Dear Commissioner Andrew Giles Fay,

Please disapprove Duke's Clean Energy Connection program. Big Corporations should pay for their own solar installations, they obviously have the money. Vulnerable and low-income communities that are already struggling to pay their bills absolutely do not have it.

I'm a Duke Energy customer and a member of the Sierra Club.

I support solar, however, I do not support it being used as a ruse to require all customers to pay big corporations, like Walmart, millions of dollars when those corporations are perfectly capable of paying for those costs themselves. Vulnerable communities already have a difficult enough time paying their current utility bills without an additional rate increase that will subsidize big corporations instead of providing all ratepayers the benefits of clean energy.

Please deny Duke Energy's request to approve their Clean Energy Connection program. If all customers, like me, are paying for solar then we deserve to also enjoy all the cost savings of that solar, and not just big corporations.

Sincerely,

Dear Commissioner Andrew Giles Fay,

In fact, I think you should charge Duke to generate money for a fund to put solar on public buildings like schools and libraries. Now that would be a good clean energy policy!

Corporate handouts just skate by while everyday Americans increasingly die preventable deaths of desperation.

Dear Commissioner Andrew Giles Fay,

Please do not allow Duke to raise customers rates as a result of large institutional customers electing to install localized solar options on their facilities. Reducing demand on the grid is a positive thing, resulting in reduced capacity needs across the full grid, saving ratepayers additional expense. There is no need, nor is it appropriate, to raise rates for all ratepayers as a direct result of loss energy use by these larger customers. We should be incentivizing solar installations at the utility and distributed levels, resulting in long term cost reductions to society, not protecting an artificial profit level for investor owned utilities. Approving the FPL program was wrong. Approving the Duke program is also the incorrect action if you are looking out for the state of Florida and it's citizen's economic interests.

Dear Commissioner Andrew Giles Fay,

Rate increases will only further the negative impact on the economy. Therefore Walmart won't be able to sell its crap because no one can afford to buy anything. They can repay themselves through savings, just like regular folk. Enough with the corporate welfare mentality.
