accounting information with regard to cost prudence, recovery periods and rates of return there should be no classification of confidentiality since this information would be needed to balance the needs of all the interested parties in this case.

When I worked up North full transparency was afforded by the Commission to ensure that all the checks and balances were being met to provide the proper balance of all the interested parties. There was no excuse for lack of transparency since the Company just went through a major public perception that some of the costs associated with a Nuclear Power Plant were imprudent. The Nuclear Plant was closed and the litigation regarding the prudence of these costs went on for years until a settlement agreement was reached. We have to be very careful here. If the prudence of the costs is not fully scrutinized up front the possibility exists that this might cause a cost/prudence issue down the road. This is why I feel that these assets should keep their identity with regular Utility accounting to make sure that the assets are being maintained in ledger 3 of the Utility. If they are going to be recovered through a Nuclear recovery clause then we have to make sure that the reimbursement of these costs if they are accelerated does not become an issue down the road if there is a finding that some of the costs were not prudently incurred. The only way that this can happen is if there is full transparency with regard to all the accounting issues as it pertains to any issue that might impact the rates of the Utility to recover cost. We have to remember that the primary job of the Commission is to ensure that any rate increase granted to a Utility has to be in the best economic interest of the ratepayer. It is understood that there is a shareholder component to these cases and the concerns of the shareholders would have to be met as well, but we have to remember that this is a delicate balance, therefore transparency is of utmost importance.

This is why I have contacted Florida Power & Light from a shareholder perspective as well since I needed information from the Companies Executive Management to clarify some of the 10K disclosures as it would pertain to the interests of the shareholders. I have not heard back from Mr. Lew Hay and Mr. Sieving as of today. I have sent you a previous email regarding my concern with this issue in that I have asked specific questions last year that I thought might have an impact on this case. This appears to be lack of transparency.

Why would all of a sudden the Utility trying to disqualify a person who at one time worked for the company and is now in the capacity of a Commissioner indicating that they are not impartial. Did this person complete their job in a prudent/ethical manner while working at the Utility? If so, then there should be no reason why this would all of a sudden surface unless it is really about the issues of the scrutiny of the costs and the reason why the original estimates were not accurate. We all know that forecasts might not be correct all the time but unless we scrutinize the reasons as to the why's they were not accurate with full transparency there is no sure way from a checks and balance stand point to provide for better forecasting in the future. If you take a look at all my email correspondence I have always talked about the cash impacts of any of the accounting issues. This would require full transparency and would require that any information regarding the prudence of costs, recovery periods and rates of returns to be fully disclosed. There should be no reason to hide any information. Full transparency would provide for the proper checks and balance to make sure that interests of all parties in this case are being protected and balanced.

Here it is from a Utility perspective I have been indicating all along that debt will be cheaper than equity therefore based upon the $400 Million dollar issuance below FPL Utility should be able to reduce it interest costs. If they continue to refinance their debt then I know there will be additional savings at the company.

This is very concerning that this late in this proceeding this is going on. I know that my email correspondence has not been talked about in any of the proceedings. Some of my email information regarding the technical accounting issues in this case has been made part of the public record yet no one has talked about the straight accounting transparency that would be required to maintain the balance to protect all of the party's interests in this case. Feel free to reference my emails in the proceedings since I feel that my approach from a true accounting/economic approach would be the best approach at this point in these proceedings.

I can only hope that my email correspondence has helped. I know that based upon the fact that FPL issued debt at a much cheaper rate that my email correspondence would help with these proceedings.

Maybe my email correspondence should be made part of the public record in the proceedings to ensure that we remain on track of the ultimate goal of protecting all of the party's interests.

Until this occurs that there will always be an argument of impartiality from both sides. Let the Accounting speak for itself. The only way this can occur is if there is full transparency. All whited/redacted information if it pertains to accounting information should be disclosed since this is what would be needed to be scrutinized to make a proper decision with all of these cases.

It was apparent that the NPV analysis as it related to the increase of $300 Million of cost would have impacted the cost/benefit analysis of the Nuclear Upgrades program. What would be interesting to take a look at is the impact of this NPV analysis if the rate of returns does not take into account any benefits of a reduced cost of money by the refinancing of the company's debt. This is my primary concern with not keeping the assets as part of regular rate base accounting.

This is why I have indicated in my Nuclear Upgrades email that the issues that I am concerned with is the period of recovery and rate of returns on the recovery of the Nuclear Upgrades assets.

The Prudence of the costs is always understood by any Utility rate proceeding therefore full transparency should be warranted. If there is a concern that the original estimates are a concern then the costs have to be fully scrutinized to make sure that any future forecasts going forward are accurate.

Of course issues may arise that might be out of control of the company but we have to remember that full transparency would provide the proper checks and balances to cover all of the party's interests. If not, then impartiality would be argued from both perspectives.

Let full transparency be the guide to resolve all the issues in these cases. This could eliminate all the current issues that are going on.

Until the full transparency is afforded the possibility exists that there will be always an argument that someone is not impartial.

What is there to hide?

I know from my previous experience with the accounting for a former Nuclear Power Plant up North that unless there is full transparency issues might arise later on that might have a significant impact on the shareholders/ratepayers and the Company. Take a look at my email correspondence to see some of the potential issues that can surface if there is a lack of full transparency.

Hopefully there are no typo(s).

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Here is from a Utility/Company/Shareholder/ratepayer perspective.

I have been providing technical accounting with regard to the issues below. This is from an accounting approach to take a look at the costs, recovery periods and rate of returns on these issues.

I have provided insight in the original rate of return testimony with regard to the debt to equity issues. I am sure that you are aware that the company has just issued the debentures below.

JUNO BEACH, Fla. (AP) -- Power-plant operator FPL Group Capital Inc. said Friday it sold $400 million in debentures.

The debentures bear interest at 2.6 percent per year and will mature Sept. 1, 2015. The debentures will be guaranteed by FPL Group Capital's parent company, NextEra Energy Inc.

The debentures were offered to the public at 99.967 percent of face value to yield 2.607 percent when held to maturity.

Net proceeds will be added to FPL Group Capital's general funds, which the company expects to use to repay debt.

Shares of FPL Group Capital rose 84 cents to close at $53.89.

The following technical accounting has been sent regarding the case with regard to:

Here it is from a Utility/Ratepayer/Shareholder perspective

FW: Seabrook Asset Transfer / This one there is very specific accounting that must be followed. If this is made part of the public record you can take a look at the technical accounting that I have talked about with regard to this potential sale/transfer.

Here it is from a Utility/Ratepayer/Shareholder perspective.

FW: Docket No. 080677, FPL Reconsideration Request Nuclear Uprates / Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause I have been added as an interested party in this new case.

Here it is from a Utility/Ratepayer/Shareholder perspective

Cost of Debt versus Equity issues / See email below. If they make this information part of the public record then you will see the cost of service updates with the potential savings that might be realized under two different potential scenarios. The savings can change based upon the mix of what they do but if you look at some of my email correspondence with regard to my discussion of the Cost of money issue you will notice that there might be potential savings that might be significant to the ratecase. Based upon my original concern with the return on Common Equity this will validate my approach with these types of cost of capital issues.

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

The need for full transparency with any of these transactions is of the utmost importance. If you recall I have asked about the spin-off of the Fiber Net Business in my original emails. What happened to this valuation when they moved the assets? Were these moved from the Utility to FPL FiberNet? Was the market values disclosed on these assets on the transfer if they came from the Utility?

Transparency should be fully afforded since if there are very large gains with the market values of these assets then they should be disclosed.

I will send the email that I have sent to the newspapers in a separate email since these emails have been appended below the emails that I have sent to Mr. Lew Hay and Mr. Sieving.

Subject: Preliminary 2008 10K questions

To whom it may concern:

I am a shareholder at FPL Group and I was taking a look at the 10K. I am in the process of becoming familiar with the financial statements of FPL Group.

If you could be so kind I would like a couple of preliminary questions answered regarding the 10K.

I would like a break out of the Corporate & Other that is on Page 97 in Section 16. Segment Information. Please describe the revenue inflow and expense outflows with detailed descriptions.

It shows operating revenues of $191 million and operating expenses of $190 million.

Please provide me with a list of regulated and non-regulated entities at FPL Group. Please provide the governing body of each entity. I have put together a preliminary list of what I could determine from the 10K.

| Company                           | Incorporation | Regulated (Yes or No) | Primary Business Descrip.   |
|-----------------------------------|---------------|-----------------------|---|
| FPL Group                         | 1984          | Parent Corp. Consol.  | Regulated Utility/NextEra Energy/FPL Group Capital/FPL Operations(FiberNet) |
| FPL                               | 1925          | Yes                   | Regulated Supplier of Electric Service / Utility                            |
| FPL Group Capital                 | 1984          | Holding Company       | Provides Capital Funding for Subsidiaries including NextEra Energy          |
| NextEra Energy                    | 1998          | No ?                  | Competitive Energy Subsidiary / Clean & Renewable Fuels                     |
| FPL Group Operations/FPL FiberNet | 2000          | No ?                  | FPL Utility Fiber Optic Line Transfer to FPL FiberNet                       |

Does FPL have a schedule of segmented cash flows for each entity?

Does FPL have a schedule of approved vendors? I know that the utility must put these contracts out to competitive bid.

Is FPL utilizing outside placement agencies for temporary personnel? If so, is this part of the competitive bidding process and is this list available?

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-798-6127.

To all,

Here is the latest post. Let's see the market values that get published. The total market values of these assets should not be classified as confidential. There is a need for transparency of the calculation of the Gain on sale for both book/tax purposes.

How would the customer receive the transparency with regard to how much they should benefit from the sale of these assets if the market value exceeds its net book value? There should be no confidential treatment for this since any gain on Utility asset sales should be owed to the ratepayers.

