Case Background

Tampa Electric Company (TECO) filed a petition on March 23, 2009, requesting Commission approval of an extension to a small power production agreement with the City of Tampa. The power is produced at the City's McKay Bay Refuse to Energy Facility, a municipal solid waste-fired steam turbine generator, located in Hillsborough County, Florida. At its September 15, 2009, Agenda Conference, the Commission deferred consideration of TECO's petition upon the assertion by TECO that the parties would review the proposed contract and attempt to renegotiate some of its terms. Those additional negotiations were not successful, and on March 16, 2010, TECO filed its Notice of Withdrawal of Petition for Approval of Extension of Small Power Production Agreement, in which it voluntarily withdrew its petition without prejudice to refile at a later date.
