ORDER APPROVING TARIFF

BY THE COMMISSION:

On February 22, 1996, Quincy Telephone Company (Quincy) filed a tariff which deleted its Mobile Interconnection service offering. Quincy asserted it had no mobile interconnection customers, and therefore wanted to remove this offering to avoid unnecessary updating. Further, Quincy stated that it would refile a tariff in compliance with Order No. PSC-96-0132-FOF-TL, issued January 29, 1996.

On July 1, 1996 Quincy Telephone Company (Quincy) filed a tariff to offer interconnection of mobile services. Quincy filed this tariff to comply with Order No. PSC-96-0132-FOF-TL, issued January 29, 1996 and requested an effective date of August 1, 1996.

Quincy has recently negotiated a potential service offering of Type 1 and Type 2B mobile interconnection with a prospective customer. Type 1 mobile interconnection is a direct trunk connection between a mobile service provider's (MSP) switch and the trunk side of a company end office. The MSP establishes connections to other local exchange company end offices through this interface. In addition, this form of interconnection allows the MSP to establish connection to company operator services, directory assistance and 911 service. Type 2B mobile interconnection is also a direct trunk connection between a MSP's switch and a local exchange company end office. However, Type 2B interconnection provides local service only to and from that specific end office. The estimated monthly revenue impact for Quincy is $15,734. Upon review, we find that the rates, terms and conditions of interconnection are reasonable and approve Quincy's tariff, effective August 1, 1996.

Based on the foregoing, it is ORDERED by the Florida Public Service Commission that Quincy Telephone Company's tariff to offer interconnection of mobile services is approved effective August 1, 1996. It is further ORDERED that if a protest is filed in the form and by the date specified in the Notice of Further Proceedings or Judicial Review, this tariff shall remain in effect, with any increase held subject to refund, pending resolution of the protest. If no timely protest is filed, this docket shall be closed.

By ORDER of the Florida Public Service Commission, this 20th day of August, 1996.