This is for your information. I am sharing this information since this is a very important issue for both the ratepayers and shareholders of this company.

Transparency is very important as well considering what has been going on with this case. There is no reason why this type of information should be confidential since once the sale is completed this would have to be disclosed to both the ratepayers and shareholders (i.e. 10K).

I want to make sure that if any of the newspapers uses any of this information in any of their reporting that my email correspondence is referenced as per the disclosures below. This includes all attachments and email correspondence.

Subject: Seabrook Asset Transfer

Dear Ms. Bennett and Commissioner's,

I noticed that the journal entries below are at book cost.

I think that the following questions have to be answered for this sale:

What is the market value/appraisal of these assets? This can have a very significant impact on the gain on sale to the customer. The Florida ratepayer should be able to receive the current market value on the sale of these assets.

What is the Net Book Value of these assets? This must include any over/under recoveries of Theoretical Depreciation. This will have an impact on the book gain for ratemaking purposes since if these assets are over recovered then the book gain would be larger therefore creating a larger benefit to the ratepayer. (Market Value – Net Book Value (including Theoretical analysis) = Gain on Sale for ratemaking purposes.

How much tax basis is remaining on this plant? If these are fully depreciated for tax purposes, then there would be a full gain on sale for tax purposes since all the tax benefits associated with this plant have already been deducted. This will create a large tax gain on sale for tax purposes (Market Price – Remaining tax basis = Gain on Sale for tax purposes). There should be depreciation recapture for any amounts that have been deducted for tax purposes that exceed the depreciation recovery for book purposes.

These issues are very important to take into consideration with any sale. I wanted to write a quick email regarding this pending sale. If something, else comes up or needs to be changed I will let you know.

When I worked at LILCO/KeySpan Energy this became a very important issue when we transfer the Shoreham Nuclear Power Plant/Distribution Plants to the Long Island Power Authority.

Market Value, Remaining Book Value (Rate Making Book Value) and remaining tax basis is very important with any sale of any asset at the company.

Did anyone audit the work orders for any of the plant additions that FPL was charged for this plant?

We have to be very careful with these sales. If need be I will send another FOIA request for information to take a look of how this sale is being completed.

I have personally prepared these calculations from both a book perspective as well as a tax perspective including working on the Shoreham Nuclear Plant Asset /Distribution Asset transfers to the Long Island Power Authority. This is a very important issue for both FPL and the ratepayers.

I know that the FERC form 1 reports do not disclose the net book values of specific plants but only the net book values based upon the normal book depreciation recovery that is being recorded. A theoretical study would have to be calculated to look at the over/under recovery of depreciation on the sale of these plants. Maybe some of the reserve surplus has some of this plant as over recovered.

This information is being sent to help out. Will this email be made part of the public record? I would like this to be made part of the public record since this is a very significant process for the ratepayers of Florida.

I wanted to send a quick email but I will follow up if I can think of something else.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-340-4956/954-798-6127.

Ann,

I received a phone call at approximately 1:45 PM yesterday (Thursday, September 2, 2010), from Attorney Ken Hoffman of FPL. Mr. Hoffman informed me that the information to be conveyed in his call was procedural in nature. He stated that FPL had, earlier that day, made filings in all dockets in which FPL was a party and to which Commissioner Skop was assigned requesting Commissioner Skop's disqualification from further participation in all such dockets. Please place this e-mail in the correspondence side of each of the respective dockets.

Thank You,
Bill McNulty
Chief Advisor to Commissioner Skop

Commissioner Nathan A. Skop
Florida Public Service Commission
2540 Shumard Oak Blvd.
Tallahassee, FL 32399-0850

Dear Commissioner Skop:

I am writing to urge you and the rest of the Public Service Commission members to deny the requests from Florida Power & Light and Progress Energy to make advance collections for proposed nuclear plants. FP&L is requesting $3.96 dollars from customers in 2011, while Progress Energy wants consumers to part with $66.36 in the coming year. This is not the time for the utility companies to be collecting advance payments from consumers who may never have the use of the power generated from the plants, if they are ever built. I urge you and the other PSC commissioners to consider the serious negative impacts nuclear plants bring to our state.

Nuclear plant construction is the most costly type of energy construction worldwide. It is also the most lengthy – generally taking an average of 10-12 years for construction to production. Subsidizing FP&L and Progress Energy's nuclear plants construction on the backs of Floridians guarantees neither our future energy independence nor our safety and I urge you not to grant these companies the authority to collect the advance payments they seek.

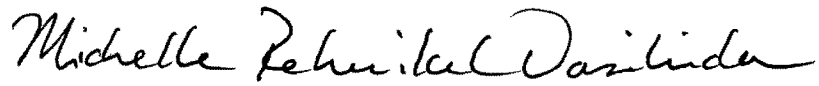

You should also know nuclear energy is neither renewable nor clean. The PSC, through its previous approval of Progress Energy's increase, has in fact put its stamp of approval on a single and alarming route to addressing Florida's energy future. If truly clean, truly renewable, and truly safe energy projects had the same cost recovery deal that Progress Energy has crafted with the approval of the PSC, our economy, environment, national security and our citizens would be much better served. Our citizens deserve more than a single, extremely costly, and potentially dangerous approach to providing for future energy needs.

Nuclear production, transportation across state lines, and permanent disposal are fraught with potential legal liability and risks to our national security. Even with the ability to recycle some of the waste, dangerous waste will remain for thousands of years. Scientists have been working on this problem for decades, but we have still not solved it and it is unfair and unjust to pawn yet another problem off onto the next generation of Floridians.

Commissioner Nathan A. Skop

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

The need for full transparency with any of these transactions is of the utmost importance. If you recall I have asked about the spin-off of the Fiber Net Business in my original emails. What happened to this valuation when they moved the assets? Were these moved from the Utility to FPL FiberNet? Was the market values disclosed on these assets on the transfer if they came from the Utility?

Transparency should be fully afforded since if there are very large gains with the market values of these assets then they should be disclosed.

I will send the email that I have sent to the newspapers in a separate email since these emails have been appended below the emails that I have sent to Mr. Lew Hay and Mr. Sieving.

Here is the email below that I have sent to Mr. Lew Hay and Mr. Sieving back in May and June 2009.

I am a shareholder at FPL Group and I was taking a look at the 10K. I am in the process of becoming familiar with the financial statements of FPL Group.

If you could be so kind I would like a couple of preliminary questions answered regarding the 10K.

I would like a break out of the Corporate & Other that is on Page 97 in Section 16. Segment Information. Please describe the revenue inflow and expense outflows with detailed descriptions.

It shows operating revenues of $191 million and operating expenses of $190 million.

Please provide me with a list of regulated and non-regulated entities at FPL Group. Please provide the governing body of each entity. I have put together a preliminary list of what I could determine from the 10K.

 cid:image002.png@01C9DF9A.686AD800

Does FPL have a schedule of segmented cash flows for each entity?

Does FPL have a schedule of approved vendors? I know that the utility must put these contracts out to competitive bid.

Is FPL utilizing outside placement agencies for temporary personnel? If so, is this part of the competitive bidding process and is this list available?

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-798-6127.

Subject: FW: Seabrook Asset Transfer

To all,

Here is the latest post. Let's see the market values that get published. The total market values of these assets should not be classified as confidential. There is a need for transparency of the calculation of the Gain on sale for both book/tax purposes.

How would the customer receive the transparency with regard to how much they should benefit from the sale of these assets if the market value exceeds its net book value? There should be no confidential treatment for this since any gain on Utility asset sales should be owed to the ratepayers.

This is for your information. I am sharing this information since this is a very important issue for both the ratepayers and shareholders of this company.

Transparency is very important as well considering what has been going on with this case. There is no reason why this type of information should be confidential since once the sale is completed this would have to be disclosed to both the ratepayers and shareholders (i.e. 10K).

I want to make sure that if any of the newspapers uses any of this information in any of their reporting that my email correspondence is referenced as per the disclosures below. This includes all attachments and email correspondence.

Subject: Seabrook Asset Transfer

Dear Ms. Bennett and Commissioner's,

I noticed that the journal entries below are at book cost.

I think that the following questions have to be answered for this sale:

What is the market value/appraisal of these assets? This can have a very significant impact on the gain on sale to the customer. The Florida ratepayer should be able to receive the current market value on the sale of these assets.

What is the Net Book Value of these assets? This must include any over/under recoveries of Theoretical Depreciation. This will have an impact on the book gain for ratemaking purposes since if these assets are over recovered then the book gain would be larger therefore creating a larger benefit to the ratepayer. (Market Value – Net Book Value (including Theoretical analysis) = Gain on Sale for ratemaking purposes.

How much tax basis is remaining on this plant? If these are fully depreciated for tax purposes, then there would be a full gain on sale for tax purposes since all the tax benefits associated with this plant have already been deducted. This will create a large tax gain on sale for tax purposes (Market Price – Remaining tax basis = Gain on Sale for tax purposes). There should be depreciation recapture for any amounts that have been deducted for tax purposes that exceed the depreciation recovery for book purposes.

These issues are very important to take into consideration with any sale. I wanted to write a quick email regarding this pending sale. If something, else comes up or needs to be changed I will let you know.

When I worked at LILCO/KeySpan Energy this became a very important issue when we transfer the Shoreham Nuclear Power Plant/Distribution Plants to the Long Island Power Authority.

Market Value, Remaining Book Value (Rate Making Book Value) and remaining tax basis is very important with any sale of any asset at the company.

Did anyone audit the work orders for any of the plant additions that FPL was charged for this plant?

We have to be very careful with these sales. If need be I will send another FOIA request for information to take a look of how this sale is being completed.

