DOCKET NO. 20250001-EI
ORDER NO. PSC-2025-0116-CFO-EI
ISSUED: April 8, 2025

ORDER GRANTING DUKE ENERGY FLORIDA, LLC'S
REQUEST FOR CONFIDENTIAL CLASSIFICATION
(DOCUMENT NO. 00623-2025)

On January 31, 2025, pursuant to Section 366.093, Florida Statutes (F.S.), and Rule 25-22.006, Florida Administrative Code (F.A.C.), Duke Energy Florida, LLC (DEF) filed a Request for Specified Confidential Treatment (Request) to portions of its Form 423 Fuel Report for the reporting months of October through December 2024 (the 423 Report) (Document No. 00623-2025).

Request for Confidential Classification

DEF contends that designated portions of the information contained in the 423 Report constitute proprietary confidential business information entitled to protection under Section 366.093, F.S., and Rule 25-22.006, F.A.C. DEF asserts that this information is intended to be and is treated by DEF as private and has not been publicly disclosed.

DEF provides in Attachment C to its Request a matrix providing a description, justification, and support for confidential classification of the information in each section of the 423 Report (Forms 423-1A, 2, 2A, and 2B) on a line-by-line, column-by-column basis.

DEF requests confidential classification for this information for a period exceeding 18 months. According to Section 366.093(4), F.S., confidential classification may only extend for up to 18 months from the issuance of an Order granting confidential classification unless "the Commission finds, for good cause, that the protection from disclosure shall be for a specified longer period." DEF requests that the information be treated as confidential for a period of 24 months.

In support of its Request for extended confidential treatment found in Attachment B, DEF asserts that the information in Document No. 00623-2025 is comprised of the fuel and transportation contracts from which the costs in the 423 Report are derived and which contain annual price adjustment provisions. DEF asserts that if existing or potential fuel and transportation suppliers were to obtain confidential contract pricing information for a prior reporting month within the currently effective 12-month adjustment period, current pricing information would be disclosed. In addition, DEF contends that if contractual pricing information for a reporting month in the previous 12-month adjustment period were to be obtained, the information would be only one adjustment removed from the current price. DEF argues that suppliers knowledgeable in the recent escalation experience of their market could readily calculate a reasonably precise estimate of the current price.

To guard against providing suppliers with such a competitive advantage, DEF asserts that confidential information must be protected from disclosure for the initial 12-month period in which it could remain current, and for the following 12-month period in which it can be readily converted into essentially current information. As an example, DEF explains if information for the first month under an adjusted contract price is reported in May of Year 1, the information will remain current through April of Year 2 and that thereafter, the initial May of Year 1 information will be only one escalation adjustment removed from the current information reported each month through April of Year 3. If confidential classification of the May of Year 1 information were to expire after 18 months, DEF contends suppliers would be able to accurately estimate current prices in October of Year 2 using information that was current only six months earlier.

DEF further contends that an 18-month confidentiality period would effectively waste the protection given in the first six months of the second 12-month pricing period (months 13 through 18) by disclosing information of the same vintage in the last six months of the pricing period. DEF asserts that the information disclosed in months 19 through 24 would be equally as detrimental in terms of revealing the current price as the information protected from disclosure during the preceding six months. To make the protection provided in months 13 through 18 meaningful, DEF argues it must be extended through month 24. DEF further argues that extending the confidentiality period by six months would mean that the information will be one additional price adjustment further removed from the current price at the time of disclosure.

Ruling

Section 366.093(1), F.S., provides that records the Florida Public Service Commission (Commission) has found to contain proprietary business information shall be kept confidential and shall be exempt from Chapter 119, F.S. Section 366.093(3), F.S., defines proprietary confidential business information as information that is intended to be and is treated by the company as private, in that disclosure of the information would cause harm to the company's ratepayers or business operations, and has not been voluntarily disclosed to the public. Section 366.093(3), F.S., provides that proprietary confidential business information includes, but is not limited to:

- (d) Information concerning bids or other contractual data, the disclosure of which would impair the efforts of the public utility or its affiliates to contract for goods or services on favorable terms.

Upon review, it appears the above-referenced information satisfies the criteria set forth in Section 366.093(3), F.S., for classification as proprietary confidential business information. The information constitutes "information concerning bids or other contractual data, the disclosure of which would impair the efforts of the public utility or its affiliates to contract for goods or services on favorable terms.” Thus, the information identified in Document No. 00623-2025 shall be granted confidential classification.

Section 366.093(4), F.S., provides that any finding by the Commission that records contain proprietary confidential business information shall be effective for a period not to exceed 18 months, absent good cause shown. DEF has shown good cause to extend the period of confidentiality to 24 months. Accordingly, the information identified in Document No. 00623-2025, shall be granted confidential classification for a period of 24 months from the issuance of this Order. At the conclusion of the 24-month period, the confidential information will no longer be exempt from Section 119.07(1), F.S., unless DEF or another affected person shows, and the Commission finds, that the records continue to contain proprietary confidential business information.

Based on the foregoing, it is hereby ORDERED by Commissioner Gabriella Passidomo Smith, as Prehearing Officer, that Duke Energy Florida, LLC’s Request for Confidential Classification of Document No. 00623-2025 is granted. It is further ORDERED that the information in Document No. 00623-2025, for which confidential classification has been granted, shall remain protected from disclosure for a period of up to 24 months from the date of issuance of this Order. At the conclusion of the 24-month period, the confidential information will no longer be exempt from Section 119.07(1), F.S., unless Duke Energy Florida, LLC or another affected person shows, and the Commission finds, that the records continue to contain proprietary confidential business information. It is further ORDERED that this Order shall be the only notification by the Commission to the parties of the date of declassification of the materials discussed herein.

By ORDER of Commissioner Gabriella Passidomo Smith, as Prehearing Officer, this 8th day of April, 2025.
