Dear Commissioner

Aside from the general concerns about raising the cost of living on many seniors, the PSC needs to recognize that FPL has been investing in renewable energy production platforms for decades and that means while those systems are slightly more expensive to put together, it's infinitely cheaper to run long term and therefore upcharges like this are unnecessary. They are decommissioning gas and oil plants and therefore reducing their expenses for producing energy. So why should we pay more?! The math just doesn't make sense, don't let FPL raise rates on the public simply to increase profits.

Thank you,

Edward Escobar