I have personally prepared these calculations from both a book perspective as well as a tax perspective including working on the Shoreham Nuclear Plant Asset /Distribution Asset transfers to the Long Island Power Authority. This is a very important issue for both FPL and the ratepayers.

I know that the FERC form 1 reports do not disclose the net book values of specific plants but only the net book values based upon the normal book depreciation recovery that is being recorded. A theoretical study would have to be calculated to look at the over/under recovery of depreciation on the sale of these plants. Maybe some of the reserve surplus has some of this plant as over recovered.

This information is being sent to help out. Will this email be made part of the public record? I would like this to be made part of the public record since this is a very significant process for the ratepayers of Florida.

I wanted to send a quick email but I will follow up if I can think of something else.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-340-4956/954-798-6127.

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

Here is the email that I have sent to the newspapers. I do not recall if the asset sales and tax payment emails have been made part of the public record. Were these emails made part of the public record?

Transparency should be fully afforded since if there are very large gains with the market values of these assets then they should be disclosed.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

To all,

Here is the latest post. Let's see the market values that get published. The total market values of these assets should not be classified as confidential. There is a need for transparency of the calculation of the Gain on sale for both book/tax purposes.

How would the customer receive the transparency with regard to how much they should benefit from the sale of these assets if the market value exceeds its net book value? There should be no confidential treatment for this since any gain on Utility asset sales should be owed to the ratepayers.

This is for your information. I am sharing this information since this is a very important issue for both the ratepayers and shareholders of this company.

Transparency is very important as well considering what has been going on with this case. There is no reason why this type of information should be confidential since once the sale is completed this would have to be disclosed to both the ratepayers and shareholders (i.e. 10K).

I want to make sure that if any of the newspapers uses any of this information in any of their reporting that my email correspondence is referenced as per the disclosures below. This includes all attachments and email correspondence.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or contact me at 954-340-4956.

Dear Ms. Bennett and Commissioner's,

8/30/2010

I noticed that the journal entries below are at book cost.

I think that the following questions have to be answered for this sale:

What is the market value/appraisal of these assets? This can have a very significant impact on the gain on sale to the customer. The Florida ratepayer should be able to receive the current market value on the sale of these assets.

What is the Net Book Value of these assets? This must include any over/under recoveries of Theoretical Depreciation. This will have an impact on the book gain for ratemaking purposes since if these assets are over recovered then the book gain would be larger therefore creating a larger benefit to the ratepayer.  $(\text{Market Value} - \text{Net Book Value (including Theoretical analysis)}) = \text{Gain on Sale for ratemaking purposes}$ .

How much tax basis is remaining on this plant? If these are fully depreciated for tax purposes, then there would be a full gain on sale for tax purposes since all the tax benefits associated with this plant have already been deducted. This will create a large tax gain on sale for tax purposes  $(\text{Market Price} - \text{Remaining tax basis} = \text{Gain on Sale for tax purposes})$ . There should be depreciation recapture for any amounts that have been deducted for tax purposes that exceed the depreciation recovery for book purposes.

These issues are very important to take into consideration with any sale. I wanted to write a quick email regarding this pending sale. If something, else comes up or needs to be changed I will let you know.

When I worked at LILCO/KeySpan Energy this became a very important issue when we transfer the Shoreham Nuclear Power Plant/Distribution Plants to the Long Island Power Authority.

Market Value, Remaining Book Value (Rate Making Book Value) and remaining tax basis is very important with any sale of any asset at the company.

Did anyone audit the work orders for any of the plant additions that FPL was charged for this plant?

We have to be very careful with these sales. If need be I will send another FOIA request for information to take a look of how this sale is being completed.

I have personally prepared these calculations from both a book perspective as well as a tax perspective including working on the Shoreham Nuclear Plant Asset /Distribution Asset transfers to the Long Island Power Authority. This is a very important issue for both FPL and the ratepayers.

I know that the FERC form 1 reports do not disclose the net book values of specific plants but only the net book values based upon the normal book depreciation recovery that is being recorded. A theoretical study would have to be calculated to look at the over/under recovery of depreciation on the sale of these plants. Maybe some of the reserve surplus has some of this plant as over recovered.

This information is being sent to help out. Will this email be made part of the public record? I would like this to be made part of the public record since this is a very significant process for the ratepayers of Florida.

I wanted to send a quick email but I will follow up if I can think of something else.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-340-4956/954-798-6127.

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

I listened to the prehearing and I have followed up with the Sun-Sentinel regarding some of the issues that are related to both Docket 080677 and Docket 100009.

I am sharing this information in order to make sure that there is full transparency with this case.

Since I am both a ratepayer and shareholder I think that balance is very important with this case.

I have not heard back from Mr. Hay or Mr. Sieving with regard to my email correspondence from a shareholders perspective that I have sent at this time.

I know that when I prepared these detailed cases / testimony back up North that full transparency was afforded with regard to any of the information coming out of these types of proceedings.

All the newspapers were kept in the loop in order to provide the public with feedback and/or transparency.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Julie,

I listened to the prehearing. As I have indicated they talked about the confidentiality issues. What was more interesting is that it appears that the other utilities might retract the confidentiality of their documents. There really should be no confidentiality for the rate of return and period of recovery. We need to know where the physical assets are going to be maintained and if they are treating the recovery of this as an offset to the depreciation surplus as per their recovery schedule. If they are and the assets still exist then this might create an issue since if they are fully being offset against the surplus reserve then these would have been fully refunded (see the summary below which they have put together).

There should be no double counting of the recovery. If these assets still exist and they are being fully refunded then the assets should be fully depreciated in the ledgers. This is where the problem lies. If the physical assets still exist then they should be maintained on the ledgers since they will still have an economic life. They should then record the surplus against the depreciation reserve accounts to indicate that this portion has been fully recovered. If there is a certain economic life of these assets then they should be recovered over their economic life. This is why these assets would be maintained on the ledgers and depreciated. This would set the cash recovery over their estimated useful lives. If they use a nuclear recovery clause and shorten the life then this would expedite the recovery of the assets which might not meet the typical recovery period as set by the economic life of these assets. We have to remember that the large surplus was created by the recovery of the depreciable assets over a shorter time period which did not match the actual economic life of the assets. Since the depreciation study supported longer lives and they have set the rates based upon the shorter lives there was a very large over recovery. This large over recovery should be refunded quickly since the study supports that the economic lives are longer than the recovery of these assets in cash rates. They received the money in advance of the assets economic useful life.

This would support my theory that the Nuclear uprates should be recovered based upon their economic useful lives. If they are shortening the period of recovery they should be maintained on the ledgers and earning the same return as if they were in base rates.

If they are going to move these out of base rates then the rate of return and recovery period are important. The reason for this is that they should be recovering these assets in the most economic way for the customer. If they move it to a nuclear recovery clause and the recovery period is shorter than the economic depreciable lives then this would expedite the cash recovery of the assets. In addition, the earned return on the recovery of these assets would come into play if they do not use the same rate of return on the recovery clause as they would with the treatment in base rates.

There really should be no confidentiality with the rate of return and recovery period. This would have to be disclosed by the Commission and they would have to make sure that they choose the best mechanism to minimize the cost to the customer. If it does not minimize the cost to the customer then it should not be done. If there is cash need to fund (accelerated funding) these assets from a safety perspective then they can accelerate the recovery but still make sure that the assets are being maintained in the ledgers and the customer finances these assets in the most economic way.

If you take a look at the emails that I have sent to all the Newspaper's you will notice that I have indicated that they should be refinancing their debt to reduce their interest costs. If they use a different rate of return or recovery period then the cost of the recovery of these assets might be impacted if they refinance the debt to lower their interest costs. This is why when they testified about their required rate of returns I indicated that debt will be cheaper than equity. If they can reduce their interest costs, then the customer should benefit for the reduced interest costs. Take a look at my previous email regarding the refinancing of the debt.

I am still waiting to see if they put my technical accounting with regard to their current tax payment agreement that they have. I have sent this one to all the papers as well since I know that the cash aspects of recovery of all these items are very important.

I have sent another one regarding the Fuel Adjustment Clause. Take a look at this one since it talks about rate of return recovery as well.

Transparency is very important to these cases. Remember it is a ratepayer dollar that is paying for the cost of service for the Utility therefore they should reserve the right to know how they are paying for their electric service. From a shareholder perspective transparency is just as important since a shareholder would need to know what the impacts will be on the earnings of the company.

Since I am both a ratepayer and shareholder there should be full transparency to make sure that the proper balance is being maintained. I have not received a response from Mr. Hay or Mr. Sieving with regard to my previous emails.

We will see when the hearings start on 8/20/2010. All I need to know is about the rate of return and recovery period.

If there are any additions to this email I will follow up.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-340-4956.

Subject: RE: Docket No. 080677, FPL Reconsideration Request Nuclear Uprates / Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause

Dear Ms. Patel,

I was out during the time of the prehearing. I have a copy of some of the prehearing material and I took a quick glance at some of the documents that have been submitted for the meeting. I have on my calendar the August 20th hearing. What I am concerned about with this issue is the rate of return on the potential Nuclear recovery clause as well as the recovery period.

The request that I have made with regard to this issue I have sent in one of the emails that I have sent to the Sun-sentinel.

There were three major emails.

The following technical accounting has been sent regarding the case with regard to:

FW: Seabrook Asset Transfer This one there is very specific accounting that must be followed. If this is made part of the public record you can take a look at the technical accounting that I have talked about with regard to this potential sale/transfer.

FW: Docket No. 080677, FPL Reconsideration Request Nuclear Uprates / Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause. I have been added as an interested party in this new case.

