Comments:

I just received my FPL bill and it was increased by 25.00. I was told this was because I have solar panels and I didn't use enough electricity. I was also informed that the PSC passed this ridiculous bill. How is this justified? My excess energy is sold for full price by FPL and any excess in Dec. is paid at Pennie's per KWH. I was OK with that because that was the agreement I entered with Fpl when I installed solar panels on my house five years ago. The federal government encouraged the installation of such panels in order to produce electricity and now I'm being penalized by the state of Florida because I am a conscientious consumer and environmentalist. I am so upset that the state of Florida would do this to a homeowner who is contributing to the electrical power in the state! I think this is a newsworthy story... Every solar panel owner should have been contacted before this has been ruled on by your commission. It is so wrong and so unjust.
