Docket No. 20250011-El. Florida PSC

To: FPSC Commissioners,

Greetings! I'm writing now because I just returned from working as volunteer at the 2025 National Electric & Utility Affordability Coalition (NEUAC) conference, held in Charlotte, NC this year. As part of my duties I had the chance to talk to an FPL employee attending the conference and she shared that FPL was up for a rate case this year. For the first time in my long history as an FPL customer, I felt I wanted to weigh in.

I've been a direct customer of FPL since the mid-80's and an indirect customer since long before that. I'm also a shareholder so I have interests going both ways!

As a customer I want the lights to come on when I flip the switch and to stay on when the wind blows. (And to come back on quickly when a hurricane knocks stuff down! This is Florida, after all.) I also, of course, want to pay as little as possible for electricity while getting the highest possible quality for my money. (TANSTAAFL. You can look that up!)

As a shareholder I want a reasonable rate of return on my investment. I'm retired and my Bride and I have pretty done well over the years, but still ... every penny counts.

As someone who tries to be a decent human being and someone who cares about the future of this planet, I want my electric utility to do the same ... And I think FPL does. Two of the programs FPL offers that I participate in are: SolarTogether and Care to Share. (There may be more but these are the ones I remember!) And, of course, I'm thrilled that FPL is involved with NEUAC – an organization I am passionate about.

In my history with FPL as both a customer and shareholder I've never had cause to believe that FPL is anything but above board. I'm comfortable that they know what is needed to serve the best interests of both their customers and their shareholders. As someone who tries to be a decent human being, I appreciate that FPL gives me opportunities to further that goal while buying a service I need.

I support FPL's request for its new rate.

To whom it may concern:

As a longtime FPL customer, I'm writing to support their proposed rate case. FPL has consistently provided reliable, responsive service, especially after hurricanes. I understand that keeping our energy system strong and up to date takes continued investment. I support this proposal so FPL can continue delivering the dependable service I count on.

Sincerely,
Annette Davis

FPL does not need to raise our rates when it is making such large profits How despicable!!!

When so many poor people are trying to survive!!!!

Please don't allow FP&L to have another large raise. These raises have already caused people to be priced out of their homes. It's scary. If this company wants to pay their people well and make customers pay for their projects, then they need to expand their customer base and make it affordable. Base price of 1,000 per month is hard to stay under for one person. It use to be fundamental that companies paid for their projects and made a profit or went under, now they gouge customers. Please do not allow this. If this is allowed, then make sure to allow another company choice. Right now it's a profitable monopoly. Thanks.

To Whom it May Concern,

I fully support FPL's rate proposal. I'm writing as a long-time FPL customer (business and residential) to share how much I appreciate the great service Florida Power & Light provides. As you look at utility performance across the state, I wanted to point out why FPL stands out.

FPL keeps rates among the lowest in the country. Even with big investments in improving and modernizing the grid, residential rates stay well below the national average, which really helps Florida families and businesses. On top of that, FPL takes reliability seriously. Their proactive work—like trimming trees, strengthening infrastructure, and restoring power fast after storms—means fewer outages and a more dependable system that keeps our communities and economy going strong.

Thank you,

Zachariah Evangelista

Dear Florida Public Service Commission,

I'm writing to express my support for Florida Power & Light Company's (FPL) current rate case proposal. As a business owner, stable and reliable electricity is essential to my daily operations. FPL has consistently provided dependable service, and I've seen firsthand the investments they've made in infrastructure and storm hardening that help keep the lights on, especially during Florida's intense weather seasons.

I understand that no one welcomes higher costs. However, I also understand the value of long-term planning and responsible investment. FPL's proposal outlines continued improvements to the grid, clean energy expansion, and modernization efforts that will ultimately benefit businesses like mine by reducing outages, improving energy efficiency, and keeping costs predictable over time.

FPL has been a responsible energy partner, and I support FPL's proposal. I trust their vision for Florida's energy future.

Sincerely,