Cost of Debt versus Equity issues / See email below. If they make this information part of the public record then you will see the cost of service updates with the potential savings that might be realized under two different potential scenarios. The savings can change based upon the mix of what they do but if you look at some of my email correspondence with regard to my discussion of the Cost of money issue you will notice that there might be potential savings that might be significant to the ratecase. Based upon my original concern with the return on Common Equity this will validate my approach with these types of cost of capital issues. I will take a look at the testimony but I do not think that there should be confidential classification of the rate of return and/or period of recovery. The dollars related to this if they are plant assets should be recovered just like any other plant assets. I sent another email regarding the Fuel Adjustment Clause adjustment in the 080677 case. This one is interesting as well. I do not know if this will be made part of the public record.

Be on the lookout for an additional tax payment email that I have sent regarding a response to the Florida Power & Light submitted document regarding their tax payments. There are some of my emails that have not been made part of the public record. I have sent these in advance to the Sun-Sentinel, the Miami-Herald and the Palm Beach Post.

Did I miss something at the hearing? I will see if they have an archived version to listen to the hearing since I was not around for this hearing.

By quick glance I noticed that there was talk of confidential classification. There should be no confidential classification for a rate of return agreement or period of recovery. This has to be made readily available to make sure that this recovery mechanism provides for cost savings to the customer or does not cost the customer more money.

I will speak to you tomorrow. I would take a look at all of my emails since these are very important to the case.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: FW: Docket No. 080677, FPL Reconsideration Request Nuclear Uprates / Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause

Dear Commissioner's,

Is FPL taking advantage of the low corporate bond rates for refinancing? According to the previous cost of money it indicates that the overall cost of Long Term Debt is 5.49%. I would think that if FPL can take advantage of these savings that this can help with a further reduction in rates. I know that they might have to pay costs to refinance (early retirement costs/closing costs) their debt but this is definitely worth the look. I have brought this up in my previous email correspondence with the commission in which I indicated that debt is cheaper than equity. If this can be done and they can lock in rates that might be in the 3.5% to 3.75% range this should help.

Please let me know if this is in the pipeline with FPL since I know that when we worked up North we were always looking to refinance our bonds at much lower rates. I know that I have talked about this in great length with regard to the cost of money testimony with FPL.

This is part of the reason why I would like an answer to my email with regard to the Nuclear Uprates. If the overall cost of money would be reduced as a result of refinancing the debt then I know that it would be more cost effective to keep the Nuclear Uprates in ratebase so that the customer would see a benefit for a reduction in the overall cost of money.

This is why I have asked the Commission to ask about what the impact would be if they issued debt instead of equity. Based upon the Wall Street Journal Article below, I have asked a very good question when the testimony was going on. As you move the overall cost of Long Term Debt down this can amount to significant savings in interest costs for the ratepayer.

Based upon moving the overall cost of Long Term Debt to the 3.5% to 3.75% range you could realize significant savings.

See revised cost of money below for a change in the Long Term Debt rate.

Please let me know if this is under consideration. If you lock in the Nuclear uprates at a fixed return then the customer would not only pay more under the current debt/equity structure but they might not realize the savings if FPL refinances its debt.

Duke Energy is doing this so I am wondering what FPL has in mind for this. If there is no sharing of excess earnings then the ratepayer would realize all the savings.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: FW: Docket No. 080677, FPL Reconsideration Request Nuclear Uprates / Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause

Dear Commissioner's,

Does this information have to be made part of the public record on the FPL case 080677? In addition, I have noticed the following docket. Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause. I was taking a look at some of the correspondence and noticed that it was talking about the FPL Nuclear Uprates. I noticed that some of the information has been classified as confidential but I was wondering how the current ratepayer will be impacted by the analysis that I have sent. This talks about the revenue requirements and earned returns as it would relate to moving the assets out of base rates and recovering these through a nuclear recovery clause. This is very important since the earned returns have to be identical to the FPL ratepayers no matter how these are being recovered from a return stand point as well as the recovery periods if these are fixed asset amounts.

I did not see any of this information being made part of the public docket. I am concerned since this issue as well as the Seabrook issue is very important with regard to the transfers of these assets.

I will forward this information to all parties that are interested but I am concerned that now that it appears that the Nuclear Uprates issue is been moved to Docket 100009 that my information might not be entered into the public record in this docket.

I think that this information is very important to both 080677 as well as Docket 100009. There is no reason why the recovery of these assets is not being recovered over their estimated useful lives.

This includes the earned returns on these assets.

I understand that some of the information can be made confidential but any information related to the term of the recovery of these assets as well as the earned returns on these assets should be made part of the public record. Any type of recovery clause would have to meet the requirement of cost savings to existing/future ratepayers. It should not cost the customer more for earned returns or the recovery of the costs should not be expedited. If the useful lives of the assets require a longer recovery period based upon their useful lives there is no reason for cash rate recovery to be accelerated.

I have not heard back from anyone in a while if my emails are going to be made part of the public record. Do I need to be added as an interested party in Docket 100009?

I will try to send the other recent emails that have not been added to the public docket to the other Commissioner's since these issues are very important to Docket 080677 and now to Docket 100009.

I would like to be added as an interested party in Docket 100009:

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Attached you will find my Summary that I have put together from the 08-0677-EI standard order as the source of information. I have added the calculation of the revenue requirements for the Nuclear Uprates as if they were being transferred out of ledger 3 and into the Nuclear Cost Recovery accounts. Of course if all these costs are going to be offset against the surplus depreciation then the net assets (rate base) should be zero with no revenue impact. The only issue I have is if the assets still exist and new costs will be put into this clause. If there are new costs that have to be recovered in this clause then I would like to know if the carrying charges are going to be trued up for the new overall cost of money.

I was taking a look at the specifics of the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause. I notice that it talks about the carrying charges that would be recorded. It indicates that the pretax AFUDC rate in effect at June 12th, 2007 will be used for the carrying charges associated with the removal of these plant assets from rate base. Is the current rate 7.41 (effective 1/1/09 as per Docket No. 090009-EI)? Based upon the new case and the new approved ROE of 10.00% (12.50% Company as filed versus 10.00% as approved) the overall cost of money decreases from the as filed 8.0% to 6.65% respectively. If the carrying charges on the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause is not reduced to the new overall cost of money or AFUDC rate then the customer would pay more in revenue requirements. Since this amount was offset by the depreciation surplus will this not trued up since it will be considered fully recovered?

If these assets are still in existence then the customer might lose the benefit for the reduction in the overall cost of money.

Here is the revised calculation that I have put together based upon the Schedules from the order. Based upon this calculation it would yield an approximate $2.1 million dollar additional revenue requirement to the customers if the carrying charges are not trued up for the reduction in the ROE or if these assets still exist.

How come this agreement is not being looked at? Can the terms of this agreement be changed for the reduced overall cost of money? It appears that the agreement as it stands would not provide for this true up. Is this correct? Unless these assets are going to be considered fully recovered since they were offset against the depreciation surplus.

It has been a while since I have put together cost of money calculations and revenue requirements. Please let me know if there will be a true up or if these assets are going to be considered fully recovered.

If these assets still exist then they should probably remain in ledger 3 and have an offset for the application of some of the reserve surplus to yield a net rate base of zero. This way this would cover the true up issue. What will be the impact going forward for any new costs that are put into the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause? Will the carrying charges be accrued at the old rate or will they be trued up at the new overall cost of money/AFUDC rate?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

I noticed that the change in expenses formula for OPC is incorrect as well. This should probably be OPC estimated expense – current rate expense.

Thanks,

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Last week I was working on Financial Regulatory reform accounting issues. This is why I had asked for some information last week. I have been working on various aspects of Healthcare/Financial regulatory reform from an Accounting perspective with regard to holding company structures. This is similar to of the issues with the tax payments. I have been working on all of these issues for the past 1 ½ year's full time. I have been working on holding company concepts from an accounting perspective for over 10 years on a full/part time basis.

Normally I would have gone through the whole order, but I have been balancing all of the initiatives and at times there can be a lot of information to digest.

I appreciate that you have sent me the information. This was very useful and let me know if you have the updated schedules that were fixed.

Please feel free to share this information with FPL as well.

I noticed a quick typo(s).

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Please forward this information to all interested parties if they have the schedules that do not reflect the proper calculations for OPC. Maybe this is just the file that I was sent but let me know. Feel free to share this with everyone that was at the last meeting if it would be useful.

Attached you will find a summary that I have put together to gain an understanding of the order. I have not had a lot of time to take a look at the full order since I felt that when the standard order was released for a $75 million dollar increase that this was the final decision of the Florida Public Service Commission. Since I saw that there is a date for another standard order I wanted to be kept in the loop from both a ratepayer perspective as well as a shareholder perspective. If the potential exists that there is a possibility that the recovery of ledger 3 assets are going to be recovered outside of normal ledger 3 depreciation, then I am concerned to the future/current disposition of these assets from book gain and tax gain perspective. If they are removed then the ratepayer has to be made whole if there are any sales of these assets in the future.

I see that there is accelerated recovery with taking the $314.2 million against the surplus reserve. I am still reviewing this. I think that we still have to maintain any of these assets on ledger 3 since there are vintage year assets that would need to be tracked. Are these going to be removed? If so, then how is the commission going to track any potential proceeds from the sale of these assets?

If they are not maintained in ledger 3 and there is a sale then this might have an impact on the gain on sale calculation with regard to any sale. We would need to track the vintage year data to carve out any potential sales of these plant assets. If there is a theoretical reserves versus any remaining net book values this might have an impact on the book gain on sale. If you are taking the position that all these assets are fully recovered from a regulatory perspective then any gain on the sale of these assets would have to be fully refunded to the ratepayer. The vintage year issue might have an impact on the tax depreciation side of the house since what is depreciated for tax purposes is different than what is recorded for book purposes. This will impact any calculated gain on sale for tax purposes since the tax basis might be different than the book basis. This will also be an issue with the removal of the Nuclear Upgrades. If these are removed from base rates and being treated similar to a fuel adjustment clause the vintage year data must be maintained if these assets are sold in the future. This would be for similar reasons just like the Cape & Riviera Site.

