They should be paying us as they were neglectful in their duties before the hurricane last year and for the last four years prior. TECO did not trim the trees around the lines. There are still many lines here in Tampa that are still caught within the trees, and lines that have vines growing all over them. They have been so busy with new projects that they haven't spent time to deal with lights that we're off from last year's hurricane. not to mention it's difficult dealing with customer service when you want to dispute a charge.