I noticed that the OPC Recommended Rate Formulas to calculate the estimated expenses have to be divided by 100 to calculate the proper estimated expense amount for OPC. This is probably a result of typing in the staff rate as a number and not a percentage. The rates to the left of the estimated expenses are incorrect as well. I will be fixing these on my end as I continue to look at what has been sent to me.

For example:

You will notice below that the Estimated Expenses of $10,155,632 should be divided by 100 to get the same amount as the Staff Recommended rates of $101,556. The rate percentages are incorrect as well due to this calculation error. They should be estimated expenses/by estimated investment to yield the same 1.7% as the Staff rate column or estimated investment x OPC rates (if they are the same as staff's) or the OPC rates would have to be updated in the spreadsheet.

I do not know if this is important on your end but I am changing these calculations on a copy of the worksheet that you have sent to me so that I can summarize each recommendation to tie into the summary schedule that I have put together. I am going through the formulas and fixing these. Please let me know if there is a corrected version. Are the OPC rates that same as Staff's or do these have to change in both D Need and D Need(2).

This is why I put the summary together. I wanted to compare the old approved rates versus OPC and Staff recommendation to see how the full depreciation accrual has changed. The summary below compares each of the scenarios so I was trying to tie in D Need to my summary to make sure that it matches what has been completed.

Please let me know if you have an updated file.

Preliminary Summary Prepared by: Robert H Smith Based upon FPSC Workpapers

FPL Composite Rate Check

|                  |                 |              |
|------------------|-----------------|--------------|
| Steam            | 3,040.2         | 74.7         |
| Nuclear          | 4,007.1         | 82.2         |
| Other Production | 4,335.1         | 179.2        |
| Transmission     | 3,122.5         | 85.3         |
| Distribution     | 10,132.1        | 319.7        |
| General          | 1,017.5         | 82.0         |

Here are some initial observations that I noticed:

Cape & Riviera Site

$44.9 million

| Sites to Recovery Sched. | Plant in Service | Reserve Balance | Rem Plant   |
|--------------------------|------------------|-----------------|-------------|
| Cape Canaveral Site      | 187.5            | (152.2)         | 35.3        |
| Riviera Site             | 103.7            | (94.1)          | 9.6         |
|                          | 291.2     | (246.3)  | 44.9 |

Are these going to be added to the new repowered generating units? If so then, then how is the new cost going to take into account the old book costs for ledger 3 purposes? Since they have been fully recovered by the surplus reserve are the new ledger 3 amounts only going to reflect the new costs only? How are the vintage year issues being addressed for the old costs? If it will reflect only the new costs then all old ledger 3 amounts will be removed? This might not follow GAAP since from a strict asset perspective these assets might still exist with the new repowered generating units. How will the going forward depreciation reflect this vintage year issue?

8/18/2010

Nuclear Uprates

$168.2 million

Removed from Base Rates. Recovered through Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause. Removed from RateBase? Calculated Carrying Charges? Will the cash recovery in Base rates equal the new recovery in cash rates based upon the new Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause? Is this a break even for cash recovery or has the amount of time to recover these costs changed?

Obsolete Meters

Retired. Is there any salvage money that can be recovered for the scrap sale or sale of these meters? Will there be any cost of removal or are these being left in place? If they are being left in place then and they will be considered fully recovered will ledger 10 be adjusted to match ledger 3 to keep track of these assets? Ledger 3 plant should match ledger 10 accumulated depreciation reserves. These should be kept on the books until they are removed/sold or scrapped. Any money should be credited to the ratepayers.

Based upon the above reduction of the Depreciation Surplus/Over Recovery it appears that the Recovery Schedule items are being reduced against surplus refund immediately. What is going to be done with these plant assets? Are they being retired or sold? If they are going to be sold then if there is any gain on the sale of the plants then this would have to be refunded to the ratepayer. If these plants are not sold, what would be the new recovery period for these plants since it appears that they are being moved out of the normal depreciation recovery? Are they going to remain in Ledger 3 for book purposes since the normal depreciation recovery will be stopped?

Thanks for sending me this information this has been very helpful. I wish that I would have seen this information before the meeting to be informed. A lot of the issues that I have been submitting in my email correspondence were similar with regard to some of the outcome(s) of this case. I am going to fix the spreadsheets that have been sent and I will follow up with any other questions.

Thanks again for the information. It is greatly appreciated.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Commissioner's and Ms. Bennett,

I listened to the prehearing and I have followed up with the Sun-Sentinel regarding some of the issues that are related to both Docket 080677 and Docket 100009.

I am sharing this information in order to make sure that there is full transparency with this case.

Since I am both a ratepayer and shareholder I think that balance is very important with this case.

I have not heard back from Mr. Hay or Mr. Sieving with regard to my email correspondence from a shareholders perspective that I have sent at this time.

I know that when I prepared these detailed cases / testimony back up North that full transparency was afforded with regard to any of the information coming out of these types of proceedings.

All the newspapers were kept in the loop in order to provide the public with feedback and/or transparency.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

To all,

This is for your information. I am sharing this information since this is a very important issue for both the ratepayers and shareholders of this company.

Transparency is very important as well considering what has been going on with this case.

I want to make sure that if any of the newspapers uses any of this information in any of their reporting that my email correspondence is referenced as per the disclosures below. This includes all attachments and email correspondence.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or contact me at 954-340-4956.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Julie,

I listened to the prehearing. As I have indicated they talked about the confidentiality issues. What was more interesting is that it appears that the other utilities might retract the confidentiality of their documents. There really should be no confidentiality for the rate of return and period of recovery. We need to know where the physical assets are going to be maintained and if they are treating the recovery of this as an offset to the depreciation surplus as per their recovery schedule. If they are and the assets still exist then this might create an issue since if they are fully being offset against the surplus reserve then these would have been fully refunded (see the summary below which they have put together).

There should be no double counting of the recovery. If these assets still exist and they are being fully refunded then the assets should be fully depreciated in the ledgers. This is where the problem lies. If the physical assets still exist then they should be maintained on the ledgers since they will still have an economic life. They should then record the surplus against the depreciation reserve accounts to indicate that this portion has been fully recovered. If there is a certain economic life of these assets then they should be recovered over their economic life. This is why these assets would be maintained on the ledgers and depreciated. This would set the cash recovery over their estimated useful lives. If they use a nuclear recovery clause and shorten the life then this would expedite the recovery of the assets which might not meet the typical recovery period as set by the economic life of these assets. We have to remember that the large surplus was created by the recovery of the depreciable assets over a shorter time period which did not match the actual economic life of the assets. Since the depreciation study supported longer lives and they have set the rates based upon the shorter lives there was a very large over recovery. This large over recovery should be refunded quickly since the study supports that the economic lives are longer than the recovery of these assets in cash rates. They received the money in advance of the assets economic useful life.

This would support my theory that the Nuclear uprates should be recovered based upon their economic useful lives. If they are shortening the period of recovery they should be maintained on the ledgers and earning the same return as if they were in base rates.

If they are going to move these out of base rates then the rate of return and recovery period are important. The reason for this is that they should be recovering these assets in the most economic way for the customer. If they move it to a nuclear recovery clause and the recovery period is shorter than the economic depreciable lives then this would expedite the cash recovery of the assets. In addition, the earned return on the recovery of these assets would come into play if they do not use the same rate of return on the recovery clause as they would with the treatment in base rates.

There really should be no confidentiality with the rate of return and recovery period. This would have to be disclosed by the Commission and they would have to make sure that they choose the best mechanism to minimize the cost to the customer. If it does not minimize the cost to the customer then it should not be done. If there is cash need to fund (accelerated funding) these assets from a safety perspective then they can accelerate the recovery but still make sure that the assets are being maintained in the ledgers and the customer finances these assets in the most economic way.

If you take a look at the emails that I have sent to all the Newspaper's you will notice that I have indicated that they should be refinancing their debt to reduce their interest costs. If they use a different rate of return or recovery period then the cost of the recovery of these assets might be impacted if they refinance the debt to lower their interest Costs. This is why when they testified about their required rate of returns I indicated that debt will be cheaper than equity. If they can reduce their interest costs, then the customer should benefit for the reduced interest costs. Take a look at my previous email regarding the refinancing of the debt.

I am still waiting to see if they put my technical accounting with regard to their current tax payment agreement that they have. I have sent this one to all the papers as well since I know that the cash aspects of recovery of all these items are very important.

I have sent another one regarding the Fuel Adjustment Clause. Take a look at this one since it talks about rate of return recovery as well.

Transparency is very important to these cases. Remember it is a ratepayer dollar that is paying for the cost of service for the Utility therefore they should reserve the right to know how they are paying for their electric service. From a shareholder perspective transparency is just as important since a shareholder would need to know what the impacts will be on the earnings of the company.

Since I am both a ratepayer and shareholder there should be full transparency to make sure that the proper balance is being maintained. I have not received a response from Mr. Hay or Mr. Sieving with regard to my previous emails.

We will see when the hearings start on 8/20/2010. All I need to know is about the rate of return and recovery period.

If there are any additions to this email I will follow up.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to email me at rpjrb@yahoo.com or call me at 954-340-4956.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: RE: Docket No. 080677, FPL Reconsideration Request Nuclear Uprates / Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause

Dear Ms. Patel,

8/18/2010

I was out during the time of the prehearing. I have a copy of some of the prehearing material and I took a quick glance at some of the documents that have been submitted for the meeting. I have on my calendar the August 20th hearing. What I am concerned about with this issue is the rate of return on the potential Nuclear recovery clause as well as the recovery period.

The request that I have made with regard to this issue I have sent in one of the emails that I have sent to the Sun-sentinel.

There were three major emails.

The following technical accounting has been sent regarding the case with regard to:

FW: Seabrook Asset Transfer This one there is very specific accounting that must be followed. If this is made part of the public record you can take a look at the technical accounting that I have talked about with regard to this potential sale/transfer.

FW: Docket No. 080677, FPL Reconsideration Request Nuclear Uprates / Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause. I have been added as an interested party in this new case.

Cost of Debt versus Equity issues / See email below. If they make this information part of the public record then you will see the cost of service updates with the potential savings that might be realized under two different potential scenarios. The savings can change based upon the mix of what they do but if you look at some of my email correspondence with regard to my discussion of the Cost of money issue you will notice that there might be potential savings that might be significant to the ratecase. Based upon my original concern with the return on Common Equity this will validate my approach with these types of cost of capital issues.

I will take a look at the testimony but I do not think that there should be confidential classification of the rate of return and/or period of recovery. The dollars related to this if they are plant assets should be recovered just like any other plant assets. I sent another email regarding the Fuel Adjustment Clause adjustment in the 080677 case. This one is interesting as well. I do not know if this will be made part of the public record.

Be on the lookout for an additional tax payment email that I have sent regarding a response to the Florida Power & Light submitted document regarding their tax payments. There are some of my emails that have not been made part of the public record. I have sent these in advance to the Sun-Sentinel, the Miami-Herald and the Palm Beach Post.

Did I miss something at the hearing? I will see if they have an archived version to listen to the hearing since I was not around for this hearing.

By quick glance I noticed that there was talk of confidential classification. There should be no confidential classification for a rate of return agreement or period of recovery. This has to be made readily available to make sure that this recovery mechanism provides for cost savings to the customer or does not cost the customer more money.

I will speak to you tomorrow. I would take a look at all of my emails since these are very important to the case.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Commissioner's,

Is FPL taking advantage of the low corporate bond rates for refinancing? According to the previous cost of money it indicates that the overall cost of Long Term Debt is 5.49%. I would think that if FPL can take advantage of these savings that this can help with a further reduction in rates. I know that they might have to pay costs to refinance (early retirement costs/closing costs) their debt but this is definitely worth the look. I have brought this up in my previous email correspondence with the commission in which I indicated that debt is cheaper than equity. If this can be done and they can lock in rates that might be in the 3.5% to 3.75% range this should help.

Please let me know if this is in the pipeline with FPL since I know that when we worked up North we were always looking to refinance our bonds at much lower rates. I know that I have talked about this in great length with regard to the cost of money testimony with FPL.

This is part of the reason why I would like an answer to my email with regard to the Nuclear Uprates. If the overall cost of money would be reduced as a result of refinancing the debt then I know that it would be more cost effective to keep the Nuclear Uprates in ratebase so that the customer would see a benefit for a reduction in the overall cost of money.

This is why I have asked the Commission to ask about what the impact would be if they issued debt instead of equity. Based upon the Wall Street Journal Article below, I have asked a very good question when the testimony was going on. As you move the overall cost of Long Term Debt down this can amount to significant savings in interest costs for the ratepayer.

Based upon moving the overall cost of Long Term Debt to the 3.5% to 3.75% range you could realize significant savings.

See revised cost of money below for a change in the Long Term Debt rate.

Please let me know if this is under consideration. If you lock in the Nuclear uprates at a fixed return then the customer would not only pay more under the current debt/equity structure but they might not realize the savings if FPL refinances its debt.

Duke Energy is doing this so I am wondering what FPL has in mind for this. If there is no sharing of excess earnings then the ratepayer would realize all the savings.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: FW: Docket No. 080677, FPL Reconsideration Request Nuclear Uprates / Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause

Dear Commissioner's,

Does this information have to be made part of the public record on the FPL case 080677? In addition, I have noticed the following docket, Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause. I was taking a look at some of the correspondence and noticed that it was talking about the FPL Nuclear Uprates. I noticed that some of the information has been classified as confidential but I was wondering how the current ratepayer will be impacted by the analysis that I have sent. This talks about the revenue requirements and earned returns as it would relate to moving the assets out of base rates and recovering these through a nuclear recovery clause. This is very important since the earned returns have to be identical to the FPL ratepayers no matter how these are being recovered from a return stand point as well as the recovery periods if these are fixed asset amounts.

I did not see any of this information being made part of the public docket. I am concerned since this issue as well as the Seabrook issue is very important with regard to the transfers of these assets.

I will forward this information to all parties that are interested but I am concerned that now that it appears that the Nuclear Uprates issue is been moved to Docket 100009 that my information might not be entered into the public record in this docket.

I think that this information is very important to both 080677 as well as Docket 100009. There is no reason why the recovery of these assets is not being recovered over their estimated useful lives.

This includes the earned returns on these assets.

I understand that some of the information can be made confidential but any information related to the term of the recovery of these assets as well as the earned returns on these assets should be made part of the public record. Any type of recovery clause would have to meet the requirement of cost savings to existing/future ratepayers. It should not cost the customer more for earned returns or the recovery of the costs should not be expedited. If the useful lives of the assets require a longer recovery period based upon their useful lives there is no reason for cash rate recovery to be accelerated.

I have not heard back from anyone in a while if my emails are going to be made part of the public record. Do I need to be added as an interested party in Docket 100009?

I will try to send the other recent emails that have not been added to the public docket to the other Commissioner's since these issues are very important to Docket 080677 and now to Docket 100009.

I would like to be added as an interested party in Docket 100009:

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Attached you will find my Summary that I have put together from the 08-0677-EI standard order as the source of information. I have added the calculation of the revenue requirements for the Nuclear Uprates as if they were being transferred out of ledger 3 and into the Nuclear Cost Recovery accounts. Of course if all these costs are going to be offset against the surplus depreciation then the net assets (rate base) should be zero with no revenue impact. The only issue I have is if the assets still exist and new costs will be put into this clause. If there are new costs that have to be recovered in this clause then I would like to know if the carrying charges are going to be trued up for the new overall cost of money.

I was taking a look at the specifics of the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause. I notice that it talks about the carrying charges that would be recorded. It indicates that the pretax AFUDC rate in effect at June 12th, 2007 will be used for the carrying charges associated with the removal of these plant assets from rate base. Is the current rate 7.41 (effective 1/1/09 as per Docket No. 090009-EI)? Based upon the new case and the new approved ROE of 10.00% (12.50% Company as filed versus 10.00% as approved) the overall cost of money decreases from the as filed 8.0% to 6.65% respectively. If the carrying charges on the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause is not reduced to the new overall cost of money or AFUDC rate then the customer would pay more in revenue requirements. Since this amount was offset by the depreciation surplus will this not trued up since it will be considered fully recovered?

If these assets are still in existence then the customer might lose the benefit for the reduction in the overall cost of money.

Here is the revised calculation that I have put together based upon the Schedules from the order. Based upon this calculation it would yield an approximate $2.1 million dollar additional revenue requirement to the customers if the carrying charges are not trued up for the reduction in the ROE or if these assets still exist.

How come this agreement is not being looked at? Can the terms of this agreement be changed for the reduced overall cost of money? It appears that the agreement as it stands would not provide for this true up. Is this correct? Unless these assets are going to be considered fully recovered since they were offset against the depreciation surplus.

It has been a while since I have put together cost of money calculations and revenue requirements. Please let me know if there will be a true up or if these assets are going to be considered fully recovered.

If these assets still exist then they should probably remain in ledger 3 and have an offset for the application of some of the reserve surplus to yield a net rate base of zero. This way this would cover the true up issue. What will be the impact going forward for any new costs that are put into the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause? Will the carrying charges be accrued at the old rate or will they be trued up at the new overall cost of money/AFUDC rate?

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Last week I was working on Financial Regulatory reform accounting issues. This is why I had asked for some information last week. I have been working on various aspects of Healthcare/Financial regulatory reform from an Accounting perspective with regard to holding company structures. This is similar to of the issues with the tax payments. I have been working on all of these issues for the past 1 ½ year's full time. I have been working on holding company concepts from an accounting perspective for over 10 years on a full/part time basis.

Normally I would have gone through the whole order, but I have been balancing all of the initiatives and at times there can be a lot of information to digest.

I appreciate that you have sent me the information. This was very useful and let me know if you have the updated schedules that were fixed.

Please feel free to share this information with FPL as well.

I noticed a quick typo(s).

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Please forward this information to all interested parties if they have the schedules that do not reflect the proper calculations for OPC. Maybe this is just the file that I was sent but let me know. Feel free to share this with everyone that was at the last meeting if it would be useful.

Attached you will find a summary that I have put together to gain an understanding of the order. I have not had a lot of time to take a look at the full order since I felt that when the standard order was released for a $75 million dollar increase that this was the final decision of the Florida Public Service Commission. Since I saw that there is a date for another standard order I wanted to be kept in the loop from both a ratepayer perspective as well as a shareholder perspective. If the potential exists that there is a possibility that the recovery of ledger 3 assets are going to be recovered outside of normal ledger 3 depreciation, then I am concerned to the future/current disposition of these assets from book gain and tax gain perspective. If they are removed then the ratepayer has to be made whole if there are any sales of these assets in the future.

I see that there is accelerated recovery with taking the $314.2 million against the surplus reserve. I am still reviewing this. I think that we still have to maintain any of these assets on ledger 3 since there are vintage year assets that would need to be tracked. Are these going to be removed? If so, then how is the commission going to track any potential proceeds from the sale of these assets?

If they are not maintained in ledger 3 and there is a sale then this might have an impact on the gain on sale calculation with regard to any sale. We would need to track the vintage year data to carve out any potential sales of these plant assets. If there is a theoretical reserves versus any remaining net book values this might have an impact on the book gain on sale. If you are taking the position that all these assets are fully recovered from a regulatory perspective then any gain on the sale of these assets would have to be fully refunded to the ratepayer. The vintage year issue might have an impact on the tax depreciation side of the house since what is depreciated for tax purposes is different than what is recorded for book purposes. This will impact any calculated gain on sale for tax purposes since the tax basis might be different than the book basis. This will also be an issue with the removal of the Nuclear Upgrades. If these are removed from base rates and being treated similar to a fuel adjustment clause the vintage year data must be maintained if these assets are sold in the future. This would be for similar reasons just like the Cape & Riviera Site.

I noticed that the OPC Recommended Rate Formulas to calculate the estimated expenses have to be divided by 100 to calculate the proper estimated expense amount for OPC. This is probably a result of typing in the staff rate as a number and not a percentage. The rates to the left of the estimated expenses are incorrect as well. I will be fixing these on my end as I continue to look at what has been sent to me.

For example:

You will notice below that the Estimated Expenses of $10,155,632 should be divided by 100 to get the same amount as the Staff Recommended rates of $101,556. The rate percentages are incorrect as well due to this calculation error. They should be estimated expenses/by estimated investment to yield the same 1.7% as the Staff rate column or estimated investment x OPC rates (if they are the same as staff's) or the OPC rates would have to be updated in the spreadsheet.

I do not know if this is important on your end but I am changing these calculations on a copy of the worksheet that you have sent to me so that I can summarize each recommendation to tie into the summary schedule that I have put together. I am going through the formulas and fixing these. Please let me know if there is a corrected version. Are the OPC rates that same as Staff's or do these have to change in both D Need and D Need(2).

This is why I put the summary together. I wanted to compare the old approved rates versus OPC and Staff recommendation to see how the full depreciation accrual has changed. The summary below compares each of the scenarios so I was trying to tie in D Need to my summary to make sure that it matches what has been completed.

Please let me know if you have an updated file.

Preliminary Summary Prepared by: Robert H Smith Based upon FPSC Workpapers

FPL Composite Rate Check

Here are some initial observations that I noticed:

Cape & Riviera Site

$44.9 million

| Sites to Recovery Sched. | Plant inService | ReserveBalance | RemPlant |
|--------------------------|---------------------|--------------------|--------------|
| Cape Canaveral Site      | 187.5               | (152.2)            | 35.3         |
| Riviera Site             | 103.7               | (94.1)             | 9.6          |
|                          | 291.2               | (246.3)            | 44.9         |

8/18/2010

Are these going to be added to the new repowered generating units? If so then, then how is the new cost going to take into account the old book costs for ledger 3 purposes? Since they have been fully recovered by the surplus reserve are the new ledger 3 amounts only going to reflect the new costs only? How are the vintage year issues being addressed for the old costs? If it will reflect only the new costs then all old ledger 3 amounts will be removed? This might not follow GAAP since from a strict asset perspective these assets might still exist with the new repowered generating units. How will the going forward depreciation reflect this vintage year issue?

Nuclear Uprates

$168.2 million

Removed from Base Rates. Recovered through Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause. Removed from RateBase? Calculated Carrying Charges? Will the cash recovery in Base rates equal the new recovery in cash rates based upon the new Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause? Is this a break even for cash recovery or has the amount of time to recover these costs changed?

Obsolete Meters

Retired. Is there any salvage money that can be recovered for the scrap sale or sale of these meters? Will there be any cost of removal or are these being left in place? If they are being left in place then and they will be considered fully recovered will ledger 10 be adjusted to match ledger 3 to keep track of these assets? Ledger 3 plant should match ledger 10 accumulated depreciation reserves. These should be kept on the books until they are removed/sold or scrapped. Any money should be credited to the ratepayers.

Based upon the above reduction of the Depreciation Surplus/Over Recovery it appears that the Recovery Schedule items are being reduced against surplus refund immediately. What is going to be done with these plant assets? Are they being retired or sold? If they are going to be sold then if there is any gain on the sale of the plants then this would have to be refunded to the ratepayer. If these plants are not sold, what would be the new recovery period for these plants since it appears that they are being moved out of the normal depreciation recovery? Are they going to remain in Ledger 3 for book purposes since the normal depreciation recovery will be stopped?

Thanks for sending me this information this has been very helpful. I wish that I would have seen this information before the meeting to be informed. A lot of the issues that I have been submitting in my email correspondence were similar with regard to some of the outcome(s) of this case. I am going to fix the spreadsheets that have been sent and I will follow up with any other questions.

Thanks again for the information. It is greatly appreciated.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Subject: FW: Docket No. 080677, FPL Reconsideration Request Nuclear Uprates / Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause

Dear Commissioner's,

Does this information have to be made part of the public record on the FPL case 080677? In addition, I have noticed the following docket. Docket 100009 Nuclear cost recovery clause. I was taking a look at some of the correspondence and noticed that it was talking about the FPL Nuclear Uprates. I noticed that some of the information has been classified as confidential but I was wondering how the current ratepayer will be impacted by the analysis that I have sent. This talks about the revenue requirements and earned returns as it would relate to moving the assets out of base rates and recovering these through a nuclear recovery clause. This is very important since the earned returns have to be identical to the FPL ratepayers no matter how these are being recovered from a return stand point as well as the recovery periods if these are fixed asset amounts.

I did not see any of this information being made part of the public docket. I am concerned since this issue as well as the Seabrook issue is very important with regard to the transfers of these assets.

I will forward this information to all parties that are interested but I am concerned that now that it appears that the Nuclear Uprates issue is been moved to Docket 100009 that my information might not be entered into the public record in this docket.

I think that this information is very important to both 080677 as well as Docket 100009. There is no reason why the recovery of these assets is not being recovered over their estimated useful lives.

This includes the earned returns on these assets.

I understand that some of the information can be made confidential but any information related to the term of the recovery of these assets as well as the earned returns on these assets should be made part of the public record. Any type of recovery clause would have to meet the requirement of cost savings to existing/future ratepayers. It should not cost the customer more for earned returns or the recovery of the costs should not be expedited. If the useful lives of the assets require a longer recovery period based upon their useful lives there is no reason for cash rate recovery to be accelerated.

I have not heard back from anyone in a while if my emails are going to be made part of the public record. Do I need to be added as an interested party in Docket 100009?

I will try to send the other recent emails that have not been added to the public docket to the other Commissioner's since these issues are very important to Docket 080677 and now to Docket 100009.

I would like to be added as an interested party in Docket 100009:

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Attached you will find my Summary that I have put together from the 08-0677-EI standard order as the source of information. I have added the calculation of the revenue requirements for the Nuclear Uprates as if they were being transferred out of ledger 3 and into the Nuclear Cost Recovery accounts. Of course if all these costs are going to be offset against the surplus depreciation then the net assets (rate base) should be zero with no revenue impact. The only issue I have is if the assets still exist and new costs will be put into this clause. If there are new costs that have to be recovered in this clause then I would like to know if the carrying charges are going to be trued up for the new overall cost of money.

I was taking a look at the specifics of the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause. I notice that it talks about the carrying charges that would be recorded. It indicates that the pretax AFUDC rate in effect at June 12th, 2007 will be used for the carrying charges associated with the removal of these plant assets from rate base. Is the current rate 7.41 (effective 1/1/09 as per Docket No. 090009-EI)? Based upon the new case and the new approved ROE of 10.00% (12.50% Company as filed versus 10.00% as approved) the overall cost of money decreases from the as filed 8.0% to 6.65% respectively. If the carrying charges on the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause is not reduced to the new overall cost of money or AFUDC rate then the customer would pay more in revenue requirements. Since this amount was offset by the depreciation surplus will this not trued up since it will be considered fully recovered?

If these assets are still in existence then the customer might lose the benefit for the reduction in the overall cost of money.

Here is the revised calculation that I have put together based upon the Schedules from the order. Based upon this calculation it would yield an approximate $2.1 million dollar additional revenue requirement to the customers if the carrying charges are not trued up for the reduction in the ROE or if these assets still exist.

How come this agreement is not being looked at? Can the terms of this agreement be changed for the reduced overall cost of money? It appears that the agreement as it stands would not provide for this true up. Is this correct? Unless these assets are going to be considered fully recovered since they were offset against the depreciation surplus.

It has been a while since I have put together cost of money calculations and revenue requirements. Please let me know if there will be a true up or if these assets are going to be considered fully recovered.

If these assets still exist then they should probably remain in ledger 3 and have an offset for the application of some of the reserve surplus to yield a net rate base of zero. This way this would cover the true up issue. What will be the impact going forward for any new costs that are put into the Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause? Will the carrying charges be accrued at the old rate or will they be trued up at the new overall cost of money/AFUDC rate?

Nuclear Upgrades

In Order No. PSC-09-0783-FOF-EI, issued on November 19, 2009, we approved FPL's Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause amounts for 2010.<sup>107</sup> All costs that FPL removed from its base rate revenue requirements were allowed in the NCRC for 2010. We approve FPL's proposal to transfer revenue, expenses and investments associated with nuclear upgrades from base rates to the NCRC for the 2010 projected test year.

ORDER NO. PSC-09-0783-FOF-EI
DOCKET NO. 090009-EI

establishing a carrying cost rate to be applied to the nuclear projects, and this carrying cost shall be recovered pursuant to Rule 25-6.0423(2), F.A.C., no more and no less.

Moreover, since the enactment of Section 366.93, F.S., we have consistently distinguished the carrying cost associated with the nuclear projects (e.g., TP67 project) from the carrying cost associated with all other utility projects. By Order No. PSC-08-0265-PAA-EI, issued April 28, 2008, in Docket No. 080088-EI, In re: Request for approval of change in rate used to capitalize allowance for funds used during construction (AFUDC) from 7.42% to 7.65%, effective January 1, 2008, by Florida Power & Light Company, we specifically held that the revised AFUDC rate shall be effective as of January 1, 2008, for all purposes except for Rule 25-6.0423, F.A.C. Similarly, in Order No. 09-0377-PAA-EI, issued May 28, 2009, in Docket No. 090108-EI, In re: Request for approval of change in rate used to capitalize allowance for funds used during construction (AFUDC) from 7.65% to 7.41%, effective January 1, 2009, by Florida Power & Light Company, we held that the revised AFUDC rate shall be effective as of January 1, 2009, for all purposes except for Rule 25-6.0423, F.A.C. This emphasizes the point that Section 366.93(2)(b), F.S., establishes a fixed project carrying cost to be applied to all nuclear construction projects with need petitions filed prior to December 31, 2010. We find that any other interpretation of Section 366.93(2)(b), F.S., is incorrect.

Dear Ms. Bennett,

I noticed that the change in expenses formula for OPC is incorrect as well. This should probably be OPC estimated expense – current rate expense.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Last week I was working on Financial Regulatory reform accounting issues. This is why I had asked for some information last week. I have been working on various aspects of Healthcare/Financial regulatory reform from an Accounting perspective with regard to holding company structures. This is similar to of the issues with the tax payments. I have been working on all of these issues for the past 1 ½ year's full time. I have been working on holding company concepts from an accounting perspective for over 10 years on a full/part time basis.

Normally I would have gone through the whole order, but I have been balancing all of the initiatives and at times there can be a lot of information to digest.

I appreciate that you have sent me the information. This was very useful and let me know if you have the updated schedules that were fixed.

Please feel free to share this information with FPL as well.

I noticed a quick typo(s).

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Dear Ms. Bennett,

Please forward this information to all interested parties if they have the schedules that do not reflect the proper calculations for OPC. Maybe this is just the file that I was sent but let me know. Feel free to share this with everyone that was at the last meeting if it would be useful.

Attached you will find a summary that I have put together to gain an understanding of the order. I have not had a lot of time to take a look at the full order since I felt that when the standard order was released for a $75 million dollar increase that this was the final decision of the Florida Public Service Commission. Since I saw that there is a date for another standard order I wanted to be kept in the loop from both a ratepayer perspective as well as a shareholder perspective. If the potential exists that there is a possibility that the recovery of ledger 3 assets are going to be recovered outside of normal ledger 3 depreciation, then I am concerned to the future/current disposition of these assets from book gain and tax gain perspective. If they are removed then the ratepayer has to be made whole if there are any sales of these assets in the future.

I see that there is accelerated recovery with taking the $314.2 million against the surplus reserve. I am still reviewing this. I think that we still have to maintain any of these assets on ledger 3 since there are vintage year assets that would need to be tracked. Are these going to be removed? If so, then how is the commission going to track any potential proceeds from the sale of these assets?

If they are not maintained in ledger 3 and there is a sale then this might have an impact on the gain on sale calculation with regard to any sale. We would need to track the vintage year data to carve out any potential sales of these plant assets. If there is a theoretical reserves versus any remaining net book values this might have an impact on the book gain on sale. If you are taking the position that all these assets are fully recovered from a regulatory perspective then any gain on the sale of these assets would have to be fully refunded to the ratepayer. The vintage year issue might have an impact on the tax depreciation side of the house since what is depreciated for tax purposes is different than what is recorded for book purposes. This will impact any calculated gain on sale for tax purposes since the tax basis might be different than the book basis. This will also be an issue with the removal of the Nuclear Upgrades. If these are removed from base rates and being treated similar to a fuel adjustment clause the vintage year data must be maintained if these assets are sold in the future. This would be for similar reasons just like the Cape & Riviera Site.

7/27/2010

I noticed that the OPC Recommended Rate Formulas to calculate the estimated expenses have to be divided by 100 to calculate the proper estimated expense amount for OPC. This is probably a result of typing in the staff rate as a number and not a percentage. The rates to the left of the estimated expenses are incorrect as well. I will be fixing these on my end as I continue to look at what has been sent to me.

For example:

You will notice below that the Estimated Expenses of $10,155,632 should be divided by 100 to get the same amount as the Staff Recommended rates of $101,556. The rate percentages are incorrect as well due to this calculation error. They should be estimated expenses/by estimated investment to yield the same 1.7% as the Staff rate column or estimated investment x OPC rates (if they are the same as staff's) or the OPC rates would have to be updated in the spreadsheet.

I do not know if this is important on your end but I am changing these calculations on a copy of the worksheet that you have sent to me so that I can summarize each recommendation to tie into the summary schedule that I have put together. I am going through the formulas and fixing these. Please let me know if there is a corrected version. Are the OPC rates that same as Staff's or do these have to change in both D Need and D Need(2).

This is why I put the summary together. I wanted to compare the old approved rates versus OPC and Staff recommendation to see how the full depreciation accrual has changed. The summary below compares each of the scenarios so I was trying to tie in D Need to my summary to make sure that it matches what has been completed.

Please let me know if you have an updated file.

Preliminary Summary Prepared by: Robert H Smith Based upon FPSC Workpapers

FPL Composite Rate Check

|                  |                 |              |
|------------------|-----------------|--------------|
| Steam            | 3,040.2         | 74.7         |
| Nuclear          | 4,007.1         | 82.2         |
| Other Production | 4,335.1         | 179.2        |
| Transmission     | 3,122.5         | 85.3         |
| Distribution     | 10,132.1        | 319.7        |
| General          | 1,017.5         | 82.0         |
|                  | 25,654.5 | 823.1 |
|                  | 0.0             | 0.0          |

Here are some initial observations that I noticed:

Cape & Riviera Site

| Sites to Recovery Sched. | Plant inService | ReserveBalance | RemPlant |
|--------------------------|---------------------|--------------------|--------------|
| Cape Canaveral Site      | 187.5               | (152.2)            | 35.3         |
| Riviera Site             | 103.7               | (94.1)             | 9.6          |
|                          | 291.2        | (246.3)     | 44.9  |

Are these going to be added to the new repowered generating units? If so then, then how is the new cost going to take into account the old book costs for ledger 3 purposes? Since they have been fully recovered by the surplus reserve are the new ledger 3 amounts only going to reflect the new costs only? How are the vintage year issues being addressed for the old costs? If it will reflect only the new costs then all old ledger 3 amounts will be removed? This might not follow GAAP since from a strict asset perspective these assets might still exist with the new repowered generating units. How will the going forward depreciation reflect this vintage year issue?

$168.2 million

Removed from Base Rates. Recovered through Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause. Removed from RateBase? Calculated Carrying Charges? Will the cash recovery in Base rates equal the new recovery in cash rates based upon the new Nuclear Cost Recovery Clause? Is this a break even for cash recovery or has the amount of time to recover these costs changed?

$101.1 million

Retired. Is there any salvage money that can be recovered for the scrap sale or sale of these meters? Will there be any cost of removal or are these being left in place? If they are being left in place then and they will be considered fully recovered will ledger 10 be adjusted to match ledger 3 to keep track of these assets? Ledger 3 plant should match ledger 10 accumulated depreciation reserves. These should be kept on the books until they are removed/sold or scrapped. Any money should be credited to the ratepayers.

Based upon the above reduction of the Depreciation Surplus/Over Recovery it appears that the Recovery Schedule items are being reduced against surplus refund immediately. What is going to be done with these plant assets? Are they being retired or sold? If they are going to be sold then if there is any gain on the sale of the plants then this would have to be refunded to the ratepayer. If these plants are not sold, what would be the new recovery period for these plants since it appears that they are being moved out of the normal depreciation recovery? Are they going to remain in Ledger 3 for book purposes since the normal depreciation recovery will be stopped?

Thanks for sending me this information this has been very helpful. I wish that I would have seen this information before the meeting to be informed. A lot of the issues that I have been submitting in my email correspondence were similar with regard to some of the outcome(s) of this case. I am going to fix the spreadsheets that have been sent and I will follow up with any other questions.

Thanks again for the information. It is greatly appreciated.

Thanks,

Robert H. Smith

Mr. Whitlock:

It was a pleasure speaking with you earlier today. I apologize for the confusion with the returned documents. This was the e-mail I thought I was responding to. Though it included a corrected exhibit, it did not include a notice of service. However, after speaking with you, it was noted that you sent four e-mails and we only received three of them. It is my understanding that you will be sending another e-mail (or two, whichever you are comfortable with) which will include a notice(s) of service with the appropriate exhibit(s) attached. We will be on the lookout for those replacement filings. If we receive them after 5:00 p.m., they will be considered filed on the following business day. Don't hesitate to contact our office if you have any further questions. Have a great afternoon.

Jeanne,

Per our conversation, and in the interest of "going green," it will be acceptable for you file 2 copies of Exhibit B (redacted version) on CD only, as long as it is provided in one PDF document (no extra folders, Excel, or word processing files included). By so doing, we can make that PDF available directly on-line. I hope you find that helpful.

Hey Kim,

I am working on another request for confidentiality classification and Exhibit B is going to be approximately 12,000 to 15,000 pages. In the interest of complying with Gov. Crist's "go-green initiative" and saving some trees for my grandchildren, could we file 1 paper copy and the 2nd copy on cd? Thanks for your help.
